NELSON IS NAMED VILLAGE TRUSTEE

Editor's Column

STUART R. PADDOCK

Two items came to our notice this week which caused us to do some thinking. Both of them have something to do with our policy.

It was an editor of a small paper in Texas who set in motion the "tornado" that has wrecked the vast Billie Sol Estes empire. Sooner or later it would have been discovered. The first mistake made by Estes, (not his last), was when he sought to punish an unfriendly editor by setting up a competing paper.

The editor decided to fight back with truth and unearthed the biggest exposure story since the Hodge case. Both involved millions of dollars.

The second item is a personal letter we received that charges errors (or shall we call it misjudgments) were made by a local school board. The information given us was confidential.

The writer was not asking that we turn the floodlight on what has passed, but he suggested that our reporters do more "hard reporting." In his opinion, some of the things that happened would have never occurred, in his estimation, if this newspaper had done "a better job."

Our staff has been instructed to dig for facts and keep the public informed about the action of public bodies on matters that expressly concern the financial welfare of the taxpayer. They must not become just a "yes man" for the governing body.

Last week a local school board attempted to go into executive session. Our reporter covering the meeting did not think the matter to be discussed was of a private nature, and he refused to leave.

The board, after waiting a few moments and listening to the reporter's reason for remaining in his seat, resumed the regular session.

The "secret matter" was of little importance and the published story was much less than it would have been had the reporter been forcibly removed.

We welcome constructive criticism of our reporting. Our primary concern is to keep our readers informed on vital decisions made by local governing bodies.

We were told at a press meeting last week that the state legislature may be asked to legalize the use of tape recorders by reporters. Nothing would please us more, and we know our reporters would welcome them.

It will be interesting to note the reaction of public officials who are prone to say "misquoted" when faced with a published story. There are people who would probably not rest easily at times, when they knew that the morgue of the newspaper had their taped comments, which would be resurrected any time.

We are accustomed to newspaper awards that come our way, but we are particularly pleased with two unusual ones we received the past 10 days, both referring to news policy.

One was from the Allstate Insurance Co. in recognition of our efforts for safe driving. In accepting the award, we were told that our policy of publishing news released from the office of Secretary of State on license revocations was a decided public service.

We do not like to publish the names of our friends and neighbors who have been lax in driving, but are doing so because we believe that their publication, week after week, awakens other drivers to the care they must exercise upon the road.

The second award was in the news treatment that the Arlington Heights Herald gave to a $2 million bond issue for sewer improvement. We were named No. 1 in that achievement by the Illinois Association of Consulting Engineers. Particular credit is due News Editor Jim Davies, who was responsible for developing the special coverage.

Wins IACE Award

Herald Praised for Referendum Coverage

The Arlington Heights Herald was awarded first prize last week in the 1961 Newspaper Citizen Leadership contest conducted among Illinois newspapers by the Illinois Association of Consulting Engineers in conjunction with the Illinois Press Association.

The Herald's award, presented last weekend at the 1962 spring convention of the IPA, in Peoria was for a series of stories and a concluding editorial on the storm sewer bond referendum approved by voters last December.

The stories and editorial were written by Jim Davies, news editor of the Herald.

STUART PADDOCK Jr., vice president of Paddock Publications, Inc., accepted the leadership award, and also was presented with a personal award for his service as past president of the IPA.

Judges for the leadership award were Amos Pinkerton, Springfield, editor of the Illinois State Bar Association Journal; Theodore C. Peterson, Champaign, dean of the College of Journalism and Communication, University of Illinois; and William D. Mehlenbeck, Springfield, executive secretary of the Central Illinois Builders of AGC.

In recognition of its efforts, the Arlington Heights Herald received a bronze plaque which reads:

"THE ILLINOIS Association of Consulting Engineers 1961 Newspaper Citizen Leadership award presented to the Arlington Heights Herald for outstanding leadership in awakening citizens to the need for specific community improvement and aiding in its accomplishment."

Second place in the weekly competition went to the Gridley News. First place in the daily competition went to the Alton Evening Telegraph, and second place to the Chicago Daily News.

The awards were presented by Richard L. Thacker, vice president and president-elect of the consulting engineers group. In presenting the award to Paddock, Thacker said:

"THE ARLINGTON Heights Herald is to be congratulated for the fine effort made in behalf of the sewer construction program. This is the type of leadership consulting engineers, who are busy in most towns and cities in Illinois, have learned to expect from the newspapers. As engineers, we know that public improvement often only comes from someone leading the way.

The winning Herald series consisted of an article explaining the problem of flooding in the village and the proposed solution, an article detailing arguments for the proposal, and a concluding editorial urging voters to approve the bond issue.

THE FIRST PLACE award in the statewide 1961 Newspaper Citizen Leadership contest conducted by the Illinois Association of Consulting Engineers, in conjunction with the Illinois Press Association, was presented last weekend to the Arlington Heights Herald for a series of articles and an editorial on the $1.9 million storm sewer bond issue referendum approved by village voters last December. Looking over the award are Stuart Paddock Sr. (seated), president of Paddock Publications, Inc., and Jim Davies, news editor of the Herald and author of the articles and editorial.

Chicagoan Admits Two Armed Robberies Here

A 36-year-old Chicago man recently sentenced to Waupon State Penitentiary in Wisconsin admitted to two Arlington Heights detectives Wednesday morning that he was the gunman who robbed the Maison de Romayne and Ruth Miller Apparel Shop in Arlington Heights in March.

Police believe he also is responsible for most of the other series of robberies of women's apparel shops in Chicago suburbs in recent months, and almost definitely is the man who robbed the Strass' Ladies Apparel Shop in Mount Prospect.

Detectives Clint Hefferen and Philip Olszewski went to Waupon Tuesday night after Arlington Heights police investigations indicated that David Ernest Hartle, alias Ernest Bach, might be the man they have been searching for.

HEFFEREN AND Olszewski questioned Hartle Wednesday morning and Sgt. Maurice English, of the Arlington Heights police, said he admitted the two Arlington Heights robberies verbally, but would not sign a statement.

English said Hartle refused to sign a statement because he was innocent of some of the robberies on the long list he was confronted with. When Hefferen and Olszewski asked him if he was guilty of the Mount Prospect robbery, he said he would talk to them only about the Arlington Heights robberies, which he admitted he was guilty of.

Hartle reportedly described how he robbed Maison de Romayne and Ruth Miller Apparel, and the description matched the actual crimes.

THE RUTH MILLER Shop, Strass' Ladies Apparel Shop, and the Young Deb's Shop in Old Orchard, Skokie, were robbed in

Assessor's Unit Here Four Days

The mobile unit of the Cook County assessor's office will be in Arlington Heights for four days next week.

County Assessor P. J. Cullerton announced that the unit wil be at the Wheeling Township Hall, 1818 E. Northwest Hwy., on May 29 and 31, and on June 1 and 2.

Will Succeed Dick Glantz

Justin A. Buzz Nelson, a resident of the Westgate area of Arlington Heights, was appointed to the village board Monday night to succeed Trustee Richard Glantz who is moving to the East Coast.

Nelson, 42, lives with his wife, Milly, and two daughters, Jan. 14, and Jenee, 12, at 120 S. Reuter Drive.

He is coordinator of accounting for branch offices of the Quaker Oats Company. Glantz, by coincidence, also is a Quaker Oats executive and will head up production in a new acquisition of the company in New Jersey.

Glantz had submitted his resignation about a month ago at the time he accepted his new position. Monday night, the board reluctantly accepted his resignation and presented him with a framed resolution of commendation on behalf of the people of Arlington Heights.

GOOD GOVERNMENT is dependent upon competent and dedicated elected officials, and Glantz had exhibited these attributes throughout his year on the board, the resolution stated.

"Because of Richard Glantz," it concluded, "Arlington Heights has become a better place to live."

Nelson was nominated to fill Glantz' seat by Trustee Samuel Wit, and the motion was seconded by Trustee William Sauer. Trustee Norval Stephens moved that the nominations close and this was unanimously approved.

NELSON IS A 1941 graduate of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, and joined Quaker Oats upon graduation. He has been with the company ever since, with the exception of three years service in the Air Corps.

During his years with the company, he has risen from the general accounting department to supervisory work and then to office manager. From there he was elevated to his present position.

Nelson and his family moved to Arlington Heights five years ago and are members of Faith Lutheran Church. Nelson was active in Trinity Lutheran Church in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where the Nelson lived before coming here. He also was active in the Cedar Rapids Chamber of Commerce.

NELSON WAS selected to succeed Glantz from a field of 30 or more persons who had been considered. The board held several informal private meetings to discuss the appointment, the final one immediately prior to the regular board meeting Monday night.

The field had been narrowed to two persons by then, it was reliably reported, and an informal poll showed the six trustees and Village President John G. Woods leaning 4-3 to Nelson.

Later, in a formal statement issued by Trustee Norval Stephens, the board said that "the decision was a very difficult one because of the high character and ability of the many candidates who were considered.

"WEIGHING IN the balance were the need for a man of strong financial background and experience, and the geographical distribution of the members.

"The board also wishes to thank the many individuals and civic organizations which submitted names for this vacancy."

Woods amplified the statement by citing several of the basic traits the board looked for—honesty, integrity, ability—and noting that the candidates uniformly possessed these basic qualifications.

WOODS SAID he believed the factor which swung the pendulum in Nelson's favor was his wide background and experience in cost accounting and financial matters, since this specific talent would balance with the talents of the other board members.

Another factor which Woods said appeared to carry a good deal of weight with some of the board members was the matter of geographic location of the candidate's residence.

If the village were divided into fourths, two of the present trustees live in the southeast, two and Woods in the northeast, two in the northwest and none in the southwest. Nelson lives in the southwest. (Glantz resides in Stonegate—the northeast—and Woods is building a new home in the southeast.)

J. A. BUZZ NELSON

Woods emphasized, however, that no one consideration was a deciding factor in itself.

THERE HAD been considerable agitation from the Chamber of Commerce and individual businessmen in the village to have a local businessman appointed to fill the vacancy.

Woods said the board believed this was a very important consideration, but not an overriding factor. It was reliably reported that the other "finalist" was a local businessman.

Nelson will be officially installed as a board member at the board's next scheduled meeting, Monday, June 4. He will serve as an appointee until the election next spring, at which time someone will be elected to serve out the remaining two years of Glantz' term.

Village Cuts Nurse Funds, Schools Burn

Subsidy to Parochial Health Plan Dropped

by JIM DAVIES

A public school-parochial school explosion appears imminent in Arlington Heights, and the fuse already is burning below the surface, touched off by the withdrawal of the village from the school and community nurse program.

In effect, the village's action withdraws its subsidy of the parochial school health program, which was slated to have cost the village some $17,500 for 1962-63.

In the past, the cost of the health program has been shared equally by the public elementary school district and the village, with the parochial schools getting a free ride.

NOW THAT the village has withdrawn, the entire cost fals on District 25.

The District 25 school board takes the position that it is neither financially nor legally capable of extending health services to parochial schools free of charge.

"We look upon the health service as we do any other service provided in the public schools at taxpayers' expense," one school board spokesman said. "We do not and can not, for instance, provide private schools with textbooks paid for with tax money, and we cannot provide them with health services paid for with tax money."

ALREADY, the school board's position has been criticized severely by one outspoke church leader, but many parochial parents blame the village and not the public elementary school board.

Many of these parents have telephoned their complaints to village board members, and their argument is that they pay taxes the same as parents of children in public schools do, so their children should receive the same services the public school children do.

Some people answer this charge by saying that these children are welcome to receive the same services public school children receive — if they attend public school where the services are available.

"IT GETS back to the same old problem of church and state," one school administrator said. "Whether or not you can use taxes to provide something for parochial schools."

The program, as it has been administered, goes back many years. Prior to May of 1952, the community health program was provided by the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago, with half the cost being picked up jointly by the village, District 25 (elementary) and District 214 (high school).

In 1955, District 214 withdrew from the program and hired its own full-time nurse, giving her the status of a member of the faculty.

THE VILLAGE and District 25 then shared the cost equally.

In 1957-58, the village's share was $5,100.

In 1958-59, it was $6,334.

In 1959-60, $9,605.

In 1960-61, $10,030.

In 1961-62, $12,256.

In 1962-63, it was due to go up t o$17,500, but the village board cut this item out of its budget upon the recommendation of and after consultation with the village manager.

THE JUMP slated for this year is because the school board intended to hire one more nurse and another full-time secretary. Currently, three nurses and the equivalent of one full-time secretary are employed.

What do the nurses do? Here are a few of the activities listed in the report of Mrs. Thelma Carroll, director of the program, for the 12-month period from March, 1961, to March, 1962:

Tuberculosis Control—51 cases of tuberculosis currently under supervision. 1,483 tuberculin tests made this year in schools.

Paddock to Be Closed On May 30

The offices of Paddock Publications will be closed all day Memorial Day, Wednesday, May 30, it was announced this week by Stuart R. Paddock, president.

The May 31 editions of Paddock's 14 suburban newsapers will be distributed as usual on Thursday, May 31.

BECAUSE OF the Memorial Day holiday, all deadlines for news contributors and columnists will be moved ahead 24 hours next week. In other words, material usually turned in on Tuesday must be submitted on Monday.

Questions regarding the earlier deadlines may be directed to Paddock Publications, CL 3-1520.

Project of Rotary

Friday Is Deadline For Teens' Contest

Tomorrow night, Friday, is the deadline for submitting nominations for the "Tip Top Teen" contest being conducted by the Arlington Heights Rotary Club.

Bruce Ladd, club youth chairman, announced this week that the judges for the competition will be Charles E. Hayes, executive editor of Paddock Publications, Inc.; L. A. Hanson, Arlington Heights village manager; and Wayne Brennan, president of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce.

Ladd said any individual, institution, club or organization in the village can nominate a young woman or young man for the award, which will be given to the youth judged to have best lived up to the Rotary motto, "Service Above Self."

"THE JUDGES are ready to go to work," Ladd said. "In fact, they're eager to review the qualifications of as many candidates as possible. Individuals are invited to nominate teenagers who have made contributions to their community."

The winning teenager will be presented an engraved wall plaque with his or her name on it, designating the recipient as Tip Top Teen of Arlington Heights for 1962-63. The winner also will receive a personal gift.

Nominations should be based on the following criteria: How the nominee has lived up to the Rotary motto (most important), and the type and amount of worthwhile service rendered to the community.

The nominee must live in Arlington Heights and be within the age limits of 13 through 19, inclusive.

LADD SAID it is important the information about the nominee and his activity be as detailed as possible. The judges will not be told the names of the candidates and will base their decision solely upon the data submitted.

Nominations should be mailed to the Rotary Club, P.O. Box 402, Arlington Heights, or to Ladd, 217 W. Campbell.

Pools Are Turned Down by Majority

High School District 214 residents turned out in record numbers Saturday to approve a $4.9 million bond issue for a fourth high school and turn down a $700,000 swimming pool proposition.

Some 4,517 voted for the building, more than the entire vote cast for Forest View in 1960. The "no" votes numbered 2,286, giving the proposition nearly a 2-1 majority.

The pools were "unplugged" 3,717 to 3,063.

All areas of the district supported the building proposal, which was to construct a 2,500 student high school at the northwest corner of the Hintz Road - Route 83 intersection, near Wheeling and Prospect Heights.

The school, to be ready by the school year 1964-65, will make room for the district's growing numbers of students, estimated at 10,000 by 1966.

Heaviest favorable vote came from the northern precincts (Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, and Prospect Heights), but Arlington Heights carried the proposition 1,924 to 1,050, losing only the Kensington precinct, 102 to 122.

MOUNT PROSPECT carried the proposal by 49 votes, although the Central School precinct recorded a 346 to 346 tie.

There were light turnouts in Rolling Meadows and Elk Grove. Precincts at High Ridge Knolls Subdivision, Ridge School in Elk Grove Village, and the Herzog School in Waycinden Park Subdivision defeated the issue by small margins.

The small Feehanville District voted 62-16 in favor of the building.

The pools, downed by only about 650 votes, carried in Wheeling, Buffalo Grove, Prospect Heights, one Arlington Heights precinct (Ridge), one Rolling Meadows precinct (Kimball Hill), three Elk Grove Township precincts, and both Feehanville precincts.

HOWEVER, 14 of the 25 precincts voted against the pools, which had been proposed for the new school and for Forest View.

School board members and members of the Citizens' Lay Committee were "very happy" about the record turnout, which exceeded the vote on Forest View High School by over 2,700 votes.

Board President John Haas, of Prospect Heights, called the bond issue result "a tremendous tribute to our residents' interest in good education and a pat on the back for our teachers and administrators."

"THIS SCHOOL will allow us to maintain the fine program presently offered District 214 students. We knew the voters wouldn't let a request for a few extra tax dollars tear down our schools' excellent educational reputation," Haas added.

Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer pointed out that the result was especially gratifying considering that the bond issue was held soon after the issuance of tax bills and the district was in a unique position of asking for a fourth school before the third was completed.

"Saturday's result confirms our belief that as long as the district continues to operate economically and as long as our graduates prove the value of their high school instruction, our residents will support the schools," the superintendent added. (A quick succession late one afternoon in March. If Hartle's confession of the Arlington Heights robbery stands up, he almost certainly is the man who committed the other two robberies.

The gunman escaped with some $260 in those three robberies. Earlier in the month, a gunman escaped with some $325 from Maison de Romayne.

In each instance the method of operation was similar, and matched the method of operation of a gunman who had been operating throughout the Chicago suburbs for many months.

Hartle gave his address as 4817 W. Van Buren, Chicago, and his occupation as a maintenance man.

Auto Safety Program Is Big Success

Everone connected with the free auto safety check conducted in Arlington Heights the past three Saturdays termed the campaign an unqualified success this week.

More than 850 cars were safety checked during the campaign at Arlington Fender & Body Shop on W. Northwest Highway. The program was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Safety Council. It was officially approved by the village administration and police department.

SOME 275 to 300 cars went Saturday, about 350 the preceeding Saturday, and 225 the Saturday before that.

The proprietors of Arlington Fender & Body Shop said that in case anyone still has not had his car safety checked, the shop will do this free of charge or obligation any time before the Memorial Day holiday.

Disease Declines

In 1900, influenza and pneumonia accounted for 202 deaths out of every 100,000 population. By 1960, those diseases were claiming only 37 per 100,000 people.

INFANT CARE — 48 home calls made on new full-term babies. 19 home calls made on premature babies.

School Health—1,153 calls, telephone or office or home were made to discuss matters pertaining to student's health. 10,157 vision tests completed. 637 vision defects found and reported to parents. 438 of these under doctor's care. 9,629 hearing tests completed. 83 new defects found.

All previously known hearing defects have had at least one additional complete audiogram made this year. 1,373 smallpox vaccinations completed. 1,567 diphtheria boosters given in an emergency program necessitated by the diagnosis of two cases of diphtheria in one family at St. James. 784 diphtheria-tetanus boosters given to first and fourth graders in regular school program. 246 polio boosters given to the Spanish-speaking children at St. James Summer Migrant School.

ADULT PATIENTS—79 home calls made during the year on adult ill. These are patients who are criticaly ill and unable to come to the office for hypodermics or other medication.

"Primarily," a public school administrator said, "this is a testing and immunization program. We don't provide first aid for scratches on the knee or things of that nature."

Essentially the current problem is two-fold:

1. Is this a service which should be provided by the village in the interest of public health?

2. If not, and it is strictly a program which schools wish to provide, should the public school system foot the bill for the parochial schools?

THE PUBLIC school administrators have indicated they feel the health program is primarily a responsibility of the school system, not the village. But since it is financed through taxes, it can be extended to parochial schools only if the parochial schools pay their share.

By withdrawing from the program, the village has indicated it feels the responsibility falls upon the schools also. "I've checked with other towns," Hanson said, "and none of them participate in any program like this. They wonder how we ever got into it in the first place."

To the parents of the 3,248 parochial students (St. James Catholic, 1,588; Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic, 1,130; St. Peter Lutheran, 530) it matters little whether the village or the public school district pays for the program, as long as their sons and daughters share in the benefits.

THESE PARENTS pay both village and school taxes, and from whichever source the money is taken to pay for the program, they believe their children should be included.

Perhaps they may, or at least perhaps the cost to the parochial schools will be reduced. The village board Monday night deferred action on its appropriation ordinance for the 1962-63 fiscal year because some members wanted to re-examine the exclusion of one item from the ordinance.

That item was a matter of $17,500 for the school and community health program. (AF

Astronaut Answers

Bennie to Glenn: 'What's It Like?'

Ten-year-old Bennie Mammina of Arlington Heights had quite a thrill last Thursday when the mail came — in it was a letter to him from Lt. Col. John H. Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth.

Bennie, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mammina, of 403 W. Miner, had written Col. Glenn a letter a few weeks ago, asking what it was like out there in space and what he found out on his trip.

"I told him, too, that I bet he wasn't scared when he was up there," Bennie said.

"ME? YES," Bennie said, "I would have been scared if I hadn't had any practice, but I wouldn't have been scared if I knew the spaceship was all right."

Signed for Col. Glenn by an aide, the letter to Bennie thanked him for his interest and thoughtfulness in writing about the flight of the Friendship 7 spacecraft.

"Many things were learned from this and from the earlier flights of Alan Shepard and Gus Grissom," the letter said. "Each flight is a stepping stone in the ever-expanding manned space flight research program."

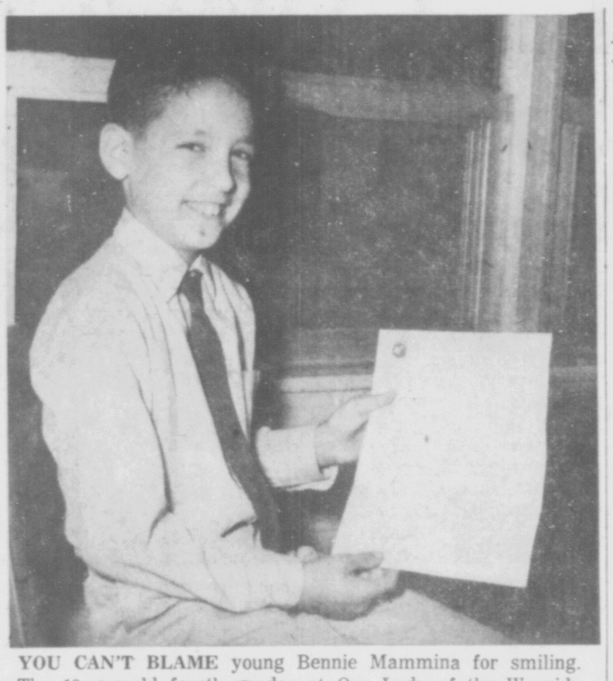
COL. GLENN, a Marine flyer, said that project Mercury is a team effort of many, many thousands of people.

"Beyond those working directly on the project, however, the flight of Friendship 7 had the support, thoughts and best wishes of many thousands, perhaps even millions of people throughout the world," Glenn added.

What prompted Bennie's letter to Col. Glenn?

"I DON'T KNOW," Bennie said. "I watched him go up on TV—that was really something—and decided to write."

Bennie is a fourth grade student at Our Lady of the Wayside School.



YOU CAN'T BLAME young Bennie Mammina for smiling. The 10-year-old fourth grader at Our Lady of the Wayside School in Arlington Heights has something few other youngsters in the country have — a letter from astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. Bennie wrote to Glenn after the Marine colonel's orbital flight in Friendship 7 spacecraft, and last week received a reply. (AF

New Shoe Store Is Open for Business

A new shoe store which will cater to the whole family will open today, May 24 in Arlington Heights.

A & B Shoes, 5 E. Campbell St., Arlington Heights, will handle a wide selection of shoes for men, women, and children, Owner Art Doty announced.

Qualified fitters will do expert fitting and fill prescriptions calling for orthopedic shoes, Doty said.

FOR CHILDREN the newly renovated store will carry Jumping Jacks and Kalisteniks, regular, and orthopedic shoes. Men will be able to choose from Air Film by Crosby Square, Crosby Squares, and Bristol shoes. Women can select from a stock which includes Joyce shoes, Beau Teens, and P.F. Flyers by B. F. Goodrich.

In the shoe business for 20 years, Doty formerly managed an Arlington Heights store for six years. His assistant managed a shoe store in Palatine.

ARTHUR DOTY

Doty is a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

Doty who lives at 409 S. Dryden Place, Arlington Heights, has a son and a daughter who attend Arlington High School.

Prom Trip Photo Contest Explained

Junior and senior couples going on the "Arlington Special" to Nippersink Lodge after the prom next Tuesday night were reminded this week to take along a camera and plenty of film and flash bulbs so they can compete in the photo contest.

The film must be either 127, 120 or 620, and it will be developed and printed free.

THE SPECIAL 10-car train will leave Arlington Park race track about 1:30 a.m. Wednesday, May 30, for the lodge in Genoa, Wis., and return after lunch.

On boarding the train for the return trip to Arlington Heights, shutterbugs should turn in their film, with their name plainly printed on the exposed roll, to the "Photo Contest Man."

The finished prints may be picked up a week later, June 6, at Community Camera. Prize-winning photos will be displayed in the camera shop window.

First prize will be an 8x10 colored portrait, with a sitting to be arranged at the winner's convenience.

THE 10 RUNNERS-UP will receive 8x10 enlargements of their prize-winning photos.

The train trip and lodge activities are sponsored by the Parents After-the-Prom Club, Inc., an organization composed of parents of Arlington High School students. (A

Memorial Day Parade Here

John H. Bickley Jr., a major in the Marine Corps Reserves and a Mount Prospect village trustee, will give the main address next Wednesday at the public Memorial Day ceremonies in Arlington Heights.

Preceding the ceremony at Memorial Park will be a parade with bands, drill teams, floats, a number of military units, drum and bugle corps, and other units.

The parade will get underway at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, May 30, rain or shine. It will assemble at Dunton and South Streets, go north on Dunton to Euclid Avenue; west on Euclid to Chestnut; south on Chestnut to Memorial Park.

BICKLEY IS a partner and trial lawyer for Peterson, Bogucki and Bickley of Chicago. He is a graduate of Castle Heights Military Academy, Lebanon, Tenn., Evanston Community College, and Kent College of Law, Chicago.

He enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps on Aug. 17, 1947, and has been in the Corps either on active duty or in the reserve since that day.

He was recalled to active duty in June, 1951, and served with the 8th Marine Regiment, 2nd Marine Division, FMF, as a platoon and company commander.

HE LATER WAS transferred to Marine Barracks at Great Lakes and just prior to his release to inactive duty in January, 1954, was Marine legal officer for the 9th Naval District. He currently is in the active reserve.

Among the many organizations to which Bickley belongs is the American Legion.

Guests of honor at the ceremonies will include Sen. Paul H. Douglas; Brig. Gen. Kermit L. Davis, commanding general at the Nike base; and Don Knapp, an Arlington Heights businessman who will be presented with a citizens citation by VFW Post 981 in Arlington Heights, sponsor of the Memorial Day program.

Other distinguished guests will include John G. Woods, village president; Harvey Carothers, fire chief; L. W. Calderwood, chief of police; Comdr. Wallace Daughtry, USNR village CD director; and Eugene Oliver, Arlington High School principal.

SYLVESTER Greschner will be parade marshall; William Milligan will be master of ceremonies; and the Rev. Daliel Reardon, CSV, St. Viator's High School, will give the invocation and benediction.

Mary Ann Laseke, accompanied by a U. S. Navy band from the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, will lead the audience in singing the "Star Spangled Banner."

Red Cross Slates Water Safety Class

Swimmers in the northwest suburbs interested in becoming Water Safety Instructors, Water Safety Aides or Senior Life Savers may do so be enrolling in the annual Red Cross Spring Training Program in Water Safety for the North Cook Region, according to Warren Bell, 1814 Welwyn Drive, Des Plaines Red Cross regional chairman of water safety for the American Red Cross.

The two-week program beginning Monday, June 11, and ending Friday, June 22, 9 a.m. to 12 noon, will be held at Lion's Memorial Park Pool, Lincoln and Maple Streets, Mount Prospect.

THREE separate courses will be offered: Water Safety Instructor — for anyone 18 years and over who has completed Senior Life Saving within the past three years; Water Safety Aide (assists Water Safety Instructors) — for anyone between the ages of 14 and 18 who has passed Junior or Senior Lifesaving or is currently enrolled in the Life Saving Course being offered during the program, and Senior Life Saving—for anyone 16 years and over who is able to pass the preliminary swimming test.

THESE COURSES will be under the instruction of Miss Polly Duzeski, general field representative of the American Red Cross, who will be assisted by Mrs. Thomas Crouch, 2055 Brookdale Lane, Palatine, community water safety representative for Palatine.

This is a free program. There is no charge for instruction and no pool fee. Students are requested to bring their own suits and towels. To register call Mount Prospect Park District, CL 5-4456, or American Red Cross, UN 4-9000, or register at the pool on opening day. (B8

200 German Marks Launch YMCA Building Wind-Up

The first contribution in Northwest Suburban YMCA's current wind-up building drive came appropriately from its member who can claim "living the farthest distance from the 'Y'." Even though his address is Witten Annen, Federal Republic Germany, he did buy a membership in person when on a recent trip in the United States.

Werner Otto, president of Wickmann Werkes Co., a German industrial firm, sent 200 German marks to the "Y" campaign several weeks ago upon hearing of plans for its kickoff. He sent it to his friend, Thomas M. Blake of Inverness, head of the "Y" advisory board, in behalf of Northwest Suburban, which he had visited while on a trip here from Germany.

HE WAS so impressed with the building and its facilities that he immediately became a member. He also expressed a wish that Germany had YMCAs such as this to serve its families.

His 200-mark contribution is equal to $50 in United States currency.

THE $120,000 wind-up building campaign to pay off the "Y" mortgage started Sunday afternoon and will continue through June 14.

Volunteer workers and their families gathered Sunday at the "Y" for briefing and a family day. While parents received information on the drive, their children swam, roller skated and played table games. Outdoors there were pony rides as a special treat for the youngsters.

CO-CHAIRMEN of the wind-up drive are Mr. and Mrs. William Busse of Mount Prospect. Under them are four divisions: Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Des Plaines and one for the surrounding areas in which "Y" members reside, each division with a $30,000 goal. Members and friends of the "Y" will be called upon for a contribution or pledge to help pay off the debt of the $1,100,000 building which opened a year ago in January. (B9

MRS. WILLIAM BUSSE of Mount Prospect, co-chairman of Northwest Suburban YMCA's wind-up building drive, is shown receiving the first contribution, one from far away in Germany. Thomas M. Blake of Inverness, head of the 'Y' advisory board, makes the presentation, since he received the 200 German marks in behalf of the 'Y' from his friend, Werner Otto, president of Wickmann Werkes Co. in Germany. Otto had joined the local 'Y' after touring it recently and promptly sent in his contribution upon hearing of the current drive. (B9

Ben Adamowski Urges Interest in Politics

by LEE SECHLER

"Be as interested in the election as if you were running for office yourself . . . take an interest in politics to stamp out dishonest voting."

Those words came from Benjamin Adamowski, former Cook County state's attorney, as he spoke before the Northwest Industrial Council last Wednesday night, May 16.

"Behind the Scene at the State's Attorney's office," was the topic of his talk.

"It seems that the only time you hear about the state's attorney's office now is when they are talking about me," he said with a smile. Then he became serious.

ADAMOWSKI explained that in reality the state's attorney's office was not the policing arm of the county, but "I couldn't have gone home at night and faced my family if I just waited for the sheriff to bring in findings."

He was handicapped, he said, by a defense motion to "suppress the evidence" in cases, which meant that the evidence his office spent months obtaining could be given away by the judge hearing the case.

"I had no right of appeal in criminal court. And so I appealed to the people—the highest court in the land," Adamowski said. "I spoke out, too, so the people would know what was happening."

THE FORMER state's attorney said his speaking out, or even threat of speaking out, had a desired effect on some of the judges in criminal court.

A narcotics squad he spent four years building and staffing with competent men was disbanded by the present state's attorney when he assumed office, Adamowski said.

"Narcotics leads to all other crimes; stealing, rape, robbery, and others. Cut this problem and you cut other crimes," he said with the conviction of a lawyer making his closing statement to a jury.

ADAMOWSKI, himself a lawyer, predicted that if everyone locked their cars when they parked or left them, there would be a 33 to 40 per cent drop in crime in Cook County.

A car stolen in Chicago, he pointed out, can be used to commit a crime in Mount Prospect or Arlington Heights.

"Corruption and crime in Chicago are bound to spill out and effect the areas surrounding it," he said.

Only through an interest and concern in who holds office will we be able to stamp out the corrupt elements, Adamowski declared.

"EVERYONE, Republican or Democrat must take a greater interest in government because you're not dealing with something remote," he stated.

"Bad men are elected to office because good people stayed home."

During a question and answer period that followed his talk, Adamowski said "I don't know" when asked if he would run for office again.

He indicated he would run for office if he thought conditions were suitable for him. (B8

NEW DIRECTIONS IN PROGRAM

In 1956, Camp Fire Girls, Inc. completed Leadership-Program Studies, designed to investigate the attitudes and opinions of Camp Fire Girls leaders about girls, their experiences with girls, and those factors which influence the effectiveness of Camp Fire Girls' activities. Then a limited research project was set up in 10 councils, beginning in September 1958, which continued through August 1960.

These 10 councils actually tried out the program revisions and enrichments before any were recommended nationally. These recommendations will be in effect as of September, 1962. Blue Birds is the Camp Fire Girls program for girls who are 7 and 8-years-old or in second and third grades.

Camp Fire is the Camp Fire Girls' program for girls who are 9, 10 and 11 years old or in fourth through sixth grades. Junior High Camp Fire is the Camp Fire Girls' program for girls who are 12 and 13 years old or in seventh and eighth grades. This is a new, fourth program level. Horizon Club is the Camp Fire Girls program for girls 14 through 17 or in ninth grade through high school.

PALATINE

Janet Baldocchi, Pamela and Cindy Cipri, Denise Clausen, Patty, Susan, and Kathy Kane, and Janice and Dianne Rennack of the Giggley Blue Bird Group, marched in the 26th Annual Youth Parade held in Northlake May 29. The Youth Parade is held under the sponsorship of the American Legion Post and Auxiliary of the Ninth District. The Giggley girls won first place and the trophy of the marching groups in their category.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Ek - O - Le - La Camp Fire Group, who meet at Westgate School, have completed three rank requirements in one weekend. For their community service project they helped to beautify Pioneeer Park by planting petunias, which the park provided. The 3-meal cook-out was also incorporated into this day with the girls hiking from one place to the next.

Pamela Townsend's backyard on S. Kennicott Avenue was the first stop of the day; here the girls cooked their breakfast. After putting in their two hours of service at Pioneer Park, these Camp Fire Girls hiked to Kathy Braun's house on E. Clarendon to cook their lunch. From here the girls walked to Linda Nielson's home on W. Euclid and cooked their supper.

The next day the girls were hostesses for a family party, which they had planned at Pioneer Park.

All parents and adult members are urged to attend the June 5 luncheon at Itasca Country Club. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Ava Jean Vigstedt at CL 3-9258 by May 28.

Mrs. Pat Miresse, CL 9-0946, should be informed when groups have completed needlework Guild articles.

For the Memorial Day Parade, girls will meet at South Park, 9 a.m. in full costume plus white gloves. (B9

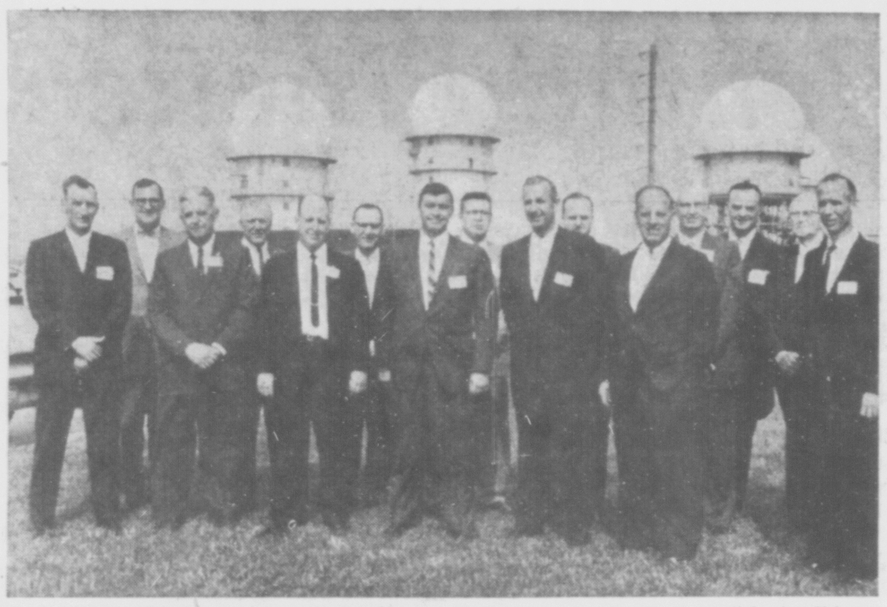
Citizens See Defense 'Developments' Here



PICTURED ABOVE are 15 of 17 northwest suburban citizens who attended a special review of "latest developments" in the Chicago-Gary Air Defense last Friday. (B8

Seventeen citizens of the northwest suburban area were on hand at Headquarters, 45th Artillery Brigade (Air Defense), Arlington Heights, last Friday to attend a special preview of the "latest developments" in the Chicago - Gary Air Defense.

Hosted by Col. Francis G. Gregory Jr., 45th Brigade executive officer, the function consisted of a lunch at the 45th Brigade Officer's Mess, followed by a guided tour of an improved Nike-Hercules site at Lombard.

Civilian guests in attendance were Leonard Hansen, village manager, Arlington Heights; Lowell Calderwood, chief of police, Arlington Heights; Stuart R. Paddock, publisher, Paddock Publications, Inc.; Lester Bergmann, village president, Lombard; Wilbur Harris, village manager, Palatine.

ALSO, MARK Orlick, chief of police, Hoffman Estates; Cy Campbell, chief of police, Rolling Meadows, and Alan B. Campbell, administrator, Northwest Community Hospital.

First on the agenda was a general orientation by Capt. George F. Young Jr. on the Nike-Hercules System. Commenting on the capabilities of the missile, Young pointed out that the Nike-Hercules has a range of more than 75 miles, with an altitude capability ranging from less than 1,000 feet to more than 150,000 feet (over 28 miles).

Young went on to say that the Hercules has demonstrated effectivenes against targets traveling faster than Mach 3.0 (2100 miles per hour).

Commencing the tour itself, the guests were first taken to see the new HIPAR (High Power Acquistition Radar) building and antenna. Next in line was a tour of the new battery generator building, recently constructed at Battery B to increase further that battery's effectiveness in the air defense ring of the Chicago-Gary area.

NEXT, THE guests were given briefings and demonstrations within the Battery Control and Radar Control Vans of the battery's Integrated Fire Control area. It is within these vans that the real electronic "heart" and "brains" of the battery are located.

Here the guests saw the radar consoles which track both the enemy target and the friendly missile. Here also they saw the electronic computer which guides the missile to its target and destroys it. (B8

PALATINE

Brownie Troop 410 presented a "Special" for mothers and friends May 16.

Leader of the Color Guard was Lynn Fuqua and the Color Guards were Rene De Wyze, Bebe Molway, Debbie Pierce and Lisa Maas. One year stars were given to 20 of the 22 girls in the troop. The Susie Scout award was given to Bebe Molway.

The girls gave a one-act play "The King with the Three Marriageable Daughters." Julie Cramer was The King; Debbie Visk, the Lion; Deena Hallquist and Ruth Anne Krause, the Guards; Mary Lou Sobczynski, the Fat Daughter; Debbie Tometich, the Cat; Anne Patterson, the Thin Daughter; Joy Belle Burtis, the Crow; Linda Smith, the Beautiful Daughter; Becky Lorenz, the Handsome Prince; Ginger Gieseke and Deirdre Stanton, Baying Hounds; and Camille White as the Galloping Horse.

Refreshments were served by hostesses, Barbara Barr, Mary Mattern, Susan Meyer and Alison Morland.

The Brownies sang three songs, with the audience invited to participate in one of the numbers.

ROLLING MEADOWS

A rainy, damp day at Camp Pine was the setting for Troop 17's cook-out. The girls acquired skills in compass, jackknife and trail-laying from three scouts from Troop 357: Bev Mueller, Pamela Bull and Linda Lenz. Joanne Werling, a Fly-up Scout from Troop 407, was working with the Trail-laying Patrol.

Games and songs warmed the girls during the cold day. Rene DuBois led the prayer before lunch. Drivers were Mrs. Thomas Costello, Mrs. Donald Foley and Mrs. Ted Werling. Mrs. Emmett Anderson and Mrs. Donald Reynolds are co-leaders.

HOFFMAN ESTATES

Third grade Brownies in Mrs. R. Goddertz' and Mrs. W. Shaw's Troop 866 toured Northwest Community Hospital May 10 when the Scouts delivered tray favors which they had made for their spring service project.

A hike and cookout at Deer Grove May 12 followed several weeks of planning by Troop 631. Fifth grade troop leaders are Mrs. Donald Reid and Mrs. R. Schneider.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS

Troop 258 entertained Troop 665 as part of its second class requirement. They had a flag ceremony, taught the troop games and delighted the visitors with refreshments. Troop 258 is going to be instructed in first aid by Mrs. R. Roth and Mrs. B. Essel this month. The neighborhood meeting was held at Camp Pine.

Troop 565 held a service project at the Prospect Heights Community Church. This troop has the privilege of using the church building for its meetings, so in order to show their thanks they are doing some weeding on the church grounds.

The neighborhood song fest is to be held June 3 behind the Prospect Heights Elementary School from 7:30 to 9 p.m. All the Scouts and their families will be participating. Songs will be led by the Mariner Troop from Palatine.

WHEELING

Brownie Scouts from Troops 829 and 874 presented a black-faced minstrel show at the Addolorata Villa May 12. It was first presented April 27 to the families and friends of the girls in the troops. The 3-act show featured a chorus of traditional minstrel show favorites. Comic dialogue was presented by the interlocutor, Dawn Dunsmore, and end men, Kathy Hopkins, Kathy Manning, Linda Hart, Lynette Valenza, Valerie Nowak and Vicki Weber.

Specialty numbers were given by Kathy Winka, Kathy Moeller, Katie Molloy, Kathy Graszer, Karen Schwarz, Pam Artese and Barbara Quiram. Also included was a skit entitled "The Busy Barbers."

NORTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Sixteen fourth grade Brownies of Troop 105 will hold their Fly-up ceremony Sunday, May 27, at 2 p.m. on the lawn of Fairview School. Cake, coffee and soft drinks will be served from a table decorated in gold to honor the 50th Anniversary of Girl Scouting. Relatives of the girls are invited and asked to bring their own folding chairs.

SOUTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Troop 499, eighth grade Scouts visited Mount Prospect Library May 9 to clean up the parkway and plant grass seed, thereby fulfilling requirements for the Conservation Badge. The Ireland Restaurant in Chicago, owned by the parents of troop member, Regina Ireland, played host to the troop at a buffet supper last Sunday in the restaurant's banquet room. A court of awards followed.

Troop 597 leader, Mrs. Robert Nordli, entertained Mayra Torres of Cuba, a student at the Sacred Heart High School in Arlington Heights. Also present were five eighth graders from the troop who are completing international friendship requirements for Second Class Rank.

Troop members attended the Brownie Father-Daughter Banquet this month to present i song, "A preview of Coming Attractions in Scouting." This was aimed at fourth grade Brownies on the verge of flying-up. The troop is working on book binding for the arts and crafts requirements of second class rank.

Troop 212, fifth graders, experienced their first over-night at Camp Pine May 11 and passed some of their requirements for Second Class. Brownie Troop 876, second and third graders, visited the United Air Lines Building and toured the building with Hugh May. Mrs. Earl Marsh, leader, and Mrs. Pierce Rose, co-leader, also went on the tour. (B9

YMCA Announces Change in Staff

Several changes in staff were announced this week by Charles McClellan, executive secretary of Northwest Suburban YMCA.

Effective June 4 Arthur G. Holland, present physical director, will move into the Metropolitan Chicago YMCA office and will be replaced temporarily on the staff by a new junior secretary, Donald Marquardt.

MARQUARDT comes to the YMCA direct from four years of military service. Prior to this he was enrolled at George Williams College, the YMCA training school for professional YMCA people.

He will work full time as acting physical director at the local YMCA and attend school on a part-time basis to complete his college requirements. Marquardt is residing in Mount Prospect, is married and has one daughter.

ALSO JOINING the staff for the summer program is a former staff member, Cliff Lothery. He is a physical education instructor at Thacker Junior High School in Des Plaines.

Lothery formerly was youth director at Northwest suburban YMCA. (B9

A bright future—for young people

Having money to spend when you need it is a key to success. Here are a few good rules to help young people save:

1. Keep your eyes on your long range goals; college, a business of your own, marriage, a home.
2. Make saving a habit. Pay yourself first by putting something aside regularly out of your allowance and earnings.

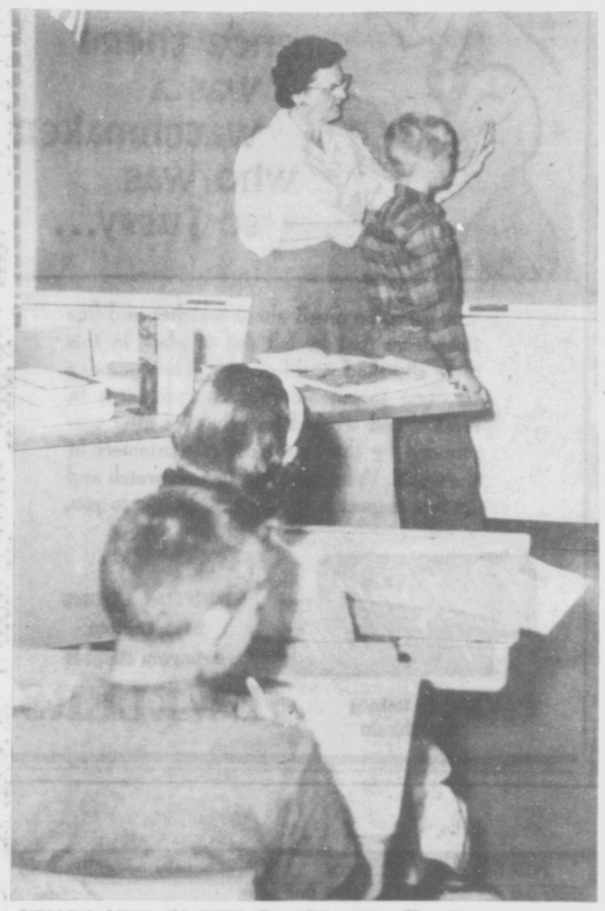
'New Math' Teaches Theory Behind Practice



WHAT'S NEW IN THIS CLASSROOM? The illustrations on the blackboard for one thing, and the mathematical concepts the student is learning for another. The change in the past two years in the teaching of mathematics in Arlington Heights elementary schools is termed the most dramatic change in the entire educational program. Teaching the new mathematics at Windsor School is Mrs. Doris Keith. David Kallman is the pupil at the blackboard.

Called Dramatic Education Change

by JIM DAVIES

What amounts to a virtual revolution in the method of teaching mathematics has been taking place in the Arlington Heights elementary school system.

"During the past two years, the changes in the mathematics curriculum have been the most dramatic in the entire educational program," Robert Campbell said last week. Campbell is assistant superintendent of Arlington School District 25.

The "new mathematics" involves teaching elementary students to understand the theory of numbers, as opposed to teaching mathematical processes without attempting to teach the concepts on which the processes were based.

"FOR INSTANCE," Campbell said, "we previously didn't try to teach the student that multiplication is just a trick way of adding. We taught the multiplication table."

This fundamental change in teaching mathematics has been under study in the Arlington Heights elementary and junior high school stystem for more than four years.

Last year, a new text utilizing the new concept was adopted for grades three through six. Prior to that, the program had been studied for three years by elementary and junior high mathematics textbook study committees, and experimental programs had been conducted at various grade levels.

DURING THAT time, the authors of texts based on the new theory of teaching visited the school system, as did the publishers, and were available for consultation and advice.

This year, the committees made their report, and it was favorable. As a result, the new concept will be employed throughout the system as soon as feasible.

The committees were concerned with three major factors, Campbell said.

1. Did teaching the new way have a favorable effect on the students in the experimental classes?

2. How far along in school could a student be before he would have passed the point where his previous mathematics training would not allow him to grasp the new system?

3. Would the teachers be able to teach the new system, and could an in-service training program prepare them to teach the new concepts?

BECAUSE OF THE favorable reports, Ralph E. Clabaugh, superintendent of the district, recommended adoption of textbooks for next year which would extend the new concept throughout the system.

Basically, the new system involves teaching the expression of mathematical problems in terms of algebraic experssions. As far back as third grade, the students begin to learn to express simple addition problems in algebra.

Thus they learn that "5 plus X equals 10" is another way of saying, "What does 10 minus 5 equal?" Instead of "X" however, a small box is used as a symbol.

In this way, they learn that numbers are not an entity in themselves, but simply symbols the same as "X" or a box, used to designate a certain quantity, and that other symbols are used to express the relationship of one quantity to another.

"The system also dwells rather heavily on mental arithmetic, and on developing mental arithmetic skills," Campbell said.

HE EXPLAINED that this does not mean the student is taught to multiply and add "in his head," but that he is taught to grasp the problem in his mind and form estimates before he actually works out the problem mathematically.

Thus the student is taught to use his own mental processes to verify an answer to a problem, or to predict the answer with reasonable accuracy.

Instead of blindly manipulating a set of figures as the mathematical symbols indicate, the student will have an idea of why he is working out a problem a certain way, and if the answer coincides with his logically thought-out estimate, he can be reasonably certain he has worked the problem correctly.

"This technique has never really been taught before," Campbell said. Students developed it by themselves, usually, but not before they were in high school, or even later."

THE END RESULT of this major change in the teaching of mathematics will be students with a broader knowledge of the relationship of numbers to objects, and an insight into the theory behind mathematics which will enable them to more easily use their own intelligence to solve problems confronting them.

This whole idea of teaching the student to figure things out for himself is being adopted in the teaching of science also.

For next year, a new text will be adopted for fourth grade science classes, continuing the series which the administration reports has been successful in grades one through three this year.

CLABAUGH reported to the school board the new texts stress, in part, that:

1. The problem solving method is basic.

2. Experiments are an integral part of the problem solving approach.

3. Illustrations and format provide motivation.

4. Science is a study of basic scientific principles.

As new texts incorporating these ideas are developed, they will be considered by the school system for adoption.

What all this means is that, to put it lightly, next time junior asks you to help him with his homework, take a deep breath first—you may find yourself in an embarrassing situation.

Collect 30 Boxes Of Pupil Supplies

The drive to collect pencils, writing paper and other school supplies for shipment to Arlington Heights' sister suburb of Comas, Peru, resulted in 30 boxes of supplies.

The drive was conducted the week of May 14-18 by Arlington Heights elementary, junior high and senior high students. All of the schools participated except Ridge and Wilson, and these two schools will hold their drive in June.

AFTER THE students brought the supplies to their various schools, high school students under the direction of Dick Daeschner collected and packed them into 8x20x13 boxes.

Collected were 26½ boxes of paper; 3 boxes of pencils; 1½ boxes of crayons; 1 box of miscellaneous supplies; 1 box of paper folders; and 1 box of encyclopedia volumes.

Wayne Brennan, president of the Arlington Heights Inter-American Friendship Program, said the supplies will be shipped as soon as transportation can be located.

Flood Control Aid Sought by Village

The Mount Prospect village board Tuesday night passed a resolution requesting Arlington Heights to cooperate in flood control of Weller Creek.

Last year, Arlington Heights passed a bond referendum providing for construction of a comprehensive relief storm sewer system.

TUESDAY NIGHT, the Mount Prospect village board said in its resolution that it "understands that the Village of Arlington Heights has recently obtained authority for the issuance of bonds and seeks to construct storm relief improvements which will discharge substantial waters and drainage into Weller Creek which might or could cause flood control problems in the vicinity of the Village of Mount Prospect. . ."

Mount Prospect hired the engineering firm of Greeley & Hansen to determine the impact of the Arlington Heights program on Mount Prospect.

CAP Officials Call Off Plane Search

Civil Air Patrol officials this week called off a search for a private plane missing since May 7 on a flight from Phoenix to Albuquerque, N.M., with three persons aboard, one an Arlington Heights man.

Missing are Thomas Thackery III, 45, of 612 S. Bristol Lane, Arlington Heights; Don W. Keller, 41, Deerfield, a business partner; and Vivian Jarrett of Chicago, a traveling companion being given a ride back to Chicago from the West Coast.

CAP OFFICIALS said an estimated 150 planes participated in the search and recorded more than 400 hours flying time while covering more than 2,000 square miles.

The search was officially called off last Sunday night. Eleven planes searched the flight route Sunday without success. Two or three sightings were made, but further checks resulted in negative results.

Thackery and his wife have two daughters and one son, all living at home.

Distinguish between EXCEED (to go beyond a boundary or limit) and EXCEL (to better a quality). Thus: "They have exceeded their quota in the selling of bonds," and, "They excel in the ability to sell bonds."

Do not say, "I read where the governor is going to visit with us." Say, I read THAT the governor is going to visit us (omit 'with')."

Of course doctors support health care for the aged...

We agree that all of our elderly should receive all the health care they need when they need it. The question is how health care for the aged can best be financed...and whether the program should be voluntary or compulsory

WHY WE FAVOR VOLUNTARY PROGRAMS

Voluntary programs are available now. They are private health insurance and prepayment plans for those able to purchase these policies . . . and the Kerr-Mills Law and other state and local programs for helping those who need help.

• Health insurance now is available to all the aged everywhere, and more than 9,000,000, or 53%, already have it.

• The Kerr-Mills Law enables the individual states to guarantee to every aged American who needs help the health care he requires.

• In addition to the more than 2,500,000 Americans covered by old age assistance, the Kerr-Mills Law is designed to benefit all older persons who can not meet the cost of a serious or prolonged illness.

• And, under Kerr-Mills, each state can pattern the program to meet its own particular needs.

The voluntary way avoids waste of tax dollars by helping those who need help and by preserving the right of the self-reliant to take care of themselves.

WHY WE REJECT THE COMPULSORY PROPOSAL

The King-Anderson Bill (HR 4222), now before Congress would force all wage-earners and all employers to pay a substantial increase in payroll taxes to buy health care for millions who can well afford to take care of themselves.

• It would not provide any help for the 3,500,000 not covered by social security — the group most in need.

• It would lower the quality of health care with the Federal Government controlling standards of practice.

• The cost of the bill would be staggering even when judged by the lowest estimates; yet, it would cover less than 25% of an aged person's health care costs.

Every hospitalized patient would be required to pay $10 a day for the first nine days. Many aged could not afford the $90. But the well-to-do could easily afford the $90 and get a free ride at taxpayers' expense for the rest of their hospital charges.

It is bad medicine any way you look at it!

WE BELIEVE VOLUNTARY PROGRAMS SHOULD BE GIVEN A FAIR TRIAL. THEY SHOULD NOT BE CAST ASIDE FOR A RADICAL, COSTLY, COMPULSORY, IRREVERSIBLE GOVERNMENT MEDICINE PLAN.

IF YOU BELIEVE AS WE DO, WRITE YOUR CONGRESSMAN TODAY. URGE HIM TO VOTE AGAINST THE KING-ANDERSON BILL (HR 4222).

Bears Final Sentiment

MILWAUKEE, (UPI) — Two neighbors on the southeast side of the city haven't been getting along too well lately — and at least one of them doesn't mind letting the world know how he feels about it.

One of them has painted a sign on his house with a 20-foot wide face adorned with a large red tongue pointed right at the other's house. (B8

Special Session Up To Kerner, GOP Says

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — The Illinois Budgetary Commission was told Tuesday a special session of the legislature would avert members with a detailed proposal a cash crisis looming in August or September and Republicans promptly said the next move is up to Gov. Otto Kerner.

Budget Director Ted Leth told commission members the state is "living on borrowed time."

He also predicted that as soon as the state cleans up its current fiscal problems, it will need an additional $250 million to $300 million in new revenue for the next two-year fiscal period beginning July 1, 1963.

LETH'S PREDICTION for the future "without batting an eye," as he put it, was that the bulwark of the new money would be for increasing public aid costs, the basis for the state's current woes.

Commission members soberly absorbed Leth's presentation of a pending cash crisis unless a special session is called.

Democrats wanted legislative leaders to go to the governor to talk the matter over while Republicans were adamant that the next play belonged to Kerner.

"The responsibility falls directly upon him," said House GOP Leader William E. Pollack, R.-Chicago. Only the governor can call the assembly into special session and he defines what it will consider.

NO ONE ON the commission disputed Leth's figures that spelled special session. Senate Majority Leader Arthur Bidwill, R.-River Forest, said "There isn't much choice."

Leth presented the commission for a "no tax" session of the assembly. Although the governor has said increased taxes constitute the only fundamental solution, legislators have been adamant that they want no part of increasing taxes in an election year. (B8

British Visitor Asks About Gang Slayings

LONDON, (UPI) — A British reporter said Tuesday Chicago law enforcement officials "merely smiled" when he asked them what was being done to solve 24 killings.

Rene Maccoll of the Daily Express told United Press International he talked to Police Superintendent Orlando Wilson and Chairman Virgil Peterson of the Crime Commission when he visited Chicago last week.

"I got the impression they — and the good citizens of Chicago, too — took the attitude of 'good riddance'," Maccoll said.

MACCOLL'S VIEWS on Chicago received a national audience last night when he described his visit on a British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) television program.

He said there were 15 "hoodlum slayings" in Chicago last year and nine more thus far this year — "The worst for something like 30 years, since Al Capone's days."

Maccoll said Wilson and Peterson told him there is one "big difference" between the killings of yesteryear and now.

"In the old days the big boys were knocked off as well as the little boys. Now it appears that it's only the little boys, the minor hoodlums who wind up in the trunks of cars," he said.

"THE BIG BOYS of Chicago crime don't get hurt. They're too smart. They live in beautiful homes, wear Saville Row clothes and send their daughters to finishing schools. These gentlemen are members of the 'Syndicate' and they do not get hurt," Maccoll said.

What did he think of Chicago generally?

"A most exciting city," said Maccoll. (B8

Suburb Men Named To Bank Committee

Ralph F. Marotte, 113 N. Boynton, Palatine; John H. Chambers, 1022 Princeton Avenue, Arlington Heights; and James H. McCall, 1035 Butternut Lane, Northbrook, have become members of the Citizens Committee of the Illinois Council for Branch Banking, it was announced this week by James C. Downs, Jr., council chairman.

Community leaders from all parts of Illinois who are concerned with the economic development of the state have become members of the Citizens Committee, Downs pointed out.

"Most citizens," Downs stated, "do not realize that Illinois and West Virginia are the only states that prohibit all forms of branch banking."

THE non-profit organization is dedicated to the enactment in the State Legislature of measures to measures to modernize the modernize the banking structure of Illinois by permitting all banks to establish branches within a 15-mile area of their home community. Such a measure, to become a law, would require approval by the citizens of the state in a referendum.

With the aid of concerned civic leaders the Branch banking Council is conducting an intensive campaign of information, so that all Illinois citizens will be aware of the economic advantages of modern banking laws. (B-8

IT DIDN'T TAKE LONG for the membership campaign of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce to produce results last week. The first mailing went out last Friday and the telephone at Chamber headquarters rang soon after. The caller was Joseph F. Koenen (right), consulting engineer, of 529 S. Prindle Ave., Arlington Heights, who told executive secretary Don Hess that he wanted to be a part of any organization that would take the time and effort to let others know of its work like the Chamber did. With Koenen as he signed up for a professional membership was Will Schwantz, membership chairman. The drive will wind up this week.

Addresses Women

Modern World Needs UN, Stresses Expert

Addressing last Thursday's annual meeting of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters was Thomas E. Gause, a director of the American Association for the United Nations. He spoke about the accomplishments and the potential of the United Nations and its various organizations.

Gause drew the women voters' attention to the technological changes that have taken place in the world, the short time it takes to travel from one continent to another, the possibility of trans-world television.

No longer do the people accept poverty, starvation, disease, and short life spans as their permanent destiny, he said. They are determined to have good health, plenty of food, a good standard of living, a long life span, and they want these things now.

GAUSE went on to point out that a tragic situation could have developed in the Congo. When the Belgians pulled out, a perfect vacuum was left for any power to move into, and, he said, so far, by and large, there has been no conflict between the great powers there.

They still have their troubles, Gause admitted, and likened the situation to a mobile with its objects circling around a thin thread, the United Nations. He expressed the hope that in 10 years the Congo could be a great African nation.

Referring to the little publicized activities constituting 85 per cent of the United Nations organizations, Gause pointed to the accomplishments of the World Health Organization, the Food and Agricultural Committee, UNESCO, UNICEF . . . "For example," he said, "for just a comparative few cents' worth of penicillin, a person can be cured of yaws, a terribly crippling disease prevalent in certain parts of the world."

HE SAID the possible cures exist for diseases such as leprosy and malaria, the latter being still the most killing disease in the world. Gause cited the case of Mexico where, through the help of the U. N. agencies, for the first time, no deaths had occurred because of malaria in 1961. The cost of such programs are divided 50-50 between the U. N. Agencies and the recipient nation.

The Food and Agriculture Committee of the United Nations has sent technical experts to places like Malaya and Pakistan. Where formerly the women had trudged miles for water, these experts had drilled and found underground springs, and helped the people to pipe up a decent water supply.

In conclusion, Gause urged League of Women Voters members to continue their work in support of the United Nations, to hold meetings, to talk to their friends, to discuss world problems, to invite students visiting Chicago from foreign lands to attend their meetings.

HE EMPHASIZED "the importance of the times—the need for awareness." He likened the United Nations to the pilot of a plane, who is called by the stewardess to stop a fight between two people which threatens to endanger the lives of all the passengers aboard the plane.

"We are in a nuclear plane," he said "The United Nations organizations need all our support." (ACM

Creating an Orchestra: A 'Labor of Love'

A SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA is a blend of many sounds from many instruments. To the deep-throated voice of Paul Oppelts' bassoon, for instance, is added the ephemeral, melodious tones of the French horn, as played by Bob Fritz of Arlington Heights. For body, the string section, under the guidance of . . . (B8

. . . THE CONCERT master, William Jean of Mount Prospect, adds its voice, refined in phrasing and approach by Jean's lead. Across the musical aisle are . . . (B8

. . . THE TRUMPETS, blaring and sharp or soft and mellow, whichever the music demands. The trumpet sounds of John Coursell of Mount Prospect are balanced against the strings, which gain much of their depth from the cello section, where sit cellists such as Russell Becker of Palatine. Cousins of the cellos . . . . (B8

. . . THE VIOLINS, add their voice, delicate or strident, resonant and full or staccato and sharp. With her bow poised and ready, Mrs. Robert Fritz of Arlington Heights watches for her cue from the unifier of the whole group . . . (B8

. . . THE CONDUCTOR, Melvin Kasen, whose baton directs the performers and whose skill transforms the separate sounds into one perfect blend. (B8

Civic Symphony Is Formed by Suburb

by JIM DAVIES

Orchestra: "A large group of players of musical instruments including typically strings, woodwinds, brasses, and percussion, organized especially for performing one of the larger forms of concert music, as a symphony. . ."

That's what Webster says, but Mel Kasen can tell you that this is only half the story, if that.

An orchestra is much more than just a group of players of instruments starting and stopping together and hitting the notes written down on the sheet music.

It is a group of individuals with individual skills, blending the sounds of their instruments into a harmonious entity conceived and executed as a group endeavor.

And this is no simple achievement.

YET FOR many people in all walks of life, it is an achievement worth striving for, a labor of love. And Kasen, a member of the music faculty of the Arlington Heights school system, is heading up a group of just such people.

The members of the fledgling Arlington Heights Civic Symphony come from throughout the upper northwest suburb area surrounding Arlington Heights, and the orchestra roster now boasts some 60 names.

"The biggest problem in forming what can properly be termed an orchestra is blending the talents of the performers," Kasen said last week after a rehearsal of his group.

"These people all have individual skills so what we have to do is instill in them an ensemble feeling, so they feel they are performing as a group rather than as individuals."

TO BORROW from one of the women's magazines, "togetherness" is the keynote.

"If we can't achieve this blending," Kasen said, "the performance is lifeless and just an exercise in playing notes in unison."

Kasen began the new orchestra only this year. At first it consisted of about 20 people who got together once or twice a month for the pure enjoyment of playing together.

ENTHUSIASM mounted and Kasen announced publicly that the group would welcome additional performers.

"The response was tremendous," Kasen said. "Even nonmusicians said formation of a civic symphony in this area was long overdue."

First things came first and this meant acquiring some music. The original group had been using a few orchestrations which happened to be available at the moment, but a larger group would require more complete orchestrations, and a varied repertoire.

They've borrowed some music from the Newberry library in Chicago, and some from network libraries such as the American Broadcasting System's. And they dug into their own pockets to pay for some more.

"We're still looking for some financial underwriting," Kasen said. "After we're on our feet we expect to be self-supporting through our concerts, but right now we need some help."

Kasen said present plans call for about three concerts during the regular season, and two free concerts in the summer.

Some of the players care little about whether or not the orchestra makes any public performances. Their main interest is playing for their own enjoyment.

TAKE PAUL Roy, of 3703 Dove, Rolling Meadows. Roy is a project coordinator with a control panel manufacturer. He makes a good living at his job, and is able to enjoy the type of family life he thinks a musical career would preclude, but his work offers no artistic outlet.

"Playing with an orchestra is an emotional outlet for me, just as I think it is for most of the people in our group," Roy said. "I was a professional musician once and have a degree in music education, but I find I prefer to keep music as an avocation rather than a vocation."

Roy said that even people with limited musical training have a desire to express themselves with their instrument, are in a sense "bitten by the performance bug."

"IT USUALLY all begins back in a grade school or high school band or orchestra," Roy said. "Some of the students continue to develop their musical talent and become professionals, while the rest go into other work and play only as an avocation."

"Although there are some professionals in our group, I think most of us play only as a sideline to our vocations."

The orchestra recently chose Roy as one of the members of its board of directors. The four other members are Bob Fritz, Everett Needleman and Mrs. Joan Dunlop, all of Arlington Heights; and Mrs. Eunice Semple of Rolling Meadows. These five comprise the nucleus of the board, which will be increased in size shortly.

Kasen said he has no doubts about the orchestra; he is certain it has a place in the scheme of things in this area, and will be readily accepted and supported.

ALTHOUGH he still is in need of more players, particularly in the string section, this will come, as time goes on, he believes.

"There are many people in this area with musical talent who would like to play in an orchestra, but don't want to travel any great distance," Kasen said. "This orchestra will provide them with an outlet for their talents."

Currently, the orchestra has rehearsal every Thursday night in Miner Junior High School in Arlington Heights. Whether they are working on Smetana's "The Moldau," a Bach prelude or fugue, or a full symphonic suite such as "Suite Archaique" by Honegger, they give it their all.

The rehearsal sessions have an easy informality, principally because although the performers try to do their best, their livelihood doesn't depend on how well they do. Enjoyment is their prime concern.

And before long, their love of playing good music will bring pleasure to countless others in the area who love listening to good music. (B8

Everson Trial Set for June

The trial of Oscar Everson, Wheeling Township Road Commissioner accused of taking "kickbacks," will begin June 26 in the Cook County Criminal Court Building, 26th St. and California Avenue, Chicago.

Everson has demanded a jury trial, and the case has been assigned to Judge Irving Landesman. The road commissioner is charged with taking $196 in "kickbacks" on rented township equipment.

EVERSON IS free on a $6,000 bond which he posted April 23, with $2,000 assessed for each of three indictments returned.

In another case involving Wheeling Township, a northwest suburban man charged with forging checks stolen from the township won a change of venue in Cook County Criminal Court Tuesday.

The case will be reassigned by Chief Justice Joseph Drucker of Criminal Court. The defendant, Emmett Moore, Northbrook, was indicted Jan. 10 by a grand jury for allegedly guiding the forging and cashing of two checks amounting to $375.-75.

Moore, a retired Navy recruiting officer who had offices in the old Arlington Heights Village Hall, was implicated by George Lane, Hoffman Estates, who was arrested by state's attorney's police who said he cashed township checks in Des Plaines and Chicago last fall.

THERE WERE, according to investigators from the office of Roswell T. Spencer, chief investigator for States Atty. Daniel P. Ward, a total of 50 checks stolen from Wheeling Township offices which have not been recovered.

Lane was seized after two checks, one for $250 and another for $125.75, appeared at the Wheeling Trust and Savings Bank where Wheeling Township funds are on deposit. The names of Albert C. Peters, township supervisor, and the outgoing supervisor, William Weber, were on the checks. Peters and Weber signed affidavits to the effect that their names had been forged to the checks. The other missing checks, however, were not recovered.

When arrested, Lane named Moore as being involved in the matter. Investigators said that Moore and Lane worked together as insurance salesmen in Park Ridge. Lane will be tried at a latter date, the states attorney's office said. (B8

Approve Ordinances For Windsor Project

The Arlington Heights village board approved ordinances for improvement of Windsor Drive from Kensington to Miner streets Monday night by special assessment, although one of the property owners affected offered strong objections.

The objector was Robert B. Loehner of 1256 Kensington. The side of his property is bounded by Windsor Drive, and backs up to the school property. It runs 600 feet along Windsor and he said he has been told by the Board of Local Improvements that his special assessment will be in the neighborhood of $25,000.

The ordinances provide for water and sewer, street paving to a width of 32 feet, sidewalks, curb and gutter.

LOEHNER said that when Kensington was paved, he had been assessed and had paid his assessment. He said he did not believe he should now be assessed for 600 feet of frontage on Windsor.

Trustee William Sauer said that if Loehner had been assessed for Kensington frontage, then his 600 feet on Windsor is actually sideage, and should not be assessed as if it were frontage.

Sauer suggested that if this is done, the court might very well throw out the assessment roll.

Other trustees said that if the improvements go in, Loehner will be in a good position to subdivide the rear of his parcel into desirable homesites, and the improvements will add considerable to the value of his property.

"THAT'S WHAT everybody tells me," Loehner said, "but nobody has come to me and offered me any substantial sum for the property And as I said before, I'm not in the real estate business."

In spite of Loehner's objections, the ordinances authorizing the improvements were passed. Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel told Sauer that after the bids are secured and the assessment spread filed, any objections to the spread — from Loehner, for instance—can be settled out of court if the board feels the objection has merit.

Vacation Church School To Open Schedule May 28

Under the leadership of Jean Downing, Our Saviour's Lutheran Vacation Church School will get under way Monday, May 28.

The school is divided into two sections: Pre - school sessions for four- and five-year-olds will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. from May 28 to June 8; summer pep - up sussions for kindergarten through fifth grade students will be held June 18 through June 29 from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

"Knowing Jesus" will be this year's theme; "Japan" will be the subject of mission study.

CHILDREN will be invited to bring objects of Japanese origin for a display, and the preschoolers will use their objects for "show and tell" time. The children also will learn some Japanese songs under the guidance of Peg Petersen, Ruth Schmidt, Karyl Jacobsen and Beverly Galandak.

Among other activities, the pre-schoolers will have a visit from a nurse, a picnic, a story teller, a rythym band (they will make their own instruments), a nature table, and a play corner.

The handicrafts will be geared to their level and will be designed to bring out the "Knowing Jesus" theme which is the main idea to be brought out in all the activities.

THE PRE-SCHOOL session has been planed by Carlee Petelle, department head, with the assistance of Helen Soryatz.

Pat Kuenstler and Harriet Roggenbuck are department heads for the summer pep-up session. This group also will contribute to the Japanese display and activities.

The kindergarten group will have much the same schedule and activities as the preschoolers.

Jo Hult is registrar for the pep-up session, assisted by Shirley Roeing and Helen Rygh. Registration ends June 11.

Heading handicrafts is Lucy Johnson, and her assistants are Marge Weeg, Barbara Jacks, Lois Jungdahl, Lillian Moreau and Bonnie Nester.

Refreshments will be handled by Linda Lane, Jeanne Henrickson, Marilyn Kremer, Jeane Wendelborg and Mary Schumacher.

THE STORY teller will be Helen Sorgatz; secretary, Barbara Henricks; publicity, Colleen Ewald; audio-visual aids, Marge Bartlett.

Teachers donating their time for the pre-school session are: Margaret Swenson, Peg Peter-Doris Stueber, Shirley Garrison, Midge Wickstrom, Barbara Coube and Betty Bloom.

Teachers participating in the summer pep-up session are Joan Andress, Norma Schultz, Muriel Hawkins, Dorothy Skinner, Doris Truelsen, Shirley Knudsen, Ruth Dickerson, Margaret Veith, June Ratchet, Gladys Lemein, Phyllis Arneson Betty Zimmerman, Valentine Anderson, Ruth Barchman, Helena Kastens, Delores Bracht and Betty Anderson. In Hasbrook Area

Board 'Committed' to More Expensive Light

Residents of Hasbrook Subdivision appear to have persuaded the Arlington Heights Village Board to install gas lights in their area, even though this will cost the village about $1,500 a year more for four years than would electric lights, which are installed in the rest of the village with one or two exceptions.

Monday night at the village board meeting, Village Manager L. A. Hanson presented revised figures comparing the cost of installing gas lights or electric lights.

Considering the total cost of installation, maintenance and energy, gas lights would cost the village $3,964 a year over a five-year period.

ELECTRIC lights would cost $2,419 a year over the period except for the first year, when they would cost $4,219 because of an initial $1,800 for trenching.

At the end of the five-year period, the capital cost of the gas lights would be amortized and the yearly cost thereafter would be comparable to the yearly cost for the electric lights.

The village board takes the position that in view of the unique nature of Hasbrook, gas lights are justified even though they will cost somewhat more than electric lights.

HASBROOK is one of the few areas where all utilities are underground and no poles and wires stretch overhead. Under the proposal to put in gas lights, 10-foot standards would be used to keep the height compatible to the one-story dwellings.

Four electric lights would be installed in addition to the gas lights, these at the four major intersections in the subdivision.

Hasbrook residents believe the character of the subdivision would be altered if electric lights on tall poles, with the accompanying wires, were installed. This, they state, would tend to affect their property values adversely.

DESPITE THE cost difference, Trustee Norval Stephens said Monday night that the board is committed to put in gas lights, and the only problem now is how to finance the project.

Hanson pointed out that the budget for the electrical system for the 1962-63 fiscal year is $4,000, just enough to pay for gas lights for Hasbrook.

If these lights are put in, then, no other lighting can be installed anywhere in the village in 1962-63.

The matter was referred to the finance committee with instructions for it to come up with some way to pay for the gas lights. (A

Bonzai Talk For Garden Club May 28

The regular monthly meeting of Arlington Heights Garden Club will be held in Pioneer Park Field House Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Monday, May 28. Speaker for the evening will be Roy Hempel of Flossmoor, who has just returned from an extended trip to Japan, where he attended the Bonzai Show in Tokyo.

Hempel will speak on "Culture and Care of Bonzai," and will show pictures and specimens which he brought from Japan. A graduate of the University of Illinois with a degree in floriculture, he has written many articles for "Garden Glories," the Illinois Garden Club publication.

HOSTESSES FOR the evening will be Anne Brown, Marian Luber and Vi Ulrich. Residents of the Arlington Heights area are invited to attend the meeting and are asked to contact Mrs. Robert Wolf for further information at CL 5-3068. Exchange of plants from members' gardens will be continued at this meeting. (A

Social Security Claims Must Be Filed by June 30

Many disabled workers in the northwest area will lose hundreds of dollars in the Social Security payments unless claims are filed by June 30, the Social Security Administration warned this week.

Workers who have been disabled for more than 18 months stand to lose not only retroactive payments, but may not meet other requirements for entitlement as well, according to northwest district manager Julius Berman.

"An extension in the filing date was made to prevent loss of these payments but it expires on June 30," Berman said. He advises any one who has been prevented from working because of illness or injury for more than eighteen months to contact the nearest Social Security office immediately.

THE northwest district office is located at 4255 N. Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago 41. The telephone number is KI 5-8844.

There is now no minimum age requirement to qualify for disability insurance benefits from Social Security. Many disabled workers under age 30 have already qualified for payments.

"In addition to payments for the disabled workers, payments can also be made to their minor or disabled children and to some wives," Berman said.

Concert Association Opens Campaign Here

The Arlington Heights Community Concert Association's annual membership campaign was opened Monday evening with a dinner for workers at the Faith Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights.

Gale Blocki Jr., president of the association, presided at the meeting and pointed out that during the past 15 years "it has been our privilege to bring such artists as the St. Louis Symphony, Gladys Swarthout, and now for the coming year, Rise Stevens, to Arlington Heights."

Mrs. Clayton Sauers, membership chairman, welcomed new workers along with the active member-workers who have been interested in Community Concerts for several years.

ENTHUSIASM shown by workers indicated that the membership goal will be reached before the week ends and that a distinguished series of concerts by some of the world's finest artists will be presented during the 1962-63 season.

The cost of membership is $8 for adults and $4 for students, covering the full cost to members for the entire concert series. Only members of the association will be admitted to the concerts, which are held in the Arlington High School auditorium, with no sale of tickets for any one concert.

All who wish to become members are urged to contact campaign headquarters at the Paint Spot, 11 West Davis, Arlington Heights, or by telephone 392-3170, by Saturday, May 26, at 5 p.m.

Gordon Bengston, Community Concert representative from New York City who spoke briefly at the Monday meeting, indicated that the Arlington Heights Community Concert Association is one of 22 in the Chicago area. (B8

'Northwest Six' Tell the GOP's Story

Committeemen Plug Reform

by JOHN REDDY

Republican muscle in the northwest suburbs is bulging and it has a clean, sinewy look.

It illustrates the "participation approach" to politics, where patronage is a realistic factor with which to cope but by no means dominates the political scene.

A significant indication of this new-found strength was the recent election of Hayes W. Robertson as chairman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee.

HOUSER—WHEELING
2.21 per cent

Key "ball-rolling" factors in boosting Robertson into the powerful chairman's position were GOP committeemen of six northwest suburban townships — Thomas J. Houser, Wheeling; Alexander MacArthur, Palatine; Carl Hansen, Elk Grove; Harold B. Smith Jr., Barrington; Eugene T. Devitt, Hanover, and Jesse E. Lehman Jr., Schaumburg.

Five of these committeemen, gathered at a press conference Saturday with editors of Paddock Publications, revealed how they grasped initiative in plugging for "a new vigorous chieftain" rather than permit former Chairman Francis X. Connell to perpetuate an administration "with a record of defeat."

"WE WANTED substance," explained Hansen, as he described how the six northwest area committeemen held the first meeting of any committeemen after the April 10 Primary Election.

The six GOP leaders quickly found themselves heading a snow-balling campaign among the 17 new committeemen in the 30 suburban Cook County townships. Since the "vote explosion," as MacArthur describes it, hurled increased election strength to the suburban committeemen (there are 10 times as many votes now in Elk Grove Township, for example) they began commanding followers.

The "committeemen's committee" expanded, seeking new leadership. The township leaders went down the roster of the 80 members of the County Central Committee and decided on Robertson.

Committeemen from Niles, Sherwin Willens; Maine, Fred Fulle; and Sam Young, Northbrook, were added to the group early. Support for Robertson, Rich Township Committeeman, swelled.

HANSEN—ELK GROVE

LEHMAN—SCHAUMBURG

ROBERTSON gained party stature when he won 41 per cent of the GOP Primary vote in his 1960 losing effort against Gov. William Stratton. But the committee headed by the six committeemen decided on Robertson, according to Hansen, because he espoused a business approach.

"We considered the individual and his program," Hansen explained.

Party-conscious Republicans have been dismayed with Connell's failure to hold regular meetings, that there were no by-laws and no sub-committees.

Robertson is the first county chairman since 1936 who has not been a ward committeeman. This is coupled with the significant fact that for the first time in history the suburbs cast more GOP votes than were cast in the city — 53 per cent.

Houser pointed out there were no contests for committeemen in Chicago, as ward committeemen weren't standing for re-election and that the balance of the GOP voting power could swing back in 1964.

THE COMMITTEEMEN, viewing the electorate show of strength as a "mandate," considered that "now is the time to revitalize the party." "And," according to Hansen, "we were willing to go down in defeat with Robertson, if necessary, to make our point."

While the committeemen voiced support for Robertson's desire to create a stronger, more powerful GOP image, they stressed their concern that this strength be exhibited through participation and contested elections.

Said Lehman: "It's a disgrace that the Democrats had no contests in the primary this year," asserting that he will encourage party contests rather than permit his organization to lapse into a one-man organization of the type Stratton permitted.

Lehman added, "Renomination must not be dictated by the candidate."

"We (six committeemen) don't hold patronage jobs and can't be bought and sold. Too many so-called Republicans flip-flop when the Democratic boss dictates because they're beholden to Democrats for a job," Lehman declared.

DEVITT CRITICIZED the selection of the Democratic judiciary candidates, arguing that President Kennedy selects federal judges to pay political debts and that Mayor Daley picks "solely for their ethnic and racial qualifications."

"At least the Democrats should handpick the best Democrat available," Devitt opined.

Patronage was viewed by the Northwest Six as a political fact of life, but not the staff.

Hansen noted that Mayor Daley has 40,000 to 50,000 patronage workers. "James Stavros uses Metropolitan Sanitary District patronage workers in Wheeling Township, but we believe a program can be sold without patronage," Hansen said.

According to Houser, "Patronage is the reason Democrats have such massive control in Chicago. Each patronage workers is worth four votes, which starts the Democrats with 200,000 votes each election."

MacARTHUR said that when the GOP wins this fall, "we'll have more patronage available. These jobs must be filled because government has to operate."

"But the GOP won't create as many jobs and the GOP won't have 10 men working one hour to fill one hole."

He added that "patronage can backfire sometimes. The result of one job and 100 people wanting it is 99 soreheads."

The committeemen denied that they wanted a strong party with connotations like that of the Democratic Party of Cook County, opining that a powerful GOP unit would force the Democrats to eliminate political falderal and choose higher caliber candidates.

"PEOPLE SHOULD look to a strong two-party system for their own good," Houser said.

Voicing declarations as to what role they as committeemen will play, the committeemen were unanimous in their agreement that they can help Robertson develop the party image by "selling the product."

The sale will be geared to an application of Republican philosophy in terms of qualified candidates. "We have no reason to be negative," said Hansen. "Our primary object is to assist, co-ordinate all other communities and win elections."

Houser voiced opposition to any measure that would eliminate the township assistance setup. "It would be extremely disastrous for the county to administer welfare," he said.

Lehman voiced support for the township form of government. "The Morrison hotel gang wants to eliminate the township form of government. There's now a movement afoot to blacken the image of JPs by assigning thousands of delinquent personal property tax cases to them. It was impossible to expect this handful of men to accomplish this mountainous task."

"The party can aid the image of township government," said Houser.

MacARTHUR SAID the GOP should plug for extension of the polling time to 8 p.m. from 6 p.m. to facilitate commuting suburbanites. "Many of these people, chained to a train, are now being disenfranchised."

All the committeemen said they would sponsor a Republican ticket at the township level, Lehman stating "the precedent has been pretty well set."

They said they would not sponsor a GOP slate at the municipal level unless it became apparent the Democrats intended to do so.

Houser said it depends on the sentiment of the people. Said Hansen, "The Democrats have been agitating in Elk Grove Village for a Democratic ticket there. If it comes off, we'll fight."

MacArthur declared, "I serve notice on Democrats in Palatine Township that I intend to keep the microscope on them. It's becoming the Democratic pattern to take over small jobs first."

ABOUT THE controversial fire trustee hassle in Wheeling Township, Houser said, "I would hate to see this turn into a political football. This is not in the best interests of the people." He said he would rather see this matter settled between the people and the judge and trustees.

Smith was unable to attend the conference because of an out-of-town business trip.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEEMEN meet with editors of Paddock Publications, Inc., to explain their role in bringing new leadership to GOP county organization. The five committeemen here represent 5.25 per cent of the total GOP county vote. They sit on the 80-member county central committee. (B-8

New Leader's Program Told

Several Cook County GOP committeemen paved their April10 Primary Election victory with campaign promises of "new leadership."

Last week the suburban towns, boasting 53 per cent of the Cook County GOP vote, were instrumental in leading Hayes Robertson, Rich Township Committeeman, to power as chairman of the Cook County Central Committee.

Robertson replaced Francis X. Connell, who has been raked as a lack-lustre figurehead of a deflated and defeated county GOP group.

Robertson, acknowledging the responsibility to provide "new leadership," proposes the following five-point program for fulfilling this obligation:

1—The chairman must have confidence and co-operation of his fellow committeemen . . . to provide with the limits of the budget and the political patronage available the assistance to produce . . . interest and vote in these wards and townships.

2—The chairman must know what the people are thinking and use the influence of his position to assure that the party at all times attempts to secure the nomination of candidates and the adoption of platforms which will most likely appeal to voters who are Republican-minded.

3—The chairman must provide a sound businesslike administration, with by-laws, sub-committees that function, regular meetings of the Central Committee at least quarterly with a full agenda of the business to be transacted included in the notice.

4—There is a need in the field of public relations. It is the chairman's duty to see that Republicans call attention to Democrat failures, weakness and errors. A constant stream of constructive data should flow from the headquarters to each of the committeemen and their workers.

5—Work! Work! Work! Every precinct must be manned by a working precinct captain dedicated to Republican victory and every Republican election judge must be schooled in his or her duties, authority and responsibility.

Robertson said every arm of the Republican Party, the United Republican Fund, the Citizens League, the Republican Women's groups, the Young Republicans, will be called upon to participate.

Carl Hansen, Elk Grove Township Committeeman, has been named to head the Public Relations Committee. Hansen said this week that the program to be adopted will be determined by the committee.

Alex MacArthur, Palatine Township Committeeman, has been named executive assistant to Robertson. The two appointments, plus the role of the six northwest committeemen in getting Robertson elected, are expected to give northwest suburban Republicans a voice in party self-determination. (B8

Weekend Parties Continue Despite Heat Wave's End

The most recent of our heat waves was unique among all others; the cold winds and rain which broke it came too late to complicate the local weekend party schedule. All of Saturday's and Sunday's celebrations went off as per plan, happily marking birthdays, anniversaries and first communions.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. "Bud" Rapp, 1009 N. Chestnut, and Bud's parents, the H. W. Rapps, observe Maytime wedding anniversaries and the two dates resulted in three recent celebrations. The senior Rapps, 534 S. Evergreen, were feted early in the month at a dinner party for 18 given by Bud and his wife to commemorate the 52nd anniversary of the honor couple's May 3 wedding date.

The younger Rapps intended to mark their silver wedding anniversary May 15 with a "little" dinner-out party at the Country Squire in the company of two local friends. In accordance with Rapp-approved plans, the quartet left here and arrived in Grayslake, where the anniversary couple found eight more friends waiting to surprise them and make the "little" party a full-sized celebration.

SUNDAY A SECOND occasion, also thought by the Rapps to be a "little" get-together, brought additional surprise and many more congratulations to them. A casual picnic in the backyard of Sycamore relatives turned out to be a happy-anniversary-to-you party of 40 Sycamore friends and family members.

The May 16 silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Hallett, 726 N. Chicago, also needed two parties to accommodate all of the couple's well-wishers. The first planned for Mother's Day and intended as a surprise, had to be revealed when the "bride" kept making plans for a weekend in Pella, Iowa. The Halletts' son, Jim, a champion baton twirler, was slated to compete at an annual Pella event where last year he was adjudged best in the state. He and his sister, Ruth Ann, were well into anniversary party plans when the Iowa date collided with their party date and Jim promptly but futilely began the anti-Pella propaganda.

FINALLY, Mrs. Hallett had to be told there'd be 120 Chicago and suburban guests coming to honor her and she'd darned well better stay home. She did, and received, with her groom, their many personal and business friends, neighbors and relatives.

Sunday a second party brought the congratulations of 33 relatives to the anniversary couple. Coming from out-of-town for the gala occasion were Mrs. Hallett's parents, the Frank Schuldts of Rock Falls; her sisters, Mrs. Robert Lewis and Mrs. Henry Schumaker of Sterling and Mrs. Dean Erb of Baltimore, all with their families; her brothers Melvin of Rock Falls and Darrel of Rockford and their families.

Rounding out the family circle were an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kaiser here from Belvidere with their daughter and her husband, the David Tripps, and another aunt, Mrs. Milo Coffee of Chicago. Mrs. Coffee and the senior Schuldts arrived Friday to spend the weekend; the Baltimore branch of the family are here for a visit until next week.

COLLEEN JOHNSON, 1216 N. Mitchell, was 5 years old Sunday and entertained four neighborhood girl friends at an afternoon party Saturday that was a happy prelude to the family's celebration next day. Saturday's guests were Sally Grabow, Mary Beth and Susan Graff and Laurie Obermayer.

Sunday Colleen received the congratulations of her grandmothers, Mrs. William McDonald of Chicago and Mrs. Idella Johnson of Des Plaines, and her uncle William McDonald, also of Chicago. Monday she was wondering how many parties a girl can expect when she's 6.

A group of local ladies who meet regularly for an afternoon of bridge, ended the "official" card-playing season Wednesday with an annual dinner-and-theatre date in Chicago. Well-dined and in the "La Plume de ma Tante" audience in McVickers Theatre were Mrs. James Yates, Mrs. Louis Schomburg, Mrs. Ralph Windheim, Mrs. Ralph Clarbour, Mrs. Charles Duwe, Mrs. Gunnar Schalin and Mrs. W. D. Whiteside.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM Kopplin Sr., 515 W. Euclid, came home Saturday after a 2-week visit in Asheville, S. C. with Mr. Kopplin's sister, Mrs. Amanda Rocque, who came back with them to visit here and in her former home town, Racine.

Mrs. Kopplin's sister and brother - in - law, former Arlington Heighters, Mr. and Mrs. George Pfingsten now of Scottdale, Ariz., yesterday ended a 2-week stay here. They enjoyed reunions with many longtime local friends, with Mr. Pfingsten's brother, John, and family, 24 S. Chestnut, and with the Kopplins since their return.

Mrs. P. W. Snell of Irwin, Pa. has returned to the East after a visit with her son, Raymond and family, 3 E. Hawthorne, and with her daughter and family, the Charles Opelas, 636 N. Dunton. Her arrival was shortly before that of a new granddaughter, Bambi Marie, born day before Mother's Day to the junior Snells.

Grandma helped keep the household at 3 E. Hawthorne on an even keel, "commuted" across the street to her daughter's house when possible and welcomed home the Snell girls, mother and Bambi.

DR. AND MRS. ROBERT Muench, 124 S. Ridge, recently returned from a week in Las Vegas where Dr. Muench attended an A.A.G.P. convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Davis, 408 N. Evergreen, attended the graduation last Tuesday of their son-in-law, Henry Borchart, from the McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Borchart and infant daughter, Cindy, who have been making their home with the Davises, will leave for Sedalia, Ohio next month immediately following Borchart's ordination in his home church in Milwaukee.

The week before her father's graduation, baby Cindy was baptized by the Rev. Arthur McKay, McCormick Seminary president, and at the request of the session of the Midway Presbyterian Church of Sedalia where her father will serve as pastor, her name was placed on the register of that church.

Sharon Smith, daughter of the J. A. Smiths, 909 S. Dunton, returns Saturday from a week's vacation in Gay El Rancho, Gaylord, Mich. Miss Smith, in nurse's training in Evanston Hospital, will immediately resume her duties in the hospital upon her return.

A POTLUCK supper party for 16 in the Tom Thourson home, 821 N. Gibbons, last Thursday evening ended socially a season of monthly Bible discussion meetings. On the evening's schedule was a round of best wishes to the hostess who celebrated her birthday Sunday.

News of former Arlington Heighter Cliff Wickstrom, son of the Clarence Wickstroms now of Phoenix, comes from his Grandmother Huber of Waukegan and via local friends. Cliff, in his second year at Leland-Stanford University in California, has recently won several scholarships and honors. The scholarships total more than $2000 and the honors are for outstanding Air Force ROTC performance.

He was recently named Cadet of the Month, was drill sergeant of a championship team, was awarded the Sons of the American Revolution gold medal and was named to the National Honor Society of the Air Force ROTC.

MORE THAN 200 youngsters of the Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Parish made their First Communion Saturday morning and marked the occasion at family celebrations of all kinds. Among the young communicants was Bert Colianni, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Colianni, 814 S. Highland, who received the congratulations of 25 family members at a dinner in his honor Saturday afternoon. Among Bert's proudest guests were his grandmothers, Mrs. Susan Colianni of Oak Park and Mrs. Hulda Olson of Chicago.

Lynn Galdoni's first communion brought her grandparents, the Harry Morrays, here from Detroit for the important occasion. They spent the weekend with Lynn and the rest of the family at 704 S. Kaspar and helped celebrate Saturday's event with a gala brunch at the Milk Pail in Dundee.

Also brunching at the Milk Pail following the first communion of their daughter, Meryl Lee, were the E. P. Steeles, 626 S. Mitchell. Meryl Lee's grandparents, the Harry Everendons of Lincolnwood, joined the family celebration.

Brunch at the Milk Pail was the first of two Saturday celebrations of the First Communion of Ann Spence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Spence, 810 S. Walnut. An evening dinner party that included local friends climaxed Ann's big day.

HERE FROM New York for the First Communion of Ann Marie Hillenmayer is Ann Marie's grandmother, Mrs. Gertrude LaMothe. A brunch Saturday in the Hillenmayer home, 220 S. Yale, included neighborhood friends of the communicant and her family. Mrs. LaMothe plans to remain here for about two weeks.

Seventeen family members enjoyed a Saturday brunch in the Sam Miller home, 633 S. Mitchell, and extended First Communion congratulations to the Millers' daughter Pamela. Adding their blessings to the day were Pamela's grandparents, the senior Sam Millers and the John Fitzgeralds, all of Chicago.

At a family brunch Saturday honoring Bart McGuinn upon his First Communion, Bart's sister, Katy, was dressed in a miniature nun's habit and represented the Holy Sister, Blessed Amelda. Among the guests approving the performance of both youngsters were the children's grandparents, the John Clarks of Chicago. Bart and Katy are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McGuinn, 645 S. Vail.

MARY Santelli, daughter of the Frank Santellis, 539 S. Ridge was also among those making their First Communion Saturday. She received congratulations at a family gathering in her home after church.

Karen Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Richards, 623 S. Walnut, celebrated her First Communion Saturday at a family breakfast in the O'Hare Oasis, then enjoyed a visit with a cousin, Sister Jean Carol, in St. Celestine's convent in Elmwood Park.

The family celebration of Mary Ellen Gabrielsen's First Communion was enhanced by the best wishes of neighborhood friends who were also guests Saturday in the Gabrielsen home, 705 S. Chestnut. Midday dinner guests were Mary Ellen's grandparents, the E. J. Martins and the senior Gabrielsens, all of Chicago. In the afternoon neighbors were joined by the young communicant's godmother, Mrs. Edward Gabrielsen, who came with her family from Westchester for the supper party that climaxed the day.

MR. AND MRS. Richard Graczyk, 718 S. Chestnut, were guests Thursday evening at the Navy League Banquet in the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago. A special feature of the evening's program was a film, "Hennesey Goes To Sea," starring Jackie Cooper and Abby Dalton. The Grayczyks met both Cooper and Miss Dalton when the stars made a brief personal appearance after the film, and currently the Grayczyk children are proudly flashing the stars' autographs to anyone who'll look.

Miss Sally Godenrath, daughter of the Richard Godenraths, 301 N. Stratford, has been selected to be on the 1962 junior modelling board of Marshall Field and Co.

FRIENDS and neighbors of Mrs. Dolores Reimer, of Arlington Heights, will be sorry to learn of the death of her father, Frank A. Utes of Niles, who died May 12 in Lutheran General Hospital. Services were held May 15 in St. Paul Lutheran Church, Higgins and Canfield Roads.

Friends also extend sympathies to Harold Pohlman on the death of his father, Wilbert Pohlman, who died in his Woodstock home May 12. Services were held in Woodstock May 16. Mr. Pohlman also leaves his wife, Lois Deeke Pohlman, two other sons and two daughters.

Although Karen Soukop's fifth birthday was May 10, it wasn't until last Saturday that her party was held. It started with a birthday luncheon followed by games and prizes for everyone. Helping her to celebrate were Sharon Conway, Nancy Johnson, Cathy Oravetz, Kim and Missy Slusser and a former neighbor Shari Landon, as well as Karen's sisters, Kris and Karla.

But the party festivities aren't over, as a family dinner is planned for next Sunday. Those attending the dinner will be Karen's grandparents, the George Soukops of Palatine and the Gustave Sellmans of Evanston, and several aunts and uncles, including the Loren Welborns of Evanston and Walter Sellmans of Chicago.

Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Soukop, 525 S. Prindle.

THE LYNN Lemmons family, 504 S. Prindle, were pleasantly surprised Monday of last week when they received a short visit from cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Bellamy and their two daughters who were en route from their former home in Ecuador to Baltimore, Md., to be reassigned.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch and sons, Mark and Frank 433 S. Forrest, spent Mother's Day weekend in LaPorte, Ind., visiting his mother, Mrs. Theodore Davis. Last weekend Indiana beckoned the family again. They left Friday to spend a few days in Indianapolis with long time friends, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gerke.

Congratulations on their May 20 wedding anniversary are extended to Sgt. and Mrs. D. W. McCammon, 516 S. Phelps.

Maureen Beem, 412 S. Waterman, started the celebration of her 17th birthday on May 15, when her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rue of Mount Prospect, joined the family that evening for birthday cake and ice cream.

THE HONOR bestowed on Maureen the following day seemed like a continuation of that celebration. She was awarded the "Gold Pin" for maintaining a straight "A" average in Spanish. This award is given only to the best student in each class at St. Pat's Academy in Des Plaines, where Maureen is a junior.

To wind up the festivities, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Beem, with Maureen and her brothers, Patrick and Francis, drove to Antioch on Sunday for dinner at Hazelman's.

Although Scott Bruce was only 2 on May 17, he thoroughly enjoyed having "Happy Birthday" sung to him at a family dinner that day by his sisters, Janie, Margie, Beth and Jessie, and his parents, the Richard Bruces, 441 S. Gibbons.

Michael, son of the Eugene Tillmans, 537 S. Prindle, was another 2 year old on May 17. Sharing Michael's delight in his birthday dinner were his brothers, Tom, Jerry and Craig.

May 17, a popular natal day, was the 18th birthday of Margaret Marshall, 432 S. Forrest. Margaret was toasted that evening at a small family party and the following day at a surprise party given by several of her school friends.

SUSAN LYNNE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Butkus, 429 S. Phelps, was the birthday girl at a small gathering to mark her second birthday May 15. Present to help celebrate were her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Pinney with Jay and Leslie, of Arlington Heights, and Susan's brother, Stevie.

In honor of her seventh birthday last Monday, Joan Marie Ganzer was hostess at an afternoon party. Guests for cake and ice cream were Kris Knutsen, Linda Gryzik, Julie Moller, Sharon Cooper, Kathy Sowa, Joan's sisters, Mary Pat and Kathy, and brother, Tommy.

Joan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ganzer, 408 S. Prindle.

CONGRATULATIONS on her 15th birthday May 15 go to Carol Ehlen, daughter of the Ed Ehlens, 437 S. Gibbons. Because of her mother's recent illness, Carol postponed the festivities that would ordinarily mark the occasion.

Valerie Scharf, to celebrate her 12th birthday May 18, was hostess at a twist party last Saturday. Guests were more than a dozen of Valerie's school friends who spent the evening "twisting" on the patio of the Scharf home. Valerie is the daughter of the Ken Scharfes, 528 S. Prindle.

A weekend guest in the home of the Wendell Swensons, 428 S. Forrest, was his aunt, Mrs. Fred Jensen, who was returning to her home in Duluth after spending a week in Detroit attending a nurses convention. (A

Mr. and Mrs. Olen Culpepper, 1112 N. Beverly Lane, motored to Omaha earlier this month for several days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. Pernicone. During their stay they attended the opening of nearby Happy Hallow Country Club.

The Howard Wolfmeyers, 1103 N. Belmont, returned on Monday evening of last week from a 5-day trip to Wisconsin. They enjoyed a 2-day visit with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Hauert of Appleton, and then on to Brillion for a stay with the senior Wolfmeyers, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. The younger Mr. Wolfmeyer was guest soloist at the evening service commemorating the 100th year of the Brillion Methodist Church on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnson, 815 E. Olive, hosted a rehearsal supper last Friday evening. Twenty-five guests, members of the wedding party and relatives, attended the affair given for Miss Ginger Johnson of Evanston and Jim Kiddle of Highland Park, who were married in the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Evanston Saturday evening. Sandy, daughter of the Johnsons, was maid of honor at her aunt's wedding. A reception following the ceremony was held in the church hall.

THE GREENS round robin bridge members held their annual dinner at the Glenview Officers Club last Saturday evening. Prizes were awarded to the three high scoring couples: Mr. and Mrs. Tony Bengal, with 33,510 in first; Mr. and Mrs. William Lebsock, with 28,460, second; and Mr. and Mrs. Len Hauskey, 26,060, third. Consolation went to Mr. and Mrs. Walt Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Bengal also received a trophy presented by the Arlington Greens Community Association.

Appointed chairmen for the coming season were the William Lebsocks.

Before attending the dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bunnelle, 1115 N. Belmont, hosted a cocktail party for the Tony Tomasos, Tom McCooks, John Mundells, Len Hauskeys, Tony Bengals, Walt Browns, Pete Johnsons and the Seymour Rechts.

The Greens members of the bowling league, Wednesday Night Mixers, and their wives attended their banquet last Saturday evening at Nordic Hills Country Club. The Bill Andersons of Mount Prospect, former Greens residents, joined the Ed Schlacks, Ben Lockharts and the William Lebsocks at the affair ending their season.

The final games of the Men's Bridge group were held last Thursday evening in the home of Tony Tomaso, 635 E. Clarendon. Winning first place and a trophy presented by the Arlington Greens Community Association was Tony Bengal, with a high score of 27,010. Second place went to Dick Sims, 26,610; and third to Len Hauskey, 26,130. In ninth was Don Helbling, with 23,400. The group plans to resume again in the fall. Men interested in joining them for the coming season are invited to call Tony Tomaso, Cl 5-4102.

THE ARLINGTON Greens Community Association is planning a one-day golf tournament for June 23, employing the Peoria system. Men insterested in participating are invited to call Rollie Lundell, at Cl 5-1965, or Tony Tomaso, Cl 5-4102.

Elizabeth Ann, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Philipp, 639 E. Clarendon, was christened in St. James Catholic Church last Sunday. Officiating at the ceremony was the baby's uncle, Rev. Richard Feller of St. Colette's in Rolling Meadows. Godparents were an uncle, Francis Philipp, and grand aunt, Miss Ann Chambers, both of Chicago. Twenty-five guests attended the buffet supper marking the occasion. Among them were the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Feller and Mrs. Henry Philipp of Chicago. (A

Two Stores Are Robbed Of $11,400

Burglars stole an estimated $11,400 late Sunday when they jimmied and cut their way into two Palatine Plaza stores at Illinois Route 53 and Northwest Highway.

An estimated $6,900 was removed from a safe at Dominick's food store, which opened a month ago. Some $4,500 in cash was taken from a safe in the S. S. Kresge Co. store office.

Checks also were taken.

Palatine police described the burglaries as the work of professionals and hope to trace the burglars through the technique used. (A

'Wonderful Town' Set For Two Performances

Arlington High School's spring musical production "Wonderful Town" will be staged Friday and Saturday, May 25 and 26, at 8 p.m. in the boys' gym.

Singing the music of Leonard Bernstein will be a 35 member cast headed by juniors Bonnie Luster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Luster, 704 W. George, and Linda Mittag, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mittag, 302 N. Gibbons.

LEARNING THE CONGA has been part of the training for cast members of "Wonderful Town," slated for the boys' gym at Arlington High Friday and Saturday nights. Tickets for the production will be available at the door both nights.

As the zany sisters who aim for success in the big city, Bonnie and Linda turn a Greenwich Village apartment into a comedy center. The musical, based on the book "My Sister Eileen," by Joseph Fields and Jerome Chodorov, was a Broadway success in 1953.

SOME TOP tunes from the show include "A Quiet Girl," "It's Love," "A Little Bit of Love," and "Ohio."

Directing the show are Dr. Robert Wolff and assistant Vincent Ahnquist. Frederick Schmoyer conducts the orchestra. Tickets will be available at the door.

Cast members include Doug Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cox, 522 S. Dryden; Dan Jennings, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jennings, 3308 Owl Drive, Rolling Meadows; Paula Krueger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Krueger, 14 N. Yale.

Tom McGrath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McGrath, 1222 Woodford; Georgene Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, 837 S. Dunton; Larry Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Wright, 1304 N. Dunton.

John Latta, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Latta, 805 N. Chestnut; Judy Whittaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Whittaker, 105 N. Yale; Frank Renner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Renner, 6 W. Fairview; Craig MacDougall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angus MacDougall, 925 N. Patton.

CARLA ANDERSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson, 1105 Mayfair; Donna Aronson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Aronson, 15 S. Salem; Joan Kastning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kastning, 507 N. Pine; Betty Mees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mees, 408 E. Euclid.

Molly Musser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Musser, 28 S. State; Betsy Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Sherman, 633 S. Beverly; Julie Strathearn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Strathearn, 720 S. Bristol.

Cheryl Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Williams, 750 Pine; and Katy Wit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wit, 643 S. Newbury.

ART instructors Ed Fischer and Jim Walker have designed sets for the show, which moves from the apartment to the subway, to the editorial offices of a New York magazine, to the Navy yards, and to one of the village night spots.

The Senior Choir serves as the chorus for "Wonderful Town," for which Sue Hidding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hidding, 505 Banbury, has served as student director.

(ACM-EG

To Confirm 10 Youths On Sunday

Ten teenage youth of the area will be received into membership through the rite of confirmation at Grace Lutheran Church, Euclid and Wolf Roads, on Sunday May 27 at the 9:30 a.m. worship service.

They include Carol Austin, Prairie View; Richard Braunschweig, Janice Dornquast, Robert Kidd, Linda Moriarity, Karen Petersen, Kirk Zielke, from Mount Prospect; Kathleen Ohman, Arlington Heights; David Summers, Prospect Heights; and Lynne Struebing of Des Plaines.

Pastor Albert Weidlich of Grace Lutheran Church will conduct the rite and preach on the theme, "Eyes on the Master."

C. H. ANDERSON, from Rock Island, will render the solo, "Children of the Heavenly Father," and Miss Suan Dorosh of Mount Prospect will sing an original hymn written by her grandfather. Mrs. Harry Victorson is the organist and choir-director.

These youth have been prepared through study during the past two years, and have given public evidence of their knowledge of the Christian faith. This is the largest confirmation class at Grace thus far, and the first group to be confirmed in the completed first unit of the congregation.

State Awards

Seek Information On Youth Bravery

Gov. Otto Kerner has asked for information and recommendations regarding extraordinary acts of bravery or service performed by Illinois boys and girls during 1961.

Young American Medals for Bravery and Young American Medals for Service will be awarded to boys and girls 18 years old or under who have performed acts of extraordinary courage or have achieved outstanding records of endeavor, service or recognition of character in 1961.

THE MEDALS are awarded annually under an Act of Congress and will be presented by the President of the United States.

Joseph E. Ragen, director of the Illinois Department of Public Safety, has been asked to screen the merits of each Illinois candidate for the final decision of the governor. Recommendations and complete information on candidates should be sent to Director Ragen, Room 103, Armory Building, Springfield, not later than Aug. 1. A14

CAVIL; to raise captious and frivolous objections. (Pronounce caav-ill, accent first syllable): "The meeting was a failure, because several of the members caviled."

Sees Next War as Battle in Space

RANTOUL, ILL., (UPI)-Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert speculated in a speech Friday that the next war may be a battle of scientists and may be waged in space.

"Total decision by ground contestants alone has already been outmoded in major wars," Zuckert said. "Extension of space capabilities may elevate the decisive battleground well above the earth's tactical atmosphere."

Zuckert spoke at the 45th anniversary of Chanute Air Force Base, formerly Chanute Field.

HE ALSO said "the outcome of warfare could be determined in the future by remote scientific engagements — by neutralizing communications and control for instance."

On the subject of peace, the secretary speculated that "A totally new and undreamed method of reconciling ideological conflicts may evolve, in which all nations recognize the practical value of cooperative interdependence." (A-14

Suburb News of the Week

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Arlington Heights police Wednesday obtained a verbal statement from a man serving time in Waupon State Penitentiary in Wisconsin, in which he admitted the March robberies at gunpoint of the Maison de Romayne and Ruth Miller Women's Apparel Shop in Arlington Heights.

Police believe David Ernest Hartle, alias Ernest Bach, is the same man who has been operating throughout the Chicago suburbs in recent months, robbing women's apparel shops. Hartle was questioned in Waupon Wednesday morning by Arlington Heights detectives Clint Hefferen and Philip Olszewski. Details in Arlington Heights Herald.

PALATINE — Burglars late Sunday broke into two stores at Palatine Plaza, Illinois 53 and Northwest Highway, and stole an estimated $11,400. Police describe the theft as the work of professionals. Details in Palatine Enterprise.

ELK GROVE — Voters in School District 214 approved a $4.9 million high school building bond issue Saturday but turned down $700,000 for two swimming pools.

Trustees this week discussed an amicable agreement for solving possible air pollution problems at Chicago Magnet Wire's proposed plant in the village. Talks included discussion of installation of abatement equipment on the firm's ovens. Details in Elk Grove Herald.

HOFFMAN ESTATES — The village has filed another suit against Citizens Utilities Co. of Illinois. It challenges, in effect, the company's right of ownership of parts of the water and sewerage system.

SCHAUMBURG — Files were closed on four burglaries this week when the accused men were indicated in Cook County Criminal Court. The burglaries took place December 7, 1961. Details in Hoffman Herald.

ROLLING MEADOWS: A series of follow-up meetings are planned to digest the May 19 city-wide conference on youth. Particular attention is being paid by the adults to the remarks of the six high school upperclassmen who evaluated not only the day's speeches but the entire city youth program during the afternoon session. Details in Rolling Meadows Herald.

WHEELING — The village board directed a letter be sent to the Metropolitan Chicago Sanitary District asking for information on when and where an interceptor sewer trunkline will be extended to the village area. Details in Wheeling Herald.

BUFFALO GROVE — The public improvements committee of the village board is to hold a hearing May 31 on whether or not to attempt to ban spraying by the Northwest Mosquito Abatement District in the village.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS — The Rural Fire District Board of Trustees is advertising for volunteer firemen to replace the Volunteer Fire Association which has served the district since it was formed about 17 years ago. Local fire protection services were terminated when the current contract between the district and association expired April 30 following a lengthy dispute between the two groups. A contract with the Mount Prospect Fire Department has been entered into by the district board to serve Prospect Heights in the interim. Aroused citizens have appealed to County Judge Thaddeus Adesko to remove one of the two trustees of the three-member board responsible for the action. Details in Prospect Heights Herald. (B8

Church Agencies' Social Role Told

Illinois Lutheran Welfare Association members were told last week that church welfare agencies should be leaders in planning new services needed in communities.

The Rev. Paul Boe, executive director of the Board of Charities of the American Lutheran Church stressed the need for full cooperation between church and other public and private welfare agencies during a talk at the league's annual meeting held May 15 on the campus of the agency's children's home at 6000 N. Canfield, Chicago.

ROBERT Weagant, executive director of the association, reported that the agency served 439 children and unwed mothers in 1961. He discussed the progress of the treatment program for emotionally disturbed adolescents, and outlined the needs and plans for expanded service in Chicago and downstate Illinois.

Owen Kompelien, 49 S. Ashland, Palatine, president of the board of the ILWA, presided at the meeting. He outlined the service needs for the future and possible expanded uses of the agency's properties in a special report. A14

Swim Class Enrollments Filling Up

The first week of registration for season swimming passes and summer recreation activities at Arlington Heights parks has passed, and many classes have begun to fill up.

Bill Appleby, superintendent of recreation, said more people are signing up early than has been the case in past years, and he urged residents to register promptly in order to insure getting their choice of activities and time.

The offices at Recreation and Pioneer parks are open for registration Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4:30 p.m.

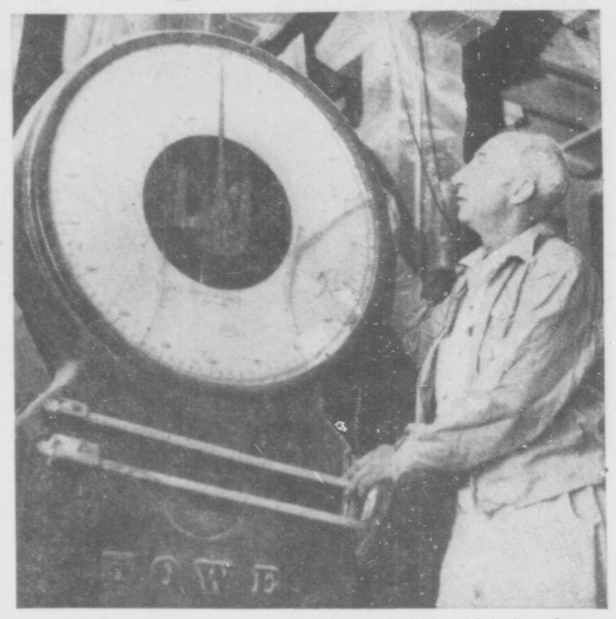
Vintage Roller Mill Joins Vanishing Firms

ALVIN POPP, owner of the Arlington Heights Roller Mill admits he gets a "lump" in his throat when he realizes the mill will cease operation this week. Above Popp watches the last truckload of feed as it was shipped from the mill Monday—bringing an end to almost 100 years of operation. Popp calls milling a "vanishing business" in the area.

AN ARLINGTON HEIGHTS LANDMARK, the Arlington Heights Roller Mill, will be razed shortly to make way for an addition to the Arlington Theater. The mill has a history which dates back to 1865 when it was a grist mill operated by an overhead windmill. The mill is located at 114 E. Wing St. (B-8



POPP INSPECTS A LARGE DIAL SCALE which has been used in the mill for many years. Popp always kept the best of the old machinery and purchased new modern equipment to use with the old during the 26 years he operated the mill.

To Be Replaced by New Theater Wing

by MELDA LYNN

"Make way for the new but remember the old" might well be a slogan for a long time Arlington Heights residents, Alvin Popp, owner of the Arlington Roller Mills.

With an admitted "lump" in his throat Popp last week recalled the days when his mill was one of the necessary businesses in the center of the village. This week ended the history of the mill, the last of the businesses once necessary to serve farmers of the area.

The mill will take its place in the history books of the 125-year-old country town as it closes its doors this week.

It will be torn down to make way for a new addition to the Arlington Theatre, next door to the mill property at Wing and State Road. The property which once served early residents of the farm community will now provide necessary entertainment for residents of today's "bedroom-commuter" type community.

THE MILL (figuratively speaking) will be laid to rest in the cemetery along with other vanished businesses — such as the blacksmith shops, livery stables, the old pickle and sauerkraut factory, the milk depot, watering trough, cattle yard, ice house and farm implement stores that used to line the main streets.

All were necessary to Arlington Heights when Popp moved there 26 years ago, as well as when they were built originally—some over 100 years ago.

In reviewing the past 26 years Popp emphasized the trmendous changes that have taken place in the short one quarter of a century.

These changes, progressive to be sure, include paved streets, sidewalks, motor busses, air conditioned trains to take residents into Chicago to earn a living, 12 instead of two schools — and one of the most noticeable changes —streets lined with residences—where open farm land once grew grain which was processed by Popp's mill.

THURS., MAY 24, 1962

THE MILL was built in 1863 as a grist mill and was operated by an overhead windmill. It had several different owners who made minor changes.

William Lindner, Popp's father-in-law and a former owner, installed electricity when he owned the mill. In 1934 Popp purchased the business from Lindner who began the flour — or roller mill operation.

Popp recalls when the mill mixed feed of all kinds—poultry feed, food for hogs, pets and research laboratory as well as farm animals.

The mill would receive the produce from the area farmers; mill the wheat into flour and make the other grains into special feeds—for retail and wholesale to local farmers as well as nationally known feed companies.

ONE BRAND of specialty feed was marketed under the Popp name. One of the biggest customers was the Chicago Board of Trade.

Popp says he especially "loved" to make flour.

He also liked to mix feed with molasses from the underground storage tank, "because it smelled so good."

The whole area would know feed was being mixed by the sweet aroma which drifted through the village. The tank held 1,800 gallons of blackstrap molasses. This is just one of the things about a mill today's children (and most adults) have not had the pleasure of knowing about, Popp almost sadly pointed out.

Neither do most people know about the many different kinds of scales in the mill. And how many city dwellers have seen corn shellers and huskers work?

POPP remembers when some grain was brought to the mill by horse-drawn wagons, but by the time he purchased the business, trucks were beginning to become the modern method of transporting the grain.

He remembers when 30 to 40 trucks of grain—lined up for four or five blocks — would be waiting to unload at the mill each morning.

This is in sharp contrast to the past few years when shipments became fewer and fewer as the farms vanished from the suburb.

MONDAY, Popp rather sadly watched as the last truckload of feed was being shipped from the mill.

The few farmers who are left now deposit their grain at the bulk grain elevator to be shipped west. The elevator, located along the railroad tracks on Northwest Hwy. next to the cement mixing plant, is also owned by Popp. It probably will continue to operate, at least in the near future.

Popp likes to remember the early days when he came to Arlington Heights. He has watched it grow from a farm community with a population of 5,000 to a bustling suburban city of today which boasts a population of 32,000.

He remembers the many friends he has among the farmers and the townsfolks. He has watched a generation grow from childhood to adulthood. He has seen babies born in 1934 grow up, get married and begin families of their own. Some of these former "babies" have now gone into farming, but most have decided to follow other methods of making a living.

NOT TOO many years ago, he recalls, he knew every policeman in the village and just about every resident he passed on the streets.

"I like to meet the public and know people," Popp says. "I have enjoyed the work of the mill, I know I will miss it, but then, I am still a young man and have many years ahead of me in which I will be able to enjoy other work."

He and his wife plan to work their farm in Crystal Lake until their son, Alvin, gets through his anticipated military service. Then father and son will "probaby go into some kind of business together — probably in Arlington Heights."

HIS SON is presently working at Marshall Fields while waiting to hear what plans Uncle Sam has for him.

No, Popp has no plans for retirement. He wants to continue being a necessary part of the community—to serve in some way the needs of suburban residents—just as he did the farmers.

He wistfully admits however, that while progress has made Arlington Heights a wonderful place—he wishes some of the oldtimer landmarks had been preserved for today's younger generation — so they might see first hand some of the things which belong to the heritage that played a big part in making the village one of the leading and respected communities at Chicago's front door. IT'S A MOOT QUESTION who is getting the biggest thrill from the accomplishment of these tots who assembled these toys. Sherry Krause and Elaine Shaw, who attend Clearbrook School for Retarded Children, are intent on their task, as Mrs. Don Caughey, 611 N. Douglas, and Mrs. Paul Black, 701 S. Chestnut, both Arlington Heights, look on. The school, which meets at the Community Church of Rolling Meadows, is holding a workshop Friday for volunteer workers. More helpers are needed.

Schedule Workshop at School for Retarded

The story of the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children will be unfolded at the May 25 workshop for volunteer helpers at the school, which meets daily in the Community Church of Rolling Meadows, Kirchoff Road and Meadow Drive. The half-day session will be open to the public.

The conference will open at 9 a.m. with a showing of the movie, "I Speak for Taya," filmed at the school last year. It shows the type of program carried on by teachers and volunteer helpers.

FROM 9:30 to 10:30 the workshop will break up into discussion groups. Pat Mumford, chairman of volunteers, will outline duties of volunteer helpers; "Oral communications" will be discussed by Mrs. Marge Buchan, school principal; Mrs. Mae Bombach; school coordinator and teacher will discuss hand and sense training; and another teacher, Mrs. Joyce Ruther. will explain the physical training program.

After a coffee break, the volunteers and other interested persons will listen to Arnon Deguisne, psychologist associated with school districts 15 and 54, discuss psychological service and the mentally retarded child.

There will be a question and answer period before E. S. Castor, school management chairman, sums up the morning program and it adjourns at 11:45 a.m. (B8

Motorist to Fight Speeding Violation

An Arlington Heights man, insisting he was illegally ticketed for speeding, has indicated he will continue to fight a guilty verdict.

Harold D. Nealis, 31, of 113 W. Eastman, was arrested on Feb. 2, 1962 on State Road between Park and Rockwell Streets. He was charged with driving 40 m.p.h. in a 30 m.p.h. zone.

Nealis, a Joliet attorney, obtained a change of venue from the court of Arlington Heights Police Magistrate R. C. Buckley to the court of Judge John D. Hayes, Palatine police magistrate.

THE CASE was continued to Saturday after Nealis demanded a 12 man jury trial. The verdict was guilty and he was fined $10 and assessed $34.50 in costs.

Nealis has indicated to Palatine Court officials that he may appeal the case. He claims it was icy the night of the incident and that he couldn't have been traveling as fast as Arlington Heights officers J. Weber and R. Kirchway say.

Frank Fiorite, assistant states attorney, prosecuted the case.

Review New Books at Arlington Library

By BETTY AINSLIE

Here are a few of the brand new books just put on the shelves of the Arlington Heights public library, and some of them I found particularly interesting.

"Eighteen Acres Under Glass" by Robert Keith Gray goes behind the vast fabric of Washington's political and social life during the last years of the Eisenhower administration. Seems Mr. Gray was secretary of the cabinet and knows well the lightning pace of life inside the White House.

HE DISCUSSES among many things the Goldfine episode and the gift racquet, the state visits of kings and queens. So spend 500 pages getting the lowdown and feel of life as it is lived in our national capital.

Barry Goldwater, who seems to pop up constantly on the political scene, has a new book called "Why Not Victory?" which is a very open look at the first 20 years of American foreign policy. Naturally Mr. Goldwater states his reasons for a critical view of the use and misuse of American power. The Cuban and Latin American situation, World Court, United Nations and the position of Red China also are discussed.

"The Berlin wall should have been destroyed brick by brick," is one of his terse comments. He believes the United Nations is valuable as an open forum and nothing else; and that the U-2 incident was a forceful demonstration of our military superiority rather than an embarrassing diplomatic blunder.

"YOUNGBLOOD Hawke" by Herman Wouk, the author of "Caine Mutiny," is a thick book but a fascinating one. It is the story of a man and a talent and deals with the United States today. It builds to a thunderous climax as two women struggle for the love and life of Youngblood Hawke.

A book for Arthur Godfrey fans (remember him?) is "Genius in the Family," written by Arthur's two sisters, Jean and Kathy. The book is filled with humor of Arthur's early life but the real genius in the family is the mother who has a solution for every problem of life. She handles Father Godfrey, a British gentleman with an adventurous past, smoothly and cleverly. A good book for those who enjoy family stories.

"Of Cheat and Charmer" by Elliott Nugent is about a man deeply enmeshed in the world of motion pictures and Broadway shows. A different first book from a good writer. Fine for those interested in the backstage life of movies and plays.

Peter Lind Hayes has a new book called "Twenty Five Minutes from Broadway," which is the story of the suburban homelife of one of America's best loved show business couples. For some laughs and no mental effort read this just for fun.

Cardinal Meyer Is To Attend Service

His Eminence, Albert Cardinal Meyer, will help celebrate the tenth anniversary of Our Lady of the Wayside in Arlington Heights by blessing the convent chapel and outdoor Stations of the Cross Monday, May 28, at 7 p.m.

Immediately afterward he will administer the sacrament of confirmation to more than 200 children and adults.

CARDINAL Meyer will be attended by a retinue of clergy and an honor guard of fourth degree Knights of Columbus.

Among the other events still to be held to celebrate the anniversary is a dinner dance at Elmhurst Country Club on Tuesday, May 29. The committee which planned the dance is headed by Mrs. Charles McCall, president of the Catholic Woman's Club of the church, and George Gabrielson, Holy Name Society president. (A

TV TUBE QUERY

by ED LANDWEHR

Tube manufacturers ought to explain in national advertising about the cost of tubes. For an example, ten years ago two specific tubes cost $1.65 and $1.80. Today, the first one increased in price to $3.90 but the second costs only $2.65. This price variation confuses many people.

As we understand it at LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, the manufacturer must charge according to his cost of change-over from one model to the other, and the total number of tubes involved. It must be quite a manipulation of cost accounting when you think of the many hundreds of different tubes on the market.

But you can be sure that the types we use are the very finest quality and carry guarantees long enough so if anything is basically wrong with the tube, it will show up long before the end of the guaranteed period. Phone CL 5-0700 for guaranteed and assured TV and radio services.

Mrs. Geo. Kopp Is Newcomers New President

New officers for the Arlington Heights Newcomers Club have been elected to guide the club for the next 6-month term. Elected president was Mrs. George Kopp, who will be aided by the following: vice president, Mrs. Jerry Powell; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Murphy; recording secretary, Mrs. Robert Potts; and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Julian Garcia.

THE ELECTION was held at both the May luncheon and evening meeting. Following the regular business meeting the club's vice president, Mrs Dean Sanderson, presented the president, Mrs. Richard Hughes, with an engraved silver tray from the entire club. The outgoing board then presented a fashion show satirizing old favorites such as the box jacket, the belted look, the cocktail dress and the draped look. Cards were also played.

All newcomers to Arlington Heights with less than 18 months residency are invited to attend one luncheon or one evening meeting and then are eligible to join the club. (A

Suburb Officials Hear Flood Report

INTENT OF THE FLOOD MAP just completed for the Arlington Heights Quadrangle of 57 square miles is to solve and prevent floods such as above. The flood took place about two years ago in the unincorporated area northeast of Arlington Heights.

Area Plight Is Described

by TOM EDWARDS

The history of floods in the 57-square-mile "Arlington Heights Quadrangle" including six communities was presented to their officials May 16 at a special panel meeting of th Northwest Suburban Conference at the Mount Prospect village hall.

It was the culmination of one segment of a comprehensive program to give northeastern Illinois communities the tools with which to avoid floods in the future. Local areas covered by floods in the past were delineated on a detailed map plus graphs and charts.

BESIDES Arlington and Mount Prospect, included in the flood report were Des Plaines and Mount Prospect, and parts of Elk Grove and Wheeling. The map outlines flood plains along seven streams, feeding into the Des Plaines River, as well as the river basin itself. They are Weller, McDonald, Salt, Willow and Higgins Creeks, and the Wheeling (Buffalo Grove Creek) and the Feehanville Drainage Ditches.

The map only "shows at a glance what lands are subject to periodic flooding," it was explained. It is now up to each community to undertake correction and prevention programs. How the map was prepared and its applications was explained by representatives of the U.S. Geological Survey and applications were explained by representatives of the U.S. Geological Survey and the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, who were responsible for it.

The Arlington Heights quadrangle is the second of 44 flood hazard maps which will cover most of the six-county northeastern Illinois area, giving data for avoiding improper land development in flood plains. The $296,750 five-year Northeastern Illinois Flood Hazard Mapping Project is jointly financed by the six metropolitan area counties and the U.S. Geological Survey, which does the mapping. The Northeast Illinois Planning Commission has the task of coordinating the project and providing guidance to local communities on the use of the maps and accompanying data.

IN THE PAST extensive flood problems were created by communities in their development, it was pointed out by John R. Sheaffer, the commission's chief hydologist and meeting moderator. The map shows the way for "preventive and corrective" measures, he said.

William Lynch, of Prospect Heights and assistant chief engineer of the Cook County Highway Department, one of three county agencies involved in the mapping project, mentioned the 1960 flood in Wheeling's Dunhurst Subdivision as an example. "If these flood plan maps had been in use then, we would not have had that flood."

Lynch also noted that state motor fuel taxes may be used for flood control projects.

Another member of the guest panel was W.S. Daniels of the U.S. Geological Survey. He explained that the data used in compiling the map does not include all recent subdivision developments. Sheaffer noted that it would have been 10 times more expensive to make an entire new topograhical survey of the six-county area, so land elevations from existing maps were used.

ASKED BY A representative the Palatine League of Women Voters (Palatine is a member of the Northwest Suburban Conference) if the map was applicable since subdivisions change the drainage picture, it was stated that it is.

The county highway department, Lynch said, has the responsibility of approving many plats, and has extensive drainage regulations to maintain the capacity of drainage courses.

Drainage facilities are usually designed with a certain capacity, perhaps to handle the maximum amount of runoff water that can be expected every four out of five years, that is, a five-year plan, Sheaffer pointed out. This means that a community can expect a flood once every five years,—or a one-in-five chance of having one every year.

IT WAS brought out that the next local flood mapping project will be the Wheeling quadrangle, from Hintz Road north, including Buffalo Grove and the southern portion of Lake County, to begin in July, 1963. Main water course is the upper reaches of Buffalo Grove Creek, along which development is taking place at a rapid pace.

A difficult problem in flood planning, simply "selling storm water protection," it was stated by the city engineer of Des Plaines from the audience. He noted that libraries, fire trucks and police protection can readily be sold to the public, but not flood controls.

Reason that the Arlington Heights quadrangle was among the first to be mapped, according to Paul Oppermann, executive director of the area planning commission, was because of chronic flood problems and because it is "the fastest growing part of the Chicago area."

CHARLES C. Estes, chief engineer of the Cook County Forest Preserve District, said the mapping program has the "unanimous approval of district officials. It was pointed out that the district's acquisition of river basins has been one of immense value in controlling floods.

One panelist, George B. Wesler of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and of the Arlington Heights area, was criticized for a statement that eventually flood plains will probably have to be developed as well as other land areas. Preventing their development is one of the most important means of flood control and prevention, a planning commission member indicated in rebuttal.

Gaging stations on the Des Plaines River, and McDonald and Weller Creeks have recorded water levels of major floods since 1938, which data was used in estimating flood frequencies. Worst recorded flood was in 1938, and in 12 of the last 24 years flood waters have risen above the dangerous 630-foot elevation point at Des Plaines River Road. Officials of Elmhurst, next on the mapping program, and Park Ridge also attended.

OTHER agencies represented on the panel were the Metropolitan Sanitary District and the Illinois Division of Waterways.

Copies of the report and map were left with the villages of Mount Prospect, Arlington, Elk Grove and Wheeling, and are to be available in the village halls for examination. Others will be made available at 75 cents per copy.

The Arlington Heights quadrangle is bounded by the Des Plaines River on the east, O'Hare Field on the south, and Hintz Road on the north, and it extends about a mile west of Arlington Heights Road.

Outline Regulations For Flooding Control

Suggested regulations for community development to lessen and avoid floods were passed out to communities included in the Northwest Suburban Conference at its meeting May 16.

The meeting was devoted to flood problems and the just completed flood mapping of the Arlington Heights quadrangle. President of the conference, which includes all communities in the area of the Chicago North Western railway, is Mayor Herbert Behrel of Des Plaines.

ONE OF THE main recommendations for avoiding and controlling floods is to create flood plain zoning regulations. That is, restrict areas subject to flooding, (water courses) to use as parks, playgrounds, golf clubs, farms, parking lots, and to building which will not be damaged by a flood.

It was pointed out that flood plains may legally include not only areas which have been flooded, but also adjacent low lying areas which could be or might someday be necessary for water retention basins.

OTHER suggestions:

—Adopt building and setback lines along water runoff channels where no such right-of-way provisions have been recorded on the plat or where it is deemed advisable.

—Require water channels to be marked on subdivision plats to provide for immediate and anticipated runoff.

—Require location of parks and other open public areas on subdivision plats to be along drainage courses.

—Require utility easements to be described for both utility and drainage purposes.

—Require street pavements to be depressed enough below adjoining buildings so that they function as water runoff channels auxiliary to storm sewers.

—Require storm sewers to be designed so that they will not back up when their outlet channels are filled to capacity.

—Require two-foot contour maps showing runoff channels of areas to be developed.

—Require overhead plumbing in basements when necessary.

—Require downspouts to empty on lawns, and prohibit any storm water drains from being connected onto the sanitary sewer.

—Require water retention facilities for large parking lots and buildings.

—Require adequate substitution for natural runoff channels when they are to be blocked.

—Prohibit the filling in of water overflow areas and the construction of runoff channels without adequate compensation in space provided for elsewhere.

Along with the recommendations, prepared by the Northeastern Illinois Area Planning Commission was another leaflet outlining statutory powers provided to put the recommendations into effect. (A-14

Women Voters Distribute Salt Creek Drain Report

A report on drainage problems of the Salt Creek basin recently was made available to 12 state, county and local agencies as well as to Gov. Otto Kerner.

In this day of voluminous reports, this item, which includes a discussion of water and sewer problems in the Palatine area, is unique—it is not a government report.

The study is the result of a year - long program by the League of Women Voters of Palatine and is the basis for the Palatine League's endorsement of a flood mapping program by the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission.

CHAIRMAN of the committee that prepared the report is Mrs. George T. Dupre, who with the help of Mrs. John Gibney prepared a description of flood, drainage, sewerage and water problems, complete with maps.

While the report is devoted primarily to a description of the problems, the underlying theme points dramatically to a need for coordination among the numerous government agencies that exercise control of some sort over activities that influence the water cycle.

Mrs. Dupre, who has had a natural interest in geology since her college days, and who lives along the Salt Creek bank which she observes daily, prepared the report.

THE REPORT notes that a contemplated branch of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago is expected to eliminate a dry-weather flow of sewerage into the stream from the village's out-moded combination storm and sanitary sewer. Also cited are the problems that new subdivisions and developments can bring to the pollution problem.

Pointing out that the Salt Creek basin drains an area of some 159 square miles, the report states:

"At present we have no immediate problem, but as each new subdivision, development of any sort goes in, the storm water is brought to Salt Creek for run off and it will cause flooding because both branches of the creek as they stand are not able to carry more . . ."

STRESSED in an analysis of the local situation, is a need for strong subdivision and development control, with special emphasis given to drainage patterns and preservation of flood plains.

Mrs. Dupre notes in her report that an example of lack of cooperation may be seen in the variation in size of bridges placed across the creek by both the village and the township. Two large culverts were installed in Palatine, she observes, while less than a mile downstream the township installed one about a third of the size.

"This indicates a need for coordination and area planning." orination and area planning."

Sees US Going for Socialism, USSR Toward Capitalism

NOBLESVILLE, IND., (UPI) — Rep. Richard L. Roudebush, R-Ind., said that America is moving toward socialist types of controls while Soviet Russia "seems to be moving, a few inches at least, toward capitalism by the incentive route."

Speaking at a meeting of rual mailmen, Roudebush said that progress has been made in Russia only as it has begun to recognize "to some slight degree that individuals may have some inherent rights and that the incentive system is actually the stimulus to success.

"Despite the claims of infallibility from the Soviet, the record shows a history in Communist countries of famine, poverty, torture and mass murder," Roudebush said.

HE MAINTAINED that America's traditional sources of great national strength through free enterprise, incentive and the profit motive are being endangered by vast centralization of power in the federal government.

"For us to give up our wonderful system in favor of socialism, the forerunner of Communism, is idiocy and Americans must not allow it to happen," he said. (A14

Carpentier Tells License Actions

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier this week announced the revocation of 195 and the suspension of 530 drivers licenses, chauffeurs' licenses and driving privileges based on local court convictions and police reports.

In addition, 348 persons whose licenses were suspended earlier and who did not have more than a total point accumulation of 62 points have been granted probationary permits to drive.

Reasons for revocations were: Revocation or suspension of a restricted driving permit, 1; driving while intoxicated, 143; drag racing, 3; displayed license not issued to him, 2; three offenses within one year, 27; caused or contributed to an accident resulting in injury or death, 3; permitted fraudulent use of license, 3; gave incorrect information on application for license, 6; mental and physical disabilities, 7.

REASONS FOR suspensions were: violated restriction on license or permit, 16; three offenses within one year, 447; driving while intoxicated, 17; caused or contributed to an accident resulting in death or injury, 47; permitted fraudulent use of license, 2; gave incorrect information on application for license, 1.

Mandatory provisions of the law applied in 107 of the cases and discretionary in 618. Cook County residents accounted for 492 of the actions and downstate residents accounted for 219 and residents of other states for 7.

Losing their licenses through revocations for driving while intoxicated were Robert H. Miller, 334 N. Second St., Wheeling, and Roland W. Richerson, 203 Box 467 Maple, Wood Dale. Having her license suspended for driving while intoxicated was Eleanore T. Malmstrom, 909 E. North St., Itasca.

THREE violations brought about the revocation of the license of Lester Hanke, 908 E. Frederick, Arlington Heights.

Having their licenses suspended for three violations were Allan Anderson, 13 N. Pine St., Arlington Heights; Richard Carnell, 950 Wilshire Ave., Elk Grove Village; James Harris, 32 S. Hickory, Palatine; Linda Hallgren, 504 N. Fairview Ave., Mount Prospect; Charles Lyvers, 593 Bridget, Wheeling; David Powers Jr., 154 Hillcrest Blvd., Hoffman Estates; Eugene Schaefges, 403 W. Willow Road, Prospect Heights.

George Brennan, Thorndale Avenue, Bensenville; James Clardy, 919 Pleasant Ave., Addison; John Dennis, 778 N. Walnut St., Bensenville; Melvin Pearson, 296 Canter, Wood Dale.

Ronald Gagle, 994 Wheeling Road, had his license suspended for giving incorrect information on the application for license.

Patricia Opperman, 328 N. Smith St., Palatine; Michael Russo, 1705 Verde Drive, Mount Prospect; George Schultz, 7500 N. Elmhurst Road, Bensenville; Robert Shufelt, 315 W. Muller, Arlington Heights; Edward Suwalski, 91 Dundee Lane, Barrington; Ronald Annala, 414 E. Pine St., Bensenville. (A-14

At Highland Park

Improved Acoustics For Ravinia Music

Improved pavilion acoustics will be noted by music lovers who attend this summer's Ravinia music performances, Earle Ludgin, Ravinia Festival Association chairman, announced.

Large triangles of wood hung at ceiling height in a pattern of flying wedges are part of the improvement of acoustics made at the pavilion in Highland Park. The music will be carried fully and without distortion to all areas.

Appearing on this year's program are several outstanding personalities, Ludgin said. Jack Benny will give benefit performances on August 1 and 3. Ella Fitzgerald will appear at Ravinia on July 18 and 20.

THE LIMELITERS are scheduled July 4 and 6. Joan Sutherland considered "one of the voices of our generation" according to Ludgin will be here for a July 26 appearance.

Jean Martinon will be the orchestra's permanent conductor.

The Art Exhibition this year will show paintings by artists which will be selected by eight Midwestern universities. Exhibit of a broad cross section of contemporary paintings is planned.

A Woman's board has been instituted for the Ravinia Festival Association. The group has organized a hospitality committee to welcome conductors and soloists.

'Leaf Reading' Is Important to Tree

Trees don't speak, but they do communicate.

Their sign language is understandable, even in early spring. It's the wise homeowner who reads and heeds the signs whether they tell a story of health and vigor or warn of troubles to come.

J. M. Benson, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., urges, in effect, that tree lovers become leaf readers to call the turn on a happier future for the greenery.

VIRTUALLY anyone can spot the commonplace S. O. S. signals. These are the broken limbs, split crotches and other physical damages that are the aftermath of cruel winter. Severe injuries dictate that the professional tree man be called to minister first aid before it is too late.

Gaping holes in newly unfolded leaves may be the result of a late spring frost or a horde of hungry insects. Leaf-eating marauders may call for initiation of a spray program, augmented by feeding, to restore growing vigor. Subtle shadings of green leaves proclaim the state of a tree's health. Even leaf scorch problems, so common in late summer, can be predicted and thwarted by reading the green now.

It usually takes the professional tree man to spot the clues to specific malfunctions. In these categories are soil deficiencies, soil compaction, air contamination, wetwood ills, chemical injury, ice and salt damage and construction damage, among a host of others.

HOME grounds trees usually welcome some assistance from their owners. Away from their native habitats, the forests, woody plants generally are hungry for extra heapings of victuals.

Tree feeding makes up for the nutrients that nature normally provides abundantly in the woodlands. (A-14

Charge $2.50 If Out Of Gas on Tollway

Motorists running out of gasoline on Chicago's metropolitan expressway system will be charged $2.50, effective June 15, for emergency service by the expressway patrol, W. J. Payes Jr., director of the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, has announced.

An average of 200 motorists a month run out of gasoline on the expressway system, according to reports compiled by the Division of Highway's emergency traffic patrol system.

Payes said the $2.50 charge was agreed upon by the state highway engineers after a thorough study of the costs of the service to the State of Illinois. The state will break even on the $2.50 charge when the cost of such services is included, he added. Motorists out of gasoline are among the leading causes of traffic delays on the expressway system, he said. (A14

Will Your Children Make It to College?

(This is the first in a series of four articles prepared by Monmouth College administrators describing the college of the 1960's. Other articles in the series are titled: "The College of the Sixties: A Profile," "What Will College Have Done for Your Child" and "College Education: Who Will Foot the Bill"

by GLEN RANKIN

To a generation of parent haunted by the vision of "The Closing College Door," the question "will my child go to college" is a vital one.

Despite the fact that college enrollment will increase by two million students in the next decade, my answer is yes—providing the student and his parents consider the possibilities in realistic terms.

The two-year or "junior" colleges are mushrooming—growing faster than any other type of educational institution—at the average rate of 20 per year.

PUBLIC institutions are also rapidly expanding and will probably carry the bulk of the growing student population. Private institutions, to a lesser degree, are also expanding their enrollment capacities.

The graduate of the 60's will have an awareness of unanswered questions—an awareness his parents didn't have to the same extent. He will have been imbued with the thesis that "everything changes except change itself."

In all academic fields, particularly the sciences, today's student is being taught that there are no completely stable facts—all are subject to constant alteration.

AS ONE alumnus remarked: "My graduating class, if it looked at the world, didn't know it was 'loaded'. Today's student is aware of this and is searching for the firing pin. I hope our colleges will have taught them the necessary responsibility before they find it."

More and more of your daughters will turn up their noses at devoting a lifetime to unskilled labor as a housewife. The women graduates of the 60's will, in increasing numbers, launch careers and keep up their interest in their vocation even during the child-raising years.

And as the children grow up, these graduates will return to the working world as skilled volunteers or high-salaried personnel.

THE TREND today towards graduate study will increase in the latter part of the decade.

The reasons for this are obvious: the demands of specialization, shortages of personnel in professional fields, and a love of learning instilled by challenging study at the undergraduate level.

Even beyond formal graduate study, your son or daughter will find that education does not end with a degree. In more and more communities, academic courses in evening school are attracting the college graduate interested in continuing his education.

NEW YORK, Chicago and California are some of the centers where as many as 17,000 enroll yearly in non-credit courses.

Parents may find these trends either encouraging or deplorable, according to their point of view. But these are the actions that have been set in motion and are clearly established. (A-14

Here Are Job Opportunities For Illinois June Graduates

by UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

June graduates from Illinois colleges and universities have good prospects of employment again this year, especially in the fields of engineering, accounting, elementary education and special education.

A check of campus placement directors showed little change in job prospects from last year.

But two universities reported that employers this year show more interest in students with high grades, and more concern about the military status of the graduates.

Dr. Roye R. Bryant, director of the Southern Illinois University Placement Bureau, said employers apparently believed that graduates with high grades would be able to adapt more easily to job changes produced by automation.

Other observations:

—Gerald W. Peck, coordinating placement officer for the University of Illinois, said the shortage of teachers in the secondary education field is becoming less critical.

— W. J. Sandness of the Bradley University Placement Bureau said government hiring has increased.

—BRYANT SAID requests for accountants were up 25 per cent from last year, and the demand for salesmen also was higher. Government agencies, particularly Social Security and Internal Revenue, were asking for more graduates.

— Dr. Martin H. Bartels, placement director at Northern Illinois University, said there was not much change in previous trends. He predicted a peak in a few years in the demand for high school teachers as a result of the abrupt rise in the birth rate in 1947. A few years later, a similar increase will come in the demand for college and university teachers, Bartels said.

— The Knox College Placement Bureau said there was less demand for graduates with majors in the social studies.

The University of Illinois said the graduates most in demand are in engineering, accounting and elementary education. The government is doing a lot of hiring, Peck said, and pay scales are about the same with less than a two per cent variation from last year.

BRADLEY REPORTED the greatest demand in engineering and education. Some of the best paying jobs are in sales, particularly technical sales, Sandness said.

Southern said the demand was greatest for chemists, engineers and accountants and for teachers in speech correction, education of the mentally retarded, foreign languages, library science and English.

Northern said teachers most in demand were in special education, library science, elementary education, journalism, general science, mathematics, english and foreign languages. The greatest demand in the non-teaching fields, Bartels said, was in theoretical science, mathematics, accounting, engineering, business administration and sales.

Knox, a liberal arts college, said the demand in business fields was good.

Graduates least in demand, according to the survey, were:

—At Illinois: physical education for men and social science.

— At Bradley: Not much trouble placing graduates in any field.

— At Southern: personnel and advertising, and teachers in men's physical education and social studies.

— AT NORTHERN: the general liberal arts graduate, and teachers in men's physical education, speech, agriculture and music.

— At Knox: social studies teachers.

Bartels said studies have indicated that although the general liberal arts graduate starts slowly, he or she is doing as well as the members of any other group after 10 years. (A14

Announce Research Project On Nursing Homes and Aged

A new foundation to carry out research in the field of nursing home care for the aged has been organized by Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Kramer of Palatine, it was announced this week.

Called the Kramer Foundation, the new organiation will devote itself to scientific investigations of nursing homes, their personnel, their patients, and the many functions and services they perform. It will carry out research and educational projects on a not-for-profit basis.

THE FIRST area of exploration on the foundation's schedule will be the relationships between physicians and nursing homes. This is a crucial area, according to the Kramers, because nursing homes need medical support, advice and supervision.

Mrs. Kramer, who is the executive director of the foundation, said that many homes do not always get the medical help they need. She said that both the nursing home administrators and the doctors themselves realize this, and that the study currently underway will try to aid in the resolution of the problem.

SURVEYS of both administrators and doctors will be used in the study.

The foundation is interested in opinions from the field as to future projects. Anyone interested in proposing a problem for study, in coordinating with the foundation on a problem, or in contributing to its support may write Mrs. Kramer at 2 W. Johnson St., Palatine.

Some of the problems involved in institutional care of the aged were documented in Paddock Publications' recent series, "These Lonely Rooms."

Relief Rolls Rise By 4,877 in March

Public aid rose by 4,877 persons in March over the previous month, according to a report released this week by Peter W. Cahill, executive secretary of the Illinois Public Aid Commission.

Assistance payments for March amounted to $25,491,935 while the cost in February was $24,904,496 and a year ago, $21,335,990. There were 468,700 persons on the relief rolls for March compared to 463,823 in February.

In Cook and DuPage counties, the assistance program was broken down to show:

In Aid to Dependent Children, there were 187,761 persons who received $8,753,370 in Cook County compared to 296 persons in DuPage County who were given $12,048.

IN GENERAL Assistance, $3,763,419 was administered to 57,123 Cook County recipients. In DuPage County under this category, 550 persons received $30,761.

Old Age Assistance accounted for the expenditure in Cook County of $2,475,424 to benefit 28,077 persons, while in DuPage County 348 individuals were given $26,845.

Disability Assistance was administered to 18,402 persons in Cook County at a cost of $1,920,321 compared to 22 persons in DuPage County who received $1,227.

Blind Assistance was given to 1,355 persons in Cook County at a cost of $140,212. In DuPage County, 15 recipients received $1,403 for the month.

Public Aid Deficit

Only New Taxes Will Solve Crisis: Kerner

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — Gov. Otto Kerner last Thursday, May 17, said new taxes are the way to solve the state's financial problems and that a transfer of state funds to the hard-pressed public aid coffers would just "put off the fateful day."

Speaking to his weekly news conference, Kerner again refused to be pinned down on a special session of the legislature and said he was "patiently awaiting" a recommendation by the legislature's budgetary commission which meets here next Tuesday.

Kerner reiterated previous statements that he won't call the session unless legislators of both parties come to an agreement beforehand on how to meet an impending $100 million deficit in public aid funds.

THE GOVERNOR also criticized the position of most legislators that any session before the November elections should be of the "no taxes" variety.

"I'm well aware this is a political year," he said. "Lots of people are afraid that if they go to the heart of this trouble, they won't be re-elected. But we have to be mature people and face the facts."

Asked about one of the oft-suggested steps — the borrowing of funds from other areas of use in public aid — Kerner said "I suppose this would represent a lightening of the problem. But the amounts available are very small.

"This only puts off the fateful day," he said. "We'd have to pay the money back sometime."

KERNER would not comment on whether he would go along with a transfer of funds if suggested by the budgetary commission, but said "I don't intend to bargain away the financial stability of this state."

He said Illinois Public Aid Commission figures show that agency will run out of funds in December if spending continues at the present rate. Asked if this didn't mean there would have to be a special session, he said "that sounds like a pretty logical conclusion."

Asked later, however, what would be done if legislative leaders didn't come up with the agreement he demands before calling a special session, Kerner said "I guess the people on public aid just wouldn't get any money."

Kerner did not say what new taxes he thought should be imposed.

HE REFERRED to his proposed corporation franchise tax which the legislature turned down during its past session and said "I offered them what I thought was the answer."

"Apparently they're better in this field than I am. So let them come up with the answers."

Marine Corps Has 'Tough' Reputation

Founded 187 Years Ago Under Navy

(This is the first in a series of articles by Reporter Bill Hogate on the military programs open to young men in the area served by the Paddock papers. Paddock Publications recognized the need of informing young men of the military opportunities open to them, inasmuch to our knowledge, there is now no single source for this information. Next week, Hogate will report on the opportunities with the U.S. Air Force.)

by BILL HOGATE

They're called the Leathernecks.

The United States Marine Corps, within the United States Navy, was founded 187 years ago. The motto: "Semper Fidelis" — always faithful. Reputation: tough.

What are the opportunities for young men in this area in the Marine Corps? We asked Major H. M. Hart, in charge of the officer selection office, 225 S. Clark St., Chicago. Here is his reply in regard to the Marine officer program:

"The Marine Corps is the only service where officer and enlisted men recruiting activities are not combined," Major Hart commented.

He explained that an enlisted man is one who is normally a high school graduate and who will not receive a commission. An officer candidate, on the other hand, is one who joins the service with the expressed intent of earning his officer commission.

TOUGH PHYSICAL TRAINING is one of the hallmarks of the Marine Corps. Basic training is carried on at San Diego, Calif., or Parris Island, S. C. Such training builds confidence and endurance in today's modern "Leathernecks."

THE ENEMY IS OVER THAT-AWAY. This seems to be the directive the Marine to the right is giving his buddy. One of the major features of Marine training is the individual combat training which follows the basic recruit's boot camp. The Marine Corps is usually the first fighting force to land on a beachead

WITHOUT THE Reserve Officer Training Program (R.O.T.C.) which the other services have in the nation's colleges and universities, nor a Marine academy, we must depend on our procurement offices for the main quota of Marine officer candidates," he said.

"Right now our active duty requirement is three years as a ground officer, or three years plus 18 months flight school for applicants qualified for and desiring flight training," he stated.

He said that every one of the Marine officer programs requires a college sheepskin as a preliminary key to unlock the door to a Marine commission.

However, he pointed out that the Marine Platoon Leaders Class (PLC) is a program aimed at a high school senior who is heading for college. Young men can join PLC during college up to and including those who are in their junior year of college.

THE MARINE Cadet (MARCAD) program requires at least two years of college.

Sound health is one of the major criterion in the Corps. He said that in most cases vision cannot be worse than 20/40, correctable to 20/20.

In addition, he stated that applicants can have no history of asthma since age six, they must have had no rheumatic fever within the past five years, must be within the height range of 5' 6" to 6' 6", have weight proportional to height, and be in general top-notch physical shape.

Flight applicants, of course, must have perfect vision, and must not be color blind.

Academically, the Marine officer applicant must have maintained at least a "C" average, and must not be a pre-med, predent, vet medicine, or theology major.

WHILE A PLC candidate is attending school, there is no on-campus drilling, meetings, or requirements of any type. Usually members are exempt from ROTC training in universities where such training is required.

However, the PLC member does have two six-week summer training programs during college.

Hart pointed out that there are several hundred PLCs in Illinois. Notre Dame University, Indiana, has the largest contingent of PLC men in the U. S., but the University of Illinois, Urbana, is second largest in the States.

"The annual requirements for the Platoon Leaders Class in the Chicagoland area are around 150 men per year," the Major stated. "But next year this quota will be cut to 125 men."

"WE ARE encouraging men to apply now, rather than wait until September, so they won't be disappointed," he said.

Another program open to those men who are qualified for, and desire to be a Marine officer is the Officer Candidate Courts (OCC) program.

A college senior or recent graduate may enroll in this course. He will have one continuous 10-week pre-commissioning course at Quantico, Va.

"The OCC classes in the fall or the winter are larger at the present time," Hart said. "He said that classes are ranging from between 400 and 600 men—40 to 50 being trained from this area."

A "special" for this year only is a special program within the OCC program—one for lawyers. Hart stated that only 15 openings have been assigned to this area, and already 11 vacancies have been filled.

HE SAID THE new lawyer program is a stopgap measure to fill the need for lawyers this year while the Marine Corps awaits graduation of its first crop of PLC law students.

Twenty vacancies a year are allowed to the Chicago area for the Marine Aviation Cadet program, and a quota of four has been established for the Woman's Officer Candidate Corps.

Hart pointed out the abundance of PLCs at the State's institutions of higher learning. There are 40 PLCs at N. U., 25 at Loyola, 20 at the Chicago Junior City College campuses, and anywhere from a dozen to one PLC member at other area institutions.

High school graduates who do not plan to go on to college may want to make the Regular Marine Corps a part of their planning.

REQUIREMENTS are (1) that the applicant be between 17 to 28 years of age, (2) he must be single with no dependents, (3) has not committed a criminal offense and is otherwise of good moral character, (4) is able to pass the Armed Forces Qualification test, and (5) meets the current physical standards.

Every young man who enlists in the Marine Corps receives recruit training — popularly known as "boot camp" — at either San Diego, Calif., or Parris Island, S. C. Generally recruits from this area take their training at Parris Island.

During the recruit training period at either of the two locations, the Marine "boot" undergoes strict, and admittedly tough training.

They train in platoons under the supervision of a drill instructor.

Following basic training, the Marine recruit is given individual combat training. The Corps is using an assault concept known as "vertical assault," a helicopter landing technique for getting the men to their battle stations rapidly.

AFTER BASIC training, the Marine recruit, depending on his aptitudes and the needs of the Corps, has about 200 technical training courses to choose from.

The training of a Marine never ends, however, because a new man will constantly pick up skills from older men in the service while performing his specialty.

The Marine Corps Reserve was established to provide a ready, well-trained force of civilian young men capable of reinforcing the regular establishment in time of war or national emergency.

The Marine Corps has two reserve programs. One plan provides for the enlistment of young men between the ages of 17 and 18½ for a period of 8 years. The other is for young men between the ages of 18½ and 25 for a period of 6 years. In both cases there is a six-month training period or active duty.

AFTER THE six month trainee returns from his active duty, he is obligated to attend 48 drill periods per year with his local reserve unit and must not spend over 17 days in the field during the summer.

A member is credited with 2 drills for each day, so he usually drills two days a month with his local unit for a total credit of four drills and four days of pay.

200 Migrant Farms Race Inspection

The sanitary engineering division of the Cook County Department of Public Health is cooperating with the State Health Department in conducting farm inspections required under the new Illinois migrant labor camp law.

During the month of April, Sanitarian Stanley Gizewski inspected six farms in the south county area of which five were found acceptable for licenses, it was reported. One farm was rejected, according to a county health department report. In the north district, Sanitarian John Schultz found nine out of 10 farms passed inspection.

Officials say that they expect requests for inspections will number close to 200 in the next few months. Most of the requests are expected to come from the north and south district areas, they added, where most of the truck and garden farms in the county employing seasonal migrant labor are located

Grosse Point Lighthouse Is Reminder of Days Gone By

Familiar Landmark Still Gives Light

(Here is the second in a series of articles prepared for Paddock Publications by Mrs. Connie B. Howes, a free lance writer and resident of Northbrook. Mrs. Howes' series, "We're Off in Chicagoland," discusses places of interest in the north Chicago area for suburban families to see and visit.)

by CONNIE B. HOWES

The Grosse Point Lighthouse on Sheridan Road in Evanston is a familiar landmark to many Chicagoland residents. The light in the lighthouse still burns, but only as a token light, as a reminder to many people of its part in Great Lakes history.

On Sept. 8, 1860, the schooner Lady Elgin left Milwaukee with 385 passengers and crew. Many of these people were coming to Chicago to hear a speech by Stephen A. Douglas. That evening the lumber ship Augusta collided with the Lady Elgin, cutting her in two.

Two hundred eighty - seven passengers of the Lady Elgin were drowned off the Village of Winnetka. After many years of trying, the people again petitioned Washington after this tragedy for a light along the North Shore of Chicago. Now Washington started action.

GROSSE POINT was the only land available, for in the 1860's all the land from the lake to Ridge Avenue was swampland. Construction was begun prior to the Civil War, but the lighthouse was not completed and lighted until June 3, 1873.

The steel and concrete tower is 90 feet high, the highest on Lake Michigan, second highest on the Great Lakes, with a circumference of 25 feet tapering to 15 feet at the top. The lens was the finest available, developed by Augustin Fresnel, a Frenchman who in the 1820's developed dioptric and catoptric lenses for lighthouse use.

This lens was ordered from France at a cost of $10,000. It was shipped to the United States during the Civil War, buried for protection in the Florida sands until the end of the war, then transported to Evanston.

THE SEVEN-FOOT lens was revolved by means of a clock, showing the white side 96 seconds, partial eclipse 36 seconds, and the red side for 6 seconds.

A shaft inside the walls housed the weights for the clock which rotated the lens. When the weights reached the bottom of the shaft the clock was rewound manually.

Candles were first used to light the beacon, later kerosene, and now electricity. The light carries a distance of twenty miles into the lake. On days of poor visibility, a steam driven fog horn was sounded.

THE TWO adjoining homes in front of the lighthouse were living quarters for the keeper, his assistant and their families. The rear buildings housed supplies as well as wagons and boats for disaster use.

Just prior to World War II the lighthouse was discontinued as a navigation aid because of the common use of radio communication. On Feb. 15, 1942, the keys to the lighthouse were turned over by the Coast Guard to the North East Evanston Park District for its use as a park.

During World War II no light was allowed for security reasons. The building was used by Northwestern University for experiments. Since the end of the war the 500 watt airway beacon token light has become a common sight with its flash-flash-pause symbol.

THE LIGHTHOUSE is now open to the public twice a week during the summer months, on Friday afternoon from 4 to 5, and Saturday from 2 to 3 p.m.

You can climb the 146 steps to the top and view a wide panorama of Chicago for twenty miles in each direction on a clear day. (A14

Teen Party At YMCA Saturday

All teens in the northwest suburban communities are invited to Northwest Suburban YMCA dancing and swimming. This is a regular feature of the "Y" program the fourth Saturday of each month.

Activities are under direction of Grace V. Hansen and Len Adams and are open to all teens. Members are free, and non-members pay a nominal 75-cent fee for the evening's activities.

THERE ARE two sessions. The Junior High teen program is from 7 to 9:15 p.m. The Senior High teens begin their dance program at 8:30 p.m. and finish with a swim session from 10 to 11 p.m. (B9

Beetle Treatment Draws Court Fine

EFFINGHAM, ILL., (UPI) — Two men who admitted using a mixture of laundry bluing and water to treat a woman's home against beetles had a case of wash day blues in court Monday. They were fined $100 each on a charge of deceptive practices by Effingham County Judge Jack Michaelree.

Authorities identified the two as Billy Jo Dailey and Forrest Carter, both of Charleston.

Mrs. Mary Schneider, who lives near Effingham, said the men came to her home and wanted to check it for termites. She said she told them she recently had her home treated against termites.

Mrs. Schneider said the men told her that the termite treatment was effective, but that the beetles needed some attention. Then they treated the home against beetles.

The Judge also ordered the men to repay Mrs. Schneider the $180 she paid for the beetle treatment. (A14

Area Construction Lowest Since 1951

Chicago metropolitan area home and apartment building for April showed an 11 per cent drop, lowest volume since April, 1951, according to Bell Savings and Loan figures for the six-county area.

It marked the fifth consecutive monthly drop in home building this year. Apartment building has been slipping for two months.

Arlington Heights remained among the top 10 suburban home building leaders for 1962. It ranked behind Des Plaines and Glendale Heights with a total of 121 home permits, valued at $2,906,000, for a four-month period.

BIGGEST drop was in unincorporated areas; 31 per cent. Suburban towns were down four per cent. Chicago helped stem the tide with a 22 per cent increase in home permits.

April permits for all building, including residential, commercial and industrial, showed a two per cent drop. Total valuation was $113,022,812.

The suburbs showed a 28 per cent rise in over-all building while unincorporated areas dropped 25 per cent. Chicago was down by three per cent.

OVER-ALL building totals for some northwest area suburbs are reprinted below:

Addison, no report; Arlington Heights, $1,366,916; Bensenville, $284,873; Elk Grove Village, $577,680; Hoffman Estates (two months), $1,097,182; Itasca, no report; Mount Prospect, $363,-298; Palatine, $283,118; Rolling Meadows, $202,416; Roselle, $180,950; and Wheeling, $709,-766. (A-14

Delayed Annexation Proves Beneficial

Developments at the Arlington Heights village board meeting Monday night indicated the board had acted judiciously at a previous meeting May 14 when it delayed action on an involuntary annexation of a two-acre parcel.

Until Trustee Norval Stephens objected, the board had been prepared to annex the parcel at 1011 W. Palatine Road so it could exercise greater control over the area.

The board wanted control so it could clear up what Hasbrook Civic Association had described as an undesirable situation.

THE BOARD delayed action, however, until the owner of the land, Elmer Luhrsen, could be notified and have an opportunity to present his side of the case, which he did Monday night.

He said he has lived on the land a number of years in harmony with his neighbors, and the complaints evidently stemmed from the use he was making of the several farm buildings on the property.

He said a young motorcycle enthusiast rents part of a large barn to repair his racing bikes, and the other part is used to store two boats. Another building is used to store salt for water softeners. Luhrsen said the income he gets from this is needed in order for him to keep his homesite.

HAROLD (RED) Best, village building superintendent, told the board he had personally inspected the property and found it substantially as Luhrsen described it. He said the yard was clean and well-kept, the house and barn in good physical shape for their age.

Several Hasbrook residents attending the meeting because of another matter testified they had no complaints against the Luhrsens except that sometimes at night there was undue noise from motorcycles.

Both Lushsen and his wife said they had told their renter not to have his friends visit him with their motorcycles. Mrs. Luhrsen said also that many motorcycles travel Palatine Road and most of them are not on their way to the Luhrsen property.

Trustee William Sauer appeared irked, as did some of the other trustees, that the reasons previously cited as necessitating annexation and control of the area were not brought up Monday night, and indeed, did not appear founded on fact.

This was in reference to use of one of the buildings as a residence. Luhrsen said that last year one of the buildings was used as a residence by a Mexican family, but that the family came back for only two or three weeks this year and then left—"frightened away by the civic association." He said he did not intend to rent the building out as a residence again.

AS FOR annexation to the village, Luhrsen said he was hesitant because he was afraid the higher taxes would cause him to lose his property, especially if he was forced to discontinue present usage of the buildings.

Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel said that if the usage of the property presently is legal under the 1959 county ordinance, then he could legally continue using them the same way if annexed to the village.

Luhrsen's neighbors testified in his behalf, and said they did not believe there were any differences which could not be settled on a friendly, informal basis.

A committee of the board was appointed to meet with Luhrsen and his Hasbrook neighbors to talk things over. The committee will report back to the village board at its second meeting in June. (A

New Church Building Set

PROPOSED NEW CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Construction on a new $100,000 church building in Arlington Heights will begin this summer, it was announced this week.

The structure, to be built at Kirchoff Road and S. Kennicott, will house the Arlington Heights Congregational Church. The church was started here three years ago and has a membership of 160 adults and 170 children.

The Rev. W. Rowland Koch is pastor of the church and Carl T Crumrine of Arlington Heights is chairman of the building committee. Walter Kroeber, with offices at 310 S. State Road, Arlington Heights, is the architect for the project, which will be completed early in 1963.

THE ARLINGTON Heights Congregational Church currently holds services at South Junior High School.

The new sanctuary will comfortably seat 170 worshippers. In addition to the sanctuary, the first unit will provide seven classrooms, a fellowship hall and a pastor's office.

The building will have several-level interest, conforming to the rolling site. It is designed with peaked roof lines and combines stone and brick in a contemporary, ecclesiastical architecture using stained glass windows on the two sides where entrances are located.

THESE WINDOWS are flanked by white, stone columns. The main entranceway will be covered. A slender church spire will surmount the building, and a sculptured cross will divide the perpendicular windows.

The sanctuary will have a vaulted ceiling, with an entire wall of exposed stone as a setting for the stained glass.

The church's four-acre site will be completely landscaped, and a circular drive will permit ease of access. Future expansion is planned in several construction phases. (A

Zoning Ordinances Pave Way for Park Manor Work

Four zoning ordinances were approved Monday night by the Arlington Heights village board, paving the way for implementation of the proposed plan to improve Park Manor subdivision in southeast Arlington Heights.

One of the ordinances creates a B-4 special service zoning for such businesses as radio repair shops, small offices, sheet metal shops and other commercial enterprises which do not require much traffic, but which are not permitted in B-2 areas.

THE NEXT ordinance rezoned buffer area along the west of from Central Road to Davis Street, and small areas on Central and Davis, from R-3 to B-4.

The third ordinance rezoned a buffe rarea along the west of this B-4 area from R-3 to R-5 multiple dwelling.

The fourth ordinance rezoned a small area fronting on Central and bounded on the east and west by Cleveland and Dryden from R-3 single family residential to B-1 limited retail. This ordinance had been amended to substitute B-1 for the original B-2 general retail.

One other change was made in the plan as presented, this to comply with a request from some of the property owners on Dryden Street near Davis.

THE SMALL triangular parcel bounded by Grove, Dryden and Davis originally was slated to be rezoned from R-3 to R-5 to permit construction of apartment houses.

The objectors said this type of construction would change the nature of the area to the detriment of other nearby property. They admitted this parcel was not prime single family property, but maintained that it has single family homes all around it and it could be utilized for less expensive single family homes.

THE BOARD, as well as the largest property holder in Park Manor, said this triangle had presented a problem when the Park Manor redevelopment plan had been drawn up, and they had designated it R-5 in the hopes this would facilitate its development.

Because of the objections presented Monday night, however, the board amended the plan to leave this parcel zoned R-3. (A

Teen Keeps Line of Communication Open

The parents of a teen-ager had for convenience a second telephone installed in her bedroom.

Although she appreciated the thoughtfulness, she continued to use the family phone as before.

One night after a long telephone conversation with a school friend, her father protested. "Why," he asked, "didn't she use her own phone?"

The daughter's answer was quick. "Why," she explained, "if I use my phone and someone tried to call me, the line would be busy."

Should Answer Phone Promptly

When your telephone rings, it's a good idea to answer promptly. Otherwise your caller may hang up and you may miss an important call.

THE TEEVEE CORNER

By LYN CONNELLY

SURELY everyone must have to take 10 minutes off their busy schedule to weep copiously over the sad plight of lovely Liz Taylor . . . Here is a poor little rich girl with loads of talent, startling beauty and wealth and for the first time in her last three love affairs she has met a man who is not willing to throw over everything to be her temporary husband . . . This will no doubt prove to be the greatest hurt she has ever suffered and we can't help but wonder if she has any inkling now how some of the wives felt whose homes she so calmly and joyously broke up.

We don't know if Richard Burton rejected gorgeous Liz strictly because he is a good family man but since he has a level head we would say one look at what happened to Eddie Fisher may have had some influence on his decision, too . . . At the time Eddie left Debbie for Liz he was still on the top of the heap . . . Then he gave up all for this dark-haired beauty and soon found himself being no more than a valet . . . someone to hold her hand while she was ill or talk to when she was bored . . . No man who is half a man can long endure this type of life . . . Burton is not dumb . . . And Eddie must feel like a slave just given his freedom.

FOR BETTER HEALTH

By C. A. DEAN, M.D.

MEDITORIAL: Increasing mechanization of the environment in which we live has exposed us to many injuries causing loss of extremities. Previously amputations were a problem almost exclusively limited to adults and associated with war, vascular disease, diabetes and major industrial accidents. Now, however, we are seeing more in the younger age groups. A recent report on amputations in children points this out very clearly and offers some suggestions as to prevention.

The study reported on 203 amputations, all resulting from various types of trauma (injury). Car accidents, gunshots, explosions and power tools produced most of the injuries.

Power tools, as you might suspect, accounted for a large number of upper and lower extremity amputations. The tools involved included such things as power lawn mowers, buzz saws, corn shredders and hay mowers. The average age of the children was 11. This suggests that children are too young when first permitted to do chores with the power equipment, especially on a farm. They are not able to use good judgement, in most cases, and thus lay themselves open for injuries.

A loss of hand, foot, arm or leg is a dear price for any child, or adult for that matter, to pay for using equipment he knows little or nothing about. Parents must always be alert to potential hazards and protect children from these needless accidents. Whenever a child is allowed to use power tools, you must be sure he is capable enough to handle them. He must also be old enough to have some common sense and judgement in order to react properly to any emergency situation.

"I REMEMBER" BY The Old Timers

From Agnes Miedel, Scottsdale, Penna.: "I remember when one of us young 'uns got sick, Pa would hitch up the old gray mare and go for the ole fashioned country doctor with his high top shoes, vest and striped silk shirt.

The doctor would cut Johnnie's hair, give him a teaspoon of Castor Oil for his green apple bellyache and bandage his sore toe. The doctor would sit up all night until the castor oil took effect. His Pay; a dozen of eggs. Our chickens, uneducated, didn't lay grade A. B. and C eggs—just plain brown and white eggs.

Today, if you have a broken toe nail, you can go to an M.D. who directs you to a "specialist" in a far away city, thirty days notification. He informs you he doesn't want a blow by blow description of your symptoms or feelings, just your calling card (insurance coverage). An X-ray is necessary to determine the before-and-after position of the nail to see if Mr-In-Between, nervousness or hypertension is present.

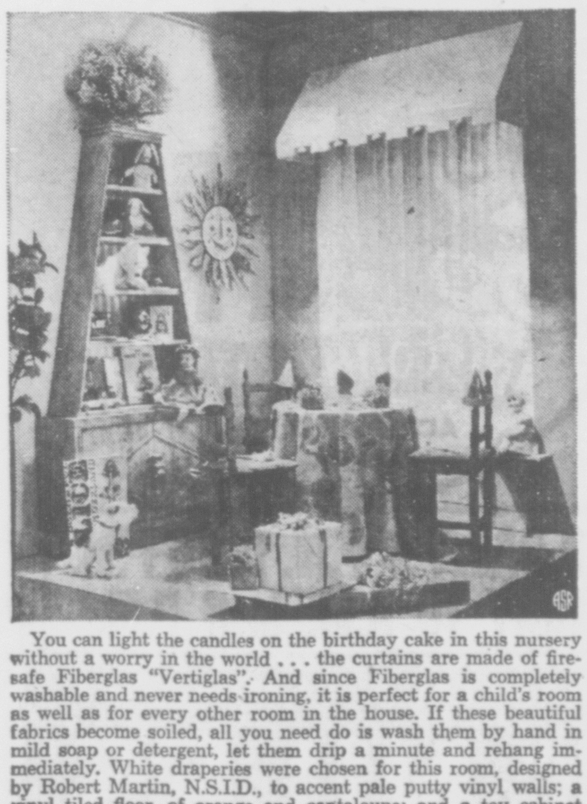
From An Old Timer, Louisville, Kentucky: "I can remember how pleasant life used to be before we were blessed with so many 'modern conveniences.' Folks were not in so much of a hurry then.

Life revolved around the river and the coming and going of steamboats was quite an event. Like everything else, the pace on the river has quickened—only today no one pays much attention to the parade of boats.

(Send contributions to this column to The Old Timer, Community Press Service, Box 30, Frankfort, Kentucky.)



You can light the candles on the birthday cake in this nursery without a worry in the world . . . the curtains are made of fire-safe Fiberglas "Vertiglas". And since Fiberglas is completely washable and never needs ironing, it is perfect for a child's room as well as for every other room in the house. If these beautiful fabrics become soiled, all you need do is wash them by hand in mild soap or detergent, let them drip a minute and rehang immediately. White draperies were chosen for this room, designed by Robert Martin, N.S.I.D., to accent pale putty vinyl walls; a vinyl tiled floor, of orange and cantaloupe; and a toy cabinet striped inside with orange and white. The white wood awning adds a carnival touch.

Your Newspaper Is YOUR SHOPPING GUIDE

In newspapers the news of better products and services is as important to today's modern family as that of current events or features concerning home and family, food and fashion, hobbies and health.

For newspapers are the medium by which most people shop. No other medium supplies the variety and detail of advertising by which one may compare prices and benefits and choose the comforts and conveniences that make for a full living standard.

There's much significance in this for local advertisers. For only in the newspaper can people of all age and income groups find the information and inspiration so necessary for good citizenship and for the enjoyment of a better way of life.

And because newspapers gain their friendship and regular readership, newspaper advertisers are provided the most productive medium of communication with customers.

Board Members Oversee Two 'Schoolyard' Constructions

Just as the old-fashioned little one-room schoolhouses have grown into gleaming complex structures of steel and glass, so have the dusty schoolyards of years ago turned into massive landscaped and paved settings.

This week school board officials of Arlington-Prospect District 214 had not one, but two, "schoolyards" under consideration.

Architects for both the new Wheeling-area high school (approved by voters Saturday) and for Forest View High School, now under construction, were present at the school board meeting Monday.

Berger - Kelley - Unteed Associates, Wheeling High architects, presented preliminary plans for development of the 38-acre site at Hintz and Elmhurst Roads. The plans were presented for study, school officials pointed out. Since construction of the building is not yet started major changes from the first site-development designs could be expected, they said.

SAMUELSON AND Sandquist, architects for Forest View High, had detailed final plans for the site development of the 2,500 - student school scheduled to open this September.

Total site development cost at Forest View has been estimated at $326,000. This includes $37,500 as the school's share of cost in bringing Arlington Village water to the site as well as $50,000 set aside for storm sewer drainage and $36,620 for sanitary sewers.

Bids for Forest View site development are due June 11.

Action on bids for a sanitary sewer line to the school site is expected at the Arlington Village Board meeting January 4. The sanitary sewer line would be a village project, with the school district paying a portion of the total cost. Bids for the line were taken on two alternate routes.

Included in the site development plan are parking lots, sidewalks, tennis courts, softball diamonds, baseball fields, football practice field, track and spectator football field. This would include bleacher seating for 2,410.

BIDS ARE to be taken on the total site development as well as on various separate items. This would permit development of as much of the total site development project as funds allow.

Several alternate bids are included. Bids for the track will be for both cinder and grass-tex base. Sprinkling water lines are to be run from both the shallow well dug at the site during construction and from the village water lines in the event the shallow well gives out. Guaranteed seeding (estimated at 20 cents a square yard) and sod (estimated at $1 a square yard) bids are to be taken on portions of the athletic fields. Sod is to be considered to make the fields usable this fall.

School officials do not expect football facilities to be available this fall. The four Forest View "home games" will be played at either Arlington or Prospect football fields. Suggestions have been made that spectator football fields be eliminated from both new schools at a considerable saving of funds. These fields are not used for practice but for actual competition. This means used a total of four times each year for the four regular "home" games of each school. It was pointed out spectator football facilities of Arlington and Prospect could be utilized by Forest View and Wheeling for "home" games on dates when the Arlington and Prospect teams had "visiting" games.

MAJOR CHANGE in the Forest View site development plan as approved Monday from preliminary versions was a broad, shallow swale to handle surface water drainage. This huge "L" shaped ground depression, which will be grassed and appear as part of the athletic fields, bisects the property starting from the middle of the north property line and ending in the middle of the south property line.

The storm-water drain swale was adopted when year-long negotiations on construction of storm drainage lines with local developers and property owners could not be completed before action was needed to prepare the school for opening.

The John Wrath family enjoyed a day of swimming as guests of John's sister and her husband, John and Shirley Sweazey of Cary. (AM

Y-Indian Guides Plan Induction in Woods

One of the most colorful Indian ceremonies to be held in the northwest suburbs since the days of the red men themselves will take place at Northwestern Woods Forest Preserve Friday, May 25, at 7:30 p.m. It will be sponsored by the Big Waters Nation of Y-Indian Guides affiliated with Northwest Suburban YMCA.

The ceremony, official induction rites for nearly 400 fathers and sons of the 27 tribes of the Big Waters Nation, is expected to draw squaws and palefaces from miles around.

NATIONS CHIEFS from several other YMCAs in the area will be representing their big and little braves and will bring the wisdom of the four winds as they take part.

The "Big Chief" (General Secretary) of the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago, L. L. McClow, will pronounce the official words of induction.

THE MAYORS of Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights will be in attendance to lead fathers and sons from their towns before the Council Fire.

As the ceremony proceeds, fathers and sons will file side by side past the fire as they sacrifice selfishness and impatience and promise to be "pals forever." The will repeat the purpose of Y-Indian Guides, which is "to foster companionship of father and son." (AM

To Exhibit In Outdoor Art Fair

Orville G. Bolte, of 1314 W. Euclid St., Arlington Heights, will be among some 250 Chicagoland painters, sculptors and craftsmen exhibiting works at the annual 57th Street Outdoor Art Fair to be held in Hyde Park, Chicago, on June 2 and 3.

Visited annually by more than 30,000 persons, the fair's sole purpose is to aid and encourage Chicago's artists. All proceeds from sales go directly to the artist, and the fair is financed by the registration fee of $6. Volunteer workers keep expenses to a minimum.

THE FAIR grounds are in Hyde Park on Chicago's south side on 57th Street between Kimbark and Kenwood avenues, and in and along the Ray School grounds. Hours for the Saturday and Sunday exhibit are from noon until dark.

The fair is the oldest outdoor art fair in continuous existance in Chicago. (A

Q. When a fingerbowl is part of a formal dinner, does one put both hands in at the same time?

A. Never. Dip just the FINGERS of one hand at a time into the bowl.

Red Craig.

Trying out their new camping trailers at Timber Lakes, south of Antioch, were two Salem Street families. The Deane Shumates and the Henry Inselbergers enjoyed a weekend of camping out. For the Inselbergers, it was a trial run, as they'll be attending the Seattle World's Fair later.

FROM SHERWOOD

Kristin and Betsy Shuman were overnight guests at the Patrick Rohan home, 1114 Patton, recently. The Shuman girls visited their cousin, Mrs. Susan Shew in Des Plaines, for Mother's Day and spent the night, and eagerly welcomed their mother, Mrs. Nicholas Suman, home to 1001 W. Clarendon Road, when she returned with their baby brother, Mark Nicholas. (A

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM RIDGE PARK

Several Ridge Park couples enjoyed the 100 Club dance, held Saturday at the Itasca Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bellito, 833 N. Patton, entertained at a cocktail party before the dance, welcoming the Robert Cummings, Richard Ekstrands, Ed Elstees, Joe Heinzs, George Krilcics, Richard Linds, Howard Michelsons, Ed Ojas, Clem O'Neils, Robert Walkers and the Jay Shaffers.

Birthday congratulations go to Jimmy Ronayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ronayne, 1011 N. Kennicott, who celebrated his second birthday Friday by welcoming his aunt, Mrs. Joe Aiu of Villa Park. Best wishes and hopes go to the Ronayne baby, 3-month-old Danny, scheduled for surgery this weekend.

MR. AND MRS. Gene Schlickman spent Saturday in Rockford, attending a reception for the Augustinian Fathers. Sunday they drove to the family cottage at Delavan, Wis.

Sunday was a day to remember for the J. H. Niell family, 630 N. Salem. Delores and Jay both are active in the First Baptist Church of Arlington Heights. Jay had helped with the building of the new church, and the family proudly attended dedication services. Joining them afterwards for a small family party were Delores' sister, Mrs. Evelyn Monson, and son, Scott, and sister-in-law Mrs. Betty Nelson and daughters, Valerie and Roberta, all of Chicago.

Mary Alice Wojtkiewicz was one year old Sunday. Joining her parents, the George P. Wojtkiewiczes, at 920 N. Ridge for buffet supper were her godparents, Joan and James Hahn and family, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Petersen, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Leipzig and uncle, Kenneth Rhode and family, all of Chicago. Mary Alice especially enjoyed the rosebuds on her birthday cake.

NEW NEIGHBORS in Ridge Park are the Dennis Anderson family at 943 N. Kennicott. They moved there recently from Chicago. They have a son, David, 11 months old. David leaves this week to visit grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Anderson, of Fort Atkinson, Wis., and on his return will welcome a new baby brother or sister.

"What a wonderful weekend!" exclaims Mrs. George Lurtz, 909 W. Patton. Recently the Lurtzes completed their new summer home at Three Lakes, Wis., and spent last weekend fishing, boating and swimming. Their guests were Sylvia and

To Discuss Sign Issue With C. of C.

Before the next meeting of the Arlington Heights village board on June 4, Trustee Sam Witt will meet with Chamber of Commerce board members to further discuss village sign ordinance fees, then submit a report of his findings to the village board at its next meeting.

Many downtown merchants had expressed dissatisfaction with what they considered unfair fees for inspection and regulation of signs, and with certain other provisions of the ordinance.

Witt said Monday night at a board meeting that he has already met with the Chamber board of directors once but the matter requires further examination before submission of a recommendation. (A

Northwest Residents Aid Family of 'Hero' Fireman

Residents of Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine, and Buffalo Grove in the cast and crew of "October Festival" will be helping the widow and three small children of a heroic fireman when the Des Plaines Theatre Guild drama is presented in two extra benefit performances for the Robert Coombs Memorial Fund at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday nights at Rand Park.

Coombs, 34, a member of the Des Plaines fire department for six years, died April 26, while helping rescue two construction workers from a sewer filled with methane gas on River Road near Rand Road.

ONE OF THE workers saved by Coombs, Joseph Miller, resides in Palatine.

Proceeds from the $2.50 admissions of "October Festival" tomorrow and Saturday will go to the Coombs fund, and if all tickets are sold an estimated $1,000 can be turned over to the fund for the family of the fireman hero, according to Joseph McDermott, 509 N. Maple, Mount Prospect, stage manager for the Guild drama.

McDermott's wife, Jacqueline, plays a leading role in "October Festival." Another Mount Prospect resident featured in the play's cast is Mrs. Mary Jane Bentley, 910 S. Ioka.

The romantic lead in the drama is portrayed by Tony Good, 89 Mohawk Trail, Buffalo Grove.

MR. AND MRS. Richard Hoyt, 807 S. See-Gwun, Mount Prospect, designed the stage set for "October Festival." James Beall, 211 Winston Drive, Palatine, is lighting and sound technician, and Mrs. Beall is chairman of the properties committee.

Mrs. Jeannine Jakala, 615 N. Elmhurst, Mount Prospect, and Mrs. Lorraine Alonso, 2003 N. Fernandez Place, Arlington Heights, are on the wardrobe committee.

Tickets for the special benefit performances of "October Festival" may be obtained by calling Mrs. John Clark, VA 4-8019. They will also be available at the door both nights.

Beware 'Chain List' Selling: Atty. Gen.

Illinois Attorney General William G. Clark warned the public to "beware of sales gyps using a gimmick that the housewife will receive a certain product 'practically free' or 'without cost'."

Clark stated that his Bureau of Consumer Fraud had received many complaints concerning this type of referral selling, and that merchandise sold in this manner includes cameras, cleaning and vacuum appliances, water softeners and kitchen sets.

Clark made these remarks at the Beverly Country Club, Friday, May 18, where he was the principal speaker before the second annual dinner for lawyers given by the Beverly Bank. He was invited to speak by R. W. Anderson, assistant vice president of Beverly Bank.

CLARK WENT on to explain that the sales gyps offer the camera or water softener and in turn ask the housewife to supply a list of ten or twenty names of friends who will be called on by the salesman. The salesman then states that the housewife will be reimbursed $10 to $25 for each subsequent sale that he is able to make from the list supplied.

Eventually, the housewife is led to believe that she will not only get the product free, but in addition she may expect to wind up making a profit from her referrals.

"THE SAD and difficult part of this transaction is that before the caller has departed he has an installment contract which is fully enforcible in a court of law, signed by the wife, purchasing something that she probably does not need in the first place. The price of the product is often highly inflated, and in almost all cases the housewife is never or only partially paid for any sales made to her friends.

"This contract is, almost without exception, negotiated or sold to a finance company before the sun goes down. A further problem," Clark stated, "arises when the housewife or her husband are subjected to the ire of their friends when they are similarly gypped."

'Y' to Teach Handicapped To Swim

Northwest Suburban YMCA announced this week that it will conduct swimming classes for handicapped youngsters of any age, beginning Wednesday morning, June 13, and continuing for a period of six weeks.

Trained YMCA instructors will direct the course with one volunteer adult working with each child. All personnel, whether volunteer or staff, have achieved their certification for instructing either in the YMCA or Red Cross swimming programs.

PARENTS who are interested in having their youngsters participate in such a course should call the YMCA at CYpress 6-3376.

An adult must accompany the youngster to the class and aid in dressing in the locker room. Doctor's approval for participation is a condition for enrollment. Anyone in the northwest suburban communities is wel-

"THE NEVERSLEEP NATIONAL BANK"

Recently one of our customers, in discussing our "60 Hour Per Week" program of service, jokingly called us the "Neversleep National Bank."

Well, we find we like the name for we do keep longer customer hours than any other bank in the metropolitan area and our hours would be longer still if we thought it would further increase our service to our customers. Feel free to call us the "Neversleep National Bank" if you wish!

Christian Church Vacation Class Set

Beginning June 18, the Christian Church of Arlington Heights will hold a Vacation Church School in Wilson School, near the intersection of State and Palatine roads.

The school will meet every weekday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. The session will run from June 18 through June 29.

THERE WILL BE classes for children ranging in age from those who have just completed public school kindergarten, to those who have just completed fourth grade.

Interdenominational materials will be used in the school. The program includes study, worship, fellowship, service and recreation, all in an informal atmosphere.

A REGISTRATION fee of $1.50 per child will be charged. Parents desiring to register their children should telephone Mrs. Pat Freeman, CL 9-2619.

The Christian Church of Arlington Heights is meeting in Miner Junior High School, at Miner and Dryden. In a few weeks, it will begin construction on a new church building to be located at the corner of Thomas and Mitchell, adjacent to Hasbrook subdivision. (A

Lola Dee Set For Prom Fete

LOLA DEE

The line up of entertainers for Prospect High School's After-the-Prom party has been completed with the addition of Lola Dee, Mercury recording star. Miss Dee joins Johnny Bachemin, dancing star; Joe Sodja, electric guitarist formerly featured with Fred Waring's group and comic Stanley Burns.

These nationally known stars will headline two shows to be presented at the "Midnight in Paris" party to be held Tuesday, May 29 in the Mount Prospect Country Club. Music for dancing and listening will be furnished by Bert Rose and his orchestra and Dean Conner's band.

THE THEME for this year's affair is a Paris setting with the clubhouse and outside grounds, including a huge tent, decorated to represent some of Paris's most celebrated places.

Mrs. Edward Bertoglio, ticket chairman for the parent's After the Prom committee, reports a brisk sale of tickets during the first three days of selling. Tickets at $15 per couple are on sale at Prospect High School on the days that prom tickets are being distributed. Mrs. Bertoglio reminds students that ticket application forms, signed by parents of both boy and girl guests, must be returned when purchasing tickets. (ACM

Gas Station Zoning Approved by County

Rezoning of ¾ of an acre of land located at the southeast corner of Busse Road and Golf Road in Elk Grove Township has been approved by the Cook County Board of Commissioners to allow construction of a service station.

The County Zoning Board of Appeals, which recommended passage, noted that the villages of Mount Prospect, Elk Grove, Arlington Heights and the city of Des Plaines were notified of a public hearing on the matter and did not offer objections to it.

THE PROPERTY was rezoned from R-4 single family residence district (10,000 square feet) to B-2 restricted service district.

The rezoning request was filed by Atty. Robert E. Haskins, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago, for the Pioneer Trust & Savings Bank, 4000 W. North Ave., Chicago, which holds the property in trust.

Evidence at a public hearing revealed that at all four corners of this intersection there are gas stations in operation. The one in use on the property in question was rezoned to a B-1 classification under the old 1940 county zoning ordinance and constitutes a legal non-conforming use, the zoning board related. The property was rezoned to R-4 single family residence district under the comprehensive amendment to the zoning ordinance passed in 1960, the board added. (ACM

Republican Women To See 'Abolition'

The controversial film, "Operation Abolition," will be presented as part of the program of the Wheeling Township Republican Women's Club, Thursday, May 24.

The meeting will be held in the community room of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan, and the public is invited. The business portion of the meeting will begin at 8 p.m.

Produced for the House Committee on Un-American Activities, "Operation Abolition" includes shots of demonstrations in San Francisco when the Committee held hearings there.

THE SPEAKER will be Harold C. Lewis of Deerfield, who has recently conducted seminars on Communism at Lake Forest College and at the Ekco-Alcoa plant in Wheeling. The Ekco-Alcoa series was co-sponsored by the union and the management of the plant.

Lewis' background includes 30 years of study on the theory, strategy, and tactics of Communism and its adherents. He served in the Department of the Interior under the late Harold Ickes, and is presently an executive of a Chicago brokerage firm.

The membership chairman of the group is Mrs. Bert Jordan. Anyone interested may call her at CL 9-3089. (ACM

Republican Advisors Are Named

Members of the Republican Advisory Staff in Wheeling Township, as announced last week by Thomas J. Houser, township committeeman, include the following representatives of the Village of Wheeling:

Wayland Buchholz, 95 E. Meadowbrook Lane; Thomas Kendall, 375 S. Sunset Lane; A. R. McIntyre, 283 S. Wille St., and Charles Mihalek, 309 S. Meadowbrook Lane.

OTHER members are Mrs. William Heinrich, 1101 N. Walnut, Arlington Heights, secretary; Thomas Hanlon, 610 Wilshire Lane, Arlington Heights, general counsel, and William Heinrich, 1101 N. Walnut, Arlington Heights, treasurer.

The advisory staff, instituted for the first time in Wheeling Township, is described by Houser as a "bold experiment" in the conduct of a national political party at the township level. (ACM

Rummage Sale Slated by PTAs

A spring rummage sale will be held in the Feehanville School, Friday, May 25, from 7 to 9 p.m. The sale is sponsored jointly by the Feehanville and Euclid PTAs.

Feehanville School is located at 1400 E. Foundry Road, east of Hwy. 83 and north of Central Road. (ACM

County OKs Zoning Of Building Firm

The Cook County Board of Commissioners has approved rezoning of some 1¼ acres of land located on the southwest side of Rand Road northwest of the intersection of Golf Road for improving a construction firm's offices and yards.

Rezoning of the property from B-4 general service district to B-5 general commercial district will permit the Corbetta Construction Co. of New York to add 15 offices to its Midwest headquarters at the site.

THE APPLICATION was filed by Burnham Corp. of Des Plaines, which submitted a contract at a public hearing conducted by the County Zoning Board of Appeals to show a sale would be executed if the property were rezoned.

The zoning board, which recommended approval of the rezoning, noted the villages of Mount Prospect and Des Plaines had been notified and offered no objections.

The Corbetta firm is now finishing the Missile Master facilities at Arlington Heights, which is the central directing facilities of the U.S. Army Engineers, coordinating all Nike stations.

THE CONSTRUCTION company has also built the 1,000-man barracks in the Great Lakes Naval Training School, and recently finished a laboratory of the Atomic Energy Commission at Argonne.

The firm intends to use offices of the Burnham Corp. that are presently located on the property, the zoning board pointed out. (ACM

Notice of Public Hearing

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a Public Hearing will be held before the Planning Commission of the Village of Wheeling on a Petition to amend the official plan of the Village of Wheeling at 8 P.M. on June 14th, 1962, at the Village Hall, Wheeling, Illinois.

The property involved consists of approximately 10.59 acres bounded on the north by Dundee Road and on the east by the Subdivision known as Dunhurst Unit No. 4, and on the west by the Subdivision known as Hollywood Ridge Unit No. 2, and legally described as

The North 601.73 Feet (as measured along the West Line of the East ½ of the Northwest ¼) of the West 630.00 Feet of the East Half (E½) of the Northwest Quarter (NW¼) of Section 10, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian.

Also the West 630.00 Feet (as measured along the South Line of the SW¼) of that part of the Southwest Quarter (SW¼) of Section 3, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian lying south of the original Centerline of Dundee Road and East of the West Line of the East Half (E½) of said Section 10 produced North of the Centerline of Dundee Road and lying West of the Knittle Farm Subdivision, all in Cook County, Illinois.

The amendment as proposed seeks to rezone the Southerly 314 feet as "R2" Residence District and the Northerly balance fronting on Dundee Road as "B1" Business District.

All persons interested should attend and will be given an opportunity to be heard.

Ordinance No. 0-27-62

AN AMENDMENT TO THE BUILDING CODE

BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Palatine, Cook County, Illinois, that:

SECTION 1: The Building Code of Palatine as amended, is hereby further amended, by adding to Article IV the following sections:

Section 4.05 Connection to Public Sanitary Sewers

a. Permissible Connections

Where a building is connected to separate sanitary sewers, all sewage originating within the building shall be discharged therein. It is expressly prohibited to discharge drainage from downspouts, window wells, building footing drain tile, outside area drains, or from any other source of storm water whatever into sanitary sewers.

b. Backwater Protection

Where a building is constructed or reconstructed so that the elevation of the basement floor, garage floor, crawl space, or other below grade space is below the top of the nearest downstream manhole in the sanitary sewer, then the following methods shall be used to provide backwater protection for said building and to eliminate discharge of drainage into the sanitary sewer system:

1. All sewage originating below grade shall be collected into a suitable ejector and discharged by automatic equipment into an overhead gravity sewer.

2. All drainage originating from building footing drain tiles, window wells, or outside area drains shall be collected into a separate sump and discharged by automatic pumping equipment into a storm sewer. Where no storm sewer is available, the discharge of the pump shall be conducted to an outside splash block or hard surface.

Section 4.06 Connection to Combined Storm and Sanitary Sewers

A. Permissible Connections

Where a building is to be connected to a combined sewer, all sewage originating within the building shall be discharged therein. Drainge from building drain tile, window wells, and area drains may be discharged into a combined sewer. The direct discharge of roof drainage is specifically excluded from connection to combined sewers.

B. Backwater Protection

Where a building is constructed or reconstructed so that the elevation of the basement floor or of the crawl space is below the top of the nearest downstream manhole on the combined sewer, all sewage and drainage originating below grade shall be collected in a suitable sump or ejector and shall be discharged by automatic equipment into an overhead gravity sewer.

Section 4.07 Roof Water Discharge

A. All rain water runoff from all buildings or structure roofs shall be collected by an adequate system of gutters or drain pipes which discharge into downspouts. Downspouts shall be brought to a grade not higher than 12 inches above the ground surface on an outside building wall and shall be discharged onto a splash block of concrete or other hard surface material.

B. Direct connection of downspouts to storm sewers may be made where the storm sewers are deemed adequate by the Village Board.

C. Storm water run-off from roofs shall not be drained in any way into the plumbing system of the building, nor shall any connection be arranged so as to drain storm water directly into public sanitary or combined sewer without first being discharged onto the ground. If surface conditions are such that the discharge of storm water upon the surface will cause injurious flooding, a temporary connection of storm water drainage to the sewer service may be authorized by the President and Board of Trustees until separate drainage for such storm water can be provided.

D. It shall be incumbent on the building contractor to provide proper site grading and drainage so that such roof runoff discharge does not pond on the building site or on other properties and that such drainage is conducted to the street or area drain.

SECTION 2: That this Ordinance shall take effect and be in full force and effect from and upon its passage, approval and publication as provided by statute.

PASSED: This 14th day of May, 1962.

Summer Classes Start June 25 in Arlington

Classes for the summer program of remedial and enrichment classes in public schools in District 25, Arlington Heights, will begin June 25, it was announced this week by Ralph E. Clabaugh, district superintendent.

The classes will be held in the morning at Park School and South Junior High School. All programs will be for four weeks except music which will be either four or six weeks.

Remedial classes will be offered in reading, arithmetic, and language skills. Each class will meet one hour daily and be limited to four pupils. A fee of $30 for the four-week period will be charged for each pupil, payable in advance.

IN THE enrichment program, classes in science, art and instrumental music will be offered to all pupils presently enrolled in grades three through eight.

Creative writing will be available to pupils presently enrolled in grades four through eight, and creative dramatics to pupils presently enrolled in grades one through eight.

Classes in the enrichment program will be limited to 12 for science, 15 for creative writing and 20 for creative dramatics and art. Students enrolling in instrumental music will be given indivudual lessons and also participate in small group instruction twice each week.

COST FOR the four-week sessions for all enrichment classes except instrumental music is $15. A fee of $20 will be charged for instrumental students enrolling in the four-week course, and $27 for the six-week course. Fees are payable at the time of registration.

Mel Kasen and Peter Marti will teach the instrumental classes, and parents are urged to discuss the program with one of these teachers prior to registration. Kasen may be reached at Miner Junior High School and Marti at Wilson School.

REGISTRATION for all classes will be conducted Thursday and Friday, June 7 and 8, and Monday, June 11, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the curriculum office at the Administration Building, 301 W.South St.

Miss Martha Sapp, director of curriculum, who will direct the summer educational program, has charge of registration. (A

Ordinance No. 0-28-62

STORM WATER CONNECTIONS

BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Palatine, Illinois, that:

SECTION 1: From and after the effective date of this ordinance, no downspouts or other roof or surface water drains of any kind may be connected to any combination sewer or sanitary sewer in the Village of Palatine.

SECTION 2: All existing connections to the Village's combination sewers and sanitary sewers of storm water drains or downspouts shall be disconnected on or before June 1, 1963.

SECTION 3: If surface conditions are such that the discharge of storm water upon the surface will cause injurious flooding, a temporary connection of storm water drainage to the sewer service may be authorized by the President and Board of Trustees until separate drainage for such storm water can be provided.

SECTION 4: Any person, firm or corporation violating any provision of this ordinance shall be fined not less than FIVE DOLLARS ($5.00) nor more than ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($100.00) for each offense.

SECTION 5: A separate offense shall be deemed committed on each day during or on which a violation occurs or continues.

SECTION 6: This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication, as provided by law.

PASSED: This 14th day of May, 1962.

AYES: 5; NAYS: 1; ABSENT: 0.

This week's social statistics start with a "launching" luncheon for Mag Corley who, with her family, will be leaving the Terrace soon for the East. Hosted by Barbara Wiederhold, 1322 N. Chicago, guests included Donna Garland, Alice Eisenhuth, Marcy Micek and Shirle Husted.

While husband Geoffrey held down the fort at 1205 N. Illinois with daughters Janette and Barbara, Betty Warner, accompanied by her long time friend Mrs. Janet Meyer of Glenview, recently enjoyed an 8-day holiday in the East. After spending a weekend at Hiram College in Ohio with Mrs. Meyer's daughter, they toured the Amish colony in Lancaster County, Pa. Their next stop was Westchester County, N.Y., where they stayed with Betty's in-laws, the John Warners of Larchmont. In addition to shopping forays in New York City, they also toured the United Nations building.

COFFEE, CAKE AND children were on the agenda when Saralu Callanan, 1329 N. Chicago, hosted a reunion "coffee" for three former classmates from Chicago Wesley Memorial last Wednesday morning. Guests included Mrs. Mimi Pinney, Mrs. Pat Byers and Mrs. Peggy Caldwell, with children.

A birthday dinner was held last Sunday afternoon for Michael, son of Bob and Ellen Wiley, 1329 N. Race, who was 8. Guests included his four sisters and his grandmother, Mrs. Ann Wiley of Elmhurst.

Last Friday night Dick and Pearl Trummer, 1418 Oakton, joined friends from Wheaton, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hoover, to attend a dance at Itasca Country Club.

A joint birthday party was held at 1525 Clarendon last Saturday evening in honor of Steve and Jill, children of Andy and Esther Turner. On hand to help celebrate were their sisters.

Mary and Ray Funk, 1401 Clarendon, entertained Ray's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ferris of Findlay, Ohio, as weekend houseguests.

AN OUTDOOR barbecue was hosted by Lois and Ken Schafer, 1231 N. Chicago, last Thursday in honor of Greg's sixth birthday. Guests included his sister and brothers, in addition to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gibis of Mount Prospect. They were joined later for birthday cake and coffee by Greg's aunt, Mrs. Florence Roeske.

The monthly meeting of the Thursday night bridge club met last week in the home of Winona Duenki, 1245 N. Illinois. Playing members included Hazel Lowell, Judy Zare, Darlene Lichtblau, Aileen Sanberg, Bertha Wilson and Marion Nielsen, who won first prize, with Kay Moustakis placing second.

Another dual birthday party was held Sunday in honor of Ronald and Todd, sons of Ronald and Dolores Kujala, 1223 N. Wilke. Present for the festivities were their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kujala of Elmwood Park and Rex Jennings of Des Plaines, in addition to aunts and uncles, the Robert Hurleys of Des Plaines, the junior John Kujalas of Arlington Heights and Miss Carol Kujala of Elmwood Park.

William and Kay Platte, 1318 N. Race, hosted their monthly card club get-together last Saturday night. Present for pinochle and refreshments were 12 guests.

MARY THERESE, new daughter of Marguerite and James Cates, 1334 N. Yale, was baptized on May 6 in St. Thomas of Villanova in Palatine. Present for the rites was his sister, Cynthia, who is her godmother, and Frank Barrett, her godfather. Following the ceremonies they returned to the Cates' home for a family party.

A clown theme was followed last Friday afternoon at the party celebrating Richard Sorensen's seventh birthday. Hosted by his parents, Betty and Jack, 1406 N. Chicago, guests included Richard's grandmother, Mrs. Louise Sorensen of Detroit, in addition to playmates Bryan Leckie, Skipper Fluhrer, Alan Cech, Michael Lindholm, Alan Moore, Jimmy Kohler, Michael Harrison and David Ness of Hasbrook.

Aileen and Don Sanberg, 1258 N. Yale, recently returned from a week's combination business and pleasure trip to St. Louis. While Don was attending to his duties at the annual convention of the American Society of Lubrication Engineers, Aileen joined the wives on local tours, including the St. Louis Botanical Gardens and the Anheuser-Busch facilities. During the Sanbergs' absence, Aileen's mother, Mrs. Vivian Berg, came down from Minnesota to keep her granddaughters, Lynn and Sheri, company.

Recently Shirley and Ralph Landes, 1251 N. Chicago, entertained as house guests Dick and Katherine Woods of Oklahoma City, whom they knew while they were living in Fort Worth. The Woods made their 3-day stopover en route home from a business convention in Boston.

BRYAN LECKIE, son of Walter and Pierrette, 1429 N. Chicago, celebrated his sixth birthday with a theatre party last Saturday afternoon. Guests who enjoyed seeing "Moon Pilot" at the Arlington Theatre, in addition to adjourning to the Leckies' for refreshments and games, included Bryan's brother, Bruce, his cousin, Steven Balow, and playmates, Skipper Fluhrer, Alan Cech, Richard Sorensen and Gary Martin.

Last week was a hectic one for Nancy, daughter of Audrey and Jim Ostler, 1216 Yale. On Tuesday she was guest of honor at a party celebrating her fifth birthday and attended by her brother, Bobby, sister, Kathy, and Timmy Borland, David and Andrea Twilling, Kay Lowell and Mark Anderson. The following day "The Party's Over" meant more than a song title, as Nancy underwent a tonsillectomy in Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines.

Diane and Chuck Moser, 1418 N. Illinois, hosted a family party a week ago Sunday for their latest addition, Richard Allan, who was baptized in St. James that morning by Father Roth. Guests included the godparents, Robert Kane Jr. and Mrs. Loretta Kane, and Richard's grandmothers, Mrs. Davida Murphy and Mrs. Loretta Moser of Chicago. Also present were his uncle, Fred Matthews, and his brothers and sisters.

SATURDAY afternoon a "Barbie Doll" birthday party was held for Kris Ann, daughter of Bob and Joyce Anderson, 1234 N. Yale, who was 7 years old. Guests who brought their "Barbies" to the party and created new hats for them were Emmadene Travers, Jane Giuliani, Janet Pendelton, Claire and Kay Lowell, Paula Twilling and Lynn Sanberg. That evening Kris was a co-celebrant at another party held in Park Forest with the other "Birthday Boy", her uncle, Bob Mahaney, in the Mahaney home. Also included were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Streich and Mrs. Ebba Anderson.

Last Friday Larry Brown, 1408 N. Yale, attended an all day golf outing at the Nordic Hills Country Club given by the Exempters Club.

Cindy, daughter of David and Marlene Pendelton, 1240 N. Yale, celebrated her fourth birthday at a family party in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Modjeske of Prospect Heights. Later, as a special birthday treat, Cindy visited a local Kiddieland. (A

Eastwood Events

A gala afffair at the newly-opened Old Orchard Country Club Saturday night finaled the Eastwood Bridge Tournament for another season. The 57 persons present dined and danced and witnessed the presentation of awards to the high scorers. First place winners were Dorothy and Herman Raasch—24,-590; Delores and Homer Nielsen garnered second prize with 22,910, and Louise and Bob Luedeking took third place with a score of 21,370.

Co-chairmen of the party, June and Bruce McBride and Virginia and Dick Vlach, report that a record number of non-members attended this year's event. Former neighbors, the Bob Burrows, who now live in Plum Grove, joined the group, as did the John Van Veens, Stewart Schultzes, Emil Hanners, Bob Lanes, Norm Johnsons, Herman Mells, George Farrells, Ken Behms and Bob Brinckmanns.

Many cocktail parties set the friendly mood of the evening. The Herman Raasches hosted one; also the Bud Scullys. Mr. and Mrs. John Van Veen and Mr. and Mrs. Leon McKnight were the Scullys' guests, while the McBrides had to forego the fun and see to arrangements at the Country Club.

The Stewart Schultzes and Emil Hanners were co-hosts at another pre-dinner party. The Jack Andersons, Norm Hoyms, Ken Behms, Dick Kozakiewiczes, Norm Esthuses, Dick Vlaches, Bob Brinckmanns and Herman Mells gathered at the Hanner residence for the before-the-party festivities.

BELATED BEST wishes are extended to Bob and Gertrude Kanouse who celebrated their 15th wedding anniversary a week ago Saturday. The Kanouses, along with friends, Rose and Bill Bolash, observed the special day with dinner at Simonini's.

Friends and neighbors are also sending wishes for a speedy recovery to Mrs. John Harty of N. Brighton who was expected home Tuesday from a short stay at Northwest Community Hospital.

Cassandra and Kathleen McBride were confirmed Sunday at St. John's Episcopal Church in Mount Prospect. After the services a cookout in the backyard was held in their honor. Among their guests were the Doug Morrisseys from Lombard and the Harry Johnsons and Bill Hastes of Chicago and Brighton Place neighbors, the John Van Veen family.

THE SEVENTH daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rogers of Lincoln Lane was baptised Sunday in St. James Catholic Church. Toni Lee's godmother is her oldest sister, Diane, and Lee DiAngelo is her godfather. Included in the family get-together after the services were grandparents, Mrs. Thomas Loftus of N. Dryden Ave. and Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien of Chicago.

Virginia Vlach, 725 N. Beverley, has had a busy week handling the seating arrangements for 644 persons at a banquet at the Conrad Hilton Hotel last night (Wednesday). Virginia, who is employed by Bell Savings and Loan Association, was chairman of the program committee for the 13th annual banquet and meeting of the Cook County Council of Insured Saving Associations.

Nina Hoym was among the guests at Poppe's Alpine House in Lake Zurich last Thursday, when the Elks auxiliary held their "Spring Fling" luncheon and program. (A

District 214

Dougan Quits School Board

Kenneth E. Dougan, 1103 E. Euclid, Arlington Heights, Monday night resigned as a member of High School District 214's board of education after 10 years of service on the board.

The board is expected to appoint a replacement for the remaining 10 months of his term.

In a letter to the board, Dougan indicated that he had wanted to "retire" for several years and felt that "this is an opportune time."

"We have a reorganized and rejuvenated board with vigorous officers and excellent new members," Dougan said. "I shall miss the pleasant and stimulating association with board members, the administrators and the public who have lent so much support to our program, but I am looking forward to having more time at home and the opportunity to develop other interests," he explained.

DOUGAN SAID his years on the board, which began in 1952, had brought him much satisfaction, particularly "the development of our district from what is today only a part of Arlington High School to what will soon be a system of four high schools serving all parts of the broader community."

"There is even greater satisfaction," he continued, "in that this development has been not just a 'numbers game,' but has been accompanied by steady improvement in curriculum, in teaching, in special services, and in administration."

KENNETH E. DOUGAN

HE ADDED that he felt Saturday's bond issue vote indicated a high degree of public confidence in the schools and in the board of education.

With the exception of a couple of months, Dougan served on the board from April, 1952, until Monday night. He was for two years the board's president and the "oldest" member in years of service.

Area Scouts Holding Camporee on Weekend

Using "Daniel Boone Days" as their theme, Boy Scouts of the Northwest Suburban Council's Blackhawk District this weekend will hold their annual Spring Camporee in Busse Woods Forest Preserve.

Almost 600 Scouts and adult leaders, representing 28 troops and five posts from Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Buffalo Grove and Elk Grove Village, are expected to attend this year's renewal, according to Ray Krasnesky, 1809 Bonita Avenue, Mount Prospect, general chairman.

The local units will start setting up their tents and camp equipment at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Groves 5, 6 and 7, south of Higgins. The rest of the evening will be spent in getting ready for the busy Saturday schedule.

AT 9 A.M., unit patrols will begin a six-hour series of trail problems designed to measure their skills and resourcefulness in meeting the challenges of pioneer living.

There will be tests involving measurement, use of the compass, and wildlife, and each patrol will be required to build a fire without matches in order to cook its lunch.

During the day, the Scouts will hold open house for all Cub Scouts in the area. The younger boys of the "Webelos" rank will be welcomed from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. to learn about the activities awaiting them when they switch from blue uniforms to khaki.

HIGHLIGHTS of the camp-out will be the Blackhawk campfire at 8 p.m. Saturday, to which parents and friends of the Scouts are invited. A long-time tradition of this event is the Order of the Arrow ceremony, during which those nominated for membership in this exclusive Scouting group are sought out from the campfire assemblage.

As might be expected, putting on a gathering of this size encompasses a myriad of details, such as arranging for the delivery of fresh milk and the appearance of clergymen to conduct the various Sunday church services.

AMONG THOSE serving on Krasnesky's committee are Gene Crum, 1412 N. Vail, Arlington Heights (registration); Peter P. Rodgers, 102 W. Willow (trail problems), and Edward Marz, 406 N. Schoenbeck, (service), both of Prospect Heights; and Peter R. Weiler, 209 Hi-Lusi (campfire), and Mike Taylor, 200 S. Owen (Order of the Arrow), both of Mount Prospect.

Ralph E. Durrant, 929 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights, is in charge of camping and activities for the Blackhawk District.

Accept Registrations To 6th Summer School

Arlington and Prospect High Schools are now registering students for the district's sixth annual summer school programs.

According to director Millard L. Yount, over 1000 students are expected to enroll this summer.

This year's program is divided into two semesters, the first beginning June 18 and extending to July 13. The second semester begins July 16 and ends August 10.

MAIL REGISTRATIONS will be open through June 8. Thereafter all registrations must be made in office 115 at Prospect and office 111 at Arlington.

Summer courses for incoming freshmen include general mathematics, eighth grade typing (six weeks), social typing (eight weeks), general shop, home arts, Art I, remedial reading, and a first year of a foreign language, providing the student has had some prior instruction in the language.

Other courses in the summer school curriculum, which is aimed at enriching the student's program as well as satisfying graduation requirements, are Art II; notehand-typing; English I, II, and III; theme writing; developmental reading Spanish I and II; Latin I; plane geometry; American studies.

Chemistry, physical science, biology; American history, world history, sociology, world geography, driver education, dance workshop, general business, French I and II, and botany-zoology.

All courses are $16 for a half unit of credit, and $32 for a full unit, except for eighth grade typing, $20; social typing, $25; developmental reading, $25; remedial reading, $25; American studies, $32; dance workshop, $32; and driver education, no fee except driver permit.

THE AMERICAN studies course, a new addition, is an enrichment subject for sophomores, junior, and seniors and is intended for students interested in literature and American history.

The creative theme writing course, a four week offering, is open to students who have completed their sophomore year and is offered to graduates who want to improve their writing before entering college.

The dance workshop, an eight week course, includes basic ballet techniques found in modern dance, advanced dance techniques, and choreographic work.

Behind-the-wheel instruction in driver education is offered to students who have not taken the course during the regular school year.

Brochures describing the summer school offerings and explaining registration procedure are available at both high schools. Classes will be taught at both Arlington and Prospect Highs.

Rowe Named Assistant Principal

1 Col Pic

JOHN ROWE

High School District 214 Board of Education Monday night named John Rowe, a Prospect High School Mathematics teacher, as assistant principal of Arlington High School next year.

Rowe will assist Bruno Waara, who will move up as principal following the resignation of Dr. E. Eugene Oliver.

THE NEW administrator has been in the District for five years, one at Arlington and four at Prospect. Previously he taught at Middleton, Wisconsin; and Northwestern University.

Rowe did his undergraduate work at Stout Institute in Wisconsin and received his Master's degree from Northwestern in 1956.

'Tobie Tyler' Is Coming

All area children are being invited to a benefit showing of Walt Disney's "Tobie Tyler," to be held June 2 in Mark Twain School, Wheeling. Shows will be at 1 and 3 p.m. and proceeds will benefit the City of Hope Research Hospital, Duarte, Calif.

Sponsoring the movie is the Northwest Suburban Chapter of the City of Hope. (S

Area Women Aid Party Plans

Mrs. Paul Everding of Prospect Heights and Mrs. Kenneth Langguth of Mount Prospect are among the women actively planning the Pink Party to be held at noon June 6 in the Grand Ballroom of the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Sponsored by the chapters of the Christian Women's Clubs of America, the affair will feature a luncheon followed by a fashion showing and Clifford Burrows, as guest speaker. Burrows is radio and TV director for the Hour of Decision and the Billy Graham crusades.

Ticket deadline is May 31.

Area Effort First Attempt in Nation

by DORIS McCLELLAN

They said it couldn't happen, but it did, Northwest Suburban YMCA started its own Women's Auxiliary, never accomplished before in any YMCA in the entire country, and has made a whopping success of the venture.

Even while the new 'Y' building was under construction two years ago, so was a Women's Auxiliary being created — ready to function as a right arm to the staff immediately upon opening of the attractive recreation facility in January 1961.

It started as an idea in the mind of Thomas M. Blake, first chairman of the board at Northwest Suburban YMCA. The board showed its approval by asking a group of civic and "Y" minded women from this area to meet and discuss the possibility of an auxiliary.

ENTHUSIASM ran high as the women found a new and exciting venture—that of helping to make this community center an effective outlet for family recreation.

And so the "Y" Auxiliary was born and now prospers, as its members chalk up record upon record for the local YMCA.

Two records are outstanding. A total of 6,250 hours of volunteer service at the "Y" have been accrued by the auxiliary membership of 227. All this since the new building opened a year ago January.

VOLUNTEER Chairman Mrs. William Busse of Mount Prospect can quote this record from memory, since she has welcomed every new member into some type of service work at the "Y." A phone call from Marion has put each woman, according to her preference, into a schedule of regular volunteer hours. Many members are also "on call" for last minute substitute duty.

And there is a great variety of volunteer service from which to choose. The list includes two-hour shifts in the "Y" Snack Bar, guarding in the swimming pool, baby sitting while mothers participate in gym activities, checking women and girls into the locker room, assisting in the health and massage room, helping the office staff with regular details or special mailings, serving refreshments for various "Y" events, writing most of the "Y" press releases, publishing the "Live-Y'er" newspaper and producing the "Y" radio show on the local FM station.

THE SECOND record chalked up is that of completing in one year a pledge made to the "Y" of $5,000, payable over three years. Doing this in one third the time was so surprisingly simple that the auxiliary has doubled this amount for its pledge during the next three-year period. At its annual meeting and election of officers last week, the members unanimously approved the $10,000 figure.

This new pledge has a prominent spot on the thermometer displayed in the "Y" lobby during its current wind-up building drive.

Most of the $5,000 pledge was secured from profits in the "Y" Snack Bar, maintained completely by volunteers from the auxiliary. Mrs. Marion Manny of Des Plaines is in charge of staffing it, purchasing food supplies and keeping it spic and span all year long. The Snack Bar is open each day after school, evenings from 8 to 9:30 and all day Saturday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Other sources of income have come from the auxiliary's round robin bridge parties, sale of holiday fruit cakes, spring luncheons and the "Keep the 'Y' Out of the Red" machine in the lobby of the building.

"ANY WORK to be done at the 'Y' — outside of professional needs—we'll do it!" seems to be the auxiliary's motto. Variety is the key to the success of this volunteer group. The auxiliary has become an outlet for the many talents of suburban women who enjoy giving service in a pleasant atmosphere where healthy fun reigns for the whole family.

The women have even made their mark in the field of public relations. It has become routine for the PR committee, headed by Mrs. Stephen Jurco of Arlington Heights, to spend regular hours each week at the "Y" to keep the surrounding communities aware of all "Y" activities.

The "Live-Y'er" newspaper which goes out regularly to the "Y" membership is compiled by a staff of auxiliary women headed by Mrs. Frank Ouellette of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Roland Becker of Mount Prospect.

The newest accomplishment of the PR staff is programming of the 15-minute FM radio shows coming directly from the "Y" each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 4:30 p.m. When plans were made to broadcast the "Y Show," the auxiliary was asked to coordinate the project, and with usual dependability it took over the entire production of the show.

ALTHOUGH rewards cannot be measured in a physical sense for all the women's help in the entire "Y" program, a system of recognition for service has been established. A record of volunteer hours has been compiled, and the first awards were made last Wednesday evening at the auxiliary's annual meeting.

Twelve women qualified for the first recognition award. For these women who served in any volunteer capacity in the amount of 250 hours, a charm bracelet with an engraved disc was earned. The next step is to complete 100 hours, when another disc will be presented to them.

The YMCA was created by a group of individuals interested in recreation over 100 years ago. It is today the same type of voluntary organization, and Northwest Suburban's auxiliary is a perfect example of what can be done by a group of sincere, conscientious, "Y" minded citizens. These auxiliary women have proved themselves capable of enormous giving—their record of achievement thus far unequalled in any YMCA. (SF

ONE OF THE MOST popular spots in the 'Y' is the Snack Bar which is open each day after school, evenings and all day Saturday. Mrs. Robert W. Becker of Arlington Heights is shown during her 2-hour shift of service there. After a lot of healthy exercise, youngsters and adults flock to the Snack Bar for hamburgers, hot dogs, french fries, potato chips, cold drinks, ice cream and candy. The auxiliary, in complete charge of the Snack Bar, has been netting approximately $400 monthly in its operation. (SF

ONE OF HER YOUNGEST customers gets a towel from Mrs. J. W. Staples Jr. of Mount Prospect, locker room volunteer on Friday mornings at the 'Y.' Little Michelle Symconides is just about to plunge into the pool for her Tiny Tot swim lesson. During the mornings when the traffic is at a minimum in the women's and girls' locker room, auxiliary volunteers help to keep expenses down for the 'Y' by checking members in and out and handing out towels. (SF ANYONE FOR A SWIM? Mrs. Harold Beerli of Prospect Heights will see to it that no accidents occur during her volunteer hours as pool guard. The 'Y' pool must be guarded whenever it is open for use, therefore, during the morning and early afternoon hours when there is open swimming the auxiliary women act as guards. (SF

Awarded Plaque

Robert W. Gentile (Mr. Roberts) of Olivo's Beauty Salon, Dunton Court, Arlington Heights, was awarded a plaque for outstanding hair coloring and styling at a recent show in McCormick Place, which was attended by hundreds of Chicago area beauticians. Mr. Roberts has been a resident of Arlington Heights for the past 22 years.

Set June 6 for Garden Walk in Mt. Prospect

Plans are under way for the annual Garden Walk and Flower Placement Show "Let's Go Calling" to be presented by Mount Prospect Woman's Club June 6 from 1 to 5 p.m.

Mount Prospect Country Club will house the horticulture, junior, conservation and art exhibit while the Ranch style home of the Paul R. Lauschkes at 516 Hi Lusi; the traditional style home of the D. H. Doanes, 1201 Cleven; and the Early American home of the Richard Webbs, 507 Hi Lusi, will be the settings for the flower arrangements.

The G. O. Larsson Garden at 513 We-Go Trail will show its unusual shrubbery and beautiful roses of many varieties.

Mrs. Arlie I. Pierce Jr., general show chairman, invites all flower enthusiasts to participate in showing their choice blooms and also floral arrangements to fit designated spots in the homes mentioned above. She emphasizes that entries are not limited only to members, but are open to all.

Mrs. Pierce, CL 5-7073 or Mrs. Ray A. Davis, CL 3-6320 may be called for further information desired. (SF

Family Vacations Spell Togetherness Time, Fun

Planning vacations can be fun, educational, and a family project promoting what is so widely known as togetherness. Of course, if your idea of a wonderful vacation is apartness — you're reading the wrong article.

If a family vacation is your aim, you must choose a destination which represents compromises made by the whole family, and dictated in part by that unpopular member of the family—the budget.

Inexpensive vacations can be fun and different, but they require careful advance planning.

A GOOD first place for compromise is in the distance you will cover during your vacation. Particularly if small children are involved, keep your mileage down.

Everybody will be happier, during the vacation and on arrival home. There is a certain explorer-like thrill, too, in discovering an enchanting vacation spot only a few hundred miles from home base.

In making your plans, don't overlook state parks. Many of them have tourist cabins and accommodations at low rates.

YOU MIGHT take a cabin with a kitchen for economy, and have your one big meal of the day out, thus giving Mom a vacation from the stove.

Camp vacations have grown tremendously in popularity in the last few years. Before you groan, Mom, and picture tents collapsing in rain storms and ants in your food, investigate the newest equipment for camping vacations.

IT'S AS SLICK and modern as tomorrow and makes camping out really fun! Here again, you can compromise. One or two nights of your vacation can be spent in a hotel or motel, with opportunities for dressing up and dining out in style.

Many of the large hotels and motels have baby-sitting facilities too, so Mom and Pop can have one or two evenings for a real second—or 14th — honeymoon.

Whether your vacation consists of a week at a nearby resort or a month in Europe, plan carefully, pack sensibly (almost everybody packs too much) and allow time on your schedule for staying over a day or two in a place which particularly strikes your fancy.

In these days of rush, rush, rush, the quality most desired in a vacation is "leisureliness." A little foresight will provide it.

Stop Shoving

If the present rate of growth continues unchanged, the world's population will be 6 billion by the year 2000.

Quite Contrary by Mary

Our Little Secrets

Men, bless their little cotton-picking hearts, have a set of ideas about the fair sex that they cling to through thick and thin.

They like to think we're frail. Sure we are. About as frail as bulldozers. They think we are not very businesslike. Then why is a vast amount of the nation's wealth in the hands of you know who? And one of these males who is related to me by marriage is sure that I will be lost every time I take the wheel of the car. Ha.

I NEVER TAKE off for anywhere that he doesn't put me through my paces on how I am going to arrive at my destination. I am sure that he is in a constant state of alarm while I am gone. And, I know he is always amazed when I return. I have the feeling that he watches the telephone during my absence rather hoping that the state police will call about my wasted body on some forgotten bypath.

We went on a trip last week. When it was my turn to take the wheel, he cocked a quizzical eye in my direction and asked if I was sure of my route. I cocked an irritated eye right back at him and assured him I certainly did. He looked skeptical but dared not question me further. All was well.

Then it was time for him to take the wheel again. As we neared our destination, an expressway loomed. There were two ramps from which to choose. He skipped the first one as being insignificant even though it was marked quite plainly with the name of the town we sought. We took the second even though it was marked quite plainly with the name of a town in which we had absolutely no interest.

I asked if there were any obscure reason for going to the second town. I was informed that we were headed correctly. A little while later, not being able to stay shut up too long, I stated unequivocably that we were headed wrong. He pooh-poohed. On entering the wrong town, I could not repress a rather nasty smile. When we headed right back from whence we had come, I fear I guffawed. It was not the kind or right thing to do and relations were rather strained for a while.

I hereby vow never to tell him about the time I drove 80 miles in the wrong direction. Or about the 30 mile longer short cut I once took. We're all entitled to our little secrets. (SF

Program for 1962-'63

The "Starliters" dance club, a group of couples from this area, is preparing its program for the coming fall and winter season. This will be the fifth consecutive year that a program of this nature has been offered by the club.

A series of 10 group instructions in various steps for ballroom dancing, including the more popular Latin American dances, will be given Thursday evenings beginning in late September and concluding in April 1963. These lessons will be held at Salt Creek Golf Club, located between Elk Grove and Itasca.

ONCE AGAIN this year, the professional instructions will be given by the DeBartolos, who a spokesman said, are widely known in this area for their teachings of dance groups. Their work has covered the adult education courses in suburban high schools, the Park Ridge YMCA and Sunday evening instruction at the Melody Mill Ballroom, as well as private teachings.

Membership in the "Starliters" includes three social dances, to be held on Saturday evenings at country clubs in the area. Music will be provided by live orchestras.

Officers this year are: Bob Roberts of Arlington Heights, George Wilkinson and Del Edens of Mount Prospect, and Grace Schellberger of Glenview. Anyone in the Paddock area interested in joining the group is urged to call either CL 3-1152 or CL 3-8749 before the membership quota is filled. (S

A 1955 GRADUATE of Palatine High School, Robert F. Jasinski, son of the Frank Jasinskis of Cary, former residents of the Paddock area, took as his bride April 28, Miss Marjorie Olofson, daughter of the Robert Olofsons of Roselle. The couple was married in St. Walter Catholic Church and the double ring service was followed by a reception for 400 in Bartlett Fire Hall. After a 10-day honeymoon in Florida, the newlyweds are now residing in Cary. (S

Members Lose As Membership Grows

Arlington Heights Daytime TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) recently announced that as of May 1, total weight loss of the club, in its 21 month existence, is 650 pounds. In the first four months of 1962, membership grew from 8 to 20; weight loss for those four months was 150 pounds, an average loss of about 10 pounds per member.

Arlington Heights Daytime TOPS meet every Tuesday morning from 9:30 to 11 in Pioneer Park. The club functions on the group therapy idea of losing weight. Any woman in the area interested in losing from 10 to 100 pounds is welcome.

DAYTIME TOPS also held its 3-month party where gift certificates and a shower of gifts honored top losers as part of the evening's fun.

This group is also sponsoring the newly-formed Arlington Heights TOPS of the Evening Club which meets from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday evenings at Pioneer Park.

Further information on either club may be obtained by calling Leader Mrs. Beth Decherd, 259-2322, or Past Leader Mrs. Barbara Strickler, CL 9-3945. (S

'Y' Women's Auxiliary Offers Variety in Volunteer Work

AUXILIARY MEMBERS who are registered nurses enjoy keeping active in their profession by assisting in the massage and steam room at the 'Y' while women are using those facilities. On duty for her Friday morning stint is Mrs. James Reichard of Prospect Heights, shown regulating the dry heat cabinet for Mrs. Paul Knott of Arlington Heights. The health room is open to women Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. (S

"THE 'Y' SHOW" is heard over the local FM radio station each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 4:30 p.m. direct from the YMCA lobby. In charge of producing the show is Mrs. Frank Ouellette of Arlington Heights, right, who also doubles in announcing. She is shown interviewing Mrs. Alfred Stier of Mount Prospect, another member of the auxiliary, who is telling her about the volunteer set-up at the 'Y.' (S

THE RIGHT ARM of the 'Y' office staff is Mrs. Frank Rehm of Mount Prospect, seated at center, and her committee of office helpers. Whenever there's a special mailing to go out, Mrs. Rehm assembles a group of auxiliary women to do the job. She also makes help available for general office needs at the 'Y' whenever necessary. With her above are, left to right, Mrs. Darrell Hammarley, Mrs. Claude Snyder and Mrs. Richard Webb. (S

THE 'Y' NURSERY is a busy place while mothers are taking their exercise and swim classes. The auxiliary staffs the play room, which is available for baby sitting during the morning women's program. Mrs. David Crockatt of Mount Prospect is shown above taking her turn in the nursery. (S

U. of I. Engineer Explains Watts, Volts, Amperes

URBANA—Watts, volts, amperes . . . yes, women know that these things somehow affect their household electrical appliances. But too often that's about all they know about electricity.

Frank W. Andrew, agricultural engineer at the University of Illinois, answers some questions that homemakers frequently ask about electricity.

Q. Just what are volts. amperes and watts?

A. They're units of electrical measure. A volt is electrical pressure operating like the air pressure in a tire. Amperage is the quantity of electric current in a wire conductor, as a certain number of gallons of water flow from a faucet in a minute. Watts measure the work done by electricity, as a cupful or teaspoonful measures ingredients.

Q. HOW DO these operate together?

A. Voltage multiplied by amperage equals wattage. This electrical law explains why a 20 ampere fuse on a 120 volt circuit will blow when more than 2,400 watts of elctricity are plugged in at one time.

Q. When a fuse blows, should I get a bigger fuse?

A. No. A fuse is like a safety valve. It will handle only as many watts as it is designed to handle safely. You should either have an electrician install additional circuits or rearrange appliances on different circuits. This evens out the electrical load.

Q. How can I tell whether a circuit is overloaded?

A. To find the total wattage a circuit is carrying, first unscrew the fuse. Add up the wattage of appliances operating on the circuit controlled by this fuse. When you unscrew the fuse, these appliances won't work. You may find that some circuits are overloaded while others are loafing.

Q. IF I PLUG in an electrical appliance and it doesn't work, how do I find the trouble?

A. Check the power outlet by plugging in some other piece of equipment that you know is in good working condition. If there is no power at the outlet, then check the fuse box. A blown fuse will have a discolored "window." Sometimes, though, a fuse becomes faulty or burns out without giving this evidence.

Nature Walks Can Help Pre-Schooler to Learn

URBANA—Combine education with pleasure when you take your preschooler for a walk.

This is the advice of Mrs. Millicent Martin, University of Illinois home economist. She says it's easy to help children learn informally at this age because they are naturally curious about so many things. Just remember, however, to keep your explanations simple and on the child's level.

NATURE walks are one of the best outings a child can have. Be sure to point out and talk about such things as the rabbits that dart across a lawn, birds that are building nests and flowers and trees that are budding and blooming.

Children under 6 years enjoy visiting many public buildings, especially fire stations. However, before dropping in on these places, it might be wise to check with the officials, especially if you're taking more than one or two children.

Construction sites are also popular destinations for walks. Children are just as fascinated as adults by the big machines and building activity. (S

Mrs. H. Morath Is New Head Of Nurse Club

Mrs. Herbert Morath was elected president of Mount Prospect Nurses Club at the annual meeting held in the home of Mrs. J. Ross Clark. She was installed by outgoing president, Mrs. John Homola.

Other officers elected were Mrs. William R. O'Connell, vice president; Mrs. Neil Lane, secretary; and Mrs. Joseph Civinelli, treasurer.

It was announced that Penny Pot collections to date have totalled $2600 and these contributions have provided the Northwest Community Hospital with the complete furnishings for a pediatric room, a cold steam humidifier for treatment of respiratory ailments, and textbooks for use by personnel on each of the wards. Pennies are still being collected regularly from the novelty banks found in the stores, and the hospital is advising the Nurses Club of items needed. (S

Arlington Graduates Wed in Des Plaines

The chapel of First Methodist Church of Des Plaines was the scene of the wedding of two Arlington High School graduates in the class of 1960 Saturday afternoon, May 5. Miss Karyn Sue Koren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Koren, 322 S. Gibbons, Arlington Heights, became the bride of James M. Taylor in a simple double ring ceremony with Rev. Wesley Israel officiating. The groom is the son of Mrs. Florence Taylor, 501 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights and M. C. Taylor of Chicago.

The bride wore a gown of candlelight white peau de soie and chantilly lace that was fashioned for her by the groom's paternal grandmother, Mrs. M. C. Taylor of Chicago. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Jack Lunaburg of Mount Prospect, sister of the groom, wore a gown of delphinium blue and carried pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis. Miss Sara Patterson, bridesmaid, of Riverside, wore an identical gown and carried a matching bouquet.

Jack Lunaburg of Mount Prospect served as best man to his brother-in-law, and James Seibert of Chicago was usher.

THE GROOM'S mother chose a bone-colored silk suit with accenting accessories of pale pink chiffon. Her corsage was of pale pink sweetheart roses. Mrs. Koren chose a china blue silk ensemble with white chiffon hat and corsage of white roses.

The bride attended Northerwestern State College in Natchitoches, La., where she was a member of Deomnettes and affiliated with Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority. During the past winter she attended Moser Secretarial School in Chicago. Mr. Taylor attended Wright Junior College and worked for a loop insurance company in accounting. He will continue his studies at San Diego State College on the coast.

The couple traveled to the their honeymoon and are now at home in an apartment in San Diego. (S

Lois Ann Garman Settles In Des Moines, Iowa as Bride

The former Lois Ann Garman of Mount Prospect carried a drawn lace handkerchief hand-made by her maternal grandmother as part of her attire when she became the bride of Richard F. Thomas of Des Moines. The wedding date was April 28 in South Church Community Baptist with the Rev. Edwin I. Stevens officiating.

A color scheme of yellow and white was carried out for the 4 o'clock nuptials, which took place by candlelight. Snapdragons and carnations decorated the church altar for the double ring rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. Garman, 309 S. George St., Mount Prospect.

FOR HER wedding day she wore an embroidered silk organza gown fashioned with a scooped neckline, shirred short sleeves and contour bodice accented at the waist with a bow of the same fabric. The bell shaped skirt was formed by unpressed pleats and swept into a chapel train.

The bride's fingertip veil was held in place by a crown of pearls, and she carried a crescent bouquet of miniature yellow roses, snowdrift pompons, stephanotis and ivy.

Yellow nylon over taffeta sheath dresses were chosen for the bride's attendants, their gowns complemented with white shasta pompon bouquets and headbands of matching flowers.

MRS. DIANNE Mucciante of Wheeling, the bride's sister, was her matron of honor, and Mrs. Ruth Jones of Olympia Fields was bridesmaid.

Also in the wedding party was 4-year-old Deborah Mucciante of Wheeling, who served her aunt as flower girl. She wore a white nylon dress with a yellow sash and carried yellow shasta pompons.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Ruth Seals of Centerville, Iowa, had his brother, Herbert Thomas of West Des Moines, as best man. Ushers were his other brother, Paul Thomas of Centerville, and his brother-in-law, Ralph Omdahl of Mount Prospect.

MRS. SEALS wore a bone shantung dress with orange accessories and a bronze cymbidium corsage for her son's wedding. Mrs. Garman chose a blue silk sheath dress with embroidered jacket and matching accessories. Her corsage was of yellow cymbidiums.

Following the ceremony a reception and dinner took place at Gunnell's in Mount Prospect. Seventy guests greeted the bridal couple there before they left on a honeymoon tour of the southern states. After a 2-week trip, they are now at home at 4149 56th St., Des Moines.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Englewood High School in Denver and is currently employed in Des Moines with Addressograph-Multigraph Co. The bride, a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan University, was employed by Illinois Bell until her marriage. (Jenart (S

May Banquet Terminates Club Year for Juniors

Rolling Meadows Juniors officially brought to a close their business year with a climatic May Banquet held at Cooper's Restaurant in Arlington Heights Monday evening, May 14. Honored guests for the evening included Mrs. Myron Hartley, newly-elected State Junior Director, Mrs. Gordon Beckley, Seventh District Junior Director and Mrs. Harold Northway, Seventh District President.

Two district awards were presented to the Juniors by Mrs. Beckley including the 100 per cent award given to federated clubs that attain certain standards required by the Federation and a certificate for outstanding contribution and support of the recent district project, "February Flair."

MRS. HARTLEY installed the newly-elected officers for the 1962-63 club year. Mrs. Alvin Weber becomes president of the Juniors for a 2-year term; Mrs. Richard Glass is the new vice president for a 2-year term; Mrs. Charles Morgan becomes secretary; and Mrs. Paul Scott is the new treasurer. Mrs. Weber, out-going vice president, gave a short summation of the year's activities, praising each chairman and in conclusion presented Mrs. Joseph Stecker, out-going president, with the "traditional" Past-President's pin.

ENJOYING THEIR dinner at the recent May banquet of the Rolling Meadows Juniors are Mrs. Charles Morgan, Mrs. Richard Schmidt and Mrs. Howard Sanders. The banquet was held May 14 at Cooper's Restaurant, Arlington Heights, and brought to a close, the business year for the Juniors. (S

Three club members received recognition for outstanding contributions to the club's activities. Mrs. Raymond Herda received an award for the most service hours contributed, excluding club activities and projects. Mrs. Howard Sanders received the "most co-operative member at large" award and Mrs. Erwin Godowa an award for the "most valuable board member." Perfect attendance certificates for two years were awarded to Mrs. Joseph Stcker, Mrs. Raymond Sielig and Mrs. Robert Bunn.

NEW COMMITTEE chairman for the forthcoming year were announced by the newly-installed presidnet. Mrs. Richard MacDuff will take over the ways and means chairmanship; Mrs. Sheldon Schultz, community achievement, Mrs. Gordon Black, home and garden chairmanship. Mrs. Edward Soyka will continue for another year as membership chairman and press and publicity will be handled by Mrs. Charles Rohde.

Mrs. Howard Sanders will handle the program and fine arts committee and Mrs. Clay Lebben the public health and welfare committee. Retiring president, Mrs. Joseph Stecker, will be chairman of the revisions and parliamentarian committee, and the social and courtesy committee will be headed by Mrs. Charles Kramer.

Rolling Meadows Juniors will now disperse for the year with the exception of summer social activities planned by the home and garden committees. (S HIGHLIGHT OF THE MAY banquet of Rolling Meadows Junior Woman's Club was the installation of new officers for the 1962-63 year. Officiating at the installation was Mrs. Myron Hartley, State Junior Director, right. New officers include Mrs. Paul Scott, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Morgan, secretary; Mrs. Richard Glass, vice president; and Mrs. Alvin C. Weber, president. (S

Child's Homework Can Be a Problem

by BETTY AINSLIE

Should we, or should we not help our children with their homework?

When my husband left for a week's trip out of town, the two boys had but one thought. "Gee, we'll sure flunk this week without Dad to help us with math homework." A fine statement to build my morale, but no doubt true. Geometry was, let's say, not my strongest subject and what little I learned through the pores of my skin has long since evaporated; but really, I can still figure out fifth grade arithmetic.

The problem I face here is that the youngest, very impatient with mother's figures all over a piece of scratch paper wails. "But you don't do it the way my teacher does. She doesn't have to fill up so many lines."

I CAN listen to spelling words and still iron a basketful of clothes. I can suggest a few corrections to bring a little life to the simple statement "Illinois is a state." I can even mention some books that temporarily lure the boys away from TV. But with this math stuff, well that's strictly Pop's department —who's the engineer in the family anyway?

But I did get to wondering. Do teachers really want you to help with homework? Do they prefer my antiquated methods of arriving at the same answer to the modern, or do they think two methods of teaching harmful?

Teachers, as we constantly are told, are swamped with meetings, papers to grade and large classes. The youngster who fails to grasp the early fundamentals finds himself floundering when he's pushed on to the next grade. Here is the time when parents should come to the aid of their children waving multiplication flash cards on high.

HERE I'M told lies the parents' golden opportunity. Help your child to memorize his multiplication tables and to recognize them instantly.

Most teachers I've talked to agree that helping Johnny with his homework is fine and probably necessary in this day of crowded classes; however try to keep away from the arithmetic if Johnny is learning a new method from what you've been taught.

"Teaching the multiplication tables, and any other memory type work is fine to offer help with at home, but many classes are doing this modern math and unless you've studied it you can sure get Johnny badly muddled." Declared a teacher when asked what to do about the cries of "help" with homework.

I've looked over some of this modern math and wonder why it's necessary to start tampering with things as fundamental as figures? My mother always declared math was her favorite subject because you could always prove it, it remained the same and never changed.

SO SHE IS wrong and even arithmetic is being given an overhauling. I only hope it does not get involved in the same mix up that happened when children for a time were not taught phonetics and the spelling of words not sounded was really new and original.

Of course I'm probably old fashioned about this new math stuff, but it is rather disheartening to find the same answer at the end of my pencil tip only to have it counted wrong because I arrived at the same conclusion by going around the corner and through center field —instead of directly to center field.

"I like parents to help children with their homework. It starts a child out in the right study habits and parents know exactly what we're trying to teach here," said a fourth grade teacher. But she was contradicted by another primary teacher.

"I don't assign a great deal of homework in third grade and most of it is just so I can see where the child needs help," stated another teacher.

ALL THE educators agree however, the child should do the work himself. But if he is confused by what you as a parent tell him and by what teacher says—then by all means let's go by the teacher.

As teaching methods have changed so I suppose has help with homework. Seems as though we are more interested in the schools and the teaching programs because we've become thoroughly indoctrinated with a part of our community—and that means the schools. A good many fathers have saved a good many Johnnys from failing mathematics; while mothers have heard endless miles of spelling words and corrected yards of English or listened to Johnny read, sometimes even been allowed to hear multiplication tables still another time.

This may end though as we may all have to go back to school for this new math so we can learn a different method for arriving at the same conclusion.

ALL I KNOW is that Pop barely gets the last piece of meat chewed at dinner before the line starts forming to the left.

"Dad I don't understand this geometry problem," or "Dad will you check my arithmetic?" "I'd never have made it through algebra and geometry if it hadn't been for good old dad," is our daughter's comment. So when that evening rush begins, you know something?—I'm sure glad I'm dumb enough to be able to sit around and read or watch television. (S

Disappointing Show

Dear Peg:

A friend of Esther's told her that we would be disappointed in the Annual Exhibition by Artists of Chicago and Vicinity, now at the Art Institute until June 3, and the friend was quite correct. The most that can be said for the show is that a number of new or unfamiliar artists are included—giving fresh talent the chance it should have. However, even these seem to have painted from the same palette—we looked at one huge, splashily painted canvas after another.

Of course, in this collection of paint and canvas, there are a few that attest to the fact that we do have fine artists in Chicago. Bruce MacDonald's, Arco de Cuchilleros, Madrid, is a bright, clearly defined, thoroughly delightful painting. Bus Stop, by Richard Frooman, is a darkly glowing, Seurat-like painting of several people waiting together. Four women, in old fashion dress, grouped nicely against a background of surging, billowing Chinese white, are the subjects for, Niagarstalgia, by Ellen Lanyon. The great talent and time that never fails to be evident in a canvas by Harry Mintz are again obvious in his Metropolis.

The sculpture in the show runs the gamut from the ridiculous to the sublime. We thought a delicate little study in silver called Adam and Eve, by Kingo Fujii was sublime. And we were very impressed by Lowell Jenkins' Vanishing Nanny—a partially kneeling goat in braised steel.

Outside the Institute the sun was warm and bright. We strolled through the park and admired the thick bed of red tulips and the lush flowering foliage. Along Michigan Avenue, a crew of workmen were hanging new baskets of flowers from the tops of the lamp posts.

We might have been disappointed in the show, but outside, our colorful, majestic city never disappoints us...

My love,
Patty

A June 23 wedding is being planned by Miss Sue Fehrenbacher of Arlington Heights and Leslie Howard Gargan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Gargan of Beverly Hills, Calif. The couple's engagement and approaching marriage is being announced by Miss Fehrenbacher's parents, the Ralph J. Fehrenbachers of Arlington Heights.

The bride-elect attended the University of Illinois and is currently enrolled in graduate school at San Fernando Valley State. Mr. Gargan, a UCLA graduate, also attends San Fernando Valley State Graduate School. Both young people are teaching English in Los angeles schools.

The wedding will take place at 4 p.m. in Arlington Heights First Methodist Church. (S

Lois Shaughnessy

The betrothal of Miss Lois Shaughnessy and George H. Jirgal Jr., son of the senior George H. Jirgals of Arlington Heights, was solemnized Easter Sunday in the Church of St. Edward, Chicago. Announcing the engagement were Miss Shaughnessy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Shaughnessy of Springfield, Ill.

Rev. Robert A. Bohlman officiated at the service and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kirby were witnesses. The nuptial mass and wedding will be August 25 in St. Joseph Church, Springfield.

The bride-to-be is an instructor in St. John's Hospital School of Nursing, having recently been graduated from Western Reserve University, Cleveland, with the degree eof master of science in nursing education. Mr. Jirgal is currently a graduate student in physics at Illinois Institute of Technology. He formerly attended John Carroll University, Cleveland.

Virginia Heinemann

Mr. and Mrs. C. Pedersen of Chicago recently announced the engagement of their niece, Virginia Heinemann, a graduate of Prospect High School, to Norman Pizzotti, son of the A. Pizzottis, also of Chicago.

Miss Heinemann is employed as a bookkeeper. Her fiance was graduated from St. Ignatius High School and is employed by the National Bank of Austin.

An August 4 wedding is planned.

Women Voters League Elects New Officers

At its annual meeting last Thursday, the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights elected officers and directors for 1962-63.

Mrs. Louis Nye will continue in her office as president for her second year. Other officers are: Mrs. John Hoppe and Mrs. John Solon, vice presidents; Mrs. Russell Gardner, treasurer; Mrs. H. J. Cress, secretary.

Directors are Mrs. S. S. Grossman, Mrs. R. Kunze and Mrs. C. D. Rath. Nominating Committee's elected members will be Mrs. R. Borchard, chairman, Mrs. D. E. Moore and Mrs. T. LaPin.

THE PROGRAM adopted for work on the local government levels includes a Cook County item entitled, "Study of Family Court and Audy Home. Support of measures to improve correctional treatment in Cook County, with emphasis on the Department of Correction."

On the township level, League members adopted the following item: "Study and evaluate the functions of the township school trustees." Also as part of their program are two items to which the League has given sustained attention and has reached consensus: 1) To work for economical and efficient budgeting and wise expenditures of local government income, and 2) Support of measures to improve Village Manager form of government. Infant Welfare Plans Post, Paddock Party

This week, friends of members of Arlington Heights Infant Welfare Center are receiving gay red and white invitations to the group's annual Post and Paddock Party. To be held Friday evening, June 29, the affair again promises to be one of the highlights of the year's social activities in the area.

In order to accommodate the ever-increasing number of couples interested in the gala party, Infant Welfare members have arranged to hold their cocktail hour and dinner in the exclusive Post and Paddock Club with dancing to follow in the huge Classic Club, where Frankie Masters and his orchestra will again furnish the music.

A repeat of last year's benefit will be the fabulous buffet planned by the Post and Paddock Club maitre d'. Three buffet tables, instead of two, will be used to serve the increased number of guests expected at the party.

Reservations are being requested by June 15. (S

DELTA GAMMA

Northwest Suburban Alumni group of the Delta Gamma fraternity has presented the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness with the film, "Crossroads at 4," which the society can now make available to all groups interested in sight-saving.

The film warns parents of the danger and signs of lazy eye blindness, a condition resulting from lack of use in one eye in the early years of life.

Sight-saving and aid to the blind is a national project of the Delta Gamma Sorority. (S

Pressure to Marry Mounting for Coeds

By MAXINE HOCHMAN
University of Michigan

"I never, never expected to leave without being married," a single Wellesley girl told her mother tearfully upon graduation. Her remark echoed the fears of many of today's college women, who are so busy being anxious about catching a man at college that they have little energy left to utilize the creative power which most of them possess.

"Girls more than ever go to college not to pursue learning but to learn pursuing," Mary Bunting, the new president of Radcliffe College, commented in a Nov. 3, 1961, Time Magazine article.

Basically, girls of senior college age are ready to find a mate and settle down; they recognize their need for the security and fulfillment of being a wife and mother. In contrast, most boys of this age are looking forward to finding a suitable job, going on to graduate school, or completing their army obligations, and, Mrs. Bunting noted, they usually do not have the same innate desire to settle down at this time.

A STUDY at the University of California, completed in 1959, concluded that the pressures of parents and relatives, friends and even sisters often push college girls into loveless marriages just for the sake of not being an "old maid."

Anthropologist Margaret Mead contends that the shame which American society connects with being single past the age of 25 makes it virtually impossible for any but the most individualistic female to hold off the wedding date until she has utilized the educational facilities available to her.

According to Time, the effect of this pressure "makes marriage look like a salvation. What a girl expects from her education drops back from high goals of professional, intellectual or artistic attainment to a desire to be finished and to attain the graces of motherhood."

An experimental and sociological psychologist, who visited briefly with Parke-Davis in Ann Arbor, cites the role of industry in the problem as "adding considerably to the pressure on young females to marry. People don't want to hire women for important jobs because they automatically assume that the woman will leave soon to get married.

"So the girl who wants to start on some constructive creative job a few years before she marries, and come back to it later, becomes terribly discouraged after a while and just throws in the towel.

"BUSINESS cooperates with society in general in practically putting a clamp on the young female mind.

Basil S. Georgopoulos, professor of psychology at the University, asserts that college women who have reached the age of 20 and who have no immediate prospect of marriage tend to become paralyzed with fear that they will never marry. "Their minds freeze and they become obsessed with the idea of finding a man," he says.

"THE OBSESSION becomes so overpowering that it creeps into their every thought and controls almost every aspect of their behavior. They do only enough work to keep them in college so that they can continue the all-important search. Consequently, their averages go down, their anxiety goes up and any creative potential they might have goes down the drain," Georgopolous says.

The obsession, he noted, is apparent to men, who are "generally very reluctant to get involved with such a marriage-hungry girl. They instinctively feel that she will not let the relationship progress slowly and naturally, and fear that there is something wrong with her that makes her so anxious to snare a man."

Thus the anxiety-ridden girl defeats her own purpose, and becomes more and more frustrated, until she finally finds a mate or pulls herself through to graduation.

An instructor and counselor at New York University who is familiar with the problems of the female college student, Mrs. Beatrice L. Cole, maintains that it is one of the university's jobs to help ease the "pressures to marry or go steady" which are loosed upon college girls.

The university can do this in two ways, Mrs. Cole says:

Set up counseling services for anxious young women to talk out their fears.

Provide a variety of cultural and social activities to develop wholesome relationships based on common intellectual interests.

Mrs. Cole notes that many universities, notably the larger ones, have already initiated these programs in an attempt to cope with the problem.

"Marriage is a natural, beautiful phenomenon," Mrs. Cole concludes. "It should be allowed to bloom slowly and mature gently, like a very tender flower. Why are we forcing it upon our young women?"

Spring Lunch Meeting Ends Year for Mt. Prospect Jrs.

IFWC SEVENTH District President Mrs. Harold Northway, center, congratulates new officers of Mount Prospect Junior Woman's Club which she installed at their spring luncheon May 12 in Old Orchard Country Club. Officers, left to right, are Mrs. Melvin Levers, second vice president, and membership chairman; Mrs. Ronald Wilson, recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Burke, program chairman; and Mrs. Earl Miller, corresponding secretary. (S

A spring luncheon-meeting in Old Orchard Country Club May 12, ended the 1961-62 club year for members of Mount Prospect Junior Woman's Club. Mrs. Kenneth Odmark, club president, introduced the guests of honor, who were: Mrs. Myron Hartley, newly-elected state junior director for Illinois; Mrs. Harold Northway, seventh district president; and Mrs. Gordon T. Beckley, seventh district junior director; Illinois Federation of Womens Clubs.

Members heard a resume of the past year's activities by Mrs. Odmark, and the newly-elected officers were installed by Mrs. Northway. Mrs. Melvin Levers was installed as the new second vice president and membership chairman, Mrs. Ronald Wilson as recording secretary, Mrs. Earl Miller as corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Paul Burke as the program chairman.

NEW CHAIRMEN who will serve on the board of directors were also introduced. They are: Mrs. Konrad Rother, hospitality; Mrs. John Callihan, philanthropy, Mrs. Joseph Moran, publicity; Mrs. David Mann, revisions; and Mrs. J. A. Thelander, ways and means. Mrs. Jack Ristow will be the district project chairman, and Mrs. Herman DeSmidt will be the club's parliamentarian.

The Fourth of July parade float chairman will be Mrs. James Manderscheid.

At the recent IFWC convention held in the Sherman Hotel, 10 of the club members were present when four awards were given to Mount Prospect Juniors. These awards were for: 100 per cent club (complete support of district and state projects), scholarships for teachers of exceptional children (club donated a $400 scholarship), International Relations, and CARE.

SOME OF THE district and state charities which received money from the Mount Prospect Juniors were Lincoln Lodge, Park Ridge School for Girls, Clearbrook School for Retarded Children, Latin-America scholarships and Indian Cheer.

In addition to supporting all seventh district and IFWC projects, the Juniors have awarded a $300 college scholarship to a Prospect High School student, made a $100 donation to the Northwest Suburban Mental Health Clinic, continued to cosponsor the Senior Citizens Group with the Park District, pledged to purchase ornamental benches for the proposed North Western Railway Park, will purchase some needed equipment for the Mt. Prospect Library, and financed the music for teenage dances.

Members sold Halloween candy to support the Brain Research Center and made donations of food, clothing and toys to a local migrant worker family and to Indians in the Chicago aera.

THE MANY hours of service donated by Mount Prospect Juniors is something for which the whole club is proud. Members have helped roll cancer bandages, assisted with the Story Hour at the library, made favors for children in hospitals, and been on boards of different civic organizations and health drives.

Anyone interested in joining the club and helping in its philanthropic work may call Mrs. Melvin Levers Cl 9-4546.

Cook's Ham Dinner Wins Praises From Spouse

HAM LOAF

1 pound smoked ham, ground
1 pound lean pork, ground
1 cup bread crumbs
1 can tomato soup
2 eggs
¼ teaspoon pepper

Mix ingredients together. Form into a loaf in an oblong casserole or bread pan. Bake at 350 degrees for two hours. Let stand 15 minutes before serving to allow loaf to absorb juices and be firmer to slice.

Serves 6.

MIXED VEGETABLE CASSEROLE

2 packages frozen mixed vegetables
¼ cup hot water
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter

Cook defrosted vegetables in hot water for five minutes. Drain and save liquid. To the liquid add the salt and butter. Prepare the following sauce:

¼ cup butter
¼ cup sifted flour
Liquid from vegetable plus milk to make 2 cups
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup grated parmesan cheese
Pinch of nutmeg
2 tablespoons white wine or milk

Melt butter; blend in flour. Add liquid and cook until thick. Add remaining ingredients and simmer five minutes. Place vegetables in a 9 by 12 greased pan or casserole. Cover with the sauce. Place 2 cups pulled bread crumbs over the top and drizzle 3 tablespoons hot melted butter over all.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. The casserole can be placed under the broiler to brown crumbs. Serves 8.

CHOCOLATE ICE BOX DESSERT

½ cup butter
1 cup powdered sugar
2 squares melted chocolate
½ cup nutmeats, chopped
3 egg yolks
3 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla
22 graham crackers, crushed

Cream butter. Add sugar and melted chocolate and beat well to blend. Add yolks, one at a time, and beat until light. Blend in nutmeats and vanilla. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites.

Pour into a 7 by 11 inch pan lined with half of the graham cracker crumbs. Cover with remaining crumbs. Chill for several hours or overnight. Serve topped with whipped cream.

Serves 8 generously.

Mornay Vegetables Add Exotic Touch

Adaptable for a women's luncheon, a company dinner, a family meal or sandwiches is the delicious ham loaf being featured today. The recipe has been shared with us by Mrs. Floyd G. Pierson of Arlington Heights. "I've made this recipe for years," said this good cook, "and it is my husband's favorite dinner. "The recipe is easy to prepare and is excellent for utilizing left-over ham."

This recipe simlpy calls for ground ham and pork combined with eggs, bread crumbs and tomato soup. Formed into a loaf, it is baked for two hours.

"It should stand for at least 15 minutes before serving," said Mrs. Pierson, "as all the juices will be absorbed and the loaf will be easier to slice."

For a luncheon she serves the ham slices topped with creamed peas. And for buffet suppers or sandwiches, this loaf is appealing served cold.

But for a company dinner Mrs. Pierson suggests accompanying it with scalloped potatoes, a relish tray and a Mixed Vegetable Casserole with Mornay Sauce.

IN THIS casserole, frozen mixed vegetables are combined with a rich sauce which is flavored with nutmeg, wine and parmesan cheese. Topped with pulled bread crumbs and melted butter, it is baked for a half hour. This dressed-up vegetable dish is a superior taste-treat.

As a finale for this tempting meal, Mrs. Pierson suggests a Chocolate Ice Box Dessert.

Made in a cake pan, this rich and creamy chocolate dessert has a graham cracker crust and topping. It can be made the day before, and is elegant served topped with whipped cream.

THE PIERSON family moved from Chicago to their home at 727 N. Wilshire in Arlington Heights 2½ years ago. They have two children: Keith, 8, and Gayle, 4½.

Mrs. Pierson is a member of the Women's Association of the Presbyterian Church, and she and her husband belong to the Couple's Club. She is also a member of PEO and is active in the PTA at Windsor School, where she is a room mother.

KEITH AND GAYLE PIERSON are apparently delighted with the prospect of sampling their mother's rich and creamy Chocolate Ice Box Dessert. Mrs. Floyd G. Pierson of Arlington Heights often serves this dessert favorite following a dinner featuring a savory ham loaf and mixed vegetable casserole with mornay sauce.

Week's Best Food Buys

Sharp conflict is noted between holiday tradition and complicated price-supply situations, as area food retailers head into the Memorial Day promotions that will break this weekend.

Admittedly, some features are man-made without regard to existing market conditions, notably in the woefully limited fresh produce lines.

Amply supplied, lower cost beef and processed pork lines take the promotional nod in red meats, with the selected items breaking away from general levels that remain basically unchanged.

MOST BEEF fell, as much as 2½ cents at wholesale, except loins that climbed on the usual holiday demand.

Warm weather and slackened local demand dropped pork one cent at wholesale. Lamb is zooming in cost, up as much as 3 cents and still climbing on short supplies predicted months ago.

Retails could price higher except where operators have decided to spotlight lamb chops as possible features.

FRYERS, WITH supplies 5 per cent under year-ago, will be promoted at retails somewhat higher than year-ago (when 19 cent birds abounded) but still quote as bargains. Wholesale costs climbed on induced holiday demand and the influence of hot weather.

Whole birds will be abundant in the 27-29 cent retail range. Cut-up birds quote competitively 35 cents.

Turkey, at storage levels some 17 million pounds over year-ago, raise a question mark in Chicago where buyers note limited availability. Based on inventory stocks, turkey tags mostly quote 39 cents for toms and 45 cents for hens and Beltsvilles.

EGGS FIRMED on demand and pick-up of breaker trade activity to quote retails of 43-47 cents for large size grade A. The market also notes more movement of shell eggs into storage where levels are about the same as last year.

The produce picture remains seasonally bleak and will continue in the prevailing pattern of wide variations between quality and price for some weeks to come. Many lines that should be making seasonal appearance in abundance are late.

Other major lines are short, period. Only here and there is a break seen, and even some of these are holiday created.

SOME retailers fear that produce production levels cannot sustain current price cuts on a few lines, as is the case with melons and cucumbers. Cherries are notably late. A hint of seasonal improvement, though, is seen with new-crop blueberries and peaches scheduled for local debut.

Groceries offer a ray of hope for economy. The wholesale index of processed foods is almost a point under year-ago. More specifically, frozen and canned citrus prizes are weak; salad and cooking oil stocks are nearly four times greater; frozen and canned vegetable stocks are at record levels; canned peaches are in excellent supply; current fish and shell fish supplies are seasonally peaking.

THE UNIVERSITY of Illinois weekly food survey for the marketing period ending May 26 and reflecting the Memorial Day situations, notes these relative consensus value opportunities:

Meats — hams, pork chops and steaks, bacon (plenty of "packer deals"), picnics, ground beef, round and sirloin steaks, rump roasts; poultry—fryers, large eggs, turkeys; produce — strawberries, oranges, bananas, radishes, sweet corn, green beans, onions. (SH

Canned Cherries, Mince Meat Team for Rich Pie

Delicious pie can be prepared easily at home, if you select one with a filling that requires little preparation. A good example is a Cherry Cream Mince Pie developed by the Borden Kitchen.

Ingredients like ready-to-use mince meat, sweetened condensed milk and canned cherries combine to make a flavorsome filling.

Lemon juice added to the sweetened condensed milk is the trick to having the filling thicken without cooking. Here's a pie that is deliciously different.

CHERRY CREAM MINCE PIE

(Makes one 9-inch pie)

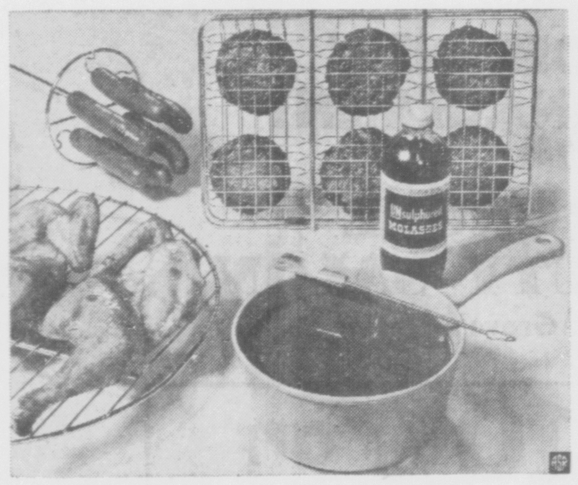
1 (9-inch) baked pie shell
1 (28-ounce) jar Ready-to-Use None Such Mince Meat
1 1/3 cups (one 15-ounce can) Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
¼ cup lemon juice
1½ cups pitted sour cherries, drained

Spoon mince meat into a medium-size saucepan. Bring to the boiling point. Remove from heat and cool. Combine sweetened condensed milk and lemon juice.

Stir until mixture thickens. Fold in sour cherries. Pour cooled mince meat into baked pie shell. Top with the cherry mixture.

Chill in refrigerator until top layer is firm, about 2 or 3 hours. If desired, garnish top of pie with maraschino cherries. (SH

1-2-3 Barbecue Sauce



You don't have to be a whiz at mathematics to take one cup of unsulphured molasses and multiply it into the best basic barbecue sauce available.

Simply add an equal amount each of prepared mustard and vinegar. The sum total is three cups of a delicious barbecue sauce that can be made ahead of time and stored without benefit of refrigeration.

UNSULPHURED molasses is the plus factor of any barbecue sauce. It aids in browning meats during cooking. Its sweet distinctive flavor is a perfect contrast to the tart ingredients. Too, unsulphured molasses has the golden-brown color of barbecue sauces and provides the meat with a gleaming, appetizing glaze.

1-2-3 BARBECUE SAUCE

1 cup unsulphured molasses
1 cup prepared mustard
1 cup vinegar

Combine molasses and mustard, mix thoroughly. Stir in vinegar. Yield: 3 cups. One cup of sauce is sufficient to barbecue 8 broiler-fryer chicken halves, or 2 dozen hamburgers or frankfurters.

Note: For Tomato Barbecue Sauce, add one cup catchup or chili sauce to Basic Barbecue Sauce. Yield: one quart. (SH

See-Worthy Crab, Macaroni Salad Designed for Spring

To use a little poetic license:
Spring is sprung,
The grass is riz;
I wonder where
The salads iz!

Spring certainly signifies the beginning of salad time—a time when the side dish salads of winter mature into full-blown beauties that become the focal point of a meal.

SUCH A MAIN dish salad is this one combining canned crab meat with cooked macaroni shells, celery and green pepper, all blended together with a delightfully seasoned mayonnaise dressing tanged with the subtlety of a little beer or ale.

This salad looks impressive, tastes delicious, and the addition of pretty macaroni shells to "stretch" the seafood makes it economical.

Accompanied by full-flavored dark bread or hot rolls, and glasses of your favorite chilled beverage, this New Orleans crab salad will make luncheon or supper something special.

The seasoned dressing is equally good with potato salads and cole slaw, too.

NEW ORLEANS CRAB SALAD

2 cups macaroni shells
¾ cup diced celery
½ cup diced green pepper
1 cup mayonnaise
¼ cup beer or ale
¼ teaspoon curry powder
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 cans (7½ oz. ea.) crab meat
Capers (optional)

Cook macaroni according to package directions. Drain and place in large bowl. Mix in celery and green pepper. In separate bowl, gradually blend beer into mayonnaise.

Stir in curry powder, dry mustard, salt, pepper, onion and lemon juice; your over macaroni and mix well. Add crab meat and toss lightly; chill. Serve with salad greens and add a few capers if desired.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Elegant Aspic Features Fresh Asparagus, Eggs

FRESH ASPARAGUS SPEARS and cooked egg slices are attractively molded in this elegant aspic, garnished with radish roses, olives and cottage cheese. Tabasco seasons the aspic and cottage cheese. Served with rolls and crackers, the salad can be a luncheon or supper party main dish.

One of the great pleasures of spring is the coming of fresh asparagus, and one of the most delightful ways to enjoy it is in a unique salad.

This cool and elegant aspic makes a main dish you'll be proud to serve at a very special luncheon or buffet supper.

Exciting in looks and flavor, this aspic features tender asparagus spears and cooked egg slices in a gelatin mold flavored with consomme, that inimitable liquid spice, Tabasco, and white wine.

MAYONNAISE is always a popular dressing with molded salads, and this one touched with lemon juice, Tabasco and curry powder lends an exotic touch to enhance the delicate asparagus flavor.

Colorful salad accompaniments are stuffed olives, radish roses, and fresh cottage cheese livened with a bit of Tabasco.

EGG AND ASPARAGUS ASPIC

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
2 cans (10½ ounces each) condensed consomme
1 cup white wine
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon Tabasco
12 stalks cooked asparagus (tender tip portion)
6 hard cooked eggs, sliced

Sprinkle gelatine over one cup cold water in saucepan. Place over moderate heat and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Stir in consomme, wine, salt and Tabasco.

Pour just enough of mixture into 9x5 3-inch loaf pan to cover bottom; chill until almost firm. Arrange asparagus spears in jelly. (Place spears crosswise in groups of two for easy slicing of aspic into six servings.)

CHILL remaining gelatine mixture until slightly thicker than unbeaten egg whites; spoon about one third of gelatine mixture over asparagus. Reserve 14 attractive egg slices.

Arrange half of remaining egg slices on top of gelatine in pan. Repeat gelatine and egg layers and cover with remaining gelatine mixture.

Insert reserved egg slices in aspic around sides of mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens and serve with *Curry Dressing.

CURRY DRESSING: To ½ cup mayonnaise, add 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon curry powder and ¼ teaspoon Tabasco. (SH

New Party Hors d' Oeuvre—Buttered Shrimp Basket

If you want to get a party off to a good start, make your opening course glamorous and different. Whatever guests are served first usually sets the pace for the evening, a hint of better things to come!

Savory Buttered Shrimp is just such an appetizing party starter. It's colorful, wonderfully good to eat and ideal Friday evening fare.

THIS RECIPE makes entertaining easy for the hostess. First, the shrimp and sauce are prepared and placed in an aluminum foil container.

Then when guests arrive, the attractive pan of shrimps goes under the broiler for 6 minutes or so, enough to tinge with a light, golden hue.

IT MAY BE served in the foil basket, accompanied with crisp French bread or melba toast or crackers. Guests will feel free to dunk chunks of the bread in the sauce, not letting a single drop go to waste.

HINT OF GOOD THINGS to come is this 'foiled' basket of tempting shrimp, a boon to the busy hostess. Drizzled with butter, the party starter takes on a unique flavor with the addition of garlic, lemon juice and aromatic seasonings. (SH

SAVORY BUTTERED SHRIMP
(8 servings)

2 lbs. shrimp, fresh or frozen
1 cup butter or margarine, melted
1 small clove garlic, finely minced
2 tablespoons lemon juice or white wine and herb seasonings such as basil and rosemary
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon freshly ground pepper
Dash of Tabasco sauce

If shrimp are frozen, thaw just enough to separate. Rinse shrimp in cold water, drain and place in boiling water. Bring to a boil and cook one minute. Drain and cool just enough to handle. Remove shells and dark vein.

Form a pan large enough to hold shrimp from two thicknesses of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap, turning up edges of foil about one inch all around. Mitre corners so that it will hold firm.

PLACE container on cookie sheet and add shrimp. Add the garlic, lemon juice or wine; the herb seasonings, if available, and all other seasonings to the melted butter.

Pour about half over the shrimp, coating them well.

Place under the broiler 3 inches or more from the heat, depending on intensity of heat, and broil the shrimps lightly.

TURN SHRIMPS as soon as they get tinged very light brown, spoon over more sauce and continue broiling; about 6 minutes in all.

Baste with sauce several times. Shrimps should not brown deeply, but take on a lovely golden pink color under broiler heat. (SH

Chiffon Beauty Blended With Refreshing Mints

CREAMY AFTER DINNER MINTS are dissolved in the filling of this mint chiffon pie to give it a marvelously refreshing, yet subtle flavor. Dobs of whipped cream and additional mints decorate the top.

You won't want to pass mints with coffee when you serve this pie. For mints are an essential ingredient of the chiffon beauty—as frothy and refreshing a dessert as you could choose for the springtime of the year.

Like all true chiffon pies, the filling is basically a custard with gelatin added to help "set" it. Egg whites and whipped cream are folded in to insure fluffiness.

BUT THE real surprise lies in the discovery that a small package of after dinner mints provides the cooling, satisfying flavor captured in the filling.

It's easy to do, too. The mints are simply dissolved in the hot milk used in making the custard. A little green food coloring intensifies the attractive color of the pie. And tufts of whipped cream and more mints garnish it.

Here's the way to make it:

MINT CHIFFON PIE
(Six-Seven Slices)

1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
1 cup milk
1¼ cups after dinner mints (4 ounce package)
3 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
Few drops green food coloring
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ cup sugar
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
1 baked 9-inch pie shell

Soften gelatin in cup of the milk for 5 minutes. Scald remaining milk. Add mints; stir until dissolved. Gradually beat a fourth of the milk mixture into beaten egg yolks.

Stir into remaining milk mixture. Cook over moderate heat until slightly thickened. Add gelatin; stir until dissolved.

STIR IN salt, vanilla and food coloring. Chill until partially thickened. Beat egg whites until frothy; add cream of tartar.

Continue beating until whites will hold a soft peak. Gradually add sugar; continue beating until stiff and glossy. Fold into gelatin mixture. Fold in whipped cream.

Spoon into pie shell, spreading evening. Chill until set. Before serving, decorate with sweetened whipped cream and mints. (SH

A patio buffet is ideal for spring and summer entertaining. Here a simple table is given the glamour treatment through the use of an imaginative yet inexpensive setting. Theme for the setting is from the oilcloth table cover in the "Creole Rose" pattern—brilliant crimson roses with fresh green leaves on a pure white ground. Hurricane lamps, twined with roses, and pale green china and serving pieces complete the setting.

The wrought iron chair cushion has been covered in pure white oilcloth. A favorite in grandmother's day, easy-to-care-for oilcloth has become a homemaker's favorite with the introduction of new designs. "Creole Rose" is one of the many new patterns for 1962 by Columbus Coated Fabrics.

Coconut Tube Cake Has Moist Texture

This handsome Coconut Tube Cake is worthy of any important celebration! It is rich, moist, and light in texture—a cake to frost lightly and serve proudly.

For the frosting, mix 2 cups of confectioners' sugar with about 2 tablespoons of hot milk—or just enough to make a thin glaze.

COCONUT TUBE CAKE

2¾ cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup butter or margarine
2 cups granulated sugar
1 teaspoon pure vanilla
3 eggs, unbeaten
1 cup milk
¾ cup packaged grated coconut

Measure sifted flour, add baking powder and salt, and sift together. Cream butter until light and fluffy; add sugar gradually and beat until smooth and creamy.

Add vanilla and beat well. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each. Then add the flour alternately with the milk, beating after each addition until smooth. Fold in coconut.

POUR THE batter into a 10-inch tube pan, which has been greased and floured. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 65 to 70 minutes. Cool in pan 15 minutes; then remove from pan and continue cooling on a rack.

Frost the top of the cake; sprinkle with additional packaged grated coconut. (SH

Teen Orange Crush Supplies Vitamins

Teenagers need to keep their energy at peak level not only during the school period, but even more importantly during vacation, whether they take on summer jobs or simply indulge in all the delightful active sports that season offers.

Teenagers, as well as other youngsters too, should get their daily amount of needed, valuable, vitamin C, and a delicious, easy way to do it is with an orange juice "break" mid-morning and afternoon too.

TEACHING young people good food habits early in life starts them on a valuable nutrition pattern that becomes a matter of course after maturity.

The golden gift of Florida oranges does not cease after the peak season when the fresh fruit is no longer available, for the fine quality frozen orange juice concentrate contains as much vitamin C as the fresh juice and is unusually economical this year.

The canned fruit juices, too, are a quick and easy way to partake of this much-needed vitamin which we require every day as it is not stored by the body.

The following recipe produces a delicious, refreshing party drink perfect for summer teen get-togethers.

ORANGE CRUSH

1 can (6 ounces) frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, reconstituted pint orange sherbet
1 bottle (7 ounces) gingerale, chilled
1 cup shaved ice.

Put reconstituted orange juice in electric blender or shaker. Add remaining ingredients. Blend or shake until thick and frothy. Pour into 6 tall glasses. Garnish with mint. Yield: 6 servings. (SH

Eternal Love

"And He went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subject unto them: but His mother kept all these sayings in her heart." St. Luke 2:51

THIS short passage tells the story of what happened after Joseph and Mary found the child Jesus among the scholars in the temple and took him home.

He went with them and obeyed them and Mary remembered forever what happened in the temple. She helped Him and prayed for Him and suffered for Him.

And through the ages mothers have continued to teach and love and suffer for their sons. That's one of the reasons we observe a Mother's Day.

A mother's love is an eternal love. Attend the church of your choice with her this Sunday.

BEAT THE "PROS"
Professional advertising people all over the country continue to try to write the perfect ad. Yet you, the reader, have proven time and time again that you are the best ad writer.
This may come as a surprise to you, but through research, it has been found that the most successful ads are written by want ad users.
A good ad is just conversation in print. So, in preparing an ad, without realizing it, you are carrying on a conversation with your neighbors. You tell them in a few words that you have something to sell, or that you are in need of something. It's as simple as that.
Paddock Publications invite you to take advantage of its Want Ad columns. They are economical, and produce the desired results quickly.
It's always the right time . . . but this is the time of year when many of us are faced with the annual chore of spring house cleaning, and what could be more natural than for you to take pencil in hand, and list the no longer needed items that you have, and place that resultful Want Ad?

Village Theatre

Near Contract For Director

RICHARD TYLER

Village Theatre's long unfulfilled ambition of a resident director will come alive with the signing of a contract with Director Richard Tyler, upon completion of arrangements now being negotiated.

In addition to directing "Solid Gold Cadillac," now in rehearsal, Tyler will direct all three major plays next season, and conduct a workshop for Village Theatre.

Already familiar to members for his direction of "Third Best Sport" and "Man in the Dog Suit," Tyler has a reputation for knowing exactly what he wants. No detail is too small to deserve his attention, no problem too vast to solve.

A CHICAGOAN, Tyler was working in the WPA Theatre at the age of eight, directed shows for Special Services while in the Army, obtained degrees from the University of Miami in Speech, and the Sherwood Music School in Music.

He has directed television commercials in New York City, acted in and directed Summer Stock in Fish Creek, Wis., and other places, directed Die Fledermaus and Carmen for WTTW (Channel 11), directed industrial shows, directs for the Northwestern Drama Workshop; and lately directed "Trouble in Tahiti" at the Gate of Horn in Chicago.

In a recent letter to Village Theatre, Tyler said, "I must stress and impress upon your group something about theatre . . .Everything depends upon how a production is put together. . .I believe that every member should participate at all times, whether on stage or backstage. . .I would outline my plans for a production, but each head would have to develop ideas individually and with the crew for my final approval."

"WITH THE varied background which Tyler brings to Village Theatre, with his perception and his enthusiasm for community theatre, and with his conviction that 'Village Theatre is made up of many talented, imaginative, conscientious, dedicated, hard - working people,' the growth of Village Theatre seems inevitable," said Marge Bouker, theatre spokesman.

Tickets to "Solid Gold Cadillac," to be presented May 31, June 1, and June 2 in the Prospect High School Theatre, may be obtained by calling the Village Theatre Box Office at CL 9-3200. (Bill

Shady Lane Opening Up On Tuesday

LOUIS TANNO

Shady Lane Farm Playhouse at Marengo, Ill., begins its 21st season of summer theatre Tuesday with "Everybody Loves Opal," a comedy by John Patrick running thru June 10.

"Everybody Loves Opal" is an up-dated twist on the fable of Diogenes who was running around with his lamp lit up in the daytime to search for a reasonably honest man and a Venus here and there.

That is where Satan comes in and from then on there is heck to pay.

LOUIS TANNO, director of the Playhouse for the past ten seasons, has rounded up a brilliant group of professional actors and actresses for this summer's schedule, it is reported.

The established facilities of the farm have been enhanced by enlarging the dining rooms to accommodate the increasing patronage. (Bill

MOS Players Ready For 1962-63 Season

The members of Music On Stage will start the ball rolling for their 1962-63 season next Monday beginning at 8 p.m. at the Loll's home in Arlington Heights.

After the successful production of "The New Moon" in Palatine, at which people were turned away from the door on the second night of production due to a sell-out crowd, the MOS members are making plans for a new production to be given in 1963.

Plans include the election of the 1962-63 officers and the selection of the show during the Monday meeting.

THE FINAL selection of the new show will culminate the work of Mrs. Alice Wassmer, of Palatine, and her Production Selection Committee. The committee has read through the scores and story briefs of numerous musicals that date from old standards to modern shows.

During the April meeting, each MOS member voted for his choice from about 15. At Monday's meeting, the members will choose one of the following shows for the 1963 Music On Stage production: "Guys and Dolls," "Brigadoon," "Oklahoma," or "Bells Are Ringing."

TV Documentary On Death Slated

The "Cost of Death," a WNBQ-TV documentry describing monetary and some of the emotional expenditures which must be made when death comes to any family, will be shown Monday, May 28, at 6:30 p.m., on Channel 5.

Among those appearing on the program will be Dr. Carl Wennerstrom, chaplain of the University of Chicago's hospitals and president of the Chicago Memorial Association.

Countryside Artists Invited to Workshop

By LUCILE ERNST

Members of the Countryside Art Center and their guests are looking forward to a most exciting day on June 10. Mr. Fred Boger has invited them to attend a business, social workshop, meeting and picnic at his unusual country retreat at Boger Boggs.

Mr. Boger is an interior designer and has given numerous slide demonstrations in the area. His collection of unusual items, particularly from Mexico is a source of much interest.

The Countryside Art Center plans a series of Life Drawing workshops to be held at Pioneer Park on June 5, 12, and 19. They will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Anyone may attend and take advantage of the opportunity to sketch or paint from a model, a costumed figure. There will be no instructor and the fee for members is 50 cents, for non-members, 75 cents.

RECENTLY I received a little note from Palatine High School about their many activities. Among the announcements was a note that Palatine High School was exhibiting the work of the art, industrial art, and household art students on May 23. They went on to say in complete sincerity that they were as proud of these students as the honor students who were recently honored at a banquet.

Palatine is to be commended and I have no argument with them. I just wish they hadn't quoted a Fred Raubinger, New Jersey State Commissioner of Education.

He said, "I don't understand the folks who want to scrap everything but the academic subjects in school. These people feel that it doesn't count for much to be able to do something with your hands. I don't understand such an attitude. Why should people who do things be lower than people who talk about things."

I AM ON Fred's side in a way. I too think hands should be used but if he is going to go around making statements like this I wish he would not be on my side, or I weren't on his. Fred, Fred, what were you thinking of?

Since when has there been a division between people who talk, think and do? Doctors are taught to think, talk a bit, and surely work with their hands. Their training is considered highly academic even though they work with their hands. I won't say that thinking must go on before art work is produced. I've seen plenty that was done without thought.

I will say, however, that all good art work is the product of an educated mind and heart and a disciplined hand. I will say the same for all good medical work.

GENERALLY speaking the only people who bother with learning anything about the Greeks, those academic souls who produced the first academies, are doctors and artists, for both have their roots there.

Not too long ago art was considered the highest form of human expression and a part of an academic education.

Now for a word about the industrial arts students. It is sometimes thought that the children who hate Shakespeare and don't understand Latin are likely candidates for the industrial arts course. Thomas Edison would have been a good prospect, or maybe Henry Ford.

Actually an industrial arts course is as good as the teacher and the materials at hand. They can just have the kids turn out bird cages. On the other hand they can achieve true creative thinking and revolutionary ideas.

BACK WHEN I was in school, Maholey Nagy was a jajor prophet in the art world. He was the gentleman who bridged the gap between art and industry. He encouraged industrial design by creative thinking and he got some pretty astounding results.

I was impressed by one of his lectures which concerned a tea kettle. If you are as old as I am, you will remember what a tea kettle used to look like. It had a spout for the water to come from and a lid over the top.

One of Mr. Nagy's students took a good look at the tea kettle and designed a new one. The spout from which we poured the water remained but the lid and the hole it covered disappeared.

NO ONE FOR 20 years had needed to pour water from a pump into the top. Water from a faucet can be poured into the spout. Somehow no one had noticed this. No longer did one need to have the steam burn one's hand. And so your tea kettle was born, a tea kettle that was different because a creative mind saw that it could be different and better.

America has never been famous for its academic achievements. It is known the world over for being inventive in the industrial field. What a shame we don't appreciate our own virtues and genius. What a shame that in 1962, we don't know what thinking is and what it is not. (Bill

Retarded Benefits Up to Department

It is the task of the Illinois Department of Mental Health to determine the number of mentally retarded children who are to receive benefits under the $50,000 appropriated for that purpose, Attorney General William G. Clark has advised Dr. Francis G. Gerty, director of the department.

The statute, Clark's opinion said, charges the department with providing treatment and care for such children eligible for admission to state charitable institutions but who have not been admitted to them.

Clark's opinion pointed out that the appropriation of $50,000 will not be sufficient to carry out a widespread program and that "the program itself and those eligible to participate in it must be more clearly drawn under the department's power to make rules necessary for its execution."

THESE RULES, Clark's opinion said, "must be within the spirit of the statute, reasonable, and uniformly applied."

The word children, as used in the statutes, Clark's opinion said, would be males under 21 years and females under 18. (A14

Group Opposes Branch Banking

(UPI)—The Illinois Bankers Association Friday passed by voice vote without opposition a resolution opposing branch banking in Illinois.

Similar resolutions in other years were opposed from the floor by Chicago bankers, but passed anyway.

Roland W. Blaha, executive vice president of the association, said a survey prior to the Chicago convention indicated that less than five per cent of the group's members favored branch banking. (A-14

'WAY BACK WHEN'

Compiled by Mrs. G. Rex Volz — Phone CLearbrook 5-9078

60 Years Ago—May 24, 1962:

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS: Mrs. George Dunton and Mrs. William Wickersham wish The Herald to announce to the ladies of Arlington Heights and vicinity that they have opened millinery parlors at the Dunton residence, and are prepared to furnish hats, bonnets, etc. in all the latest styles and prices to suit everybody. Call and see them . . . .Now watch the straw hats burst into bloom.

Who'll be the first to report home grown strawberries?

In any other latitude we should feel safe to call this Spring.

The Arlington Heights Orchestra composed of John Boeger, piano; Christ Meyer, violin; William Wagner, cornet; and Herman Grueneberg, trombone, furnished good music at Winkelman's picnic, Sunday.

William Fairchild made his first delivery of strawberries Wednesday morning, and as usual remembered the News with a box of his choicest.

Hail as big as walnuts fell during the storm Wednesday.

The Chicago Telephone man was around again Tuesday. He says he thinks there is a lot of iron in the soil at Arlington Heights as most of the phones are burned out by lightning every thunder storm.

Lightning terrified the men at Bray & Kates (Creamery Package) Wednesday. A ball of fire came in through a window of the 3rd story, darted around the room giving off sparks, set fire to one boy's coat, then passed out. No harm resulted but the boys say they don't like sparking such a strong current of electricity. It is too bold and unladylike.

The A. H. Fife and Drum Corps is now composed of 24 members (boys) who meet for practice under the instruction of Prof. Van Horn, at Arlington Hall, every Thursday evening. They are chaperoned by Messrs. H. G. Lorenzen and A. H. Niemeyer, and will give a patriotic entertainment—an original drama in four acts—"The Spy of Gettysburg," Decoration Day evening to secure funds to buy drums, which will remain the property of the club. It is a worthy cause and we bespeak your patronage—tickets 25 cents and 15 cents.

PALATINE: Summer arrived in good season. 95 degrees in the shade, Tuesday May 20.

Who'll be the first to report green corn and new potatoes?

William Mosser and Edward Lincoln brought home 79 pounds of fish from Griswold Lake last Friday. Will caught a 26 pound red-horse.

The cow that died at Fred Eissler's place and reported to be from anthrax, last week, was buried before the arrival of a veterinary, hence post-mortem examination was impossible. The disease does not spread rapidly except in warm weather.

Jacob Sturm's barn was struck by the lightning Wednesday, and with contents was burned to the ground. Live stock was saved.

The over-abundant supply of water which has fallen lately has caused considerable damage by flooding cellars, etc. The water in the outlet of the sewer is flowing the wrong way.

The storm Wednesday morning did considerable damage to the telephone and telegraph lines. The depot instruments were burned out and a small fire started. The telephones were knocked useless for 24 hours. (A-14

Winners of Bridge Game Announced

First place winners at the duplicate bridge game at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights on May 18 were: Jack W. Martin & G. E. Mertens, Arlington Heights; Jack Farrell, Ed Ray, W. J. Willy and Bernice Smith, Palatine; Harry Keilman, Algonquin; and Alice Bunnel, Mount Prospect.

Since this was a master point night, all of the above people won one full master point.

Second place winners received one-half master point. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Kaye, R. H. Lindner and R. L. Lindner, Arlington Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Magnuson, Wheeling; Bob Magnos, Mount Prospect; and Churck Morgan, Rolling Meadows.

Another master point game will be held this Friday, May 25, at the Northwest Suburban Y.M.C.A. The next duplicate bridge game will be at Pioneer Park on Friday, June 1. Both games start at 8 p.m. and are open to the public.

Starts Friday at Prospect

MARGARET RUTHERFORD, as Miss Marple, and Arthur Kennedy, portraying Dr. Quimper, discuss the finding of a corpse on the Ackenthorpe estate in this scene from "Murder She Said." Dunes Fight

Douglas Urges Okay Of Alternate Harbor

Senator Paul H. Douglas, in a statement presented this week to the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Public Works, urged approval of an appropriation of $50,000 requested by Congressman Ray J. Madden of Indiana to begin a feasibility study of the proposed Tri-City harbor in Lake County, Ind.

"The Tri-City harbor," Douglas told the committee, "would give Indiana a new deep-water harbor, but would still preserve the most remarkable gift of nature possessed by that state, and indeed, by the Midwest."

Douglas referred to the Indiana Dunes which he and six other senators are seeking to preserve as a national lakeshore park, but which is threatened by the proposal to construct a "Burns Waterway Harbor" in the dunes midst.

THE ILLINOIS senator explained to the committee that he began the campaign in Congress to save the dunes only after the Indiana senators refused to do so.

"I wish to make it very clear," Douglas told the committee, "that I do not oppose Indiana having a new harbor and port if it can be justified economically. I have repeatedly stated that I do not oppose a new Indiana port, but I do strongly oppose unwarranted destruction of the Indiana Dunes when it is certain that alternative sites exist, in Indiana, for the port." Douglas said the Tri-City site was apparently the best alternative.

Douglas told the committee that "it would be a crime against the Indiana Dunes and against the economic welfare of the state of Indiana to proceed with the Burns Ditch Harbor before a thorough study is made of the Tri-City harbor."

"The present report of the Corps of Engineers on the Burns Ditch Harbor," Douglas said, "is so deficient that I believe it will be impossible for the committees of Congress conscientiously to authorize, much less appropriate, any federal assistance." "The actual cost/benefit ration for Burns Ditch," he said, "is only .5 to one for the federal investment." "I shall prove this at a later date," he said, "but I merely wish to point out that even aside from the question of preserving the Dunes, if the officials of the State of Indiana want a new harbor for their State, they will be doing their State a disservice if they fail to give urgent and full support to this study appropriation."

THE TRI-CITY harbor is being supported strongly by Congressman Ray J. Madden of Lake County, Ind., as well as by nearly all business and labor groups in the Lake County area.

Douglas explained that the harbor would be created by extending the present breakwaters for Calumet Harbor and Indiana Harbor an additional four miles, thus building a harbor 5.7 miles long and .6 mile wide, with 4,800 new areas of industrial land. A14

At Des Plaines

IN A MARSEILLES backroom, Rod Steiger outlines an audacious plot to rob a supposedly impregnable armored truck of a million-dollar payroll in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "World in My Pocket." From left to right, Peter Van Eyck, Steiger, Jean Servais and Ian Bannen. The film's feminine lead is played by Nadja Tiller, as the mastermind behind the daring robbery. Opens Friday at Des Plaines Theatre.

At Ft. Sill

Pct. Dale F. Lynk, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lynk, 635 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, completed eight weeks of advanced individual training at the Field Artillery Training Center, Ft. Sill, Okla., May 4.

Lynk was trained in the duties and responsibilities of a cannoneer. He received instruction in the loading, firing and maintenance of artillery guns, howitzers and heavy machine guns and in artillery communications and ammunition handling and storage.

Lynk entered the Army in December 1961.

He attended Arlington High School and was employed by the Jewel Tea Co. in Barrington, before entering the Army. (WUS

In North Carolina

Ronald L. Graves, electrician's mate fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Graves, 1044 S. Douglas Ave., Arlington Heights, is serving aboard the high speed transport USS Earle B. Hall, a unit which took part in Exercise Quick Kick, a joint training operation held May 7 through 10, at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

More than 40,000 men, 370 aircraft and 70 ships of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps took part in the exercise, scheduled by the U.S. Atlantic Command.

The exercise featured a full-scale amphibious assault on Onslow Beach at Camp Lejeune, backed up by airborne troops and close air support from offshore.

It was the year's major joint test of the Atlantic Command's conventional warfare capabilities.

In Oklahoma

Pvt. Richard F. Stefan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Stefan, 501 N. Wille, Mount Prospect, completed eight weeks of advanced individual training at The Field Artillery Training Center, Fort Sill, Okla., April 27.

Stefan was trained in the duties and responsibilities of a cannoneer. He received instruction in the loading, firing and maintenance of artillery guns, howitzers and heavy machine guns and in artillery communications and ammunition handling and storage.

Stefan entered the Army last December and completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

He attended Mt. George High School, Evanston. (WUS

Tables Turned

ROCK HUDSON, a notorious wolf, has so convinced Doris Day he's afraid of women that she invites him to spend the night at her apartment where he'll be safe from designing females. Scene in Universal's "Lover Come Back," co-starring Tony Randall, starting Friday at the Arlington Theatre.

'Lover Come Back' Opens At Golf Mill

Rock Hudson, who runs an advertising agency, dreams up a campaign to sell a non-existent product called VIP so that he can out maneuver his rival account executive, Doris Day, in the adult sophisticated comedy, "Lover Come Back," which opens Friday at the Golf Mill Theatre, Niles.

Featured in this laugh-a-minute attraction are Tony Randall as the boss of the agency, Jack Oakie as the big spender, and Edie Adams as the VIP girl.

THE GOLF Mill offers a special children's show for the younger set on Saturday afternoon at 1 p.m. consisting of one hour of cartoons and the feature "Snow White and the 3 Stooges." The show will end at 4:30 p.m.

Regardless of the temperature on the outside, the Golf Mill maintains control of the thermometer on the inside with the most modern cooling equipment available to present its patrons with an opportunity to relax in comfort. (Bill

Morton Kantoff 'Makes It' With Pontiac in Suburbia

by BILL HOGATE

Back in 1954 it looked like it was the end of 20 years experience in the automobile business for Morton Kantoff, proprietor of Morton Pontiac, Arlington Heights.

Kantoff was fed-up with his Chicago operation. He was displeased with the "wheeling and dealing" of his city cousins and all of the unpleasantries associated with it.

He closed his own and his father's automobile dealership in that year at Western and Devon and Cicero and Belmont.

And this might have spelled the end to an illustrious career in the car business—if it hadn't been for a visit to Arlington Heights in late 1955.

Kantoff liked Arlington Heights. He thought this would be an excellent place to start a business anew, free from the pressures and unpleasantries of the city.

AND THIS HE DID! Starting in an old white garage which has since been raised for the National Tea's parking lot at 18 S. Evergreen, Kantoff started building a Pontiac dealership—but most of all, he began building a reputation.

'What kind of reputation?

Well, according to Kantoff, a young, handsome looking man in his middle forties, 60 per cent of his business today is either repeat or customer referral business.

"The most wonderful thing about our suburban operation," Kantoff admitted, "is the fact we can be interested in the customer as a person, not just a quick sale. And the customer regards us as a neighbor in the same mutual confidence."

KANTOFF'S father started in the automobile business in 1916. He was a REO dealer at that time, but subsequently sold the Kissel, Durant, Hudson-Essex, Oldsmobile, Packard, and Studebaker.

Kantoff in his early years worked with his father, helping his dad from high school on.

His first venture on his own was in 1935, when Kantoff became a Chrysler-Plymouth dealer. In 1946, he handled Packards. And in January of 1957, he became what he is at present, a Pontiac franchised dealer.

KANTOFF emphasizes that the suburban customer is not a push-over. "We have found that the suburban customer is much more nimble-witted than his city cousin, but the suburban customer is a gentleman at all times," he said.

Kantoff indicated that many of the used cars taken in trade are wholesaled to dealers in the city because ". . . even our bad ones are considered sharp in the city."

"Because of this, we are usually in a better position to give more for a trade-in on a sharp used car," Kantoff assured me.

"IN OUR Arlington Heights operation," he said, "people are more apt to become friendly with you, and if they are properly treated—which we aim to do—then they will send their friends to us."

Kantoff explained that the automobile is still the second most important family purchase. The home ranks first. So naturally, he explained, people want the most for their dollar when buying a car.

"The automobile is still a commodity which the consumer knows he can dicker for," Kantoff mused. "However, a customer wants what is due him—not too little or too much."

"I guess you might say that he wants 100 pennies on his dollar, not 99c or $1.01."

KANTOFF DOES not see in the foreseeable future where the deal will ever be in second place to other considerations. "It's here today, and I don't see how it will substantially be changed unless and until there is a shortage of automobiles."

Kantoff makes a policy of backing his sales force 100 per cent. "When they are right, you are right—when they are wrong, you too are wrong," Kantoff said.

He admitted however, that the secret to his success is to surround himself with the best possible help.

ROBERT SHAFFER, office manager for Morton Pontiac, has been associated with Kantoff for 18 years. Eddie Must, his parts manager, has also been with the firm for 18 years, and Tom Gasero, service director, who started with the elder Kantoff in 1923, has re-joined the firm.

This genial dealer was asked about service. He gave an example.

Recently a local matron purchased a new car from Morton Pontiac. She was a repeat customer. However, she just was not pleased with it for some undefinable reason.

Kantoff made a deal with her. He made it economically justifiable to trade in her car on a brand new one. He took her car and drove it himself for two months.

He could not find anything wrong with the car, and so he re-sold it to another customer, who reports complete satisfaction. End result: two happy customers and a happy dealer.

THE NEW CAR center of Morton Pontiac is located at 710 E. Northwest Highway. Used cars are on display by the Arlington water tower at 506 E. Northwest Highway.

The service center is at 1 S. Hickory. Kantoff hopes to solve the problem of three locations soon with a brand new 1-unit building.

Kantoff's closing thought involved maintenance after purchase of a car. "To a customer, a door handle which does not function properly is as important as a transmission which falls apart—and that is how we consider customer service here."

COME ON. THE KEYS are in the car. Let's take a jaunt around town so you can see what this little honey can do. And who can resist taking a ride in a new Pontiac with Morton Kantoff, owner of Morton Pontiac, Arlington Heights?

Arlington Seating Co. Shows Gain in Sales

Continental Materials Corp., the parent company of Arlington Seating Co., 607 E. Northwest Hwy., reported sales of $9,879,067 and net profit of $367,654 for the year ended Dec. 31, 1961.

Arlington Seating Co., a landmark of Arlington Heights, was acquired by Continental in September, 1961 during the school seating firm's 60th anniversary year. Arlington Seating then became a subsidiary in Continental's new educational and school supply division, established in June 1961 through the acquisition of a student notebook and school supplies firm.

IN THE annual report, Continental's Chairman Gerald Gidwitz said that the performance of the educational and schol supply division "amply justifies Continental's faith in the future of this segment of our economy."

He said that while the year's results reflected initial benefits from the company's entrance into the school field, "in 1962 this division should have the effect of almost doubling our volume."

Continental Materials Corp., a company listed on the American Stock Exchange, has more than 5,000 stockholders. Gidwitz is also chairman of Helene Curtis Industries, Inc., major toiletries and cosmetics firm. (BB

Syntech Rubber Corp. Now in Mt. Prospect

The recent location of the Syntech Rubber Corp. at 415 S. William St., Mount Prospect, was formally announced this week by owners William W. McMahon and Warren G. Schwartz.

The corporation distributes industrial products such as hose, conveyor belting, transmission belting and packing. Syntech represents Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Pennsylvania Metal Hose Co., and Raybestos - Manhattan Rubber Co.

ACCORDING to Schwartz, a resident of Arlington Heights, the company employs five salesmen who cover the Chicago metropolitan area. The office staff consists of six employes.

Syntech's history as "sealing expoerts," Schwartz said, is backed by the Parker Seal Co., Haskel Seal Co., and the W. S. Shamban Co. Locally stocked are items such as O rings from standard rubber compounds and more exotic aterials like silicone, viton and teflon.

These materials are widely used in the missile field, manned space vehicles and aircraft communication systems, Schwartz explained.

Chicago Savings and Loan Conducts Builder Survey

A survey just completed by Chicago Federal Savings and Loan Association revealed "moderate optimism" towards a buyers market is held by Chicagoland builders, reported Max H. Hurd, president of the association.

Ninety-four builders who responded to this survey accounted for 4,930 home starts in the past year.

Builders (located in all areas of city and suburbs) reported most new construction in the north and northwest suburbs, while in the city most construction is reported on the south side.

Most builders (69 per cent) plan to build the same cost houses as a year ago compared to nearly half of the builders in last year's survey who reported moving into a lower price range.

The multi-level house continues to gain in popularity. From greatest to least in demand are bi-levels, ranch, colonial and Georgian.

Nine out of ten builders use their own sales force opposed to three out of four last year.

Ninety-three per cent of the builders report that they have been able to obtain adequate and sufficient financing for construction purposes, Hurd said.

"There are ample funds available for home financing," Hurd said. "From the number of mortgages made the first quarter of this year at Chicago Federal, it appears that more people will be buying homes in 1962 than they did last year." Hurd forecast. (BB

Authority Speaks On Smut

Attorney General William G. Clark said in addressing the first annual dinner of the Holy Name Society of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception that censorship of books, pictures and literature as to obscenity should be based on the audience to whom it is sold and not on the nature of the material itself.

Clark asserted the business of selling "smut" produces a billion dollars a year for smut peddlers, whose products fall largely into the hands of abnormal adults and children.

Clark pointed out that Illinois' present laws regarding obscenity are a part of the state's new Criminal Code which became effective only at the beginning of 1962. These laws, he said, have their basis in decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court, even adopting some of the language found in those opinions. (BB

New System Introduced

Product Emphasis Corp., Chicago, has just introduced an AM/FM radio system which pipes hi-fidelity sound into every room in your home, simply and at low-cost.

Called "Register-Music," the new concept becomes an integral part of any existing furnace or air-conditioning duct work. The secret lies in a special Transducer which transmits extended range sounds through the ventilating duct work. When mounted to the furnace or air-conditioning plenum, the Transducer makes each and every room register a concert hall speaker. Installation takes only 30 minutes. (BB

Let Realtor Sell Your Home Savings and Loan Advises

Home owners tempted to handle the sale of their own home should turn the job over to a reliable Realtor, advises the executive vice president of one of the oldest federal savings and loan associations in the United States.

Edward J. Williams, executive vice president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Wilmette, states that selling a house is a job for a professional and that expedience, convenience, economy and peace-of-mind dictate the appointment of a reliable realtor.

First Federal holds 85 out of a total of 1300 charters which have been issued by the federal government since the Home Owners Act was passed by Congress in 1934. Its assets now total 41 million dollars, having doubled during the past four years.

"Just as the selling of homes is a highly specialized business, so is financing the transaction afterwards," according to Williams. He adds, "We are specialists in this as well as in the very necessary function of attracting the savings capital needed to finance these homes.

"OUR ACQUAINTANCE with the territory enables us to make quick appraisals, often within a few hours, and to make maximum loans. Our adequate supply of capital funds makes possible the lowest rates we have been able to offer for several years, with interest running as low as 5½ per cent per annum for qualified borrowers. This is indeed a favorable time to finance the purchase or construction of a home."

Pointing out that while most of First Federal's funds come from a 100-mile radius of Wilmette, Williams said the association also draws savings from 34 states and several foreign countries. He stated that it takes 42 savings accounts to finance a $20,000 mortgage, partly due to the fact that savings account run from a dollar to $50,000, or more, with an overall average of approximately $2,000. Money in a savings account turns over faster than money invested in a mortgage, according to Williams.

A HIGHLY specialized service is performed by the savings association, William states, in attractive savings and providing long term financing for those who could not otherwise enjoy the privilege of home ownership.

First Federal's building at Green Bay and Central Avenue in Wilmette was completed in 1958, the association's seventh enlargement of quarters since its founding 28 years ago.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

Assistant Farm Advisor

Alert Homeowners
Dial Daily 392-3060

Mulches applied to shrubs and evergreens and vegetables will help to prevent growth of weeds and to conserve moisture.

Mulches soak up moisture and rainfall. They allow it to soak into the soil and thereby prevent surface evaporation, insuring an even moisture supply during the growing season. Germinating weeds are unable to reach light through the mulch and never become mature.

Mulching materials are classified as either organic or inorganic. Organic materials are broken down by soil micro-organisms and become part of the soil. Inorganic materials are not broken down.

SAMPLES of organic mulches are leaves, peat moss, straw, sawdust, shavings, grass clippings and paper.

Paper mulches are not ordinary paper, but a special paper treated with a dungicide and a preservative. These materials help to control disease and make the paper more durable. A paper mulch conserves moisture satisfactorily, completely eliminates weed growth. Its best use is probably in the vegetable garden, particularly on tomatoes.

If straw is used, buy it one year in advance. Cut the wires and leave the bales outdoors so that any weed seeds in the straw will sprout. These weeds will not mature due to lack of plant food in the straw. As a result, the straw will be nearly weed free when it is ready for use.

Straw, sawdust, and shavings will control weeds if applied 3 to 4 inches deep.

GARDENERS can either apply grass clippings directly to the soil as a mulch or incorporate them in a compost pile. However, if clippings come in contact with plant stems, they may cause rot.

If organic materials are used as a mulch, add more fertilizer to the soil. For every one inch of mulch, apply an additional two pounds of fertilizer per 1,000 square feet.

Two examples of inorganic materials are vermiculite and plastics. Vermiculite is a porous granular substance that holds moisture well.

PLASTIC SHEETS make a good mulch but must be perforated so that rain can reach the soil. Black plastic completely eliminates weed growth. White plastic allows some weed growth underneath. Ground covered with white plastic can be fumigated to control weeds, but this is not practical for home gardeners.

Mulching materials are available at hardware stores, construction companies and nurseries. (BB

Introduce New Mural Art to Suburban Area

A new technique which enables homemakers to reproduce original murals by professional artists has just been introduced at Warner Paint Co., 1141 Mount Prospect Plaza, Rand and Central Roads.

Called Artraco murals, they utilize a specially developed process to transfer original artwork, including the artist's actual brush technique, to any painted wall surface. The finished mural appears as though it has been custom-painted directly on the wall by the artist.

THE CHIEF difference is in the price. Hiring a highly rated professional artist to come into the home and execute a mural to order is prohibitive for most family budgets, said George Watson, manager of Warner Paint Co.

Other alternatives, such as scenic wallpapers, often require professional application and can run into considerable sums.

The Artraco murals, ranging in price from $5 to $45, have the added advantage of being simple to apply. "A housewife can do it easily," said Watson. "The artwork is transferred from paper to wall by rubbing with a stick or brush. It's a neat operation which doesn't mess up your room or you."

Artracos can be applied to any painted wall surface - flat, satin and glossy finishes - oil base, alkyd, latex, emulsions and enamels.

Once applied, the murals are completely washable with detergents or liquid wall cleaners. If desired, they can be removed with diluted mineral spirits.

CONSUMERS have a choice of 33 subjects in various color combinations, plus 10 border designs. Subjects include landscapes, scenes, floral designs and special murals for children's rooms. They range in size from three feet to 12 feet long. Some of the murals can be cut apart and spaced around a room, if desired.

Watson pointed out that certain of the smaller designs are well suited for application on painted wood cabinets, chests and cupboards. He continued: "With the current popularity of murals for interior decorating, the Artraco murals fill a definite need in the home furnishings field by combining top quality original artwork with easy, do-it-yourself applicaton at a budget-pleasing cost."

The Artraco murals were developed by the Art Transfer Co., a Chicago firm. (BB

ROBERT FERNSTROM, president of Fernstrom Storage and Van Co., breaks ground in a traditional shovel-wielding ceremony to mark the start of construction on extensions to the 5-year-old building at River Road and the Northwest Expressway. This will double Fernstrom's warehouse and office space at that location. Obviously ready to escape the flying dirt is Harry Hemingway, right, president of Sessions Engineering, Inc., architects for the original building and the addition. Looking on is L. G. Wonneberg, administrative assistant to the president. (BB

Q. Are correspondence cards considered in good taste?

A. Yes, and they are very popular for the short, informal kind of note. It is becoming more and more customary for men and women to use these cards. However, they should be used only for strictly informal correspondence.

Today's Agriculture

by Robert E. Hood, Assistant Farm Adviser

Despite opinion to the contrary, poison ivy is not contagious. On the other hand, the only sure way to avoid it is knowing what the plant looks like — and steering clear of it! So states Dr. Adolph J. Rostenberg, professor and head of the department of dermatology, University of Illinois College of Medicine, Chicago.

Discussing both facts and fallacies about the well-known and highly distressing skin disorder, Dr. Rostenberg emphasizes that not everyone who comes into contact with poison ivy will necessarily become "infected."

Poison ivy does not just "occur." Direct contact or any direct expose to the plant usually is what causes the trouble. The exposed skin areas usually are the face, hands, arms, legs and feet. These are the most easily to become infected.

The reaction can range from a faint, rapidly fading redness to huge blisters, usually in rows or patches, coupled with intensely inflamed skin and moderate to severe itching. The blisters can be carefully opened by a doctor to allow the skin to heal faster. Although the blister fluid is not infectious, care must be taken not to reinfect the raw skin.

It is possible, says Dr. Rostenberg, to prescribe soothing dressings and lotions as well as pills to relieve the itching, although in severe cases hospitalization may be required.

The best way to avoid this infection is to steer clear of poison ivy!

Suburbanites in the news — Business Building Improving

The home owner's biggest bargain for 1962 may be a new 48-page book of ideas and designs for home improvement which will soon be available from our office. The booklet, entitled Home Improvement Plans, contains dozens of plans for furnishings that can be built in the basement workshop. The list of plans includes diagrams for sewing centers, room dividers, clothing closets, laundry centers and the home office. Eight pages are devoted to the kitchen.

The home improvement plans book should be of special value to people in growing and developing rural and urban areas. It is designed for home builders, home owners or home planners.

A copy of this new plans book can be obtained by sending your name and address together with $1.00 to the Cooperative Extension Office, 201 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights. As soon as the books are available, your copy will be sent to you.

WITHOUT TRADE with other countries we in the United States could not drink coffee, tea, or cocoa. We would have no gum to chew, we would have few fine spices to flavor our foods, and I am wondering what would happen to the conventional coffee break. My guess is that a substitution for the coffee-break would be found. (BB

Q. If tea is being served and a guest does not care for it, would it be all right in this case for the guest to ask for a cup of coffee?

A. Not unless the hostess asks if he or she would prefer coffee. Otherwise, drink the tea, or part of it, and pretend you are enjoying it.

William Roosen of Mount Prospect is one of seven Illinois College seniors who received public recognition during the Honors Convocation recently for his election to Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest national Honor fraternity.

Mr. Roosen, a member of Phi Alpha Literary Society and a Fulbright Scholarship winner, is a history major. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin J. Roosen, 314 N. Elmhurst Ave., Mount Prospect, and is a graduate of Arlington High School.

At Alabama

Bonnie Lippke was tapped again for Triangle at the Annual Women's Honors and Awards convocation at the University of Alabama. Membership in this organization is based on outstanding leadership, character, and distinction in the field of college life. She has also been elected historian of her sorority, Pi Beta Phi, for the coming year.

Bonnie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Lippke, 412 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights. She is a sophomore in the school of Home Economics at the University. (CC

At Macalester

Beverly Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Jones, 4N261 Pine Grove Ave., Bensenville, was honored for academic achievement at the recent Honors Day convocation at Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn.

Miss Jones, a graduating senior at Macalester, has majored in elementary education. Those receiving honors were eulogized by faculty members and their names were published in a college recognition brochure. (CC

At Augustana

Lynn Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Olson, 55 E. Wood St., Palatine, will graduate magna cum laude from Augustana College.

Miss Olson, along with 26 other seniors, was honored recently at Senior Recognition Day in Centennial Hall.

A music major, Miss Olson is a member of the nationally known Augustana Choir. She belongs to the Music Education National Conference, is chairman of Augustana's convocations committee, and is a member of Sigma Pi Delta, women's social organization at the college. (CC

At Monticello

Cynthia A. Rosanova, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rosanova, 523 S. We-Go Trail, Mount Prospect, has been elected president of the 1962-63 Senior Class at Monticello College.

WORDS OFTEN MISUSED

Do not say, "I've got to go now." This is a much used expression, but it is much better to say, "I MUST go now."

Do not say, "This coin is no good." It is better to say, "This coin is WORTHLESS."

Distinguish between CATALOGUE (a list arranged according to some scheme) and CATEGORY (a class of things).

Do not say, "There isn't but one dress in the store window." Say, "There IS but one dress."

At Concordia

Kenneth G. Piepenbrink, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Piepenbrink, of 827 N. Wilshire Lane, Arlington Heights, a member of the 1962 graduating class of Concordia Theological Seminary, Springfield, Ill., will receive his diploma and official call into the Lutheran ministry at graduation services May 30.

Piepenbrink has been assigned as pastor of the First Lutheran Church, Phillipsburg, Kan.

CONCORDIA is maintained by the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

Prior to enrolling at the Concordia seminary in Springfield, Piepenbrink attended Concordia College, Milwaukee, Wis., and Wittenberg University. (CC

At Rockford

A Palatine resident, Jo Ann Bastian, was co-chairman for the Morning Program of sports events in Rockford College's annual May Party program.

Miss Bastian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bastian of 1016 S. Smith St., is a freshman majoring in the classics. She was named to the Dean's List last semester and has been active on the "Collegian" college newspaper, women's hockey team, active in student government and social affairs. She is a graduate of Palatine Township High School. (CC

Conference Track Meets on Saturday

Sports

Paddock Publications - 43 THURS., MAY 24, 1962

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

THE ILLINOIS HIGH SCHOOL Association stiffened minimum performances to qualify for the state track meet this year in the high and low hurdles, 220-yard dash, shot put, discus, and high jump.

It appears it will have to tighten the standards once again after examining the number of entries in each of the events in the 1962 cinder spectacular. The changes were made in an attempt to cut down the number of competitors who overwhelm Memorial Stadium each year, but the actual reduction was limited.

Last year 227 schools qualified 738 trackmen for the state meet. This year the figures were 217 schools and 714 individuals.

It appears the broad jump minimum of 21 feet must be raised. Last year 48 broad jumpers made the coveted trip to Champaign, and 57 qualified this year. The pole vault limit is 11-8 but could be hiked to 12 feet with little argument. Fifty-nine vaulters struggled through the preliminaries Friday and if you've ever witnessed one of those time-consuming pole vault finals, you would appreciate some stiffer standards by the IHSA.

High jump is another event which may require some changes. Those who make 5-11 now can advance to the state meet. Sixty-five boys made it this year in another time-consuming event.

The new standards did achieve some reduction. In the discus throw, for example, 56 made the state in 1961 and 48 in 1962.

THE DELAVAN RELAYS has a unique event likely unmatched anywhere. It's a relay race for field event performers only.

On the first lap runners carry a sweatsuit. The second man carries both the sweatsuit and a discus. Third leg runners have these two items to carry plus a shot put. The anchor man, mercifully, has only the same three items to tote to the finish line.

LOCAL NAMES IN THE NEWS:

Mike Dundy of Prospect Heights, a sophomore at the University of Illinois, finished fourth in the 880 yard run in the Big Ten track championships, and Jim Erickson of Arlington Heights and Northwestern University teamed with Marty Riessen for a Big Ten tennis crown in doubles.

Dundy's clocking for the half-mile event was the best of his young career, a sparkling 1:53.9.

Ralph Ibbotson of Mount Prospect recently rolled a 605 game for Purdue University in the Big Ten bowling finals at Ann Arbor, Mich., and John Lind of Prospect Heights and Beloit College was named to the Midwest Conference all-star baseball team at shortstop.

ONE REASON THE BIG TEN likes a national letter of intent for its prep athletes is because it has discovered, to its chagrin, it does much of the recruiting spacework for non-conference schools.

Notre Dame people, for example, often have jokingly said there's no point in working the Big Ten area for prospects. "Let the Big Ten sign them; then we have to fight only one school for a boy we want instead of all 10," is the philosophy.

Big Ten tenders only protect a member school against others in the conference. When George Wilson, the talented basketball player from Chicago Marshall signed an Illinois tender, the only consolation the Illini derived from the act was that at least he wouldn't be playing for another Big Ten school.

But the tender couldn't prevent Wilson from accepting Cincinnati's offer which he did a few days later.

In many cases getting a star athlete to accept a tender represents only half the battle. You can't be sure he'll be yours until he actually enrolls in the fall.

Under an NCAA letter of intent once a boy signed he'd not be allowed to accept a tender or scholarship from any NCAA member.

WSC Events At York High

The West Suburban Conference track and field meet, staged on Wednesday afternoons in past years, will unfold this Saturday at York High School in Elmhurst.

Competition will begin at 1:45 p.m. for the eight league schools with powerful LaGrange ready to defend championships in both varsity and frosh-soph divisions.

Given a break from the weatherman, a wholesale assault on the record book is expected in both classes with an outstanding field of schoolboy trackmen.

TOM ATKINSON, state champion in both the 100 yard dash and broad jump, will head LaGrange's bid for its 14th varsity track championship in West Suburban history.

The Lions, who won the crown last year with 58 1/5 markers, have won two straight championships and have annexed eight titles since 1950 in an amazing dominance of the cinder sport.

Arlington High's Cardinals, guided by Coach Russ Attis, aren't expected to make much noise in the varsity competition, but the Cardinals' frosh-sophs could show well in the scramble for team honors.

LaGRANGE'S Atkinson will be the top individual in the 1962 spectacular with Tom shooting for the league marks in both the 100 yard dash and broad jump. The latter — a standard of 22-8½ — is almost assured of falling if Atkinson is healthy.

The Lions' speedster has covered 24-1¼ in the broad jump this spring, well beyond the league record. Tom also has a :09.8 century to his credit which ties the conference mark set back in 1932 by Glenbard's Bob Grieve.

Downers Grove's fleet sophomore Bill Howerton, fourth in the state furlong, is a definite threat in both the 100 and 220 and he may be flirting with that 220 mark if the conditions are favorable. Howerton has a wind-aided :21.2 this year and the league standard is :21.8 set by York's Sparf in 1939.

DOWNERS GROVE'S Steve Brubaker is favored in the 440 yard dash although he will be pushed by Glenbard West's Larry Rahn among others. The conference mark of :50.2 set by York's Wagner in 1934 is in definite danger.

The 880 yard run should belong to Glenbard West's Jim Isaacson although Riverside's Mike Nauta also is a possibility. Both boys could equal or better the conference standard of 1:56.7

The mile run record of 4:22.8 is also in danger with LaGrange's Craig Boydston, York's Fred Logan, and Glenbard West's Mike Waterman expected to battle to the wire. Boydston has the best recorded time of the trio with a 4:23.9.

WIDE-OPEN RACES are anticipated in both the high and low hurdles with Arlington High's John Latta among the favorites. Latta, York's Gaylord Morse, Downers Grove's Greg Grosrenaud, and LaGrange's Jerry Gilbert are all highly regarded hurdlers.

The high hurdles standard of :14.1 is out of danger, but the boys could equal or better the :19.5 effort in the lows.

Downers Grove's Bob Beightol and Maine East's Steve Smith are the top shot put entries with

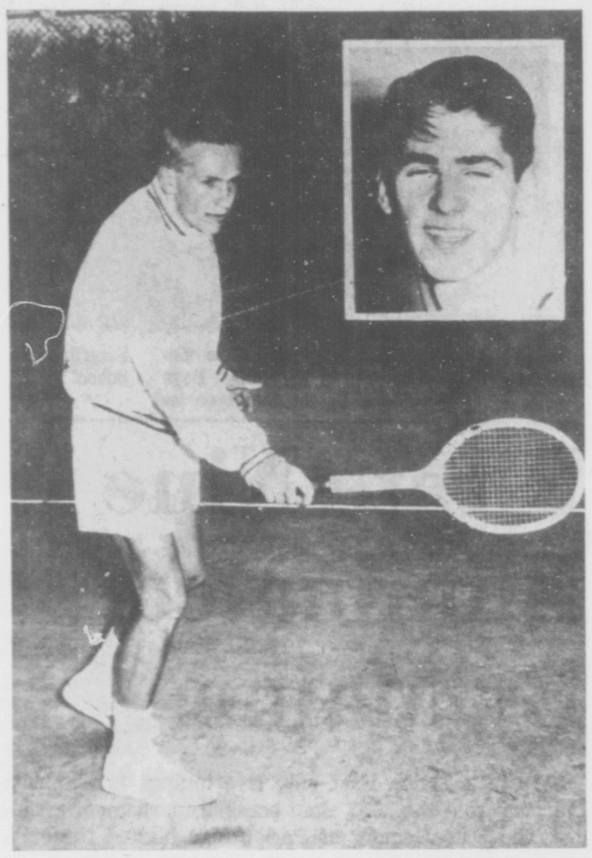
EVENT:
West Suburban Conference Track Meet, varsity and frosh-soph dvisions
TIME:
1:45 p.m. Saturday
PLACE:
York High School in Elmhurst
CONTESTANTS:
Arlington, Downers Grove, Glenbard West, Hinsdale, Lyons, Maine East, Riverside-Brookfield, York



JIM ERICKSON of Arlington Heights, a junior at Northwestern University, and Marty Riessen (inset), a Wildcat sophomore from Hinsdale, combined talents to capture the No. 1 doubles title in the recent Big Ten tennis championships in Minneapolis. Erickson and Riessen whipped Michigan's Ray Senkowski and Harry Fauquier 4-6, 15-13, and 11-9. Riessen also won the No. 1 singles crown with a 6-1, 6-4 triumph over Senkowski.

Glenbrook to Host Interim

A repeat of the indoor championships is expected Saturday as the Interim League stages its outdoor track and field finals at Glenbrook High School in Northbrook.

Glenbard East and Proviso West, top two finishers in the indoor spectacular, are accorded the best chances for the coveted team title in the outdoor festivities with the Rams of Lombard a slight favorite.

Glenbard posted 43 points in winning the indoor crown with Proviso West second with 32. Prospect, Glenbrook, and Maine West finished behind the two leaders.

COACH BOB Scott's Prospect Knights have been turning in some impressive performances of late and could afford a few surprises in the varsity competition. The Foundry Road school also is expected to field a formidable frosh-soph entry.

Competition at Glenbrook High will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday with the preliminaries. The finals will begin at 1:30 p.m. with the 120 yard high hurdles.

The finals in the field events also will begin at 1:30 p.m. with the first six qualifiers in the shot put, discus, and broad jump. The high jump and pole vault will be run straight through the morning session.

THE INTERIM league record book should be rewritten Saturday as the conference boasts a host of outstanding trackmen this spring. Marks conceivably could fall in every event.

State champion Barney Peterson of Proviso West heads the alignment of trackmen with the little distance ace expected to shatter the 880 mark of 1:58.4 set in 1960 by Rich Taylor of Wheaton.

Giving Peterson his stiffest competition will be Lee Wolf of Maine West, Barry Moore and John Michols of Glenbard East and with those boys chasing him there's no telling how low that half-mile standard will go. Peterson ran a 1:55 flat in last week's state meet for a new schoolboy record.

GLENBROOK'S Ted Jacob, who ruled the 50 yard dash indoors, should do likewise in the 100 Saturday. Ted has been below the league mark of :10.2. The 220-yard dash is wide open although Glenbrook's Larry Corcoran is a possible titlist.

Maine West's Vic Oakley and Glenbard East's Larry Bretsnyder are the two favorites in the 440 yard dash with Oakley owning a :50.8 clocking, sixtenths of a second better than the Interim mark of :51.4 set by Maine's Lee Wolf last May.

Wolf is back this year but probably will concentrate his efforts in the 880 yard run where he finished third in the state meet. The mile should belong to Weaton's Dave Bartel. Bartel won indoors at 4:34.6 and has a 4:25.8 outdoors. He finished fourth in the state and should have little trouble breaking his own Interim record of 4:36.7.

Meet Facts

EVENT:
Interim League Track Meet, varsity and frosh-soph divisions.
TIME:
Preliminaries, 10 a.m. Saturday; Finals, 1:30 p.m., Saturday.
PLACE:
Glenbrook High School in Northbrook
CONTESTANTS:
Deerfield, Glenbrook, Glenbard East, East Leyden, West Leyden, Maine West, Morton West, Niles West, Prospect, Proviso West, Wheaton, Willowbrook

PROVISO WEST'S Herb Steinkraus is favored in both the high and low hurdles although Jacob of Glenbrook could push Steinkraus in the low sticks. The high hurdles mark of :14.6 should stand, but the :20.3 mark in the lows is in definite danger.

Prospect's Jim Anderson and Tom Bremner are other highly regarded entries in the hurdles with Anderson's particular specialty the highs where he has a 15 flat effort.

The shot put and discus are wide-open events with no standout entries. Bill Watters of Proviso West ruled the shot indoors with a toss of 50-11¾.

WHEATON'S JACK Hutchinson is favored in the high jump as he finished in a tie for fifth in the state meet. Prospect's Dave Gobeille is only a sophomore but has cleared 5-11 and could finish with the leaders Saturday.

East Leydn's Bill Skelnik, the indoor titlist, and Maine West's Ray Leonardson are leading broad jump entries with Skelnik owning a 21-6 leap this spring. Bill went 21-3½ in winning the event indoors.

Several talented pole vaulters will be on hand Saturday with Proviso West's Bill Silhan owning the best effort at 12-0. Prospect's Dan Johnson and Dick Westergaard have reached 11-6 and could show well. This is one event in which the Interim record should stand as Art Steele cleared 12-8¼ last spring.

GLENBARD EAST'S brilliant mile relay team, which turned in a 3:21 clocking downstate in a second place finish, should have little trouble lowering the standard of 3:29.2 it set last spring, and Glenbrook is favored in the 880 yard relay where it also set a mark last year.

The Spartans covered the distance in 1:33.4 in 1961 but have topped that this spring.

WSC Golf Tuesday

Loop Tennis Finals Slated for Saturday

West Suburban championships in tennis and golf and the Interim League title in tennis will be decided within the next six days as the spring sports campaign terminate in the schoolboy conferences.

Finals in tennis in both leagues are scheduled for Saturday with the West Suburban golf competition slated for the Acacia Country Club course on Tuesday.

The West Suburban will hold its tennis preliminaries today (Thursday) in both varsity and frosh-soph divisions.

THE VARSITY singles will be held at Burns Field in Hinsdale with the varsity doubles at Hinsdale High School. First and second singles on a frosh-soph level will be staged at Gilbert Courts in LaGrange with third singles and the doubles play at the South Campus in LaGrange.

Finals in the WSC net action will begin at 1 p. m. Saturday at York High School in Elmhurst.

The Interim League tennis competition will unfold at two different sites Saturday with both the preliminaries and finals on the docket.

THE VARSITY competition will begin at 8 a. m. at Glenbrook High School with the frosh-sophs also opening at 8 o'clock at Deerfield.

Rounding out a busy week of conference finales with track also included on the program will be the West Suburban links affair next Tuesday at Acacia. Riverside-Brookfield will play host to the meet with the boys getting under way at 8 a. m.

Arlington High's varsity tennis team will head into the preliminaries today with a perfect record in league play, and the Cards stand a good chance at snapping the Hinsdale domination in the net sport.

HINSDALE HAS won seven straight West Suburban tennis championships but goes into the 1962 spectacular with its back to the wall. The Red Devils, possessor of ten crowns since 1950, lost to Ken Schaller's Cardinals in a dual meet, 4-1.

The final conference standings are determined on the basis of team finish in the meet and the dual records.

KEN SCHALLER

Last year Arlington also carried an unbeaten record into the conference tourney, but Hinsdale turned on the power in the finals and edged Schaller's Cards by one point.

ARLINGTON will be out for revenge this year, and Schaller has the talent available for the coveted title. Only four schools have won West Suburban Conference tennis crowns since the sport was introduced in the league program in 1941. Hinsdale has won 14 of the 22 championships.

IN THE INTERIM League tennis action it's anybody's guess as to what squad will pick off top honors.

Coach Rick Farris' Knights finished second in 1961, climbing from the cellar in one season. Overall this year, Prospect stands 8-2 in dual meets.

THE FOUNDRY Road outfit lost to Maine West in the season opener 3-2 but avenged that setback. Prospect also lost to a Glenbrook team it had beaten earlier in the campaign.

Sophomore Bob Gewecke, playing third singles, has been the bright light for the Knights and he will bring an unbeaten record into the tourney action.

IN TUESDAY'S West Suburban golf action at Acacia Country Club Hinsdale's Red Devils, the 1961 varsity champions, are favored for a repeat off their season record and performance in the state tourney competition.

Hinsdale won a district title and finished second in the state finals in Urbana after leading following the first 18 holes.

The Red Devils hammered Arlington in a dual meet, 318-342, and although the Cards have been showing some signs of solid golf in recent outings, they don't figure to be in the race for team honors Tuesday.

Heading into action this Tuesday, the Cards' varsity linksmen stood 5-8 in dual competition and 2-3 against conference foes.

Glenbrook Claims Two Golf Crowns

Glenbrook High School dominated the Interim League golf picture in 1962.

That was evident Monday afternoon after the final returns were in for the conference tournament at Chevy Chase Country Club.

The powerful Spartans ruled the varsity division by five strokes with a solid 326 and also headed the frosh-sophs with a nifty 334.

The final conference standings are determined on both the tourney and dual meet records, but that didn't alter the fact that Glenbrook reigned supreme in 1962.

Prospect High's Knights, guided by Bill McKillip, finished eighth in the final varsity tabulations and second in the frosh-soph. The Knights were seventh in the conference tourney on a varsity level and fifth in the younger class.

Chris Bersted was low man for the Knights' varsity with a fine 83 over 18 challenging holes at Chevy Chase. Chris finished in a five-way tie for 12th and eventually came out with a 13th place medal in the field of 55 golfers.

JOHN KRAUSE was right behind Bersted with an 85, but the remaining varsity scores soared into the 90s. Warren Luebcke fashioned a 90, Bob O'Day a 92, and Don Feige a 97.

Bob Robertshaw's 87 earned him a 10th place ribbon in the frosh-soph class, but Bob was the only Prospect soph able to finish lower than 90. Backing Robertshaw for the Foundry Road crew were Norm Milner and Dave Huntley with 94s, Don Campbell with a 96, and Mike Seleski with a 102.

A heavy rain handicapped the competition Monday with play halted for 90 minutes at one time. A continuous rain fell when play was resumed and all the playoffs were contested in a downpour.

Richard Smith of Proviso West and Denny Pietrzak of Glenbrook shared medalist honors in the varsity division with 78s. Smith fashioned a 44 on the first nine and came back with a blistering 34. Pietrzak scored a birdie on the first hole of a playoff to win the medal.

25-Mile Race

Applications Available for Roller Derby

Applications are now available for the First Annual Paddock-Triangle Roller Derby scheduled for Sunday, July 8.

Forms may be picked up at the Triangle Roller Rink at 1000 W. Northwest Highway in Arlington Heights or requested by contacting Abe Linderman at CLearbrook 5-3316.

Paddock Publications, Inc. and the Triangle Roller Rink will co-sponsor the First Annual Paddock-Triangle Roller Derby with the 25-mile race run from Triangle to Pepper Road beyond Barrington and back.

Highways will be policed, patroled, and escorted.

THE 25-MILE race will be open to members of the Roller Skating Rink Operators Association of America with an age limit of 18 and up. Entries are expected from throughout the middle west although anyone in the United States and Canada who has an amateur card with the RSROA is eligible.

Anyone who is an amateur and in need of an RSROA card may purchase one at a nominal cost.

Linderman announced this week that a filing fee has been set up with a premium arranged for early registration. Entries received or postmarked before 12:01 a.m. July 3 will be $4.00.

Entries received after that time will be $6.00 with entries accepted until 30 minutes before race time.

FREE SETS of wheels and training wheels will be available to all entrants. A training track will be provided on the parking lot west of Triangle with the lot available at posted times.

Anyone interested in learning more about the Roller Derby may contact Abe Linderman at CLearbrook 5-3316.

The three handsome trophies, pictured elsewhere in the sports section, are currently on display at Triangle Roller Rrink.

ADMIRING THE THREE TROPHIES that will be presented to the winners of the First Annual Paddock-Triangle Roller Derby are Abe Linderman (left), co-operator of the Triangle Roller Rink, and Bob Paddock, vice-president of Paddock Publications, Inc. Paddock's and Triangle will co-sponsor the Roller Derby that will cover 25 miles and will start at the Triangle Roller Rink in Arlington Heights. The event is scheduled for Sunday morning, July 8.

CONGRATULATIONS ANDY MERUTKA of Palatine. You are the first athlete in Illinois history to break a state record as a junior and come back and break your own mark as a senior. You had real competition but you seem to thrive on it. After Jeff Lundeen of Moline had become the first Illinois athlete to put the shot over 60 feet and break your 1961 record by a foot in the prelims you stepped into the ring and came through with tosses of 60' 5", 60' 8", 61' 10", and then a record put of 62' 2¼". This definitely proved who is the best in Illinois in the shot in 68 years the state meet has been held. Hard work, training, competitive spirit, and high scholarship on your part serve as an example for other athletes of what can be accomplished by persons like you who set their sights high and through determination achieve their goal. All of us in the schools at Palatine are proud of you.

THE STATE MEET was packed with great track talent this year. Five state champs were back with hopes of repeating. Like Merutka, Tom Atkinson of LaGrange repeated in the broad jump, Jim Weinert of Highland Park in the mile, Warren Hampton of East St. Louis in the 120 yard high hurdles, and Barney Peterson of Proviso West in the 880. Theo Cox of Zion dropped to third in the 100 yard dash which was won by Atkinson to make him the only double winner in the meet. Atkinson also anchored a third place 880 yard relay team and became the first athlete to win an event three years ago with his broad jump victory.

Phillips won the state after finishing 5th in the Palatine Relays. They had bad luck and no breaks that Saturday in April. Everything went just right Saturday at Champaign. They won both the 880 and mile relays, took the 220, and placed in all other running events except the 880 and mile, to run away from a group of very strong teams in a meet where as few as 15 points was considered sufficient to take the title. It was the 5th state track title for Phillips and the only Chicago team to win the meet in the last 33 years. Phillips won in 1906, 1943, 1950, and 1954. Coach Carl Bonner of the Phillips team was a member of the 1943 state champions. Phillips set a record of 3:20.9 in the mile relay Saturday and Willie Collins had set one Friday in the prelims of the low hurdles in :19.1 but had to be content with 3rd place in the

Pirate Nine Eliminated By Maine

It took Maine East only five innings to eliminate Palatine from the 1962 state baseball tournament series!

The Blue Demons of Park Ridge blasted three Pirate pitchers for 11 runs and nine hits, including two home runs, last Wednesday and compiled an 11-1 advantage with one out in the fifth.

In accordance with the state 10-run rule, the game was then halted at this point and the Demons had won a berth in the Elgin Regional tournament.

IT WAS STRICTLY no contest from the outset. Maine hopped on Palatine starter Jim Valukas for four runs in the first inning and then hiked its plurality to a comfortable 9-0 with a big five-spot in the third.

Jim McIntyre went all the way on the hill for the victors, allowing but four hits while striking out five Pirates.

Maine's power was evident. Johnson led off the bottom half of the first with a single and moved to second when one of Valukas' deliveries clipped Larry Eichler.

SPIGGOS then laced out a solid homer for Maine's first three runs.

But the Demons weren't ready to call it quits, as yet. Comstock walked, stole second and raced all the way home on another Palatine boot.

Coach Claude Bailey's outfit threatened in the top of the second by putting a couple of men on base, but Valukas fanned to kill the rally.

THE DEMONS then virtually decided the game in the fifth with those five runs. Tom Eichler singled but was erased at second on a force by Larry Booth.

Pete Brune walked and Harry Hood belted a sharp single to left scoring Booth. A walk to Rich McIntyre filled the bases with the two lead runners scampering home on Mel Helms' booble on Dave Johnson's smash to second.

With runners on at second and third and one out, Larry Eichler whacked a single for two more runs.

The Pirates came up with their lone run of the contest in the fourth as Bob Carver knocked Wayne Lewin in, but a circuit blast by Comstock with Larry Eichler aboard ended the game.

Knights Rally for 4-3 Triumph

Al Koehler fanned 11 and yielded only six hits Friday afternoon as Prospect High School's frosh-soph baseball team edged Glenbard East, 4-3.

The Knights of coach Lou Schairer came up with two runs in the home half of the seventh inning for their fifth victory of the season. Koehler has received credit for four of those triumphs.

Gordon Keeley slammed a double with two outs in the seventh to drive in the winning runs.

Prospect scored single runs in the second and third en route to its fifth victory in nine games this season.

Horse Show Scheduled For June 2

The Northern Illinois Arabian Horse Activity Club will present its First Annual Spring Horse show on Saturday, June 2, at the Dunham Woods Riding Club in Wayne, Ill.

Competition will be held in 32 classes with the morning division for breeding and halter classes slated to get under way at 8:30 a.m. The afternoon session will include the performance classes.

The Dunham Woods Riding Club is located at the junction of Dunham Road and Army Trail Road, west of Wayne village.

Secretary of the show is Alice Murzyn, Route 1, Box 334, Elgin, Ill.

McGinleys Head Mill Creek Show

A father and son combination captured a double championship Saturday at Lake Forest, Ill. in the Mill Creek Hunt Horse Show.

Mr. William (Bill) McGinley rode his mare Pocahontas to victories in both jumper classes and the championship over 19 horses.

Meanwhile, his 10-year-old son Robert, on his horse Daybreak, proceeded to down 30 riders to win the junior hunter championship.

The McGinleys reside in Inverness Countryside. They have been jumping for only two years and take their training and stable their horses at the Tri-Color Farm.

In the same show other riders from the Paddock area turned in creditable performances. Betty Lue Helferich won the hunter championship with her Duchess of Cameo and Nan Koeske of Arlington Heights won the Town and Country class and reserve equitation championship.

Riders from Tri-Color stables won three championships, three reserve and seven blues and 46 assorted ribbons.

Grace, Taylo Honored by West Suburban

Wally Grace of Arlington High School and Julian Taylo of Downers Grove were honored Monday evening by the West Suburban Conference athletic directors at a dinner held at the Cypress Inn in Hinsdale.

Grace and Taylo, who are retiring in June, were each presented with an engraved desk clock with the figure of a coach on top.

Grace has oeen at Arlington High School for 17 years, and Taylo has been at Downers Grove for 20 years, 17 as athletic director.

Kelter Realty Moves Into Lead In Rob Roy Golf

The second round of play in the Rob Roy Tuesday night league found the Kelter Realty team forging to the top spot by virtue of a decisive 5-2 victory over Prospect Heights Pharmacy. With near perfect weather conditions prevailing Bob Hornbostel led the Kelter team with a 41-4—37 to tie Dick Craig of the opposing Pharmacy gang for low net honors, but Dick walked off with low gross honors for the league by shooting a 38.

Golf Rand Golf Center was pressing the leaders hard all the way by whipping Ray Statz & Associates 5-2 and tumbling the Statz boys from third to sixth place. Chuck Herron, No. 3 man, for Golf Rand was the big gun in this match by firing a 41-6—35 to share league low net honors with Red Ackerman of John Stearns and Company.

Don Schmidt, in the No. 2 slot, also played a steady game for the Golf Center and won his match with a beautiful iron shot that landed two feet from the pin on the last hole to give him a birdie three and win the match one up.

GUNNELL'S Restaurant came out of nowhere to land in a second place tie by downing the Prospect Heights Service Station aggregation 6-1. The No. 3 and 4 men W. Erven and Dick Hanselman were the main factors in this tussle by coming thru with low net 37s to account for three of the six points.

W. Collins surprised the other thirteen players in the alternate group by shooting a remarkable round of 40-9—31 to take low net honors easily from his competitors.

Team standings:

Arlington Golfers Triumph

Arlington's varsity golfers, whipped by St. George in an earlier meeting, turned around and edged the Dragons of the Chicagoland Prep league last week, 175-179.

Coach Ralph Meyer's Cardinals were sparked by Doug Wiborg's 41 over nine holes at Golden Acres Country Club.

Also figuring in the Arlington total were Jerry Peterson with a 42 and Fred Devin and Jim Wolf with 46s.

The Cardinals also wrapped up a frosh-soph decision as Bob Armour's 43 paced a 185-196 victory.

Backing Armour for Arlington were Walt Bray and Garrett Shawhan with 47s and Darryl Burkett with a 48.

Drag Races Wednesday

Memorial Day, 1962, will bring together drivers from Wisconsin and Illinois in the Sixth Annual Interstate Championship drag races at the Great Lakes Dragaway, Union Grove, Wis.

Illinois drivers will be after their third consecutive title in the six meetings between the two states.

Triangle to Enter Teams in State Tourney

The Triangle Roller Rink of Arlington Heights will enter two teams in the First Illinois State Roller Hockey championships slated for Memorial Day in East St. Louis.

Roller Hockey games consist of two 15-minute periods with one five-minute overtime followed by a sudden death if necessary.

There is no body contact and there are five men on a team. Sticks and pucks are utilized in the games with a goalie, defense man, center, and two wings on each squad.

Representing Triangle Roller Rink will be the Triangle Vets and Triangle Scrappers.

St. Viator Linksmen Beaten

Powerful Glenbrook, the Interim league champions, and St. Joseph of Westchester both posted golf victories over St. Viator's Lions in recent competition.

Glenbrook's varsity gained a 166-197 decision, and the Spartan's frosh rang up a 189-220 victory.

Figuring in the Lions' score against the Glenbrook varsity were Anton Sadler with a 44, Gregg Cryns with a 51, Marty Serbins with a 54, and Harry Drnec with a 48.

In the freshman match Pat Phee carded a 54, Dennis Zitzer a 50, Bill Roach a 57, and John Wilcox a 59.

The Lions lost a sophomore match to St. Joseph of Westchester, 197-203, at Midwest Country Club.

The individual scores for the St. Viator unit were as follows: Tony Sadler with a 46, Drnec with a 51, Cryns with a 58, Zitzer with a 55, and Pat Phee with a 53.

Peoria Richwoods Claims Golf Crown

Richwoods High of Peoria bounced back with a torrid 313 team total on the second day of play this past weekend and thereby wrapped up the 1962 Illinois High School Association golf championhip.

The Peoria school, sparked by excellent balance, wiped out a one-stroke Hinsdale lead at the completion of Friday's activities at Urbana Country Club.

Hinsdale's Red Devils, the defending state champions, sagged to second place a full ten strokes off Richwoods pace. Peoria rolled up 630 points to 640 for the Devils.

Three teams tied for third place at 643. They were Champaign, Freeport, and Streator.

PALATINE PULLED up sixth with a 645 total followed by Waukegan (646), Galesburg (661), Trinity (672), Blue Island (674), Belleville (678), Wheaton (681), Schurz (682), Barrington (687), Effingham (690), West Frankfort (694) and Jacksonville (694).

Individually, Gary Flowers of Pinckneyville walked off with medalist honors. Flowers banged out a 75 Friday and then came back with a consistent 76 Saturday.

First round leader, Mike Wise of Hinsdale, spoiled his 72 with an 86 the second time around. It was Wise's blow-up that cost Hinsdale the title.

NORM OLSON

Had Wise been able to match Friday's round it would have given Hinsdale a potent 1-2-3 punch. As things worked out Leith Anderson fired a 75 to go with his first round of 80 and thereby earned a slice of third place in the individual rankings.

ANDERSON eventually won a playoff for the medal from Cam Clark of Marian Central, John Mulliken of Champaign, Norm Olson of Palatine, Bob Moreland of Richwoods and Terry Schad, also of Richwoods.

Another Red Devil, Jim Wayne, also played steady golf, registering a pair of 78's to earn a seven-way deadlock for ninth. Also involved in that ninth place stalemate were Bob Brown of West Frankfort, Mike Long of Joliet, Marv Rezabek of Riverside-Brookfield, Jeff Hindman of Champaign, Mike Coale of Carmi and John Seehausen of Palatine.

Olson played outstanding golf for Palatine's Pirates, winners of the Mount Prospect district tournament. Olson opened his bid with a 79 and blazed back the next day with a 76.

Seehausen had his troubles Friday as he carded an 80, but the Pirate senior closed with a fine 76.

SOPHOMORE JIM Arendt finished up in 162 strokes for the 36-hole tourney on the strength of an 83 and 79. Also figuring in the Pirate total was Way Thompson with a pair of 86's for a 172 total.

Palatine's fifth man, Bob Fiddes, totaled 181.

The two Mount Prospect medalists, Randy Wolf of Lake Park and Jim Kedzie of St. Patrick, failed to finish among the leaders. Wolf carded an 86 Friday and countered with an 80 Saturday for a 166 total.

Arlington High's Varsity Golfers Top Prospect Unit

Prospect and Arlington battled to a split in their first golf competition this season and repeated again last week only with a switch in the winners.

In the first meeting Prospect's varsity won 162-169 and the frosh-sophs lost 172-186.

Last week Arlinngton's varsity came through with a 165-170 decision but the Cards' frosh-sophs fell 175-186.

JERRY PETERSON and Doug Wiborg fashioned identical 40s to spark Arlington's varsity to its five-stroke victory. Also figuring in the Cardinal total were Mike Heyl with a 42 and Fred Devin with a 43.

Chris Bersted was low man for Prospect with a 41 and the four other Knights all fired 43s: John Krause, Don Feige, Bob O'Day, and Warren Luebcke.

A sharp 41 by Norm Milner sparked Prospect's frosh-sophs to their 11-stroke decision. Also counting for the Knights were a 44 and 45s by Mike Seleski and Dick Lynch.

Bob Armour and Darryl Burkett both posted 45s for the Cardinals and Garret Shawhan and Bob Mills came home with 48s.

both boys capable of eclipsing the league record of 57-5 set by Hinsdale's Pete Martin in 1960. Smith and LaGrange's Cliff Lake have been the top discus performers this season but will need exceptional efforts to snap the record of 164-3 5/8 set by Arlington's Dick Winterbauer in 1954. Smith has reached 165-9 this spring but has been erratic.

LaGRANGE'S GRANT Johnstone is favored in the high jump with Glenbard West's Al Carroll and LaGrange Tim Rogers slight favorites in the pole vault. Both boys will have to hit their all-time bests if they envision breaking the conference marks of 6-2¼ and 12-4.

Atkinson and York's Don Anderman should rule the broad jump with LaGrange and York boasting the top half-mile relay units. Glenbard West, York, Downers Grove, and LaGrange have strong mile relay quartets although the record of 3:21.2 appears out of danger.

St. Viator Frosh Top Prospect, 6-1

St. Viator's Lions backed the strong pitching of Jimmy Vidt with an eight-hit attack last Thursday and posted a 6-1 frosh baseball victory over neighboring Prospect.

Prospect scored its lone run in the top half of the seventh inning.

Hitting stars during the game were Ron Rose and Don Knudson of St. Viator with two hits each. Knudson slammed a home run.

Craig Thomas and Rick Miller worked on the mound for coach Maurie Levy's Knights who suffered their fourth loss in eight outings this spring.

Big Weekend in Baseball

Gunnison's No-Hitter Heads Arlington Opening LL Day

They're off and running in the Arlington Heights Little League for 1962, and Bobby Gunnison is the man of the hour after the initial competition on Saturday.

Gunnison twirled a masterful no-hitter as the Cubs pounded the Angels 9-0 in the National League, and Bob's efforts highlighted the Little League's opening day.

Gunnison fanned 14 in six innings and also drove in three runs with three hits.

OVER-ALL, thirty-four games made their way into the record book as the Arlington Heights program got under way with a break from the weatherman.

Gunnison's work helped send the Cubs off to a fast start in the National League, but the Twins and Braves also posted wins and the Dodgers and Cardinals figured in a deadlock.

The Braves scored three runs in the first, second, and fourth and coasted to a 9-1 victory over the Giants. Bob Hecht fired a one-hitter and also slapped a double for the winners.

THE CARDINALS came up with a single run in the top of the sixth inning and claimed a 3-3 tie with the Dodgers. Steve Shawhan cracked two homers that accounted for the Cards' three runs.

The Dodgers put together a walk, three singles, and two errors to score their three runs in the second.

Exploding for 11 hits, the Twins rolled over the Pirates 13-1 as Scott Pregent tossed a one-hitter and posted the victory. Pregent pitched no-hit baseball for four innings. Slamming homers in the contest were Ron Horcher of the Pirates and Mike Evanger of the Twins.

IN THE American league the Tigers, Red Sox, and White Sox opened with victories. Aided by 10 errors, the Tigers stopped the Yankees 12-3 with Steve Stratton working on the mound.

The White Sox pushed over the decisive run in the sixth inning of a 2-1 win over the Athletics as Tom Epperly bested Scott Anderson in the duel, and the Red Sox bumped the Senators 6-2 with Tom Baness getting the victory. Tom also came up with a single and triple, driving in three runs.

In the Southwest Intermediate division the Solons kicked off their season with an 11-6 victory over the Terriers, scoring in every inning and backing Fred Stern with a nine-hit attack.

A THREE-SPOT in the fifth inning enabled the Royals to claim a 7-7 tie with the Marlins. Four homers were connected in the contest, two by the Marlins' Mike McCann and Larry Wert and another pair by the Royals' Blake Burkett and Jeff Nelson.

The Barons tallied in every frame and bombed the Huskies 14-5, using 14 hits to good advantage. Mark Richter was credited with the victory and slapping four-base clouts in the contest were Jeff Damm, Richter, Tom Scheffel, and Todd Behrens.

In the Southeast Intermediate division the Dons produced the most explosive opener with a crushing 26-1 victory over the Chargers. Using five home runs and ten other hits, the Dons gave pitcher Mark Kahling an enjoyable time on the mound as he breezed to the decision, scattering five hits.

STEVE Whittier bested Craig Schulze as the Seals bumped the Stars 9-2 with Jeff Peterson and Whittier furnishing the long blows for the winners, both triples.

The Rangers rocked the Ravens 16-4 with Doug Hidding getting the win. Ves Duro, Lasworth, and Hidding had circuit clouts in the contest.

In the Northwest Intermediate class the Mohawks and Hornets registered victories with the Colonels and Bruins battling to a tie in the opening day of competition.

THE MOHAWKS bumped the Mounties 11-1, and the Hornets edged the Doves 3-2 with Ed Boarini's homer breaking up a 2-2 tie in the sixth. Ed also rapped a triple for offensive honors.

The Colonels and Bruins battled to an 11-11 tie with the Colonels scoring six in the top of the fifth stanza and the Bruins coming back with a trio for the deadlock. Mike Herr and Roger Shuler worked on the mound.

In the Northwest Intermediate division the Saints and Comets battled to a 6-6 tie, and the Celtics rocked the Broncs 11-6 although only able to collect five hits.

JOHNNY Massa hurled a neat three-hitter, fanning 15, as the Redbirds thumped the Triplets 15-3. Mike Elwart slapped a single and home run.

The Pioneers exploded with seven runs in the final inning to pull out an unbelievable 12-12 tie with the Lancers. Heading the Pioneers in the comeback were the bats of Marty Monti and Bill Stelling and the base running of Tom Flynn.

In the Southwest Juniors league the Stags opened with a 7-5 win over the Padres behind the mound and plate work of Johnny Brodnan. He allowed only six hits and slapped a homer and double.

SCORING four runs in each of the first four innings, the Jets rolled over the Jays 16-5 in a game that saw only six hits. Glenn Abel got the win from Terry Ormsbee and also collected two doubles. Mark Brown blasted a double and triple.

Blanked in the first two innings, the Atoms erupted in the four final innings and belted the Buckeyes 10-3. Walter Farr toiled for the winners and allowed only two hits. Two doubles and a triple by George Purtha of the Atoms drove in three runs.

In the Northwest Juniors league the Robins scored single runs in the first, second, and fourth and tallied seven big ones in the third inning of a 10-5 win over the Chicks. Steve Chase picked up the victory in a game that featured homers by Tom Klinger and Tom Heimsoth.

THE BEES exploded with 12 hits and 22 runs and crushed the Astros 22-9 with six homers in the contest. Collecting the prized four-base blows were Peter Hogan, Jim McEwerney, Steve Keebler, Greg Harbaugh, and Dick Armour.

Tom McNamara singled in the winning run with two outs in the final inning as the Owls edged the Gophers 5-4 in a well-played game.

Kevin Koeneman of the Owls and Scott Gunnison of the Gophers each fanned 10, and Dave Good of the Owls drove in three runs with a double and homer.

JIMMY Bokelmann had little trouble posting a pitching victory as the Mets rocked the Bisons 15-3. Tim Trummer was the loser.

In the Southeast Juniors league the Wrens leveled the Colts 18-4 with Scott Tremberth going the route on a three-hitter. The Wrens scored 11 runs in the second inning with only two hits.

Scoring in every frame, the Oaks coasted past the Spartans 16-5 with Jim Johnson enjoying a perfect day at the plate for the winners with four straight hits, including a triple.

IN THE Northeast Juniors loop the Gulls stopped the Badgers 10-2 with Steve Radcliffe working three innings for the victory. Mike Pettenuzzo slapped a two-run homer.

Don Lewis tossed a three-hit shutout as the Millers bumped the Larks 5-0. Steve Riggs had the long blow of the day with a triple.

In the final game the Sox rolled up 18 runs and buried the Blues 18-7. Steve Lundstedt got the win and was backed with some heavy hitting by Dan Shefte and Steve Balinski. Tom Caughey rapped a grand slam homer for the losers.

GEORGE MORRIS WON the Intermediate Boys broad jump event Saturday afternoon in the Junior Sports Jamboree sponsored by the Mount Prospect Jaycees and the Mount Prospect Park District. Morris, who also won the 50 yard dash, sailed 18-9 in the broad jump. Mount Prospect will be represented by a team of 31 young athletes at the sectional meet of the annual Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree on Saturday, August 4, in Evanston.

31 Capture Berths in Sectional

Mount Prospect, Ill. will be represented by a team of 31 young athletes at the sectional meet of the annual Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree on Saturday, August 4, in Evanston.

Each contestant won his berth on the team by emerging as a first place winner in the local Jamboree held at Prospect High School last Saturday afternoon.

At Evanston the athletes will be pitted against the winners of preliminary meets held in 26 other northern Illinois towns and will compete for the honor of going to the state Jamboree finals at Sterling on August 23-25.

THE JUNIOR Sports Jamboree, a track program for boys and girls 10 to 15, was sponsored by the Mount Prospect Jaycees with the cooperation of the Mount Prospect Park District. Bob Meissner and Clif Elliott were co-chairmen.

Over 80 contestants competed on the Prospect High track within three different age levels of boys and girls: Midgets, 10-11; Juniors, 12-13; and Intermediates, 14-15.

Awards were given to first, second, and third places with the following boys and girls bringing home the coveted blue ribbons:

Lutz Regaining Form at O'Hare

The 1959 champion in late model stock car racing at O'Hare Stadium at Mannheim and Irving Park Roads is rapidly returning to the form that won him that title as he roars around the track every Saturday and Sunday nights in the new O'Hare New Car division of 1959-62 model stock cars. He's former Louisville, Ky., ace Bill Lutz, now of Melrose Park.

He'll also be among the stars in action in the annual Memorial Day special racing show at O'Hare next Wednesday night, May 30. Then as every Saturday and Sunday gates will open at 6 p.m. with the first race set for 8 p.m.

LUTZ, WHO recently captured seven of eight races in which he competed with his 1961 Grand Car Wash Chevrolet in a single weekend, returned to O'Hare last season after an absence of two years, but was plagued by bad luck.

Sharing every O'Hare program with the New Cars are the fabled Cadets who have their own heats and feature

Frosh Invitational

Palatine, Waukegan Win Titles

Palatine and Waukegan captured the team championships Tuesday afternoon in the Glenbrook Frosh Invitational track and field meet.

The young Pirates topped Class B while Waukegan won Class A in the annual plebe cinder headliner.

Palatine posted three firsts en route to its impressive team title. Craig Erkfitz won the shot put at 41-2¾, and Lowery ruled the high jump at 5-6. Krempl, Kolb, Rick Longhenry, and John Warder teamed up for a first in the mile relay at 3:48.

THE PIRATES gained seconds with Gregg Bedoe in the shot put, Longhenry in the 440 and broad jump, Seth Norton and Bill Kein with a tie in the pole vault, and Olson with a tie in the low hurdles.

Also scoring for Palatine were Tom Poltz with a fifth in the high hurdles, Warder with a fourth in the 440, Rick Dreyfus with a third in the mile run, and Craig Gaare with a third in the discus.

Prospect's Knights picked up two firsts in the Class A meet with Jim Renner in the 440 yard dash and Gary York in the mile run. Renner turned in a snappy :53.7 clocking in the quarter and York topped his specialty in an impressive 4:57.4.

Also scoring for the Foundry Road outfit were Ray Kick with a second in the high hurdles, Jim Renner with a tie for second in the 220, and Bill Henry with a fifth in the 880.

Scoring for Arlington High School in the Class A meet were John Brunner with a fourth in the mile run and Johnny Jamison with a fifth in the 100 yard dash.

Notre Dame's Trackmen Top Cards, 64-54

Notre Dame's varsity Dons posted a 64-54 victory over Arlington High School last Wednesday afternoon in a dual meet on the Cardinals' track.

The Dons picked up seven firsts and swept the high jump and 440 in bumping the host Cards. Three of Arlington's firsts were garnered by sophomores as head coach Russ Attis did some experimenting with his alignment.

Soph Bill Baumgart won the high hurdles in :15.6 and the lows in :21.0, and soph Bill Traux got off a tremendous 150-4½ effort in the discus.

OVERALL, Arlington claimed seven firsts during the afternoon. John Latta, who normally works in the hurdles, concentrated on the sprints and won the 100 in a creditable :10.5 and 220 in :23.3.

With Jim Hendricks entered in the 880 yard run Robin Auld coasted home with a victory in the mile in a 4:47.4 clocking. Hendricks worked in the half and finished second, almost two seconds behind the winner from Notre Dame who recorded a 2:02.5.

Also claiming a first for Arlington were Bob Laughlin and Alan MacDonald with a tie in the pole vault at 10-6.

Posting seconds for the Cardinals were Dan Bedford in the 120 yard highs, Ralph Lawin the mile run, and John Burgermeister in the broad jump. Notre Dame ruled both relays.

Oberg Checks Maine; Lions Handle Cards

Southpaw Johnny Oberg fashioned the finest varsity pitching performance of his career and was backed with some clutch hitting last Friday afternoon as Arlington High's baseball Cardinals rocked host Maine East, 6-3.

The junior left hander, somewhat ineffective in other mound efforts during the campaign, was at his best Friday and had a no-hitter going with one out in the fifth inning when sophomore Tom Eichler beat out a Maine's first safety.

Although tagged with five hits and three runs in the final three innings, Oberg managed to hang on and chalk up the Cardinals' sixth win in West Suburban Conference competition.

ON THE previous afternoon in the makeup of a game postponed by rain La Grange's Lions, behind the effective slants of right hander Ron Hextell, handled the Cardinals, 5-1. Hextell scattered five hits in taking the decision from Arlington's "Buzz" Williams.

In the Maine encounter Arlington jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the third inning.

With two outs Ross Retterer and Rog Lindstrom put together successive singles and Vince Furlong walked to load the bases. Junior shortstop Joe Wertheimer then came through with a base-clearing triple for the Cards' first three runs.

FURLONG contributed the big blow in the next outburst. With one out this time Retterer walked and Lindstrom collected his second hit. Furlong then belted a three-run homer, and the Cards were on top by six runs.

Maine finally got to Oberg in the home half of the fifth with Eichler's bunt single starting things off. Three hits brought in the Blue Demons' first three runs.

Oberg got through the sixth without trouble but hit the Cardinal southpaw with a single run in the seventh on two hits.

OBERG FANNED eight and walked only one in recording his mound masterpiece.

VINCE FURLONG

Plagued by wildness, Billy Catron was tagged with the loss.

Lindstrom and Furlong each had two hits for Arlington, and Dave Johnson and Harry Hood collected a pair each for the losing Blue Demons.

The victory was Arlington's second over Maine East this season. John Lane had checked the Demons in an earlier outing, 3-2.

ARLINGTON'S Williams blanked La Grange for the first two innings Thursday before the Lions came alive.

La Grange pushed over two runs in both the fourth and fifth and added a singleton in the fifth for its 5-1 victory.

Arlington solved Hextell for five hits and bunched two in the second frame for its only run. Retterer led off with a single and eventually came around on an error and single by Wertheimer.

WILLIAMS fanned five and walked four in his stint and was relieved by Jim Murphy with two outs in the fifth. Hextell collected four strikeouts and three walks over the seven innings.

Layden, Retterer, Furlong, Wertheimer, and Williams rapped out the Cards' base hits with Layden slapping a fifth-inning double.

Evanston Repeats As Tennis Champ; Power Wins Again

Evanston successfully defended its Illinois high school tennis championship last weekend and swept both the singles and doubles titles.

Dave Power registered his second straight state singles crown, and the doubles team of Jerry Noyce and Bob Scott also triumphed.

Evanston scored 14 points for the crown, easily outdistancing Oak Park which had eight.

IN THE FINALS Power repeated as singles king with a 6-2, 6-0 victory over Jerry Garber of Decatur MacArthur. Noyce and Scott were pressed but got past Kent Ayers and Mike Nolan of Decatur 6-3, 6-4.

Power reached the finals with a 6-2, 6-1 victory over Lornie Kuehle of Decatur MacArthur with the semi-finals, and Garver bumped Oak Park's highly regarded Jim Lemon 6-4, 6-4.

In the semi-finals of doubles play Noyce and Scott bumped Steve Erenburg and Bill Ewen of New Trier 8-6, 6-4. Decatur's Nolan and Ayers whipped Bob Lewke and Jay Sikes of LaGrange 3-6, 8-6, 6-4.

Arlington High's Cardinals posted one point when singles representative Tom Benson whipped a boy from Olney 6-4, 6-0. Benson was ousted from further competition by fourth seeded Lemons of Oak Park 6-3, 6-1.

Lemon had whipped Benson in an earlier meeting 7-5, 6-0.

Following Evanston and Oak Park in the team standings were MacArthur with seven, New Trier and Rock Island with six each, and Decatur with five.

Knights' Varsity Netmen Win, 3-2; Sophs Fall, 4-1

Prospect High School's varsity and frosh-soph tennis teams concluded their 1962 dual meet schedules last week with a split in competition against Deerfield.

Coach Rick Farris' varsity posted a 3-2 victory with one singles win and a sweep in doubles, but Don Arseneau's frosh-sophs were toppled 4-1.

Heading into the Interim league meet this Saturday, Prospect's varsity stands 8-2 in dual competition while the frosh-sophs are 6-4.

BOB GEWECKE, a sophomore playing in third singles for the varsity, kept his unbeaten string intact with an impressive 13-15, 6-3, 6-0 triumph over Deerfield's Mandel. Bob was the only Prospect competitor able to win in singles as both Lothar Hansen and John Heuer bowed.

Deerfield's Schmickrath whipped Hansen 6-1, 6-3, in first singles, and Hirsch toppled Heuer 8-6, 7-5 in No. 2 play.

Prospect claimed both doubles matches thanks to the units of Newell Krogmann and Scott Campbell and Gordon Hunt and Ed Topolski.

Krogmann and Campbell stopped Ash and Bax of Deerfield 6-3, 7-9, 6-1 in first doubles, and Hunt and Topolski pulled out a 4-6, 6-0, 6-1 triumph in second doubles.

In an exhibition match Bob Leachelt and Lee Marek posted an 8-6, 6-1 decision.

Two Big Innings

Glenbard East Rams Stop Prospect, 6-2

Glenbard East's Rams used two big innings last Friday afternoon to chalk up an impressive 6-2 victory over Prospect High School in an Interim League contest in Lombard.

The hosts punched over two runs in the first and three in the second and then held on for their four-run triumphs. The loss was Prospect's eighth in 13 league games for 1962.

Coach Chuck Aldrich's Foundry Road aggregation was slated to meet Morton West yesterday (Wednesday) and will host Deerfield in the season windup.

ONCE HE GOT past the first two innings, Prospect right hander Bob Hanson was hard to handle in the game with Glenbard East. But the Rams didn't need much more work at the plate after the dust had cleared in the second stanza.

The Lombard School used seven hits for those five runs, including successive triples by Dempsey and Paul Smith in the first inning. Dempsey emerged as the Rams' leading swinger with three straight hits and three runs scored.

Prospect did reach the Rams' Dempsey for seven hits over the seven frames but they were scattered and only two runs resulted. Single markers came across in both the third and sixth.

WITH TWO outs in the third Ron Aukamp walked, advanced on an error, and rode home on Bob Geller's single.

Reliable Mike Francel contributed the big blow in the sixth with a leadoff homer, his fourth of the season. In the past four games Francek has collected eight hits in 12 trips to the plate for a whopping .667 standard.

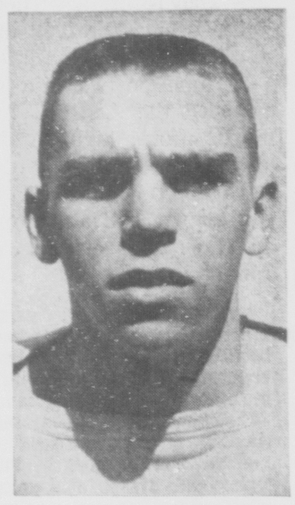
For the season Francek, who is making a strong bid for another berth on the league all-stars, has delivered 19 hits in 51 at bats for a healthy .373 plate mark.

HITS BY Dave Leekley and Francek in the seventh frame failed to bring in a run as Glenbard East racked up its sixth Interim league victory and vaulted past the Knights in the standings.

Hanson allowed only three hits and one run in the final five frames after the disastrous beginning Friday. Overall, Bob allowed ten hits, striking out three and walking one.

Dempsey yielded seven safeties in gaining the victory and fanned 11.

Leekley and Francek collected two hits each for Prospect with Aukamp, Geller, and Tom Cross rapping out singles.



MIKE FRANCEK

In addition to Francek, Leekley also has been on a hot streak lately. The junior outfielder has hit safely in seven straight games and in that span has rapped out 13 safeties for an even .500 mark.

Seven Area Dogs Earn 'Legs' in Obedience Trial

Seven area dogs enrolled in classes at Northwest Obedience Club, Inc. earned "legs" Sunday in the 22nd annual obedience trial staged by the North Shore Training Club, Inc. in Highland Park.

Six of the dogs earned the first of the three "legs" required by the American Kennel Club toward their Companion Dog Degree. Highest scoring of these Novice dogs was Beau, a Miniature Poodle owned by the Donald Strebels of Mount Prospect. Beau, handled by Mrs. Strebel, garnered a 196 out of a possible 200 to take second place in the Novice A ring. The score also earned for the dog a third high in the Non-Sporting group.

SCORES OF 192 were chalked up by Molly, a Beagle owned and handled by Bob Moriarty of Roselle, and Lollipop, a Toy Poodle owned by Marianne Scott of Arlington Heights. The Beagle, entered in Open A, an advanced class, took fourth high in the class and also highest scoring dog in the Hound Group. For Lollipop, it was a first "leg" in Novice and earned for the little dog a trophy in the Toy Group.

Two Golden Retrievers were also among the Northwest Club dogs earning first "legs": Henri Halvorsen of Arlington Heights with Count and Eleanor Starkeson of Palatine with Speedy. La Verne Stiert's Boxer, Monty, was another Mount Prospect entry earning a first "leg" as was Ginger, an Irish Setter owned by Josephine Murphy of Roselle.

Northwest Obedience Club meets each Wednesday evening beginning at 8 p.m. in the lower level of the Jewel Tea Building in Palatine. Although a new class of beginning dogs has just begun, another will start in August. Those interested in enrolling pure-bred dogs of any breed may visit the school any Wednesday evening.

Illinois Track Finals

Phillips Rules State Meet; Merutka Repeats in Shot Put

Wendell Phillips High School of Chicago reigns as the state's 1962 track and field champion thanks to an exceptional number of strong runners and two winning relay teams.

Phillips flashed to the title Saturday in Champaign and set one of the two new records in taking the mile and half-mile relays and the 220 yard dash. The Wildcats turned in a clocking of 3-:20.9 in the mile baton battle, breaking the 3:22.1 mark set in 1956 by Bloom of Chicago Heights.

The winners finished with 29 points to 16 for runnerup Moline. Highland Park posted 15 markers for third and was followed by defending state champ LaGrange with 13, New Trier of Winnetka with 12½, and Lane Tech of Chicago with 11.

ROCK ISLAND, co-holder of the 1961 state cinder crown with LaGrange, slumped badly in the latest affair and could pick up just one point. The Rocks had been given some backing for the team crown in pre-meet speculation.

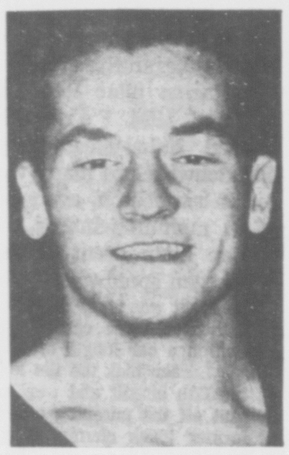
Among the area schools only Palatine was able to score with the Pirates' reliable Andy Merutka heading the shot put field and setting a record for the second straight year. Merutka's effort gave Palatine five points and a tie for tenth place.

Andy set a new state shot put mark in Friday's preliminaries with a toss of 62-2¼. Jeff Lundeen of Moline briefly held the record when he became the first man to put the shot farther than 60 feet in the state finals with a toss of 60-5.

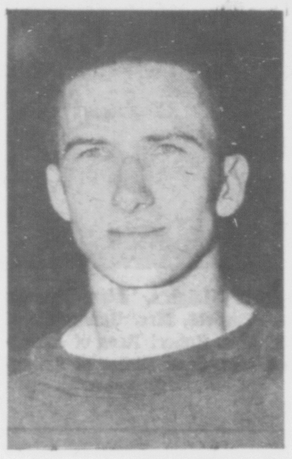
MERUTKA, who set the old record last year at 59-5½, matched the new mark on his first try. He then tossed the shot 60-8 and 61-10, before reaching 62-2¼ on his fourth heave.

Neither Merutka or Lundeen could top their Friday efforts in Saturday's finals.

Over-all, five records fell in the 68th running of the classic track show. Joining Merutka and Phillips' mile relay team among the record - breakers were Barney Peterson of Proviso West in the 880 yard run, Jim Sternfield of Highland Park in the discus throw, and Willie Collins of Phillips in the 180 yard low hurdles.



ANDY MERUTKA



BARNEY PETERSON

PETERSON successfully defended his half-mile crown with an impressive victory Saturday. He chopped a tenth of a second off the record set by Rudy Morgan of Phillips three years ago. George Hunt of Alton, who finished second in the 880 in a terrific stretch battle with Peterson, tied the old mark.

Sternfield of Highland Park tossed the discus 175-2½ for a new record. His toss broke the standard of 172-3 set by East St. Louis' Cloyd Webb in 1959 and bettered the mark Friday of runnerup Ed Reed of Danville by 15 feet 11 inches.

However, although Sternfield set a new state record, his toss still isn't the best on record in Illinois' schoolboy history. Arlington High's Dick Winterbauer still holds that mark with a tremendous throw of 175-5½ back in 1954.

COLLINS OF team champion Phillips covered the 180 yard low hurdles in :19.1 seconds Friday, breaking the old record of :19.2 set by another Phillips trackster, Billy Martin, in 1955 and tied by Don Patten of Oak Park in 1958.

Bucking a strong wind, the little Collins fell behind after the fifth hurdle Saturday and settled for third in the lows behind Alton's Andy Johnson, a sophomore, and Lane Tech's Bill Anderson.

Phillips of Chicago, the new team champion, took a second in the 100 yard dash, third and fifth in the 180 yard low hurdles, first in the 220 yard dash, third in the high hurdles, fourth in the broad jump, first in the mile relay, and fifth in the 440 en route to its impressive crown.

LaGRANGE'S TOM Atkinson was the meet's individual standout with first in the broad jump and 100 yard dash and an anchor leg on the Lions' third place 880 yard relay quartet. Tom actually handed LaGrange all 13 of its points.

The fleet senior won five points each in the broad jump and 100 and brought the school's half-mile unit from a last-place spot entering the final turn to third for three more points.

He won his third consecutive broad jump title Friday with a tremendous leap of 24-0½. Tom got off a 23-8 effort on his first jump of the day and fouled on the rest of his attempts—three in the prelims and two in the finals — before hitting his 24-plus standard.

OF THE SIX state champions back for another try five came through with state titles. Only Theo Cox, defending titlist in the century, failed to repeat with the Zion-Benton speedster settling for third.

Atkinson, Merutka, and Peterson won their specialties and Highland Park's Jim Weinert and East St. Louis' Warren Hampton both came through with winning efforts. Weinert and Hampton had been bothered by injuries all season and still may not have been up to par in the finals.

Weinert's mile victory at 4:25.6 didn't come easy as he finally took the lead on the third lap and led the rest of the way. Bob Culbertson of Rockford East challenged on the final curve but bowed to Tim Renn of New Trier who chased Weinert across the line and just missed a victory.

HAMPTON retained his 120-yard high hurdles crown with a :14.7 clocking against a stiff wind. Battling neck and neck with Lane Tech's Bill Anderson, Hampton was leading by a nose when Anderson clipped the top of the second from last hurdle.

Other firsts in the meet were recorded by Phillips' junior flash Harvey Blair in the 220, Moline's Lou Ritchie in the 440, Alton's Johnson in the 180 yard low hurdles, Scott Etnyre of New Trier in the high jump, and a four-way tie for first in the pole vault.

Etnyre joined LaGrange's Atkinson among the meet's double winners with first in both the high jump and pole vault. A standout in basketball in the winter, Etynre won the high jump at 6-4 and pole vault at 12-6.

Also tying for first in the pole vault were Ron Presswood of Oakwood, Don Duncan of Centralia, and Bob Radunzel of West Chicago.

The wind from the south handicapped the runners in the shorter races and the clockings were noticeably affected.

Winning Streak Checked at Seven

After rolling to seven straight victories Arlington High's frosh "A" baseball team finally suffered its first defeat of the 1962 season last Friday afternoon.

Maine East came to town and rocked Arlington pitchers Jim Kroll and Kevin Hanick for 12 hits en route to a 9-2 victory.

Maine scored single runs in the first, fourth, and sixth and added a trio in both the third and seventh for the decision.

Jack McRae and Jerry Fink contributed two safeties each for Arlington, and Hanick tripled in both runs.

TWO DAYS earlier Arlington had posted its seventh straight win with a one-sided 16-5 triumph over Notre Dame.

McRae, Howie Winkelhake, Jerry Fink, Rich Hoppe, and Hanick contributed two hits each to pace the offense with homers by Winkelhake and Hanick.

Tom Lundgren pitched five-hit baseball for five innings but weakened in the heat. Tom fanned nine over his seven innings of work.

Score by innings:

Arlington	104 033 5—16-13-3
Notre Dame	001 011 2— 5- 7-3

All-Staters Next Week

The seventh annual Paddock Publications All-State track team, selected by Sports Editor Bob Frisk, will be announced next week with story and pictures.

The All-State team is based on the consistency of the boy's performance throughout the season rather than one or two impressive efforts.

Placing in the state meet is not a prerequisite for selection.

Handsome certificates and tear sheets are sent to each All-Stater.

Reunions

Former Michigan State athletic stars enjoy coming back to their alma mater to play the current varsity. A total of 58 alumni played in the 6th annual Old Timers' football game and on the same day another 17 ex-stars saw action in the 1st annual soccer game.

Boxer Show

On Saturday, June 16, the Tree Towns Boxer Club will be holding their fifth annual specialty show, obedience trial and puppy sweepstakes out at the DuPage County fairgrounds in Wheaton. The specialty show will be for all Boxers 6 months of age or more, and the puppy sweepstakes will be for puppies 6 months to 18 months, while the obedience trial will be open to all age groups.

Adolph Baker of Chicago will judge the confirmation classes, while Mrs. Will Judy will do the puppy sweepstake judging. Harry Lowenbach of Chicago will judge all obedience classes.

Of interest to spectators will be the fact that the Pilot Guide Dog Foundation will present William Goodnow and a team of Boxer dogs that will put on a demonstration of man and dog going through obstacle courses.

SHOW TIMES are from 9 a.m. t 6 p.m., and it should be of interest to note that this show on Saturday will be followed by an obedience trial on Sunday to be held by the West Side Dog Training Club at the Hawthorne Race Track. Owners of Boxers who have them in obedience work will have a chance to enter the specialty show on Saturday and then go into the West Side show on Sunday for another crack at their degree work.

Information about the Boxer show can be had by contacting Mrs. Ethel Hollearn, at VA 7-1697. Entries for the Boxer show close June 5. Information about West Side can be had by contacting Mrs. Ade Berg, P.O. Box 626, Oak Park, Ill.

Dog Hero

Although the presentation of 1962's Ken-L-Ration gold medal-emblematic of selection as America's most heroic dog will not be made until Aug. 1, the sponsors of the award are already hard at work evaluating newspaper stories and correspondence from throughout the United States.

THE COMPANY receives information about heroic dogs from newspaper stories forwarded by a national clipping service and letters received from dog lovers everywhere. The stories are carefully investigated and deserving dogs receive local Ken-L-Ration dog hero medals and certificates. These local winners are then eligible for consideration as possible winner of the national gold medal, the nation's top canine award for heroism.

As of May 15, 54 dogs from 28 states had received 1962 local awards. Entries for this year's award close on June 15.

Five finalists are selected from the year's local winners and judged by several well-known personalities of the dog world. The winner receives the gold medal and other prizes and his owner gets a $1,000 U. S. Savings Bond. The four runners-up also receive valuable prizes and bonds and all five dogs win free dog food; of course, it's Ken-L-Ration. The gold medal award is made at a banquet held at Chicago's Palmer House on Aug. 1.

Travel Time

Another big year of travel for doggy folks gets under way with the publication of the 1962 edition of "Touring with Towser." The new edition lists more than 6,000 hotels and motels in the United States that accept guests with dogs. It also carries suggestions for dog and dog-owner etiquette, in addition to a lot of other useful information. A copy of "Touring With Towser" can be had by sending 25 cents in coin or stamps (to cover first-class postage and handling) to the Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Ave., New York 17, N. Y.

Arlington Frosh Rout Notre Dame

With John Jamison and Scott Somers each picking up two firsts Arlington High School's frosh track team routed Notre Dame last Friday afternoon, 74-44.

Jamison won the 100 and 220 and Somers topped the pole vault and broad jump for coach Russ Attis' Cardinals.

Other victors for Arlington were Chuck Hood in the 440, John Brunner in the mile run, John Edie in the shot put, Chester Lowiec in the discus, and Ralph Morrisett in the high jump.

The summary:

Broad Jump—Won by Somers (A). Distance 17-9½

High Jump—Won by Morrissett (A); 2nd, tie between Somers (A) and Maloy (N). Height 5-0

Hockey Hopeful

Doug Roberts, fine Michigan State grid hopeful from Detroit Cooley High, rates as a top prospect for play with the Spartan hockey team as well.

St. Viator Baseball

Lions Post Two Wins In Diamond Contests

It was a busy week for the St. Viator Lions of Arlington Heights.

Coach Frank Mariani's baseball nine engaged in six encounters and came out with two victories.

The Lions bumped Ridgewood 8-4 and hammered neighboring Prospect 6-1. Details on the latter game appear elsewhere in the sports section.

However, in contests with with St. Mel, Maryville Academy, and Barrington the Arlington Heights entry didn't fare as well, dropping four decisions.

St. Viator unleashed a 13-hit attack in bumping Ridgewood's sophomore team for the second time this season. Joe Spence picked up his second win of the year in relief of John Carroll.

Spence came on in the third inning and didn't allow a run the rest of the way. While Joe was turning in a stellar job on the mound Mariani's Lions were exploding with one of their biggest days offensively of the 1962 season.

Ron Rose, Jim Vidt, and Rich Ulbrich had two hits each for St. Viator and Ron Bakalar drove in two runs.

Score by innings:

Ridgewood	004 000 0—4- 6-1
St. Viator	214 010 *—8- 13-3

ST. MEL of Chicago handled the Lions in another game last week by a 6-1 count. Vidt started on the hill for St. Viator and fanned 10, but didn't receive any hitting support from his teammates.

The Lions collected only two hits, a single by Rose and single by Tim Walinski. Walinski also drove in the only run.

Johnny Kudla homered for the victorious St. Mel unit.

Score by innings:

St. Mel	200 003 1—6-6-2
St. Viator	000 001 0—1-2-4

MARYVILLE Academy's varsity posted an 11-8 victory over St. Viator although the Lions outhit the Terriers 12-8.

The Arlington Heights nine left 15 men stranded during the course of the game and five errors also hurt the Lions' cause.

Bill Ewald started for St. Viator and took the loss although he was relieved by Spence and Carroll.

Hitting star for the Lions was Rose with two singles and a double and Knudson with four singles and two runs batted in.

Score by innings:

St. Viator	001 105 1— 8-12-5
Maryville	162 020 *—11- 8-2

IN A SATURDAY doubeheader Barrington took St. Viator in both encounters 12-3 and 11-4.

The Lions had to use four pitchers in the opener as Barrington pounded out 10 hits and was aided by four errors.

Chuck Heinrich had the long blow for the local nine with a double and he also drove in two runs. Rose, Vidt, Tom Nitch, and Rich Ulbrich had singles.

Score by innings:

St. Viator	200 100 0— 3- 5-4
Barrington	111 135 *—12-10-4

IN THE second game the Lions used three pitchers and came out on the short end of an 11-4 score. Ewald started, but had to be relieved by Spence and Carroll.

Rose continued his heavy hitting with a single and double and Jim Murray rapped out two singles good for three runs. Knudson, Heinrich, and Graczyk also had base hits for the Lions.

Score by innings:

Barrington	100 243 1—11-12-0
St. Viator	002 020 0— 4- 7-2

Sorry, No Pics

The extreme growth of bowling in the area served by Paddock Publications has necessitated a policy of not running any pictures of the various league champions.

In the past pictures of unusual accomplishments (one organization sponsoring two or more league champions) have warranted publication.

Prospect's Frosh Nine Wins, 3-2

Greg Kowal fired a four-hitter last Friday afternoon as Prospect High School's frosh baseball team edged a visiting Glenbard East nine, 3-2.

Kowal was at his best as he checked the visiting Rams with single runs in the fourth and seventh.

Tom Clow and Tom Gaack sparkled on both offense and defense for the young Knights of coach Maurie Levy, and George Beattie rapped a double for the game's long blow.

Score by innings:

Glenbard East	000 100 1—2-4-3
Prospect	001 200 *—3-6-3

Roselle Bank Surges Into Hoffman Lead

The Hoffman Golf Club has a new league leader as a result of the Roselle Bank's eleven-five defeat of the Roselle Color Center.

Jim Brewner blanked Don Specht and Bob Tuttle followed by shutting out Hall Akers. Bill Hanson did the same to Lou Stolz to account for nine of the Bank team's eleven points.

Subbing for Chuck Pugh of the Color Center, Art Dern won a split decision from the Bank's Capt. Roy Palmer despite Roy's seven one-putt greens and a nine hole total of eleven putts. Bob Mann added three to the losing team's tally of five.

HOFFMAN PLAZA Liquors moved up to second with their eleven point victory over Snyder's Drugs. Capt. Art Murphy took three from Bob Powell, Jim Lemar emerged victor over Herb Keesee and Charlie Davey Beat Chuck Camel easily. Earl Conrad and John O'Connell turned in match victories for the losers to keep them from dropping further than fifth in the standings.

The big point winner for the day was Bob Rivenes' Harve's Foods, who won thirteen of sixteen points from last week's league leader, Kiczula Insurance. Bob defeated Jack Reedy, Jules Swerdlow took Scott MacEachron, Norm Groneman whipped Paul Kiczula and Lindy Clark was victor over Dick Moon. All these wins were shut-outs. Harvey Goetsch saved the day for the losers by blanking Newell Mann.

JOHN AQUINO'S Roselle Ace Hardware moved up from the eleventh spot via their eleven and a half point win over Rainbow Inn. Bob Boedicker's thirty-nine was too good for Angie Patel and Dick Excell trounced Sandy Cameron for three. Capt. John added three more while Joe Gilmore halved Bill Bailey to contribute a point and a half. George Robb was the only match winner for losing Rainbow, defeating Jack Sheridan easily.

Jupiter Cleaners moved up a notch with a ten-six win over Tony's Sinclair. Capt. John Milke whipped Ray Larson while George Whitaker and Dick Krey blanked John Warnock and George Cadotte respectively. Paul O'Dea whipped Joe McGibbon and John Rosenberger edged Tony Manfrin to keep the Sinclair team tied for the fifth spot.

Higgins Shell and Schaumrose Inn played to a stand-off, each coming out of the tilt with eight points. Capt. Roy Jenkins tipped Tom Glessner while Jim Gannon blanked Art Thorp for the Shell team. Dave Basch edged Dick Thompson for two points to add to Shell's total. For the Schaumrose side, George Davis blanked Bill Ross and Tony Fontikes whipped Bill McMahan for three to keep their team even-steven.

The standings:

Roselle State Bank	34
Hoffman Plaza Liquors	32
Kiczula Insurance	29
Harve's Food Mart	29
Snyder's Hoffman Drug	26½
Tony's Sinclair Service	26½
Jupiter Cleaners	22

Speedway Action

Larsen Cops Feature At Waukegan Plant

A long time driver of modified stock cars, who has placed in many events over a number of years, finally came home the winner of his first feature race Sunday night, before an enthusiastic crowd of 2,850 persons at the Waukegan Speedway.

Racine pilot Ron Larsen, driving a Thunderbird powered 1934 Ford that carried Milwaukee driver Bill Schwister to many victories last season, averaged 48.85 mph in winning the 25 lap main event at the Waukegan speedway.

The event was hotly contested with the top three cars finishing within a car length of each other. Larsen took the the lead on the 17th circuit and went on to beat off the pursuing efforts of former track champ, Eddie Stillman of Milwaukee. Larsen had taken the lead from Lake Villa driver Steve Stevens, and Stevens had to settle for third place, unable to keep up with Stillman's rapid challenges.

FANS WERE treated to plenty of feature race action. Top qualifier of the night, Jack Radtke of Grayslake, was involved in an entanglement with Paul Coen of Milwaukee and was unable to continue. Both cars spun on the second lap and were forced out. Don Sorce, West Allis, who was moving up rapidly in the later laps and was assured of at least a fifth spot, was hung up on the 23rd when Roger Otto of Burlington spun in front of him.

The third modified heat, won by Stevens, produced another spectacular roll-over when Jim Lawrence, Bristol, tangled on the first lap, again with Otto, and Carl Jensen of South Milwaukee. Lawrence's car hit the infield and rolled over 2½ times before coming to a stop on his roof in the infield. He was not injured. The race continued without stopping and Stevens took his victory on the last lap when early leader Harold Wade of Waukegan spun out.

THE FIRST HEAT was stopped due to a pileup which blocked the track completely and sent several machines into the concrete retainer wall. None of the drivers were injured.

Zion driver Dennis Burgen scored the first clean sweep of the season when he won all three events for the sportsmen class of racing. He set the fastest qualifying time, (41.92 mph) won the six lap heat and averaged 41.20 mph in copping the 10 lap feature event. A four car pileup on the first turn of the feature reduced the field to nine running cars with several more being put out of commission before the finish. Ray Lowrance of Waukegan tipped over on his side with two laps left to go.

THE THIRD weekly Sunday night program of modified and sportsmen stock car racing will take place Sunday night, May 27, at the Waukegan speedway.

Headlining a field of some 50 cars and drivers will be the feature winners of the last two Sundays, Bill Strom of West Allis, the 1961 track champion, and Ron Larsen of Racine. Other top favorites include Jack Radtke, Grayslake, Ed Stillman, Milwaukee, Steve Stevens, Lake Villa and Don Sorce of West Allis.

Time trials will get under way at 7:15 with the first race starting at 8:30.

The speedway is located just west of Waukegan on Washington Street. An entrance from off Belvidere Road is also available and is now open for use.

Tri-City Ladies

Event of the day in the Tri-City ladies golf league was "Nine Blind Holes, One-Half Handicap."

Winners in the 18-hole competition were: Carolyn Erickson, A Class; Ollie Hawkinson, B Class; and Fern Rowe, C Class.

Winners in the nine-hole competition were: Barbara Boylan, A Class; Mary Tures, B Class; and Barbara MacKimm, C Class.

Carolyn Erickson recorded the low gross with an 85 and had a birdie on No. 15.

Bob Blessing Stops Stverak In Headliner

Old Orchard's back nine furnished no problem for Bob Blessing as he took the scenic tour with a fine two under par 34. Bob's round was a golfer's delight for he had two birdies and seven pars and readily needed them in his match against Bob Stverak in the main event in last Friday's Old Orchard Scratch league competition. Both golfers began the match by getting pars on No. 10.

On the 11th Blessing curled in a 30-foot putt for a birdie while Stverak two-putted for his par. The 12th and 13th were pars for both and on No. 14 each had birdies when Blessing blasted out of the left trap and one putted while Stverak hit the green with his second and two putted from 20 feet beyond the pin.

After each golfer parred the 15th, Stverak found himself teeing off the 16th with a one under par score and yet he was one down to Blessing's two under score. Blessing pulled further ahead on No. 16 and No. 17 when he pulled two beautiful recovery shots out of the bag, while Stverak had trouble and bogeyed each. On No. 18 they both hit the green with their tee shots and two putted for pars. Blessing's 2 under par 34 withstood Stverak's gallant try of 37 or 1-over.

THE SCRATCH League came up with 32 birdies last Friday. Bob Kronn hit the only bird on No. 2 with a nice putt and scored birds on No. 7 and No. 9 also in getting his 37.

Another birdie maker was "Pete" Peterson who scored on No. 10 and No. 12 and No. 14, but couldn't connect for a par on the other holes. John St. Germaine ended the first nine by making birdies on the very hard No. 8 water hole and No. 9.

Dan "Lefty" Musser aided his fine 37 score with birdie putts on No. 14 and No. 16. Longest putt was probably made by Mike Graft on No. 4 when he dropped a 50 footer from the top of the green, and the hardest were probably by Bill Hugo on the hard 3rd hole and Wayne Rolfs' birdie on No. 17.

Many of the Scratch League players were puzzled to find a fisherman at the 13th tee pond, and from all indications the man must have used a fairly decent bait for he caught a 40" driver. Proves that golfing and fishing do mix. Whose driver?

FROM TIME to time the league publicitor will try to introduce some of the fine talent playing in the Scratch League.

Bob Blessing's prize golf accomplishments include winning the Rob Roy Club Championship in 1956, 1960 and 1961. He was runner-up in 1955 and 1959 and won the Rob Roy Open in 1960 with a fine 68 for the 18 holes with a total of only 21 putts on the greens.

"Steady Eddie" Len Arnold will be next for he has finished the last few seasons as low golfer. Len's last season's average was 36.7 strokes per round for 17 rounds.

Gunnell's Holds Lead At Arlington

A tight race is developing in the Friday night golf league at Arlington Country Club.

Gunnell's Lanes is setting the pace with 15½ points but ninth place team is only 5½ markers behind.

Six men tied for low gross in the latest action: Martin, Durand, Barnett, Chambers, Fullerton, and Beacke with 41s. Foster had low net with a 31.

Birdies were recorded by Barnett on 1, Vern Sauer on 2, and Emil Mostue on 6.

The standings:

Grittani Records Hole-in-One; 1st In Loop History

The St. Raymond's Holy Name Golf League will be talking for some time about May 17th, for on that evening Joe Grittani, of the Van Driel's team, made a hole-in-one on the 160 yard, par 3, 7th hole.

The team play on that evening had to take a back seat to Joe's feat. Congratulations, Joe, on having the first hole-in-one in the ten year history of the league.

On the less spectacular side, League 1 has a new leader, for the third time in three weeks, as Safford Stamps overtook McMahon's and dropped them into second place. In League 2 Mt. Prospect Savings & Loan continues to lead by the slim margin of one point. Van Driel's has moved into second place on the basis of a 10½ point performance including the three point contribution of "Ace" Grittani.

Team standings at the end of the third week of play:

Two Squads Still Unbeaten in Men's Softball Division

Charing Cross Chargers and Salt Creek Divots both posted victories to remain unbeaten in the Elk Grove Village men's softball league.

Charing Cross Chargers downed Klehm's Nursery 8-4 in nine innings with Elmer Malone claiming the mound decision.

Bob Pruitt and Phil Viece turned in some solid defensive work for the Chargers and also collected three straight hits each.

PHIL WOLDBILLIG turned in another strong pitching effort as Joe's Colonial rocked the Birchwood Elks 23-10. Bob Gallagher went 6-for-6, including a homer, and Jack Van Hauter was the sparkplug for the Elks.

Harry Damore's grand slam homer keyed the Salt Creek outfit in its 9-0 victory over the Black Cats, and the Lucky Sevens got into the win column with a 17-7 victory over the Ramblers.

Tom Pritscher homered and sparked the Sevens with strong defensive play.

Pro Sport Center in Golf Lead

The Pro Sport Center toppled Wille Fuel and Lumber from the top spot in the Friday Night Men's League at Mount Prospect Country Club last week with an 8.5 -3.5 victory.

The win gave the Sport Center a total of 21.5 points for three weeks action, two points more than the second place F.B.K. Realtors, who took a 7.5-4.5 decision from Kruse's Restaurant. The Esquire Barber Shop squad moved into third with a 6.5 -5.5 victory over Keefer's Pharmacy.

IN OTHER ACTION the Mt. Prospect State Bank team beat Mount Prospect Liquors 8-4, Jim's Standard Service thumped Doyno Motors 8-2, and Mell and Paul's Drive-in edged Arlington Camera 7-5.

Seven men carded birdies during the evening. Jim Carter and Herman Falldin had fours on the far five first, Ed Pool had a three on the eighth, Elmer Blasco deuced the 12th, Dudley Hartman and Bill Harner had fours on 15, and Bert Hillstrom got his two on 16.

Old Orchard Ladies League

Event of the day in the Old Orchard ladies golf league was Low Gross.

Winner on the sporty nine was Helen Becker.

Winner on the first nine was Delores Crosby.

Hagens Pick Up 6 Points In VFW Play

The Hagens, picking up six of a possible seven points, strengthened their hold on first place Monday night in the Arlington VFW golf league.

Georbe Hanke, captain of the Sneads, carded a sparkling gross 35 to match par for the course.

Low net of 34 was shared by Frank Lineback and Bob Shawhan.

Phil's Pure Oil Moves into 1st Place Deadlock

Annen and Busse retained first place in the Mount Prospect Twilight Golf League as they eked out a 6-4 victory last week over the aggressive Wille Lumber and Fuel aggregation. The defeat tumbled Wille's from second place into fifth.

The Realtors however were forced to share the league lead with Phil's Pure Oil who showed surprising early season strength in knocking off Keefer's Pharmacy 9½ to ½. An extra point would have given Phil's the first 10-point clean sweep of the season and the league lead but they couldn't quite push it through.

Mt. Prospect Electric Constr. Co. retained their third place position after defeating Kruse's Tavern 7½-2½, but they too had to share their slot with a newcomer as Winkelmann's Shell Service clobbered Kirchhoff Insurance 8-2.

IN OTHER matches Mount Prospect State Bank set back Golden's Food Shop 6-4, and Kersting's Garden Center knocked off Licht's Paint Store 8-2.

Here are the details of Phil's Pure Oil near shut-out over Keefer's Pharmacy: Glenn Adams, Phil's "A" player took 1½ points from Len Johnson. Johnson's lone ½ point was the only tally for Keefer's. Art Hammerstrom, "B" player for Phil's took three points from Walt Lyman. Ed Hendricks won two points from Bill Skibbe, and Hal Jebens stole two points from Lloyd Johnson. Phil's took the final point by winning low team net.

Low gross honors for the evening went to Walt Double and Len Arnold who both had 39's. Birdies were reported by Harrison Dodd No. 10, Roy Hawkinson No. 12, and Len Arnold No. 14.

Team standings May 15:

Annen and Busse Realtors	14½

'Young' Society Is Blind to Aged Needs

Ours is a culture that worships youth. The fan magazines deify it; advertisers dwell upon it; the PTAs sanctify it; our athletic stadiums are monuments to it. Hair dye manufacturers and food supplement faddists are aware of it.

To grow old, it would appear, is no longer looked upon as a fact; it's something akin to a sin. Oldsters are no longer asked by the tribe to commit senilicide; society has refined its techniques for dealing with the aged. As a series of articles recently concluded in Paddock Publications pointed up, this group is too often ignored.

No matter how much we shut our eyes to it, we cannot wish the problem away. Nor can we afford to delay in finding solutions to the plight of the aged; their numbers are growing.

We can do nothing to stop the inexorable process: the organism is born, it grows, decays and dies. But all our vain concerns for preserving the vestiges of youth should be secondary to our needs for solving the special problems of loneliness, inactivity and subsistence which hound the aged citizen to his grave. Our false facades of youth blind us to needs which will eventually be common to us all.

Stated statistically, the problem is awesome. But when it is witnessed, its relevance to the terms "forgotten," "unwanted," "unheeded," is better understood.

From the series, "These Lonely Rooms," we learn that:

—There are 12,000 aged inmates of the state's 13 mental institutions, most of whom are there simply because they have no place else to go.

Sunlight splashes through half drawn curtains on the floor, throwing out shadows of the grill work of wrought iron beds pushed almost together. An old woman sprawls on one of the beds, a silhouette of utter despair. One hundred and sixty-four other women share this "cottage" at a state mental hospital with her. It was constructed 40 years ago to house 64 persons.

—Sixty per cent of the aged have less than $1,000 a year income.

The young man rails at what must have been their youthful extravagance. We must be masters of our fate, he instructs. A 76-year-old retired businessman saved $14,000 for his old age. In a three-year period, hospital and doctor bills had devoured it. He was not a master of his fate.

—By the time a man is 50 he is barred from employment with more than 40 per cent of Illinois firms.

A man spends a lifetime at his work. His reservoir of knowledge does not dry up. But it is no longer tapped. A man of lesser experience but more vigor replaces him, to be trained again. An authority says: "Work is the best thing you can do for the older person. But the aged are competing against youth and the image of youth in a culture which has done away with the values of experience." We are the first society to have the benefit of the counsel of our elders; we waste this untapped resource; we worship youth.

—Illinois has 24,483 nursing home beds of which 20,100 are rated as nonacceptable on the basis of fire and health hazards.

"The whole problem of the aged is motivated or tarnished by the profit motive. The aged have been ignored for 2,000 years and now everyone's trying to cash in on them," says the public aid official.

—Although they constitute less than 10 per cent of the total population, the aged make up more than 55 per cent of all persons with limitations due to chronic illness; the average number of physician visits among the aged is 36 per cent greater than for the general population. . . Health costs have tripled in the last 15 years.

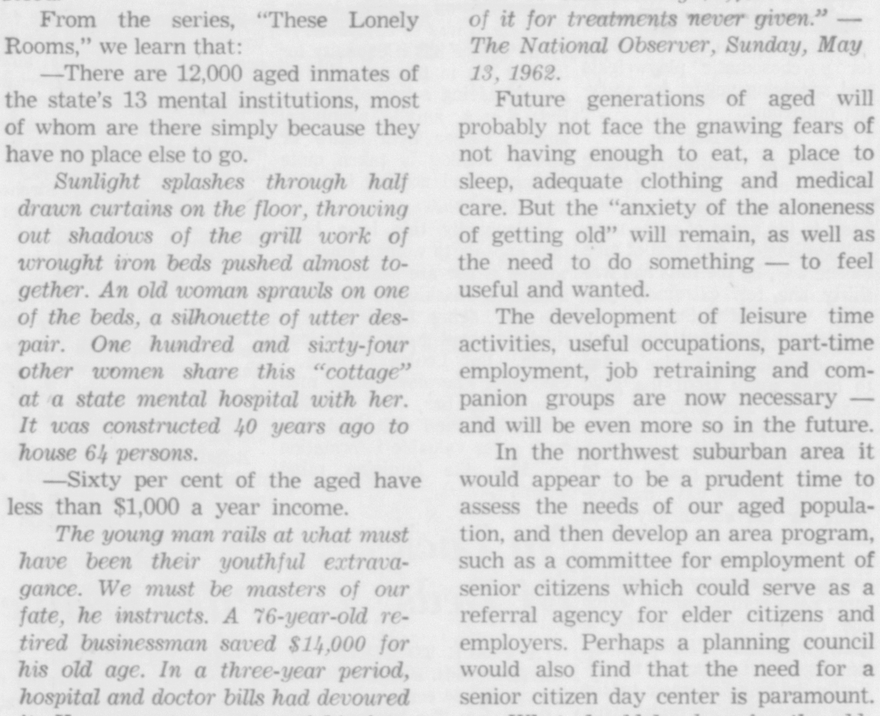
". . . the enormous growth of private health insurance plans has tempted some doctors to pad their bills — which the insurance company, not the patient, pays. In one case, for instance, a California mother and daughter received only three treatments following an automobile accident. Dealing directly with the insurance company, the doctor submitted over 80 bills totaling $1,400 — most of it for treatments never given." — The National Observer, Sunday, May 13, 1962.

Future generations of aged will probably not face the gnawing fears of not having enough to eat, a place to sleep, adequate clothing and medical care. But the "anxiety of the aloneness of getting old" will remain, as well as the need to do something — to feel useful and wanted.

The development of leisure time activities, useful occupations, part-time employment, job retraining and companion groups are now necessary — and will be even more so in the future.

In the northwest suburban area it would appear to be a prudent time to assess the needs of our aged population, and then develop an area program, such as a committee for employment of senior citizens which could serve as a referral agency for elder citizens and employers. Perhaps a planning council would also find that the need for a senior citizen day center is paramount.

What should be done for the old people? Anything? Do we really want to do anything? What about medical care for the aged? "Socialism" is the objection. What about public housing? Socialism. What about Old Age Assistance? Socialism. What is Christianity? Honor thy mother and father. Socialism? There but for the grace of God goes I. Socialism? Our false facades of youth blind us to needs which will eventually be common to us all.



An aged woman in Elgin State Hospital; a silhouette in utter despair.

Critic's Corner

U.S. Tourist Unbecoming?

by JOAN LORENSON
News Editor, Roselle and Itasca Register

As the hot breath of summer wilts men's collars and makes women's noses shiny, the American suburbanite and city dweller plan their vacation.

Many thousands of them will cram their station wagons with "necessities" and children and head for the land north of the American border, Canada. In Canada another group of Americans working and living there, will cringe as they prepare to become the apologists and defenders of their countrymen.

The American tourist in Europe has been excoriated for behavior "unbecoming to an American." But somehow everyone forgets that it might be important for him to avoid boorish behavior when he is in Canada. In spite of the fact that the U. S. is not pouring foreign aid into Canada and our relations are relatively friendly, the American on vacation will do his best to destroy this amicable atmosphere.

LORENSON

IT IS shameful what little knowledge the American has about Canada. And he has no excuse because Canada is not so geographically removed nor is there a language barrier (except in the province of Quebec); neither is the culture such a strange one.

The American might learn something about the country which he is visiting. Americans' woeful ignorance offers some choice tidbits for Canadians' cocktail or teatime chitchat, and as one Canadian woefully shrugged, "They don't even want to learn about us."

To hear the American talk, Canada is the land of the igloo, the husky dog, and the Mountie in resplendent red. Naturally it is frigid in temperature they say because it is north of the U. S. (Actually one of Canada's largest cities, Toronto, is farther south than Boston. Crossing the border into Canada at Detroit, means one will be SOUTH of Detroit.)

LAST summer when the American tourist gallivanted north, he received a slap to his pride when he discovered the American dollar worth three cents less than its Canadian counterpart. This year the Canadian government has devalued its dollar so the American dollar is worth more. Thus Canadians brace themselves to remain polite this summer in the face of condescension from our "diplomat" from Stateside. We could do a great deal to promote friendly relations if we refrained from "pie-ing the greater value of the American dollar in Canadian's faces.

Another thing that Americans will do to create their lovable image is to assume that Canada is breathless to come under the stars and stripes as a 51st state. The fact: Canada worries that United States, a giant on her border, is tainting the unique Canadian identity which she prizes and is swallowing her economically. U. S. interests control 44 per cent of Canada's manufacturing and 53 per cent of her mining.

It takes only a little tact on the tourist's part to refrain from taunting Canadians about economic dependence. It is noteworthy that one of the big Canadian issues is that American companies should be compelled to have completely Canadian subsidiaries which cannot be dictated to concerning trade, for example, by the American parent company.

QUITE naturally the American tourists overrun little towns near lakes and resorts. This means that they are conspicuous naturally; but it is the image of the short-short clad buxom female vacationer and her loud-shirted husband which will rankle in the natives. Is it so impossible for the Yankee "when in Canada to do as the Canadians do" and be slightly more circumspect in dress, attitude and talk?

Maybe Americans do have the biggest and the best, the greatest and grandest but couldn't they refrain from trumpeting this to Canadians who have an inferiority complex?

Is it too much to ask for a more enlightened American tourist this summer in Canada? We might not need to wail then, "Why don't they like us?"

Good Fortune in Suburbia:

A Little Bit of Luck?

by DICK HOFFMANN
Associate Editor

I'm not sure whether I should feel sorrier for the pampered, perfumed, powdered pets of suburbia or their owners. There appears to be an obvious distortion of values, however, when one can lavish so much affection on an animal while being indifferent to the tribulations of fellow human beings.

Fido gets his scented bath, his expensive wardrobe, and a meal that a South American or Asian would barter with Beelzebub for, but does he earn it? Has he shown individual initiative, raised himself up by his own boot straps?

HOFFMANN

These are the questions thrown at the grubber poor. Why didn't they scrimp more, work harder (when there was no work), or inherit a department store. Did Skippy get to his privileged post by the patio by reason of rugged individualism and financial daring or did he just happen to be wagging the right tail when Mr. and Mrs. Smother Love dropped by the kennel?

I SUBMIT that Skip, that cheerful little Poodle with the beauty parlor pompadour, arrived at his station of good fortune much the same way his owners did—by accident and a bit of luck.

I'm not saying that we should ignore the qualities of thrift, industry, conscientiousness, and pride in individuality. Let's have more of it. But it's tiring to hear some platitudinous braggart speak as if his individual will would bend the universe to his bidding.

This is bombast and patent pretention. There are men more fiercely independent than you or I who roam the streets even now in search of work.

Perhaps, in fact, it's rugged individualism that threw some of them out of gainful employment. For society really doesn't like the individualist. He doesn't conform to the standard mold; he upsets the status quo. He's both creator and iconoclast.

BUT YOU can't tell that to old smug Gray Flannel Suit. He goes around muttering about shiftless, lazy bums who haven't asserted themselves while he passively submits to all manner of humiliation and conformity in order to get his executive key to the men's wash room or a telephone with five buttons. This is the "rugged individualist" who goes around stepping on the intentions of those who are down, and wags a finger at their lack of initiative.

He's the one who likes to tell you the robber barons made America great. If these financial pirates had had their way, our national resources would have been swindled and frittered away by now. The only difference between Jesse James and the old villian who owned all the railroads and oil companies is that Jesse carried a gun.

So Corky lives in scrumptious splendor, and his beneficent owner denounces the "lazy bum" whose babies live off powdered milk and government gruel.

I DON'T begrudge success for the fellow who likes executive coloring books. I like to see pets receive love and care, although when it reaches the stage of jeweled collars and costly coiffures perhaps some of Dr. Freud's followers should be consulted.

But I do wish Mr. and Mrs. Upper Crust could feel something more than contempt for those less fortunate than themselves. I'm not suggesting an attack of bleeding hearts is in order. (They're doing enough of that for their pedigree darling.) Just an expression of a little concern and compassion, however, would lead one to believe that they aren't entirely hollow inside. But if they are empty of love for all save the canine or cat they indulge, then we must assign them not the spite they hold toward others but pity.

If only Cuddly's wet little nose and manicured paw arouses any warmth and affection in them—and the rest, stray dogs, orphaned kittens, and people do not—than one can only conclude that something is wrong. One might even permit the extravagance, drastically wrong.

I DO FEEL sorry for the poor pooch, too. He has to go through life sheltered from romps with his own kind; outfitted in outlandish costumes, and probably without ever knowing the joy of identifying a fire hydrant.

Journalist's Lament

Media, Mass Indulgence

MILWAUKEE, (UPI) — The press has been transformed from an agency for individual expression to a reflection of the collective will because of the rise of the mass media, a journalism scholar said last week.

Prof. Jay W. Jensen, University of Illinois journalism dean, gave the last Nieman Chair Lecture this semester at Marquette University and said that the rise of mass democracy, the industrial revolution and the urbanization of American life have shaped the mass media along lines of mass indulgence.

"Whereas the press system was formerly intended to be a more or less direct expression of individual will imposing the values and life-interests of the self upon the cultural order, the mass communications media are today more often a mere reflection of collective will and receive their essential character from the imposition of the values and life-interests of the cultural order upon them," he said.

REFERRING to the early press in America and England, Jensen said individual wills were expressed by the printers or publishers, revolutionary agitators, political parties or special religous and economic intersts.

"The right to publish was regarded as a universal, personal and natural right belonging to anyone who cared or had the wherewithal to establish a newspaper or magazine. Publications of every kind took the form of an attempt to impose the values and life-interests of the self upon the cultural order. However, with the rise of the mass media, the press system underwent a radical change. Today, the popular press, like network broadcasting and the Hollywood film, although important arbiters of American culture, are more importantly reflections of its development and character," he said.

Jensen said the reasons for the radical change lie partly in the undermining of the traditional theory of the press by the revolution in modern perspectives.

"IT LIES partly also in the transformation of modern institutions accompanying the accession of the masses to social power, the industrialization of the American economy, the concentration of population in urban centers, the development of mass markets, and of modern advertising," he said.

Jensen said the media writer is chained to the collectivity as an anonymous segment upon which the values and life-interests of the cultural order are to be imposed.

"In advertising, publicity, entertainment, and even news, the self is regarded as a "unit of the market" a hypothetical common denominator of the mass whose every whim is to be indulged, but whose individual substance and reality are denied in practice, if not the retoric of politics and the slogans of 'cultural democracy,'" he said.

JENSEN said that everywhere the forms of the new media absorb the self within themselves, leaving little or nothing to individual will. He added that the objective of the mass media is tending more to the masking of political realities and conforming to the social and economic order guaranteeing the loyalty of the masses to the cultural order by propaganda and diversion.

Jensen said if the concept of freedom of the press is not grounded in the self, rather than the collectivity, the result will be disastrous.

He said a new metaphysics is needed that will restore an image of the self, independent of culture and related to an objective order of values.

If your lot in life seems small on the surface, always remember that it may be 8,000 miles deep.

By far the most important quality for success lies in being able to take it on the chin.

An enthusiastic individual who has three times as much energy as the average persons, and uses it to full advantage, will someday be called a genius.

Letters to the Editor

Poor Cannot Change Status

The letter to your editor by Mr. William D. North of Chicago about the responsibility of the individual for his needs during his declining years was so well written and had so much of truth in it I would beg the opportunity to point out to him and to others who read these pages, wherein he falls short of being a really fine writer and what the court rooms mean by "The truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."

When a citizen of a state speaks of "Our way of life," he is thinking of a certain class of persons, the rich, the poor, or the middle class, unless the citizen is further classified as a "Humanitarian," or a much despised "Liberal."

THE POOR man, as a rule, is too poor, too helpless and too ignorant to defend himself against the individualist who has money, a fancy salary, a college education, an organized society in his behalf to guard his status, and control of the economic, social and political policies of the state.

Since the education of the individual is being undertaken by the state, whose fault is it if the individual poor man is forced out of school before he is dry behind his ears and yanked into the army, navy, or marine corps? If the poor man lives a life of foolishness and failures, is it not because his formal education was not properly consummated?

WHY DOES the state make minimum wage laws, if not because too many business men, the employers of labor, pay starvation wages?

Our economic "System" is based on the law of the jungle and the fellow on the bottom is either very, very lucky or he stays there at the bottom until he is an old man, too feeble to work. In the jungle, the elephant makes yearly trips to the burial ground and leaves behind his aged and feeble. We could do the same, but we prefer to think that we owe our laborers something for their labor. We take most of their earnings from them while they are young and those few who survive to a good ripe old age receive a pittance which some people begrudge them.

Human beings "ought" to do a lot of things. They ought to provide for their old age. But we are not all brilliant go-getters able to command a fancy salary, enough to stash some of it away for a rainy day. Some of us try to support a family on $1.50 an hour—try salting away anything on that.

AND OUR economic system demands $1.50 an hour laborers —and some at $1.15 an hour. But there is no need to set forth these things here. The state recognized these facts during the thirties when they enacted the social security laws. The state gives nothing to the poor. Neither do rich individuals give anything to the poor through the state. After the Social Security laws were in force for ten years, the state had a surplus in the social security treasury to the tune of eight billion dollars. I am too tired to count the amount the state has in surplus at the present date. At a rough guess, the state pays back to the needy aged about ten cents for every ten dollars it takes in, and the balance of the social security money is used to defray the expense of defending "Our way of life."

The "Sob-sister" is really the fellow who gnashes his teeth because I, an old man, may be getting some of my own money back, that was withheld from my pay check, partly through inadequate wages and partly through taxation.

I, FOR ONE, would be willing to be on my own and look to no one for help, providing we dispense with all laws, policemen, jails and judges. But the rich man makes laws to protect the rich and builds jails and hires policemen to enforce his laws and restrains the hungry man by fraud and violence.

Our large cities are fast becoming slums and our farms are becoming rich men's estates and I would like to know whose fault this is if it is not that of the fellow who is constantly shouting about "Our way of life" without knowing what in the world he is shouting about.

I would like to add one more word that I think very potent. The state, today, is not concerned about the aged sick. It is worried about new sources of revenue.

Newspaper Help Is Acknowledged

Thank you so much for the continuous good publicity coverage you give to the Arlington Heights Daytime TOPS. We have had letters from various clubs asking how we manage to grow and lose weight so easily and our whole club feels it is due mainly to the publicity that appears in Paddock Publications.

It is a pleasure to be a publicity chairman when every item sent is given consideration and always published.

You may be assured that this thank you is from all 20 members of our group and we will continue to feel this way. Thank you, again.

Refuse Disposal Problem Serious

I have seen the stories in your various newspapers for May 3, including the quotes from Harold P. Jensen of the Chicago and Suburban Refuse Disposal Association, and I want to thank you for publishing them.

The problem of sanitary refuse disposal is a very serious one, and the space devoted to it by the Paddock Publications reflects an awareness of the problem and of its importance to the people of the communities you serve.

AS PUBLIC relations counsel to the Chicago and Suburban Refuse Disposal Association, we will continue to keep your editors informed of news as it becomes available to us, and I hope that they will call on us for information whenever they desire.

The problem of the decreasing number of dump sites will be solved only through the full cooperation of all concerned, and it will be best solved only if all the facts are available.

Zoning Meeting Report Rapped

We are generally satisfied with your publications.

One incident last winter irritated the people here in Hatlen Heights.

On aJn. 10, 1962, a plan commission zoning meeting was held across the street from you. About 100 residents from here attended to protest a number of things. Not a word appeared in the Arlington Heights Herald. Why?

YOU WOULD receive about 310 different explanations, all unfavorable to you and the Village of Arlington Heights. A news agency has a service to perform, not the least of which is to publicize facts and promote understanding of local issues.

Here's to future coverage reflecting more intestinal fortitude.

Publicity Aided Secretary Group

In behalf of all the members of Park-Plaines Chapter of National Secretaries Association (International), I wish to thank you, the editor, and your fine staff for your courtesy and cooperation during the past year for publishing our releases on secretaries' activities.

Although NSA is world-wide in scope, it is important to us that secretaries in our own home town are aware of a local chapter just for them. Our 25 per cent increase in membership and the large attendance at our events are truly evidence of the power of YOUR press!

'Team' Charge Is Answered

This letter is written in reply to a Mrs. M. S. who in the May 17 issue of the Elk Grove Herald implied that the entrance of a boy into the Elk Grove Village Little League is based on "politics" rather than ability and is thus questioning the integrity of those in charge of administering the program.

Because we in Elk Grove have worked hard and diligently during the past four seasons to build character, teach sportsmanship, and of learning the game of baseball, I shall endeavor to answer this lady who didn't even have enough intestinal fortitude to give her full name for publication.

IN THE SPRING of each year Boy's Baseball tryouts are held in Elk Grove. Approximately 275 boys are reviewed by six managers who in turn bid, via a point system, for boys to fill vacancies on their fifteen man teams. At the time of this auction the managers are told only a boy's age; all other personal information, including the name is withheld until the youngster is either selected for a "Major" league team or is sent to the minors. In any event, all boys may participate in the program so long as they are between the ages of 8 and 12 and reside within the league boundaries.

To be sure there are several instances of boys being selected for play with a major league team because of drag; however these are definitely in the minority and one of the unfortunate consequences of having human beings rather than machines doing the selecting. By and large every manager to the best of his ability will pick the best group he possibly can if for no other reason than to be able to field the best team during the season.

It might be of interest to Mrs. M. S. as well as a few others to know that all officials of the Boys Baseball Program, administrative, umpires and managers put in about 20 hours per week of their spare time in conducting tryouts, forming teams, collecting funds, soliciting for sponsors, scheduling, practicing and the actual playing of league games. To accomplish all of this we have had to rely on about 20 men during the past four years to run a combined program for over 300 boys or an average of 15 boys per man.

FINALLY, Mrs. M. S., it is quite apparent from your letter that you know little or nothing about the operation of the baseball program in Elk Grove Village; you have refused to substantiate your accusations with facts by naming names or citing specific examples. You are being as unfair as you accuse us of being. Therefore, in the interest of good public relations and to avoid the venom of the fairer sex I offer you this open invitation to have your Johnnie, or Billie or Freddie or Paul report to me at 6:30 any Thursday evening at the Higgins School for a special tryout for our glorified baby sitting service.

So you see, Mrs. M. S., you know someone too—you are now one of the privileged few who has drag in Elk Grove Village.

United Fund Idea Is Good

For the past several years there has been talk about a Community Fund for our Village. Organizations have been contacted to back such a drive, but to no avail. Now that the Community Council has become interested in this move it is long last certain that such an attempt will be made for a United Fund for Wheeling. I am at the very least one-hundred per cent behind the move or in agreement with its purpose and all those who are active in support of this proposition.

As a matter of fact I would discourage giving one red cent to any charitable organization which will not or cannot give a public accounting of the funds it collects and dispenses. There are such organizations and it is said that from time to time they are active within this area. We are automatically suspect of such a procedure. Secrecy breeds contempt and worse. Some organizations it is said do not abide in the proposal of having a United Fund for fear that they will not in the end have as many funds or as much money as they might otherwise get on their own. We do not in any sense lend any credence to this theory. We believe that if the fund is deserving it can function on its merits as a true and deserving unit in cooperation with the United Way.

THE PURPOSE of the United Fund is not, as some suspect and fea, a way to escape giving as much money. Rather it is a way to make certain that the giver knows fully and accurately and exactly what all his donation is used for. There is the fullest of an accounting. Everyone gets his share by cooperating. The undeserving, the fraudulent, the secretive, the untrustworthy, the crooks are left out—they cannot qualify to participate and can't afford to attempt participation for fear of discovery.

A recent and fine editorial treatment of this subject came from the Monitor which revealed that the seventh annual survey of charitable giving in the United States, published by the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel, indicated two interesting items. One was that private philanthropy continued in 1961 at an unprecedented rate in American history, reaching a total of almost nine billions of dollars. And two was the fact that almost seven billions of these dollars came from individuals. Foundations and Corporations total less than one billion and bequests make up the balance.

THIS IS one area in which the federal government has not yet taken over. Interestingly enough it proves again and again the merit for substantial belief in the educated masses of the people. They will and can support adequate provisions for education—schools indeed—and they can also and will also support their necessary charities without legislation or federal intervention.

The really only great problem is that many people like to designate the charity to which they wish to donate.

Religion is credited with being the largest single motivating force for charity as you would suspect and expect.

Ask Suggestions For Helping Out

I think that you are doing a real service in bringing to the attention of the public the problems of the poor and aged in Illinois.

However, I'm sure that most of your readers, if not all of them, would like to know what they can do to help. Will the Elgin State Hospital take volunteers? Can you make suggestions in your articles about ways in which the average reader can help out? In this way, your splendid series will not leave us with an unahppy, helpless feeling.

Novel Is Marred By Detail

THE OWL'S ROOST, by Helga Sandburg. Dial Press. 308 pages. $4.95.

by JOAN LORENSON

In setting her story in the Lake Michigan resort area which she knows so well, Helga Sandburg in "The Owl's Roost" sometimes strives too hard to capture detail.

The third novel written by the daughter of poet Carl Sandburg deals with a doctor's family summering at Pine Beach. Dr. Johnson is a general practitioner immersed in his practice and seemingly unaware of his wife, Elizabeth's restlessness.

Elizabeth is losing her beauty and falls into a brief affair at the beach with Philip Malraux, a foreign correspondent.

Growing Up

The book tells of Johnson's two children: Clara, from whose viewpoint much of the tale is told, and Gus. Clara is a 15-year-old child turning into a women. Gus, who avidly collects insects, is still absorbed in a world which no one understands.

The other summer community residents play on the stage: The minister with his inexplicable rages; the proprietor of the colony who lusts for Elizabeth; and the foreign correspondent who becomes disillusioned with a woman playing at love.

Miss Sandburg seems to have inherited some of her father's finesse with description: "The sun was a lightbulb overhead where the soaked rugs of clouds bagged low . . ."

Although this can evoke a mood, the author's prolific use of it is distracting and saps strength from the narrative.

Cardboard People

The reader sometimes finds himself wading through a host of characters and viewpoints as well as description which can be tiring. In many cases, the characters remain cardboard people bereft of warmth.

The author pens a sensitive picture of the adolescence of Clara, who moves from the black-white security of childhood and simple delight in the lake, to womanhood which means repeating a patterned male-female pursuit, and searching for identity in a world she is not so sure she likes.

In "The Owl's Roost," the writer explores the lack of communication between parent and child; husband and wife; friend with friend. "Why did everybody stay within the walls of themselves?" Elizabeth wonders.

Cutting through the author's sometimes verbosity, the reader will be rewarded with some poignant scenes: Clara discovering her mother in infidelity; Clara discovering about death; Phillip's reaction to his son Alan's death; the gift of sympathy which Elizabeth gives Philip.

The book would seem a worthwhile experience for any reader willing to sift out the chaff of description when it interferes with the story.

Top Flight Collection Of Stories

FIRSTS OF THE FAMOUS, EDITED BY Whit Burnett. Ballantine Books. 234 pages. 50 cents.

When the stories in this original paper back anthology were written, a few of the authors already had acquired the style and perspective which was to make them famous; some of the authors, however, were still searching for their niche but even these stories are interesting in an historical way.

Chicagoan Nelson Algren is represented in the collection by "So Help Me," a depression story written in Algren's familiar style in 1933 when he was stranded in an abandoned filling station in Texas.

A somewhat unfamiliar Peter De Vries tells in "American Primitive" of the determined and cagy efforts of a rustic girl and her homespun father to get the father's paintings up in the art houses next to Grandma Moses'.

John Cheever pays "Homage to Shakespeare" in an account of a man's mental escape from reality to the world of Hamlet and Lear and Othello.

There's Truman Capote's "My Side of the Matter," a wonderful story about a sort of young love and its trials; Mary O'Hara's short story, "My Friend Flicka," from which the novel and motion picture grew.

And there's Carson McCullers, Tennessee Williams, Norman Mailer, Jesse Stuart, Elizabeth Janeway and many others.

This is an absorbing and varied collection, certain to please any serious reader.—J.D.

ROOSEVELT IN RETROSPECT, by John Gunther. Pyramid Books. 432 pages. 75 cents.

People all over the country cried without shame when F.D.R. died, yet he was a man who inspired not only intense love and loyalty, but bitter hatred.

This reissue in paperback is a book originally published in 1950 and one of the best written about a man who must be described, even by his detractors, as one of the three or four greatest presidents.

Gunther studied mounds of books and documents, talked to big people and little people, to write this anecdote-studded study of a complex personality. Emminently worth the money.—J.D.

BUSINESS WITH PLEASURE, edited by Phil Hirsch. Pyramid Books. 40 cents.

Here's one of the better collections of cartoons, drawn by some of the best in the funny business, and slanted to the working world of 9 to 5.

There's nothing subtle about the humor; it's real yuk-yuk stuff and we can almost guarantee a few honest-to-goodness guffaws as the water cooler wolf, the sexy secretary and others in the world of business get the full treatment.

One example: Angry, curvaceous girl berating the boss: "Another thing — I don't like you telling new employees I'm a fringe benefit."—J.D.

To Both Sexes

Light Touch Is Appealing

SOMETHING LIGHT by Margery Sharp. Bantam Books. 202 pages. 50 cents.

By JOAN METTE

Margery Sharp's "Something Light" is a fun book.

As known to readers of another of her books, "Cluny Brown," Miss Sharp has a capacity for devising completely outlandish and delightful heroines. Louisa Datchett, her newest heroine, is a young woman with such a fondness for men that she seems destined never to marry.

Unfortunately, for her, Louisa's soft heart for the male leads her to the fate of caring for psychosomatic playwrights and supplying yogurt for starving musicians.

To The Rescue

"She was constantly being either sent for like a fire engine, or dispatched like a lifeboat, to the scene of some masculine disaster; and fond of men as she was, by the time she was thirty she felt extremely jadded," writes Miss Sharp.

"Something Light" is actually a chronicle of Louisa's plan to break away from the good hearted life and to coldly, calculatingly obtain a husband. Unfortunately for her and fortunately for the reader, cold calculation is no easy achievement for the chronically good hearted.

The book follows Louisa as she pursues a covey of assorted men, each with a quality which she decides will make for a good husband. "Red haired, long-legged" Louisa has no difficulty in bringing men to the point of considering matrimony, but in each case either the man or she is found wanting—that good heart keeps getting in the way.

It's Fun To Look

This is the type of book that has a happy ending. And although one can rejoice in Louisa's happiness at approaching connubial bliss, there's slight regret that she couldn't have gone on looking longer. The search was so enjoyable.

The author has a capacity for looking life in the eye with an all embracing sense of humor. But it's a small, whimsical humor, rather than satire or farce. Nothing is taken quite seriously, and nothing is taken quite comically.

Undoubtedly this is a book that appeals to women since all women either are searching for a husband, basking in the pleasure of having found one, or thinking about going out to look again. But Louisa is such a charming heroine that men should like her, too. Besides, discerning men will find this book gives valuable information on how the feminine mind works.

No Lack Of Beds

A PLACE TO SLEEP, by Gerda Rhoads. Balatine Books. 160 pages. 50 cents.

One thing: The heroine of this novel may have had trouble finding a place to sleep, but it wasn't because of a lack of beds.

A book about an aging international tart who goes from lover to lover with carefree abandon, and her daughter who strikes out on her own romantic quest, following the familiar path (although she, at least, has heart).

Strictly bed and bored.—J.D.

New Book Discusses J. Birch

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY, by Richard Vahan. MacFadden Books. 144 pages. 50 cents.

by JIM DAVIES

For one of the most controversial organizations to exist in our time, remarkably little of an authoritative nature is known about the John Birch Society. Most people have formed an opinion on the basis of rumor and generalizations.

Author Richard Vahan, a staff writer for the Boston Herald, does much to clear the air surrounding the society and its goals, and about its dictatorial founder, Robert Welch.

From the over-all tenor of the book, it appears Vahan's sympathies lie with the society, and he exhibits a definite admiration for Welch. Regardless, he performs a valuable service by providing extensive quotations from Welch's writings.

In these pages you will find out who Welch says John Birch was and how Welch says he died; you will find out what is in the "Blue Book," the society's bible; you will find out about "The Politician," that 100,000-page "letter" in which Welch leveled charges aginst Truman, the brothers Eisenhower, General Marshall, Chief Justice Warren, and many others.

Concerning some of the accusations carried in "The Politician," for instance, Vahan writes:

To be able to reach into the White House, according to Welch, the Communists implemented a three-step plan. In the first step, President Franklin D. Roosevelt was led to believe that he could use the Communists to promote his own personal ambitions. "Of course, instead, the Communists were using him . . . without his knowledge . . ." said Welch. In the second step, he said, President Truman was used by the reds "with his knowledge and acquiescense" and for this they made him President. "In the third stage," he went on, "the Communists have one of their own in the presidency. For this third man, Eisenhower, there is only one possible word to describe his purposes and his actions. That word is treason."

Factual knowledge of the exact writings of Welch will help anyone understand just what all the fuss is about. Don't expect any sartling revelations, however, for Vahan has not uncovered anything more sensational than the writings of Welch and other public utterances of Birchers, which are sensational enough in themself.

As the title implies, you will find out the truth about the society — the truth the society wants you to believe. The whole truth about the Birch Society in America, like the whole truth about the Communist Party in America, probably will never be known.

Regardless, this is an illuminating book, and one which will surely hold the attention of any reader with an interest in national affairs.

Pure Escape

THE INCOMPLETE ENCHANTER, by L. Sprague de Camp and Fletcher Pratt. Pyramid Books. 192 pages. 40 cents.

In these pages, you'll find yourself in worlds where magic really works — but is pretty hard to control for newcomers. First you cavort with the Norse Gods of mythology, then in the land of the "Faerie Queen." Pure escape, but what relaxing escape it is.—J.D.

In Nonconformist World

An Impish Beatnik

SUZUKI BEANE, written by Sandra Scoppettone with drawings by Louise Fitzhugh. MacFadden Books. 35 cents.

And a well-spent 35 cents it is for this wonderful little paperbound glimpse of the nonconformist world of an impish juvenile beatnik who lives in a pad on Bleeker Street with Hugh and Marcia (that's dad and mom).

Suzuki is a small-fry hipster, complete with jeans and sloppy sweatshirt, who takes a classically cool attitude toward the un-hip world around her.

Her language is way out and like her bearded papa, she writes real cool poetry, even if her teacher does think one of the words in her poem about a dog is a little too earthy. In fact, to Suzuki's chagrin, the square publishers of this book seem to agree with the teacher.

Like Churchill, this is the sort of nonsense up with which Suzuki will not put.

Although inscrutable at times, Suzuki is not of Japanese extraction, as her name led the sophisticated mother of one of Suzuki's playmates to believe. Well, of what extraction are you then, Dah-ling, the mother asked archly.

Vanilla, Suzuki replied.

Although this is a slight book in size, it has charm and warmth and Miss Fitzhugh's drawings are delightfully appropriate. It's the type of book you like to leave out on the coffee table for your friends to enjoy.—J. D.

OWN YOUR HOME

THE HOUSE YOU BUY SHOULD BE YOUR HOME. Seldom has the time been more favorable for HOME INVESTMENT than right now since indications are that land and home values will continue to climb. HOME OWNERSHIP also brings more than dollar and cents advantages because A HOME IN A WELL-PLANNED COMMUNITY is a background any family will be proud of. So long as you continue paying rent YOU ARE BUYING A HOUSE FOR YOUR LANDLORD. Most newcomers to this area from other states are discouraged by the SCARCITY OF GOOD HOUSES FOR RENT, and the high price tags on the few available. Phone us today at HEmpstead 7-1150 for an explanation of THE ADVANTAGES OF HOME OWNERSHIP and how easy it is to PURCHASE A HOME FOR YOURSELF.

WATCH YOUR WIFE
Her eyes will light up when you show her this family home. All functional parts of housekeeping are accommodated by a step-saver kitchen with built-in oven, range, disposal, Kelvinator washer, dryer and refrigerator. We are sure you'll be pleased with the size of the 3 bedrooms and 2 full baths. To top it off we also have a 30' carpeted living room. Sparkling and newly decorated. Lots of closet space. MAY BE PURCHASED WITH A 4½% MORTGAGE AND NO CLOSING FEES. AN EXCEPTIONAL VALUE AT $19,750

CHARMING - LOVABLE
A heart-warming eye-thrilling 3 bedroom 1½ bath jewel that's a standout in looks. Drifting through the cozy carpeted living room into the garden-view dinette opening onto the patio, you see harmony and excellent taste. A smartly planned all electric kitchen overlooking compact redwood-fenced yard; thoughtfully planted; watch the youngsters while they play. Several other plus features. ABSOLUTELY NOTHING TO DO BUT MOVE IN. PRICED AT A MODEST $20,500

CHALLENGES COMPARISON
No foolin', owner must sell this week. This expandable Cape Cod with exciting floor plan on a wide corner lot is equally suited to large or small family. Only 1 block from new school. Because of personal problems owner is ready to sacrifice this like new 3-month-old home below original cost. IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Mrs. Clara M. Devermann
How often do I tread the path
That leads me to the grave
Where rests the one I loved so well
But whom I could not save.
Long days, long nights
You bore your pain
Waiting for cure, but all in vain.
God saw that you were suffering
And the hills were hard to climb,
So he closed your weary eyes
And whispered "Peace be Thine."

Check Wiring To Install Air Coolers

URBANA — Before you install and air conditioner, be sure your home wiring is adequate.

Frank Andrew, University of Illinois extension rural electrification specialist, says that air conditioners need separate electrical circuits in order to operate safely. Some of the larger units require special wiring.

Air conditioners may also necessitate new room outlets or heavy-duty extension cords. You should never plan to use an ordinary household extension cord with an air conditioner—the wire is not heavy enough.

Andrew points out that one good place to check on the electric service you need is your local power company. (S

By LYN CONNELLY

WAS anyone really surprised when Grace Kelly announced her return to movies? The princess could stay away just so long, for the ham in an actor will out, regardless of the other good things fate has destined for him . . . She says she will do just the one movie with her old friend, Alfred Hitchcock, and co-starring with another old friend, Cary Grant, but don't bank on it once she is back on the movie lots . . . It would be a better guess that she will probably do one movie per year . . . At any rate, proceeds from her movie role will go to Monaco charities, which should make the people there doubly happy with their glamorous princess.

Lots of marriages hit the dust in the past month . . . the Janet Leigh-Tony Curtis idyl, Sharon Hugueney-Bob Evans, Natalie Wood-Bob Wagner, Liz Taylor-Eddie Fisher amongst others . . . Then, of course, there was the Sinatra-Juliet Prowse engagement . . . Nice they decided they weren't compatible before they married anyway . . . Saved them each a divorce later on . . . Too bad more stars don't take stock of themselves before heading altar-wise.

THE RECORD WHIRL

CAPITOL: This company has a terrific bargain in an album everyone will find a real joy . . . Nat King Cole sings and George Shearing plays his piano through such masterpieces as "September Song," "Pick Yourself Up," "I Got It Bad," "Let There Be Love," "Lost April," "Serenata," "I'm Lost." "Don't Go," and others . . . But that isn't all . . . For those who buy the album which is worth having at any price, there is a bonus album containing six selections by Cole and six by Shearing.

Giant Air Bubble to House '62 Miss Illinois Pageant

The largest air bubble ever erected for a public gathering will house the 1962 Miss Illinois Pageant June 27-30 in Elk Grove Village, pageant officials announced this week.

The 100 by 220 foot structure will be 60 feet high and seat 2,800 people as well as the reviewing stage area, said Loren R. Hollembaek, publicity chairman.

The bubble will be erected at Arlington Heights and Higgins Roads by Cid Air Structures company of Chicago.

THE FIRM manufactures and sells air inflated and supported structures and forms. The air bubble is made of a fire resistant Nylon weave coated with vinyl.

"It will be anchored by sand bags and held erect from a large volume of low pressure air," said Hollembaek. "This air pressure is provided by silent, continuously operating centrifugal fans.

"It will have auxiliary power from standby deisel engines."

Hollembaek said air circulating within the structure is not re-circulated but continually replaced from intake fans. Natural leakage is through entranceways and exits.

"Smoking is permitted inside to emphasize the extent of circulation," he said.

ALL PAGEANT events will be held evenings, he said.

Village, county and state officials have approved the structure for safety, Hollembaek said. In case of a malfunction of both primary and auxiliary power, it would take at least 30 minutes to deflate the structure, he said.

"It would collapse slowly with a wrinkling effect," he said.

Cid Air officials said there has never been a case of personal injury caused in the structure to their knowledge.

THE AIR bubbles have been used by firms throughout the United States and in some foreign nations, officials say, including the armed forces.

There are no structural posts blocking vision, yet in one instance in the Phillipine Islands, an air bubble withstood 90 mph winds and 30 inches of rainfall within a three-month period without damage. (A14

Positive Approach

IMA Proposes Plan to Cut Public Aid Cost

Expressing its concern at the rising cost of public assistance in Illinois, the board of directors of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association last week proposed a 13-point program aimed at alleviating the problem.

The board suggests, first, that the Illinois Public Aid Commission be abolished and that a Department of Public Assistance be created as a code department in the state government.

Other proposals which the board adopted in a resolution recommended by IMA's committees on social security and industrial relations include:

—ADOPT a lien law which would place a lien on real estate belonging to recipients of general assistance, aid to dependent children, blind assistance and disability assistance. The state would be reimbursed for financial aid provided.

A law relating to liens on property of old age assistance recipients was passed by the Illinois General Assembly in 1961.

—REQUIRE recipients of general assistance to make a new application for assistance periodically so that a redetermination of eligibility can be made.

—REQUIRE each able-bodied adult recipient of general assistance to provide services on public projects as a condition for receiving assistance.

—Increase the residency requirements for recipients of public assistance from one year to two years.

—Make local governments responsible for more of the costs of public aid in their cities and townships, thus reducing the state costs and promoting a more effective job of administration by local authorities.

—DEVELOP a publicity program to arouse public opinion to demand more efficient administration and reduce the costs of public aid.

—Distribute surplus food instead of money to recipients of public aid, wherever feasible.

—Require recipients of public aid to report how they spend the money they receive.

—Publish the names of recipients of public aid and the amount of money which they receive.

—Require mothers who are receiving aid to dependent children to produce birth certificates of the children.

—EMPOWER the state auditor to audit payments and spot check case workers' authorizations for payments.

—Discourage indigent migrants from other states moving to Illinois. (A14

That's the Law

Principal Liable For Agent's Acts

(This is another in a series of articles provided as a public service by the Illinois State Bar Association for Paddock Publications).

One hundred years ago, the most typical form of business was the sole proprietorship conducted by one individual. There were only a limited number of agents in such a business, and they were often referred to as servants.

Since that time, the corporation has become an important form of business organization and other types of business organization have also greatly expanded in size. This has led to a great increase in the number and types of agents and the law of agency has expanded correspondingly.

An agent's authority may be express, implied or apparent. Express authority is that expressly given by the principal to the agent. Implied authority arises out of the express authority granted and consists of those powers which are necessary by implication to carry out the purposes of the agency.

FOR EXAMPLE: P appoints A as his agent to sell a certain automobile for $2,000. As an incident to the authority conferred, A has power to enter into a written contract with the purchaser and sign P's name to the agreement.

There are also other cases in which the agent acts for the principal although having no authority to do so. If the principal takes no steps to inform third parties of the lack of authority and it reasonably appears to the third parties that the agent does have authority, the principal will not be allowed to deny an agency relationship.

One of the most important consequences of a principal-agent relationship is that the principal becomes liable for the legal wrongs of his agent if they are committed in the course of the agent's employment. This is true irrespective of any fault on the part of the principal.

THUS, IF A is driving a truck for P and negligently injures C, the employer, P, will be liable. The employer cannot escape liability even if he should prove that he expressly instructed A to drive carefully. For this reason, the principal must be careful as to the agents he employs.

An agent may not escape liability to third parties for his own actions on the ground that he was following the orders of his principal. For example, if an agent wrongfully reposseses a car from a third party at his principal's direction, he will be personally liable in an action for damages.

The third party may sue either the agent or the principal but if the agent is compelled to pay, he may obtain indemnity from his principal.

QUESTIONS sometimes arise as to the power of agents to make collections. An agent generally can receive payment at the time of sale but often does not have authority to collect at a later time. The buyer should therefore be cautious in this situation as otherwise he may have to pay again if the agent uses the funds for his own use.
